MUHLENBERG'S PRESIDENT ENLIGHTENS STUDENTS AT THURSDAY ASSEMBLY

Dr. J. A. W. Haas Explains Significance of New Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel

The first regular Thursday assembly period for this year was held in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel on Thursday, September 24th. The service was opened by a short organ recital by Prof. Harold Marks. Following this recital Rev. Stine had charge of the usual opening exercises.

The address by Dr. Haas was very timely as he used as his topic "What Our Chapel Means To Us". He developed the topic around the symbols of the chapel.

Dr. Haas stated "Art and religion are sisters. Religion uses architecture, sculpturing, painting, the best music, its hymns are good poetry and a good sermon should have some literary value. In the new Memorial Chapel the best of these are represented.

"A chapel may be compared to a fine musical selection having a prelude, theme, melody and harmony. The prelude of the chapel is the vestibule or narthex. Here can be found intertwined the letters I H S which stand for Latin words. Translated into English they mean, Jesus, Saviour of Men. The two figures topping this section of the chapel are Martin Luther, representing the Lutheran religion and the return of education to the common people with the Reformation, and the other figure is that of Henry Melchoir Muhlenberg, after whom the local college is named. Muhlenberg emigrated to America in 1742.

"The six shields around this section represent faith, hope, charity, education, missions, and worship. The two angels represent baptism and the Lord's Supper.

Dr. Haas then took the various symbols inside the chapel describing first the beautiful stained glass altar window. Here is a portrayal of Christ sending out his disciples unto all the world. At the other end of the chapel is the beautful academic window. In this window are four figures, representing, medicine, theology, law and science.

The chapel is built in the Gothic style, although it is not as elaborate a style as the old cathedrals. The ceiling is not vaulted quite as much as the pure Gothic. Many public buildings, especially churches to-day seem to be returning to the Gothic and near-Gothic style of architecture.

The windows in the chapel were then explained by Dr. Haas. From the front of the chapel facing the rear, the windows on the right of the chapel represent Peter, Iraneus, Augustin and Athanasius. This side is called the gospel side, from the old custom of reading the gospel from the right side of the altar. The windows from the choir stalls to the rear of the chapel represent, first of all, the European history of the Lutheran Church. The first window represents Melanchthon, the great educator. The aisle window will contain a figure of Melanchton. The clerestory windows contain their story through the use of seals. The second and third windows depict Lutheran work in Denmark and Norway and Sweden. The second aisle window will contain the figure of Bugenhagen and the third window that of Clavus Petri. The fourth clere-story window depicts the work in Saxony and the aisle windows-Chemnitz. The fifth window will contain the story of Spencer showing his great missionary work. His figure will be found in the aisle window. The last window on the right side is made up entirely of various seals. The aisle figure will be that of Bach.

Then on the left side of the chapel we find the figures of Paul, Tertallian, Boniface and Wycliffe. This is called the epistle side from the old custom of reading the epistle on the left side of the altar. From the choir

PROGRAMS FOR CHAPEL SERVICES ANNOUNCED

Thursday Programs For First Semester To Be Exceptionally Fine

A splendid series of programs for the Thursday morning chapel services during the first semester has been arranged for the students of Muhlenberg College. The great popularity of the programs presented last year in the science auditorium caused the administration to arrange some additional special programs for every Thursday assembly period. A short resume of these is as follows:

Song service on October 1st in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel. The regular student body meeting will be held during the assembly period on October 8th. This meeting will be held in the Science Auditorium and as very important business is to be transacted the entire student body is urged to attend.

The program for October 15th will indeed be an exceptionally fine one. This will be the annual College Day services. The speaker for this period will be President W. Mather Lewis of Lafayette College. In addition to the address a splendid concert will be rendered by the famed Sittig Trio. This trio rendered a concert during one of the assembly periods last year and was very well received.

Another treat in store for the student body will be an address by Prof. Rufus Jones of Haverford College. Prof. Jones is recognized throughout the United States as an outstanding college speaker. Wherever he speaks he is greeted by overflowing audiences and the Muhlenberg student body should feel highly elated at the securing of Prof. Jones as a speaker. Prof. Jones will feature the program for October 22.

Probably the most popular features of last year's chapel services were the travelouges delivered by Dr. Preston A. Barba, head of the German Department of the college. Dr. Barba left the students in the city of Damascus last year where the entire student body with the exception of the Seniors who were forced to return to America because of their graduation from Muhlenberg, is still waiting to be brought back to America. Dr. Barba is booked for two lectures,—on October 29th and also December 10th. There is also likelihood of Dr. Barba appearing on the programs again after Christmas although no definite dates have been set as yet. During the past summer Dr. Barba conducted a hiking trip through Europe. The personnel of the party was largely Muhlenberg students. In all probability many interesting episodes of these trips will

PLANS FOR ACTIVE ORATORICAL YEAR

Dr. J. D. M. Brown Releases Schedule

Dr. John D. M. Brown, coach of Oratory at Muhlenberg, has announced the oratorical contests for this term. According to the schedule which has been released for the Weekly, Muhlenberg will enter upon the most difficult year it has ever experienced. The usual Pennsylvania Oratorical Contest will be held. The winner of the local contest will represent Muhlenberg at Gettysburg College where the state contest will be held. From there the winner will move into the All-Eastern contest. The manager for this year will be Donald V. Hock, '32 who won the Pennsylvania contest in 1930, and was second in the All-Eastern contest held at Ypsilanti, Michigan. The winner of the contest last year was Donald B. Mancke, '32, who placed third in a bitterly fought contest held at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky. So far Muhlenberg had placed first eleven times, second four times and third four times. This is a remarkable record and it is hoped that this year will see another first place added to the long record of Muhlenberg.

In addition to the I. O. U. contest a Constitutional Oratorical contest will be held. This contest is sponsored by the Better America Federation of Los Angeles, California. Two years ago, Henry V. Sheirer of Muhlenberg was guest speaker at Los Angeles. The system is similar to the I. O. U. having regional contest and then a national contest held at Los Angeles.

The newly established Freshman Oratorical Contest will again be held somewhere near the mid-year period. As usual the Junior Oratorical Contest will be held during graduation week.

Another new contest will probably be held during the month of February. This contest will be on some phase of the life of George Washington and will be part of the nation-wide movement for the celebration of the bi-centennial of the birth of George Washington.

Any member of the school is eligible for all these contests except the Freshmen, and Junior contest which are restricted to members of those classes. For further particulars see Dr. Brown or the student manager, Donald V. Hock.

LARGE FRESHMEN CLASS ENROLLED

Six States Represented by New Men

One of the largest Freshman classes to enter Muhlenberg College within recent years was formerly admitted to the school with the opening of college.

Representatives of six states and various regions of these states comprise the new class. In addition a representative of sunny Nipon joined the Junior class.

The complete class roll, comprising 170 members as given from the office of the Registrar, Mr. Benfer, is as follows:

A. B. Freshmen 1931-1932

PROF. JOHN V. SHANKWEILER

Dr. John V. Shankweiler head of the Biology Department of Muhlenberg was given a signal honor this spring at Cornell University when he was elected to membership into Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity. Membership in this fraternity is only given for outstanding work along scientific lines.

Dr. Shankweiler was at Cornell University during the past year taking up work preparatory to his doctor's degree. His work was completed this spring and on September 30th he will be awarded the degree of Ph.D., from Cornell University. The title of the thesis for his doctor's degree was "The Regeneration of the Poison Glands in the Anura". This paper is considered authoritative on the subject with which it deals. In addition to membership in Sigma Xi, Dr. Shankweiler was elected into membership of two local clubs, Jugatae, a club in the Entomology department and the Synapsis club, a club in the department of Genetics.

Dr. Shankweiler's major subject was Zoology. Most of his work was done under the direction of Dr. H. D. Reed, a recognized authority along Zoological lines. The first minor of Dr. Shankweiler was Ecology under J. G. Needham and the second minor was Genetics under A. C. Frasier.

A graduate from the Long Swamp High School, Dr. Shankweiler prepared first at Keystone Normal School. He then taught for a few years before entering Muhlenberg College. He graduated from Muhlenberg with the class of 1921. In 1927 he received his Master's degree from Cornell.

Subjects which Dr. Shankweiler teaches at Muhlenberg include, zoology, anatomy, estology, embryology, and hygiene.

MUHLENBERG COLLEGE OFFICIALLY OPENS SIXTY-FOURTH ACADEMIC YEAR

Inspiring Address Given by Dr. I. M. Wright, Head of School of Education

DR. ISAAC M. WRIGHT

The sixty-fourth academic year of Muhlenberg College was officially opened on September 18th at 10 A. M. by Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college. The usual academic procession of professors and the various classes filed into the Science Auditorium for the services after which Dr. Haas officially welcomed the new students and extended his greetings to those students who returned for the ensuing term. Dr. Haas then introduced Dr. I. M. Wright, Pd.D., head of the department of education, who delivered the opening address.

Dr. Wright used as his topic "Leadership and the Elements Necessary for Leadership". Dr. Wright proceeded to develop his topic around several points, pointing out the fact that the trouble with the world to-day is the lack of true, positive and constructive leadership.

"The college to-day should train students to be leaders and if the student leaves the portals of an educational institution without having gained these elements his education has been a failure," he stated.

"One of the main elements of true leadership is a fine physical body, as a leader must have splendid reserve power to stand the continual drain upon his time and energy," Dr. Wright declared. "In connection with right physical development goes the ability of self-control. Great aides in the development of this all powerful influence are the modern athletic contests."

"The college student should be taught to think for himself, to stand on his feet and present his views of the subjects and above all to be able to act quickly and wisely in an emergency. Too often poorly educated persons 'freeze' when quick action is necesary. In addition the leader should be able to remain calm under criticism of his actions under any circumstances."

The speaker continued: "The respect and confidence of the people working with him must be won by a person before he can hope to be a leader. In addition to gaining people's confidence, the true leader must be able to maintain discipline without having to use his authority, as well as handle dissatisfied people without losing their friendship."

"The leader must be successful as a peacemaker which necessitates the ability of making and keeping friends. Too often the modern systems of education do not aid the students in developing this trait. The ability of meeting strangers, a lost art in the eastern part of the country, is of utmost importance. Here too enters the psychology of salesmanship—namely, a thorough knowledge of what the indivdual is trying to put across."

"A co-operative spirit rather than a competitive spirit will aid the modern leader. The people do not want dole or charity, but the chance to work for what they are receiving and through the utilization of this spirit the modern leader will forge ahead. From all these points should and

COLLEGE SECURES NEW BUSINESS PROFESSOR

Mr. Roland Hartman Succeeds Mr. G. W. Merkle

The only new instructor to be added at Muhlenberg this year is Roland Hartman who takes the place of Mr. George William Merkle. The same courses in the business department will be given under the supervision of Mr. Hartman.

Mr. Hartman was graduated from Lehigh in 1928 with the degree of B.S. in Business Administration. For several years he put his knowledge to practical use and was connected with the firm of A. C. Fellencer and Sons, wholesale jewelers, as salesman and accountant.

However last year Mr. Hartman returned to school but this time at Muhlenberg College. Here he received his Ph.B. degree taking work in business and education. As instructor in the department of business Mr. Hartman will teach Accounting, Business Organization and Finance and Salesmanship. In all probability he will also teach some work on Saturday in the Extension School.

Mr. Hartman is married—his wife was formerly Katheryn Ginkinger of Allentown. His home address is 1509 Turner St. In addition to being a business man Mr. Hartman has found time to do a great deal of work along the lines of the National Guard being a 2nd Lieutenant in the 213th Coast Artillery and Personal Adjutant of the regiment.

At present Mr. Hartman is taking additional graduate work at Lehigh working for the Master's degree in Business.

JAPANESE STUDENT TRANSFERS TO 'BERG

A tale of frightful religious persecution and a struggle for an education is the background of a new student at Muhlenberg, the representative of sunny Nipon—Massa Hero Huneno. Huneno and Tadao Kai, '31, who was well known to all present students—come from the same city in Japan—Kumanoto City. Kai was a Lutheran, Huneno is a Methodist.

When Huneno was born, the Christians of that section were persecuted by the other Japanese. The most bitter years of his life were the five years he spent in the public school of Kumanoto City. To-day these conditions have become somewhat modified. From this public school Huneno passed his examinations with honors and entered the Kyushu Gakuim—the only Lutheran owned school in Japan with the exception of a girls' school. Here he spent five happy years, years full of learning and pleasure. From this school he passed to the Aoyama College at Tokyo. He majored

THE CHEER LEADER SAYS

I wish to make an urgent plea at this time that every Muhlenberg Student attend our Home Games one hundred per cent strong this year. This plea is directed mainly to local men and those of nearby towns who appear to be the chief offenders. Attendance at many of the games in the past has been deplorable. Whether this has been due to lack of Muhlenberg spirit or plain disinterest is hard to say—but let's have every man behind our team this year and show his support by attendance at every game. It's your team that's fighting out on that field, it's your college that other people are watching, it's you who are going to make a success or failure of this season.

Cheering, then, must primarily have numbers to make it what it should be. Secondly, know your cheers. They are simple to learn, and not so multiple, that every one of you men should not be acquainted with them. It is surprising to know the large number of upper classmen who fall into this group.

Make the cheers sharp, snappy. Don't lag. The main purpose of cheering is to incite those men out on the gridiron to greater efforts, and this could never be done with a slow, lifeless cheer. Put P-E-P into them and try to increase the capacity of your lungs.

Always follow the Cheer leaders. In this way rhythm and regularity are secured,—the elements that make cheering truly artistic. We're down in front of you for that very purpose. Our movements are easy to follow—and there's no reason for anybody to be far ahead or behind us.

Never call for a cheer. We usually know the appropriate time for which to call one. Never razz our opponents. We all want to be known as "good sports", and if the breaks are against us, if our opponents seem to take advantage of every opportunity, maybe unfairly, suffer in silence. But give credit for every good play they make. And whether we win or lose, Muhlenberg men will have the reputation of being "good sportsmen".

Keep up the noise after cheers. Don't stop sharply—it spoils the whole cheer. Let it gradually die out, making it seem more natural rather than forced.

And when we suffer reverses, don't let Old Man Gloom beat us. Cheer just as loudly as before. Don't be a quitter. Just put yourself in the places of those on the field—and yell the more loudly when you consider the little you are doing.

Come on, now men. Get behind that team—at games, at smokers, at parades. Don't be afraid to exert your lungs—when we call for cheers, give us all you've got. And after it's over, you'll feel satisfied to know you've done your level best.

"Ray'" Munsch,
Head Cheerleader.

GET BUSY FROSH!

Once again the student body is swinging back into the regular routine of college life. It is indeed timely to once more urge upon the Freshmen the idea that they are primarily at college to gain an education and not merely to wear raccoon coats and enter social life entirely. The first semester will be your highest hurdle. A good foundation in these months will do much to aid you in continuing for the remaining three and one-half years. The advice to study holds true not only for the Freshmen but for Sophomores and upperclassmen as well.

With the rushing season rapidly approaching the ensuing few weeks will offer little time for the Freshmen to study. Therefore it is doubly advisable to "pound the books" now while you have the opportunity or you may lose the opportunity entirely after the mid-year period.

COOPERATION PLEASE!

There is indeed a need for a change in feeling among some students on the Muhlenberg campus. No college can accomplish its greatest aims if it does not have the whole hearted backing—constructive backing—of the student body. Too often in the past many members have jumped to adverse conclusions concerning various activities of the campus organizations and college administration. This has resulted in a destructive feeling among many students and alumni as well.

Fortunately many students have seen the various mistakes made on the campus and have given constructive criticism and thus aided greatly in improving many of these conditions.

This feeling among the students is a good sign that the student body as a whole will give constructive backing to the Administration and the various college activities throughout the forthcoming term.

Let all the students have this feeling and a banner year for Muhlenberg will be the result.

Let's be constructive and give our whole hearted support to the school.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, head of the Department of Education, delivered the morning and evening addresses at the service of the Mauch Chunk Presbyterian Church during August.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION PLACES NINETEEN MEN

The Department of Education has been fortunate in placing nineteen graduates of Muhlenberg College, class of 1931, in teaching positions. This year the total number was one more than those placed last year. The average turnover in the teaching profession is approximately 33⅓% while this year it was supposed to be only 10%. The fact that in spite of this lower turnover nineteen graduates were placed speaks very well for the local institution.

Those placed were: John Wagner, Quakertown, Pa., English; LeRoy Lauch, Spring Township, Pa., Social Studies; Ralph Bender, Stroudsburg, Pa., English; Conrad Wilker, Palmerton, Pa., Science; Ed. D. Leibensperger, South Williamsport, Pa., Science; Milton Wiener, Irvington, N. J., Social Studies and Coaching; Phares P. Dinger, Hackettstown, N. J., Science; John A. Bohner, Summerville, N. J., Science; Harvey O. Fluck, Trumbauersville, Social Studies; George Webb, Pocono Township, Tannersville, Pa.; Social Studies; Earl D. White, Mount Wolfe, Pa., English; Mervin Werley, Stouchsburg, Principal; Lawson Fink, Coplay, Social Studies; Harvey Gerber, Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Science and Coaching; Walter Kuntzleman, Tower City, Pa., English; Russel Snyder, Lehighton, Pa., French and German; William Wackernagle, Millville, N. J., Mathematics and Science; Roy Wertz, Frackville, Pa. Science; Elwood Schlotter, Bethlehem, Pa., Social Studies.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION COURSE IMPROVED

After a comprehensive study along various types of work in the course of History of Education, Dr. Boyer, in charge of that course, has evolved a new type of study—the contract plan for History of Education. This year it has appeared in a book form, bound in a gray cover with red binding. Last year the class in History of Education experimented with this system and it was found to cover the work so well that it was deemed advisable to put it in book form. The class this year as well as future classes will have the advantage of this work. It is another forward step in the making of better courses at Muhlenberg.

CHAPEL CHOIR LEADS SONG SERVICES

The Chapel Choir for this year has been organized and already taken part in several services. This organization fills a big part of the programs held in the chapel every day. It is hoped in the future that this organization will come to the point where it will make recitals and trips to other towns just as does the Glee Club at present. This organization is primarily for Chapel use and does not interfere or will not interfere with the Glee Club.

All students interested in joining the chapel choir will kindly get in touch with Prof. Marks as soon as possible because very shortly the quota will be reached and no more will be admitted. Freshmen are eligible for places in the choir.

PROGRAMS FOR CHAPEL SERVICES ANNOUNCED

also be related to the student body during the programs of October 29th and December 10th.

This year through the Rehrig Foundation a series of lectures on "Christian Evidences" will be given. The speaker will be Dr. C. M. Jacobs, president of the Mt. Airy Seminary. The first of these lectures will be delivered during the Sunday afternoon, November 1st. Four more lecture services in the Memorial Chapel will be given, also by Dr. Jacobs. These lectures will be on November 6, 13, 20 and December 4. These programs will be held on Friday from eleven to twelve in place of the regular Thursday assembly periods.

The final program before the Christmas holiday season will be the annual Christmas service to be held in the Memorial Chapel on December 17th. The address will be delivered by Dr. Frank M. Ulrich, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. Philadelphia.

The programs for the period after the Christmas holiday season have as yet not been completed.

VARSITY DEBATE SQUAD EXPECTS STRONG YEAR

The varsity debate squad held its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The main business to be transacted by the squad was the election of a varsity debate manager to take the place of Ralph Dinger who resigned. The election resulted in Ray Munsch being selected as Manager. Gordon Fister will continue as Assistant Manager.

The outlook for this year's team is exceptionally bright. Only one varsity man was lost through graduation, John Wagner who spoke first on the negative team. The entire affirmative team of Kenneth H. Koch, Henry M. M. Richards and Donald V. Hock have returned and the remaining speakers on the negative team Donald B. Mancke and Donald B. Hoffman are also back. These five men are all seniors. Three of them Koch, Hock and Hoffman have been on the varsity squad since their Freshman year—Mancke since his sophomore and Richards made the team last year. In addition to these men, one first rate substitute in Ray Heist is carried over from last year's squad.

Quite a few promising Freshmen turned out for the first meeting and in the near future these men will receive thorough tryouts.

Debates this year will probably include a foreign team, Villanova, Haverford, F. and M., Dickinson, Gettysburg, Ursinus and Albright.

must come the ability of seeing beyond the present into the future. No person can become a leader without a definite vision of the future."

"And finally," Dr. Wright stated, "the most important element in being a leader is to be able to commune with one's God and gain added strength to carry one through the difficulties and trials of modern life. With this added aid a person will go far as a leader, and will find his place in the scheme of life."

After the address by Dr. Wright, Dr. Haas made the customary announcements regarding the rules and regulations of the student body. A brief resume of forthcoming assembly and chapel programs was given and the changes in chapel services this year were announced.

O. D. K. ELECTS OFFICERS FOR ENSUING TERM

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activity fraternity, at its last meeting of the scholastic year 1930-31, held initiation ceremonies, conducting eight new men into the Alpha Epsilon Circle. Those honored were: Harry A. Benfer, Allentown; Edward Barndt, Sellersville; Robert W. Drach, Baltimore, Md.; Robert Geiger, Norristown; Howard F. Kaiser, Kew Gardens, New York; Kenneth H. Koch, Allentown; George E. Majercik, Binghamton, N. Y.; and Raymond M. Munsch, New London, Conn.

At the first meeting held immediately after initiation the following officers were elected: President, George E. Majercik; Vice President, Kenneth Koch; Secretary and Treasurer, Edward Barndt.

Plans were discussesd for the installation of a News Service at Muhlenberg whereby the name of Muhlenberg might become better known and much desirable publicity be gained. An invitation was also extended to men who considered themselves eligible to hand in their names and list of activities to any one of the members. Due to the shortness of time remaining and the few eligibles it was decided to let the matter drop until the new school term opened.

All present Seniors desiring to affiliate with Omicron Delta Kappa, who are eligible, are requested to hand in their names and list of activities to any one of the members as soon as possible.

Although it has one of the smallest of all standing armies among the great nations of the world, the United States last year spent more than any other nation on armaments. Other nations spent for arms in the order: Soviet Union, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, India, Germany, Spain.

FRESHMEN ACCLIMATED DURING OPENING WEEK

Experienced Men Give Advice To New Students

Where's the Assembly Room? What time is it? What do we do now? Is that Dean Horn?

Questions, questions everywhere!—Muhlenberg is taking into its fold another group of neophytes.

The first actual contact between the college and the class of 1935 was made on Monday, September 14, 1931 at one o'clock, when Dean Robert C. Horn spoke to the freshmen.

His remarks were extremely timely and his advice to the first year men can be summed up as follows:

1. Get acquainted (with each other, upperclassmen, buildings, faculty, etc.).
2. Don't "let go" just because you're away from home.
3. Write regularly and help to allay erroneous impressions of college life made by magazines, movies, etc.
4. Work! Go "against the current", even if you must sacrifice to do it.
5. Take sufficient physical training.
6. Keep in touch with God—feel that you want to go to chapel exercises.

Dean Horn concluded his advice with the famous "Code of Business Conduct" of Roger Babson which he recommended to all the freshmen:

1. Follow the Ten Commandments.
2. Obey the two positive directions of Jesus.

"Haps" Benfer and Kenneth H. Koch, President of the Student Body concluded the afternoon's activities with various hints and helps by which the freshmen could better acclimate themselves.

Dr. George T. Ettinger, dean emeritus of Muhlenberg College who has seen fifty-one successive freshman classes enter the college since he became a member of the faculty that many years ago, was the speaker at a meeting of the Muhlenberg's class of 1935 held Wednesday morning, Sept. 16, 1931 in the science auditorium. His address on "Fraternities" was followed by a talk on health by Dr. John V. Shankweiler, professor of biology, who will receive his doctor's degree from Cornell University on September 30th.

Dr. Ettinger defined the purpose of a college course as the attempt to boil down the history and evolution of the world from its beginning until the present time and index it in such a way that the cultured man would know just where to reach for each fact.

He advised the Freshmen to be cautious in the choice of their associations at college and not to deviate from the valuable training they had received at home. The address was rich in the experiences of Dr. Ettinger's many years as a professor at the college.

Dr. Shankweiler's address dealt with acquainting the freshmen with the proper ways of living so as to avoid disease. His talk, which was mostly our social diseases and their unavoidable effects, was illustrated with a fine series of lantern slides.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis.— (IP) —Plans for the creating of a "university city" have been developed by the regents of the University of Wisconsin here, as a means of relieving the meagre housing facilities for the several thousand students of the university.

Discovering that the present dormitory system cares for only 500 men and 365 women, that fraternity and horority houses take care of only 1,500 men and 600 women, and that the rest of the 6,000 students stay in rooming houses, poorly ventilated and lighted and without proper toilet facilities, the regents have worked out a plan whereby the university would purchase land on the ridge overlooking Lake Mendota, and offer rent-free sites to all fraternities and sororities that wish to build thereon.

There would also be college dormitories on the ridge, and each unit would be carefully plotted and landscaped in accord with the whole group. Because of a "lobby" of rooming house owners in the city, permission to go ahead with such a plan was turned down by the last legislature, so that the regents must wait until 1932 before they can obtain the necessary legislation.

NEW NATIONAL FRATERNITY FOR BERG CAMPUS

Phi Epsilon Becomes 50th Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu

A new natioual fraternity will make its appearance upon the Muhlenberg campus in the near future. Phi Epsilon, a strong local group, has successfully petitioned Theta Kappa Nu, a large and powerful national fraternity of which the P. E.'s will be the fiftieth chapter. This move will bring to the campus a fraternity second to Alpha Tau Omega in chapter enrollment. Theta Kappa Nu is well represented in Pennsylvania, with chapters at Gettysburg, Washington and Jefferson, Pitt, and Thiel.

Theta Kappa Nu is a comparatively young, but very strong, national, with chapters in all parts of the country. It was formed by a combination of eleven local fraternities in June, 1924, and was admitted as a junior member at the Interfraternity conference at its first session following the founding of the fraternity. Three years later, on the basis of its remarkable progress, Theta Kappa Nu was admitted to full senior membership in the Conference. From its inception, the fraternity embarked upon a vigorous program of expansion, and since that time has established itself in some of the best colleges and universities in the country. The Grand Officers of the fraternity are: Grand Archon Winslow S. Anderson, Grand Scribe Otho R. McAtee, Grand Treasurer Donald F. Lybarger, and Grand Oracle Jerry H. Krenmyre. To these men goes much of the credit for the success of Theta Kappa Nu.

Phi Epsilon was organized in the fall of 1921, growing out of the Aztecs Club, which had been organized two years previously, and since that time has established a good record on the campus in scholarship, activities, and intra-mural sports. Of five cups given for high scorer in intra-mural competition, Phi Epsilon has captured four.

The chapter roll of Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity is as follows:

Alabama Alpha, Howard College; Alabama Beta, Birmingham-Southern College; Alabama Gamma, Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Arkansas Alpha, University of Arkansas; California Alpha, University of California; Florida Alpha, Rollins College; Florida Beta, University of Florida; George Alpha, Oglethorpe University; Idaho Alpha, College of Idaho; Illinois Alpha, Eureka College; Illinois Beta, University of Illinois; Illinois Gamma, Bradley Polytechnic Institute; Indiana Alpha, Hanover College; Indiana Beta, DePauw University; Indiana Gamma, Rose Polytechnic Institute; Indiana Delta, Franklin College; Iowa Alpha, Iowa Wesleyan College; Iowa Beta, Simpson College; Kansas Alpha, Baker University; Kentucky Alpha, Georgetown College; Louisiana Alpha, Louisiana State University; Louisiana State University; Louisianana Beta, Centenary College; Louisiana Gamma, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute; Maine Alpha, Colby College.

Mules Tomahawk Indians In Night Football Game

Wavrek, Horine and Cooperman Score for Muhlenberg

OPENING GAME PLAYED UNDER HUGE LIGHTS

In the opening game of the season, and the first night football game in the Lehigh Valley, the Cardinal and Grey gridsters opened a powerful offensive in the latter periods to defeat a smooth running Juniata team by the score of 19 to 7. Wavrek, a former Allentown Prep School star, crashed thru center early in the second quarter for the first Muhlenberg touchdown after a series of long end runs, an exchange of punts, and a forward pass had brought the ball from a position only a few yards from the 'Berg goal line to one within a shadow of the enemy goal posts.

With the score 7 to 6 against Muhlenberg in the final period, Horine caught a Juniata punt on his own 20-yard line, dropped back 10 yards, then got away on a beautiful run down the side of the field thru the entire visiting team and speeded 90 yards for the second Muhlenberg touchdown. Horine made the placement and 'Berg went in the lead by a 13 to 7 score. A short time later Juniata, with a number of desperate forward passes grounded, was forced to punt from its 5-yard line. Cooperman, Muhlenberg lineman, darted thru a wide opening in the Juniata forward wall, leaped into the air, blocked the ball with his chest, scooped it up and ran the rest of the way for a touchdown while the crowd went wild.

Petty, the tiny Juniata backfield man was easily the star for the visitors as he smeared up numerous Muhlenberg plays, and got off for long runs carrying the ball for his teammates. Harley made the touchdown and the extra point for Juniata as well as doing his bit in smashing up 'Berg plays. Majercik, the speedy Muhlenberg fullback, though he did not make any of the scores, played an important part in the 'Berg victory due to his long runs that aided in putting the Cardinal and Grey warriors in a scoring position.

The strength of the visiting team fully justified previous predictions as to the opposition they would furnish in an opening game. Muhlenberg started slowly and showed poor team work in the earlier part of the game, this, however, was corrected as the playing went on. Both teams performed better on the offensive than on the defense. The open play, numerous forward passes, long end runs, and some pretty broken field running all combined in making a game that gave plenty of thrills to the large audience.

The crowd of 4,000 persons, the largest to see a Muhlenberg opening game for many years, turned homeward loudly speaking the praises of night football. The weather conditions were perfect, a clear sky, and a rising moon gave a sense of beauty and novelty to the scene. The field was well illuminated by the huge lights. There were no shadows and little glare. The spectators had no trouble in following the play, it was a trifle difficult, however, to distinguish the individual players.

Entertainment before the game and between halves was furnished by a rolicking crew of performing freshmen, with the customary mule.

The lineups follow:

Muhlenberg		Juniata
Giltner	L.E.	Bloomingdale
Miller	L.T.	Burket
Nehf	L.G.	Reber
Matuska	C.	Fisher
Carter	R.G.	Holsinger

PAUL WEBER TO COACH FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Much Expected of Team

Freshmen football got under way the latter part of last week with the calling of practice by Coach Paul Weber. Weber, a senior at college, was appointed Freshman Coach by the Athletic Board. Weber played varsity football for 'Berg for three years and won his letter every year. He was a star half-back and regarded as one of the best backs developed during recent years at Muhlenberg.

Among the football candidates are seven Allentown boys, including Schrader, Moyer, Rodgers, Neubauer, Sheehan, Martin and Skrovanek. Newark, N. J. also ranks high, sending four men, Schreiber, Rothberg, Martin and Levine. The remaining squad hails from these towns: Lepore, Sea Isle City, N. J.; Gamble, Riverside, N. J.; Keebler, Riverside, N. J.; Padolin, Camden, N. J.; Mauser, Mooseheart, Ill.; Bloom, Lavallette, N. J.; Rohn, Catasauqua; Storch, Catasauqua; Savage, Brookhaven, N. Y.; Altemouse, Stroudsburg, Mintz, Philadelphia; Wingrad, Philadelphia; Burns, Philadelphia; Zamites, Wilkes-Barre; Dietrich, Reading; Watkins, Plymouth; DeJone, Bloomfield, N. J.; Riley, Millville, N. J.; Watson, Binghampton, N. Y., and Yarshinski, McAdoo, Pa.

This squad is exceptionally big and heavy and under the expert tutelage of Coach Weber should develop into a first class Freshmen team. At present their main work is scrimmaging with the Varsity in preparation for the football game this week with Lafayette "Leopards".

CUE AND QUILL HOLDS FIRST MEETING FOR YEAR

An informal meeting opening the year's activities of Cue and Quill was called in the Assembly Room of the "Ad" building on Tuesday, September 22nd.

Under the guidance of Mr. Coder, the faculty manager, ambitious plans are being formulated which will materially increase the club's prestige both on and off the campus. An agreement with the Athletic Commission of the college was announced whereby the Cue and Quill Club will conduct the selling of refreshments at the athletic games, the profits of which will be divided equally between the Athletic Commission and the organization. The plan constitutes an innovation in the conducting of refreshment sales as well as marking the club's activities in the business field. Instead of the sales being conducted privately as was the custom other years, the members of the Cue and Quill will take part and will work without salary in order that expenses which have accumulated for the organization may be considerably diminished.

Should this venture prove successful the Cue and Quill retains an option for next year in refreshment sales. Whatever profits accrue will be devoted to furthering the purchase of necessary equipment for the future plays.

The Cue and Quill recently received a request from the Reading Alumni asking that a play be produced on October 26th at a dinner and meeting of the alumni. In response to the request, work on the production of a one-act farce is being completed. The farce will be staged under the auspices of the play production class with Mr. Scholl, '32, as manager.

NEW CHAPEL SERVICE

With the opening of the 1931-32 school term a new chapel policy was put into effect. Instead of the individual class chapels once a week for a fifteen minute period and the hour assembly period on Thursday, a combined chapel period of twenty-five minutes will be held every day except Thursday in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel. These programs will vary from day to day. The first program under the new system was held on Monday, September 21. Dr. Haas was in charge. A short organ recital by Prof. Harold Marks featured the service. The student body is required to attend at least three chapel programs per week. This may also include the Thursday assembly program.

The regular Thursday hour assembly programs will continue this year. However, some of the programs will be staged in the usual science auditorium, but a few special programs will be held in the Memorial Chapel. A resume of forthcoming Thursday assembly programs will be printed in the following issue of the Weekly.

In addition to these programs regular vesper services on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock will be held. These programs will be in charge of various leaders throughout not only Allentown, but eastern Pennsylvania. The full program up to January will be announced shortly.

FROSH ELECT OFFICERS

A new system in the election of Freshmen class officers was put into effect this year by Student Council. Previously it had been the custom to elect Freshmen class officers for the first semester the first day of Freshmen Week. However this year in an effort to allow the Freshmen to become better acquainted with each other this election of officers was postponed until Thursday of Freshmen week.

After the various campus leaders had given the Freshmen short talks on the various activities the election of officers was held. The results were: Hubert Bury, Allentown, President; Richard Kuntzlemen, Tower City, Vice President; Lloyd Moyer, Allentown, Secretary; Frank Held, Allentown, Treasurer; Robert Burns and Joseph Mintz as Monitors.

in English and was graduated with honors from the department of education. He returned to his native city and taught for a year at the Kyushu Gakuim.

However feeling the urge for more education he left the shores of his home land and came to America. Here he entered Oberlin College in Ohio and spent his first year at that institution. From there he came further east and entered Columbia University where he majored in Anglo-Saxon in an effort to better learn and understand the English language. It was at the urging and recommendation of Tadao Kai that Massa Hero Huneno finally decided to finish the remaining two years for his A. B. degree at Muhlenberg College. He is entered here as a Junior. From Muhlenberg he expects to go to Columbia and finish his work for a master's degree, specializiing in English and literature.

In the short time Huneno has been at the local institution he has already made friends with practically the entire student body and many of the upperclassmen still see their old friend Tadao Kai walking around the campus.

stalls back the clere-story windows depict the American life of the Lutheran Church.

The first window is the Muhlenberg window. Here are shown the various fields of work done by Peter Muhlenberg, Frederick, Henry and Ernest Muhlenberg. The aisle window is that of Peter Muhlenberg. The next window depicts the colonial life of the time with special emphasis on the work of Conrad Weiser, interpreter and friend of the Indians in this section. The aisle window will be the figure of Conrad Weiser. The third window depicts the work of Falckner and his figure will be in the aisle window. Education features the next window with the aisle window containing the figure of Krauth. Aid and missions is the theme of the fifth window. The aisle window will contain the figure of Passavant. The last on the left side, like the one on the right is made up entirely of various seals. The aisle window will contain a figure of Dr. Haas.

Dr. Haas concluded his address by quoting several lines from Milton's famous poem—"Il Penseroso".

Following the address Dr. Fritsch had charge of the closing exercises. This assembly period marked the first appearance of the chapel choir. The choir will in all probability be made somewhat larger and will become an integral part of these daily worship periods.

In addition to these freshmen several other students transferred to Muhlenberg this year. Brent E. Findon of Bethlehem, entered the Senior class, in the Ph.B. group. Ernest Bitting, Sellersville also entered the Senior Class. Alfred Mattes, A. B., entered as a Junior. He hails from Wilkes-Barre. Massa H. Hinmeno of Kumanoto, Japan, entered the Ph.B. Junior group, as did Wilmer K. Meitzler of Trumbauersville, Pa. Two Sophomores were added to the college roll thru transferring—Abner D. Roth of Allentown in the B.S. section and Ralph G. Keeport of Reading in the Ph.B. section.

The total for the Freshman class is 170. The students come from 6 states—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut. Pennsylvania leads with 130 divided between the three classes as 41 A.B.; 46 B.S.; and 43 Ph.B. New Jersey is second with 23 divided as 1 A.B.; 11 B.S.; and 11 Ph.B. New York is third with 13, divided—2 A.B.; 5 B.S.; 6 Ph.B. Massachusetts contributed two new students, 1 A.B. and 1 B.S., while Illinois sent a Ph.B. freshman and Connecticut a B.S. member.

Who's Who on the Campus

Edward L. Barndt
Phi Kappa Tau

Upperclassmen, sophomores (and freshmen)!—we herewith present to you, as our first subject, in the "Weekly's" "Who's Who on the Campus", Mr. Edward L. Barndt, President of Muhlenberg's M. C. A. cabinet.

"Eddie's" summer home is located in that thriving and energetic city of which Philadelphia is a suburb—Sellersville, Pa. (There! the secret is out. Now you know why he's so filled with wim, wigor and witality". It's the environment, my lads!)

From the picture one would imagine this gentleman to be very stern and reserved, but, did you ever hear him and "Micker" Saul talk Pennsylvania German?

"Eddie", we know, is going to have a very active year, since besides being president of the M. C. A. cabinet, he holds the offices of President of Kappa Phi Kappa, national, professional, education fraternity, and Secretary of Omicron Delta Kappa, national, honorary, activity fraternity. He is also a member of the chapel choir and was a member of the Glee Club for three years. As a further evidence of his ability, his brothers in Phi Kappa Tau have entrusted him with the office of treasurer of the fraternity.

You're going to be busy, "Eddie," and we wish you lots of luck and success, both at "Berg," and in your future professional duties for which you are preparing!

Dr. Carl W. Boyer spoke at the Women's Club of Kutztown on Thursday, September 24th. On October 4th he will speak at the Rally Day services conducted in St. John's Lutheran Church, Slatington, Pa.

WELL, FROSH—HOW DO YOU LIKE COLLEGE?

No. 1

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HERE'S A TIP for Freshman! Now you're at college, you can always "go home by telephone." Regularly, or whenever you like, give Mother and Dad a call.

Tonight, for instance, pay them a "voice visit." Tell them how you're settling down. What a thrill they'll have to hear your voice—and maybe you won't enjoy it, too!

But, best of all, arrange to call home each week. That's a joy they'll look forward to as much as you.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, the charges can be reversed!

Publicity Bureau To Be Established On Local Campus

Need For Greater Publicity To Be Met By Bureau

In the interest of a Greater Muhlenberg, and with the sanction of the college authorities, a press bureau to disseminate Muhlenberg College news, has been established on the college campus. The step is in keeping with the policy of colleges and universities throughout the country and is, to a certain extent, patterned after them.

The need for publicity of a worthwhile nature has long been felt by the college, but it was not until the past summer that definite steps were taken to form a concrete organization. At the direction of Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, director of the School of Education, an organized publicity campaign for the summer school was launched.

During the six weeks of Summer School more than three full pages of newspaper stories were published in the Allentown Morning Call and a slightly smaller amount in the Chronicle and News. In addition, press dispatches were mailed by the bureau to newspapers throughout the state and even into New York state.

With the opening of the present term of college, the matter of establishing such a bureau was taken up with the president of the college. Dr. Haas heartily endorsed the move and appointed Gordon B. Fister, who conducted the department during the summer, to organize and conduct a similar bureau during the coming year. Registrar Harry A. Benfer is faculty advisor to the department. Ralph C. Dinger also aids the department by corresponding with several out of town papers.

The Allentown Morning Call has kindly consented to place the facilities of the photography and engraving departments of its plant at the disposal of the bureau. It will furnish mats and cuts to be mailed to newspapers in various parts of the country. It is through its facilities that a mailing list, of about 200 newspapers, has been compiled. It is largely through its co-operation that the bureau has been successful.

Malcolm M. Parker and David Ruhe, two men who have had newspaper experience, have been named assistants in the department. The former is a sophomore and the latter a freshman. There is room on the staff for several freshmen and one or two more sophomores. It will be the policy of the departments to have underclass assistants do work and gradually promote them to important positions of responsibility as the scope of the bureau widens.

At the first football game, between Juniata and Muhlenberg, a Western Union press wire and a Postal Telegraph press wire were installed in the press box and writeups were sent to twelve papers in addition to the Associated Press dispatch. This entire service, due to several connections the bureau has made, was rendered at no cost whatever to the college. If wire service had been paid for its cost to date would have been well in excess of $100.

During the first school month, that is from September 18 to October 1, 120 inches of material were released to the Allentown Morning Call. This amounted to more than a solid page of Muhlenberg material.

Results of Survey of Graduates Announced

Report Contained In Fall Issue Of Alumni Quarterly

With the Fall issue of the Alumni Quarterly of Muhlenberg College a survey of the graduates of the college made during the past year was issued. This survey was under the direction of the Department of Education and Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity.

Over 1500 questionnaires were sent out and 608 were returned. From these questionnaires vital statistics in regard to the college were learned. A few of the more important being that as far as is known 172 men and women graduated from Muhlenberg College have secured their Master's degrees while thirty-one men and women have earned the degree of Ph.D. Three hundred and eighty-two graduates of Muhlenberg College are now teaching in various fields, mostly in high schools.

Pennsylvania leads all other states in resident students with New Jersey and New York second and third respectively. It is interesting to note however that in recent years the students are being drawn from larger fields.

Enrollment in the Ph.B. degree courses has continually increased since 1915 while the enrollment in the A.B. course has remained fairly constant. The B.S. enrollment has increased gradually.

This was one of the first statistical surveys of its type and much valuable information is gained for the college through its use. In all probability future years will see more of these tables prepared to aid the college in preparation of its courses for its students.

DR. WATSON SHOWS VALUE OF CHAPEL

Explains Problems Met in Designing of Modern Chapel

"I was much impressed, when reading the newspaper account of Haverford's Pre-Centenary Day, in which Dr. Comfort, when summing up his address, was quoted as saying, And finally, great insistence must be laid upon the inculcation of spiritual values. Our education is seeking its satisfaction in too exclusively material triumphs, in clever techniques and skills, rather than in those spiritual and moral values which are the eternal foundation of personal happiness and national righteousness and survival."

The tendency of the present system of education to lean definitely toward the material and to indifference, and at times to utter neglect of religion, leaves us without the urge and stimulation which was so notably present in the Middle Ages and even down to within a half century ago. The workings of a cold, materialistic psychology are permitted to supplant those of the Holy Spirit. Prayer becomes alone the functioning of brain cells instead of the outpouring of the soul to its maker.

I do not wish to criticize our educational institutions for the development of modern scientific research, but to do this to the neglect and exclusion of religion and real culture, is a weakness only too apparent to those of us who still are thoughtful of the spiritual and the beautiful.

The College Chapel is primarily a church and as such should possess all the elements of religious expression.

Student Council recommends the following amendment to the Constitution:

"The Council shall consist of the officers of the Student Body and additional members from the groups not represented by the officers; one member from each fraternal group living in a house outside of the dormitories; and one member from the non-fraternal group for each 40 students on the day of election."

Muhlenberg Host To Allentown Rotarians

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch In Charge Of Program

Allentown Rotary swung its scene of weekly meeting from the center of the city to Muhlenberg College on Friday, October 2nd, to hear Dr. John A. W. Haas, the institution's president tell of Muhlenberg's contribution to Allentown.

The club members assembled at noon in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial chapel, the beautiful religious structure on the campus, for an organ recital by Prof. Harold K. Marks. At 12:30, they adjourned to the college commons, where luncheon was served.

Dr. Haas was the principal speaker. He revealed the surprising fact that Muhlenberg College contributes in actual money the sum of $500,000 annually to Allentown. Of this sum, he said, $250,000 is actual money from the college, for upkeep, etc., while $75,000 is from Prep School. The remainder is contained in what the professors and students spend here.

He pointed out the advantages to the students of Allentown, in that Muhlenberg is a local college, it gives many opportunities for scholarships, and sends many into higher walks of life and success.

Among other things Dr. Haas declared that Muhlenberg graduates have become professors at such institutions as Temple, University of Pennsylvania, Harvard, Ohio State, Johns Hopkins, and California. Thirty-eight per cent of the Muhlenberg graduates, he stated, have secured their master's degrees.

The chairman of the program was Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, of the Muhlenberg College faculty.

SOPHOMORE CLASS IS HOST TO FROSH

Great Show Put On By Favored Yearlings

Last Wednesday evening under the supervision of the Sophomore Class, the Class of 1935 was initiated into the mysteries attending college life. The blessed event took place on the Campus opposite the Adminitration Building.

Early in the evening the freshmen gathered under the Arcade, and immediately cries of, "Water, water!" resounded across the Campus. As the goading cries of the upper-classmen grew louder and louder, the freshmen became more and more fearful. Finally the drama beneath the Arcade ended with a finale of inspiring talk by Kenny Hunt, the president of the sophomore class. The freshmen were told to bear their woes in a sportsmanlike manner. They were advised to disregard the remarks of the upper-classmen and to avoid all attempts at rebellion. Since there were about fourteen sophomores and one hundred and fifty freshmen, the exhortation to pacificism was most necessary. If those freshmen had rioted, history would have changed.

From the Arcade the merry group rushed to the Administration Building where they were again entertained by an oration. This one by Hubert Bury, the president of the freshman class. Bury supported all that Hunt had previously said, but his voice did not reach the mammoth proportions which Hunt's had attained.

Finally the initiation was really begun. The freshmen were commanded to roll their trousers up to their knees and to run across the Campus with interlocked hands. When the links in the chain broke, the frosh were ordered to swim the Campus. Hunt demonstrated the stroke and the new men quickly followed his example. The stroke was marvellous and amazing progress was made. Fully five yards had been covered when the aquatic sports ended fifteen minutes after they had begun. Last but

October 15th Date of Annual College Day

To Be Made A Home Coming, And Reunion Day

The annual College Day of Muhlenberg College will be held this year on Thursday, October 15th. This is a change from the usual Saturday date but the Administration feels that the excellent program arranged for this day will make the day just as big a success as ever.

Plans are being made to make this a home coming day and alumni reunion day as well as merely a College Day. Various classes have signified their willingness to be well represented on this day and it is hoped that a goodly number of Muhlenberg graduates will return to their Alma mater for the celebration of this day.

The program is exceptionally fine. The main address will be delivered by President W. Mather Lewis of Lafayette College. In addition to this address a fine program of musical selections will be presented by the Sittig Trio. This trio has made an excellent reputation for itself and the program it will present to those assembled will certainly live up to its past reputation.

The program as planned will run from 10 o'clock to 12. At this time Dr. and Mrs. John A. W. Haas will entertain the faculty and their wives with Dr. and Mrs. W. Mather Lewis as special guests, at a luncheon to be held at the Hotel Traylor.

In the near future invitations will be sent to every Muhlenberg alumnus informing him of the opportunity the College is arranging so that he may renew old friendships as well as receive some worthwhile programs and entertainments.

Another departure from past custom will be that instead of holding the program in the Science Auditorium the program will be held in the beautiful new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

MATRICULATION AND CHEER PRACTICE HELD

New Cheers Introduced To Large Gathering

Matriculation of the Freshman and cheer practice of the entire student body took prominent parts in the second general assembly of the students on Thursday, October 1.

Dean Robert C. Horn in a fine fashion addressed the Freshman class concerning matriculation and gave a brief historical survey of the custom, showing that it is a medieval practice which has carried over to modern times. Although it was an old tradition, the Freshman were urged to fulfill it, since it is a mark of greater development in a yearling's life, some of the freshness having been removed, and most of all since it marks official admission to the college.

Dr. Horn stressed the need for the Freshmen to become acclimated to the new environment and he disclosed how important correct methods of study were for them.

Following the address Ray Munsch, head cheerleader announced that football songs would be used at the games this season in order to render a more effective method of "pepping up" the games. Under the leadership of Dr. Marks and "Steve" Fisher, Student director, the Band assisted the students to become better acquainted with the songs to be used, "Fight, Fight, Fight for Dear Old Muhlenberg," and "Rushing Down The Field." In the course of the cheering and songs which followed the Freshman showed up exceptionally well and the auditorium rang with the echoes.

A new cheer "The 32" was introduced as well as a new fight yell, and these met with unanimous approval of the Student Body. Following the cheering practice and the singing of "Fair Muhlenberg" the session closed with the Alma Mater.

Special Vesper Services Planned For First Semester

Programs To Be Held In Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO BE PRESENTED

With the first vesper service in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel over, the complete program for the ensuing term has been released by the Administration.

The programs for this term are as follows:

The services for next Sunday, October 11th, will be under the direction of Dr. Gould Wickey, Secretary of the Board of Education of the United Lutheran Church and Chairman of the Council of Church Boards of Education in the United States.

The services for the Allentown Conference will be held the following Sunday with Dr. Franklin K. Fretz, President of the Allentown Conference and Professor of Philosophy at Lafayette College, delivering the sermon.

Rev. Conrad Wilker, pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Allentown, will deliver the sermon on October 25th.

The first of a series of lectures of the Rehrig Foundation discussing "Christian Evidences" will be held on November 1st. The speaker will be Dr. C. M. Jacobs, President of the Mt. Airy Lutheran Seminary. The remaining four lectures in this group will be given on the following Friday morning periods from 11-12 o'clock, November 6, 13, 20 and December 4th.

The Union Reformation Services by the Allentown Churches will be held on November 8th. The Reverend Doctor F. K. Knubel, President of the United Lutheran Church will be the speaker. The college authorities are exceedingly fortunate in securing Dr. Knubel for this address.

Rev. Russel Snyder, newly elected professor at the Mt. Airy Seminary will deliver the sermon on November 15th. Rev. Dr. Pfatteicher, President of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania will deliver the sermon on November 22nd. The annual Thanksgiving services will be held on November 29th.

Rev. Dr. N. R. Melhorn, Editor of the Lutheran will be the guest speaker for December 6th. Rev. A. R. Chas. Keiter, pastor of Salem Lutheran Church, Lebanon, Pa., will deliver the sermon on December 13th. The pre-Christmas celebration will be held on December 20th. A special program entitled "Echoes of Christmas" will be held on December 27th.

STUDENTS TAKE NOTE!

Dr. Merkle, the college physician will be in the Physical "Ed." room in the "Ad" Building every day at 4:00 P. M. At the end of the week he will occupy a room (to be given later) in the "dorms". Take advantage of this notice if necessary. .Charges are taken care of in the five dollar medical fee.

New President of Allegheny College To Be Inaugurated

Dr. Haas To Represent Muhlenberg College At Ceremonies

Muhlenberg College will be represented by John A. W. Haas, D.D., LL.D., President, at the inauguration of the youngest president of a Class A college in the United States to head one of the oldest colleges West of the Allegheny mountains, when William Pearson Tolley, A.M., Ph.D., is formally inducted into the presidency of Allegheny College, a Methodist Episcopal institution, at Meadville, Pa., Friday, October 9th. Dr. Tolley is 31 years old. Allegheny College is 116 years old.

The inauguration of Dr. Tolley will bring together one of the most distinguished and colorful assemblages of college and university presidents, deans and professors, which has ever gathered for a similar occasion. The entire membership of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania will attend in a body. College and university representatives from most of the larger institutions of learning between New York and the Pacific Coast will attend. More than one hundred acceptances to the invitations sent out by the president, faculty and trustees of Allegheny College have been received to date. These include the representatives of such nationally known institutions as Stanford University, Columbia Univerity, Dartmouth, Harvard, Depauw University, Princeton, New York University, Syracuse, Georgetown, University of California, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Washington and Lee, University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne University, Rensselaer Polytechnic, Case School of Applied Sciences, Carnegie Tech, University of Denver, Williams College and a hundred other institutions. Acceptances have also been received from such societies as the American Chemical Society, The Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association of University Women, Association of University Professors, and the heads of several state departments of public instruction.

One of the novel features of the inauguration exercises will be a section in the procession composed of graduates and former students of Allengheny College who are now teachers, officers or administrators in other colleges and institutions of learning. There are 125 former Allegheny College men and women thus engaged. It is believed that this will be the first time such a demonstration has been made by any college. This section is expected to attract much attention.

In addition to inaugurating President Tolley, the ceremonies will extend over to October 10th, for the purpose of dedicating the college library, the gift of William Edward Reiss of Pasadena, California, a graduate of Allegheny College, Class of 1869.

Among the speakers at the inauguration of the new president and the dedication of the library, will be Andrew W. Robertson of New York,

GREAT "PEP" MARKS LAFAYETTE SMOKER

Big Parade Climaxes Student Meeting

The annual Lafayette Pep Smoker was held in the Science Auditorium, Friday evening, at 7:30. One of the best turn-outs of the student body for these smokers was on hand.

True to an age old custom the leading "pep" speaker was John Sefing, genial booster of Muhlenberg. Mr. Sefing expressed his hopes for a successful season for Muhlenberg and urged the team to fight clean as they have always done.

The band played several Muhlenberg songs and the cheerleaders exercised the voices of the assembly with numerous peppy cheers.

Another speaker who has attended Muhlenberg pep meetings since 1920 was Mr. Cassone. He, too, urged the students to support the team at all times.

After the speeches, singing and cheering were over a pajama parade, with the freshmen as leading characters, proceeded to march downtown to 7th and Hamilton Streets.

The band led the parade in fine style. They were followed by the pajama clad yearlings.

Notice Alumni

This is the last copy of the Muhlenberg Weekly which will be sent to alumni who have not paid for their subscription to the paper for this year.

One of the best ways for the alumni to keep in touch with their Alma Mater is thru a subscription to the college newspaper. Without the active support of the alumni the college itself will not grow and exert its influence on forthcoming generations.

The college newspaper goes, not only to students and alumni but to several hundred other colleges as well. The impression which these colleges receive of Muhlenberg is formed largely from the college newspaper. The greater number of paid up subscriptions the Weekly has the better it will be able to fulfill its services of advertising the college and keeping the alumni well informed of the various doings and activities of the college.

On another page of this issue there will be a box with a blank for a subscription to the Muhlenberg Weekly.

We are making a strenuous plea to our alumni to subscribe to the Muhlenberg Weekly. With the support of the alumni not only a better paper but a better college will develop.

A little co-operation from the alumni will make this a banner year for Muhlenberg.

PUBLICITY BUREAU TO BE ESTABLISHED ON LOCAL CAMPUS

The Chronicle and News also published the same amount of Muhlenberg stories. These are being taken care of by Donald B. Hoffman. In addition to local publicity the bureau has published stories in the Philadelphia Record, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Philadelphia Evening Ledger, the New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune, the New York World Telegram, the Bethlehem Globe Times, the Easton Express and many other Associated Press service papers.

The press bureau urges that any students, members of the faculty, administrative officers or student organizations who have any available news material report it to the office of Dr. Haas, in care of Mrs. Keller and a reporter of the staff will be sent to cover it. The bureau is being run solely to promote Muhlenberg College in the eyes of the reading public and thus to bring credit to its name. The fullest co-operation of the entire school will be sincerely appreciated.

All freshmen or sophomores who wish to scrub for positions on the staff should see Gordon Fister at the T. U. O. house, 407 North Twenty-third Street, any day between 12:30 and 1:15, or between 4:15 and 5 P. M.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Well, another Lafayette game played and lost. The team sure stood up well under the constant pounding of a much heavier line and backfield.

Then we had some hard luck with a few of our passes.

That boy Socolow wasn't in the game very long, but what a player.

Another publicity bureau is being established at Muhlenberg. Here's hoping it has better luck than the other attempts have had in the past. Muhlenberg doesn't need advertising around here but it sure does out of this section.

Incidentally there are still quite a few openings on the Weekly Staff for Sophomore and Freshman reporters.

Here's hoping that a large number of Alumni of dear old 'Berg will send in that subscription blank for the Weekly.

Let's see a banner crowd at the Lebanon Valley game this Friday night. The team needs your support.

SOPHOMORE CLASS IS HOST TO FROSH

not least on the program was a fast game of "leap frog" with the sophomores supervising the leaps.

In order to give the entire proceeding official sanction, the freshmen moved the scene to the home of Dr. Haas where they delivered the proverbial three cheers. Finally the entire group sang the Alma Mater amid the jeers of the upper classmen and the persistant cries of, "Rush 'em, frosh."

After the concert was completed, the freshmen were told to dispense, and the formal initiation of the class of 1935 was a matter for the record books.

It seems, however, that the freshmen must always be tortured, for in spite of the many statements of Hunt to the effect that no water would be poured, the freshmen received it in sheets as they passed the Arcade. Thus the old traditional proceeding, intended to relieve the yearlings of the conceit which they had imbibed during their last years in prep school, ended with clouds and showers.

The committee in charge of the general proceedings consisted of the following members of the freshmen tribunal: Sam Bortel, Kenneth Hunt, Robert Mentzer, Richard Thiede, William MacMillan and Jack Requa.

DR. WATSON SHOWS VALUE OF CHAPEL

These course will vary with the particular liturgical requirements.

The mediaeval college chapel was designed and used for religious functions only, and therefore its size was usually limited to the comfortable accommodation of the student body and faculty with sometimes a small section for visitors. Its architectural importance, however, was always acknowledged, and many of the chapels of England and the Continent are veritable gems.

Thinking in architectural terms of the typical medieval chapel, one visualizes a comparatively narrow nave of six or seven bays, rather lofty, and having no aisles; using one bay for sanctuary and seated wholly as a choir with stalls facing each other in rows parallel with the longitudinal axis, returning on the west end, where the rector's and dean's stalls faced the sanctuary, with the small space to the west of the choir and outside the screen allotted to outsiders.

Modern American requirements have developed a somewhat different problem. While retaining many of the elements of the Medieval chapel, they have introduced into the architectural program the necessity for the accommodation of larger gatherings, both for religious and academic functions. These enlarged requirements demand a more complete development of plans. The full Gothic section makes its appearance in the nave and aisles; the chapel, which stands as a complete and individual unit separated from the group, has its own narthex and sacristies. These requirements have been successfully realized in a number of notable examples: West Point—a noble Gothic structure, leads the vanguard; the fire at Princeton opened the way for probably the largest and most ambitious in the United States; Chicago and Mercersburg Academy have recently erected chapels of great importance. Duke University has one under construction of magnificent proportions, while Swarthmore has just completed its Clothier Memorial.

It will be of interest to describe the building which will be the religious center of this campus.

The program as given us by Dr. Haas, was based on a building accommodating approximately seven hundred, which should embody all the desirable traditions of the past and also meet the present requirements of Muhlenberg College; provide for religious and liturgical functions as well as academic; to which commission was added the injuction that it should be a "Churchly Building".

In solving the problem we have used a free Gothic scheme, consisting of ten bays of fifteen feet, giving a total interior length of one hundred fifty feet, a width of nave of thirty feet, and a height of sixty feet from floor to crown of vault. The easternmost bay is treated as a complete sanctuary with altar and reredos and sedilla for the clergy; the second bay as an anti-sanctuary providing rostrum for the pulpit and lecturn, and stalls for the president, dean, and sub dean, the next two are appropriated for the choir and upper classmen, while the parclose screens of these two bays carry the faculty stalls under canopies. This section is slightly elevated above the floor of the nave. The remaining six bays are seated with pews in the usual manner. Ample sacristies for clergy and choir are also included in the scheme, the whole covering one hundred ninety two feet in length.

The measure of success of any ecclesiastical-architectural composition lies in the fact as to whether it does or does not produce the religious atmosphere. This, it seems to me, is most essential in the college chapel, for with the tendency of the present time to avoid chapel attendance, nothing should be spared which will promote alluring and helpful environment, and which will encourage the attendance of students, making it a joy and pleasure to be sought, rather than a mere duty to be perfunctorily performed. Environment is of inestimable psychological value, especially to the temperamental mind, and may even influence the phlegmatic. It is therefore not to be expected that the loftiest spiritual impulses will be created by looking at bare walls of cubicle apartments labeled "Chapel" and listening to a super-enuated piano in accompaniment to which should be heartily sung praises, finely suported. No! Let us encourage and promote the very best that is in the student by providing for him a place of worship which at once inspires, announces its purpose, invites him to come, and says to him, "This is none other but the House of God, this is the very Gate of Heaven".

EDITOR'S NOTE: This little discussion, written by Dr. Frank R. Watson, who in addition to designing the Muhlenberg Chapel, has designed many college chapels throughout the East, should prove most interesting. It will show why Muhlenberg should feel particularly proud and enthused on this great day. The paper was originally delivered to the College President's Association of Pennsylvania, at their meeting held at Muhlenberg on May first.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA

Alpha Kappa Alpha members turned out en masse to attend the first meeting of the school year at the home of Charles Fritsch on Wednesday evening, September 30th.

After having discussed plans for the year a program was arranged for the conducting of Philosophical researches along the lines of nature, theism, and the physical world. The book to be used in discusion this year will be "Fundamentals of Philosophy", by Granfelder and Evans. Following the meeting, discussion centered on prospective members and the plans for a bigger and better year were drawn up. Refreshments concluded the gathering.

Officers of the organization for the present semester are: Richard Thiede, '32, President; Lawrence Reimert, '32, Vice President; Charles Fritsch, '32, Secretary; and Homer Knauss, '32, Treasurer.

FRESHMAN TRIBUNAL SELECTED FOR YEAR

Will Be Given Full Power To Handle Frosh

At the first regular meeting of the Student Body on September 24th the following Freshman Tribunal was appointed: Samuel Bortel, Jr., '32, chairman; Richard Thiede, '32; Joseph Henry, '33; Kenneth Hunt, '34; John Bennetch, '34; William MacMillan, '34; Jack Requa, '34; Robert Mentzer, '34.

The appointment of this tribunal to have charge of all Freshman duties and other rites is in accordance with the newly adopted Student Body Constitution. This marks the first time that this system has been adopted on the local campus and the results of this type of government of the Freshman class is eagerly being awaited by the entire student body.

In addition to the above appointments the Student Council selected the following proctors for the dormiories: Franklin Giltner, Donald Steinhauer, Sam Bortel, Harry Gerhard, Daniel Latshaw and Ferdinand Palladino. These men have full authority to enforce the rules and regulations concerning the dormitories as laid down in Article III of the By-Laws of the Student Body Constitution.

At the National Air Races in Cleveland this summer Lieut. Al Williams stunted his plane as directed by the audience through a radio hook-up. Another stunter waltzed his plane in time with dance music broadcast from the ground.

Mr. John M. Pokorny, '30, was united in marriage with Miss Julie M. DeJourno, September, eleventh in the college chapel.

Leopards Down Mules 26-0 In Hard Fought Contest

Weight and Reserve Strength of Lafayette Win Game

PASSING ATTACK OF 'BERG FAILS TO SCORE

On Saturday afternoon, October 3rd, the Muhlenberg mules put up a stubborn defense against a slashing attack by the powerful leopards of Lafayette only to emerge on the short end of a 26 to 0 score. One sided as the score was, the game was made interesting to the crowd estimated at well over 5,000 persons who assembled in the stadium at Easton by the plucky fight which the Cardinal and Grey warriors made against overwhelming odds.

A desperate and unsuccessful forward passing attack opened late in the final period was the only scoring threat made by the Muhlenberg team. The locals scored 8 first downs against a total of 19 made by the Easton delegation. The Lafayette scoring was equally divided, one touchdown being made in each period. Substitutions were numerous on both teams due to the heat of the day.

Several Lafayette scoring threats were broken up by fumbles, once when the ball was scarcely one yard from the Muhlenberg goal line and a score seemed inevitable. Miller, Fox, Irwin, and Wright were the big guns for the victors, while Wavrek, Rosenberg, Giltner, and Miller excelled for the Holstromites.

First Quarter

Wavrek caught the punt for Muhlenberg and was downed on his 30-yard line. Three attempts at the line netted no gain and Carney punted to Miller who was dropped on the Muhlenberg 45-yard line after a 10-yard run. Fox gained 1 yard thru the line. Miller crashed thru to the 24-yard line and a first down. Miller came thru for nine yards. Fox carried the ball to the Muhlenberg 13-yard line for the second first down. 'Berg time out. Irwin went thru for a gain of 4 yards. Fox made 3 yards on a reverse. Miller went thru a hole at left tackle six yards for a touchdown. Wavrek jumped thru and blocked Cook's placement. Score: Lafayette, 6; Muhlenberg, 0.

Cook kicked to Carney, the ball took a high bounce over Carney's head. Carney recovered the ball and was tackled on his 11-yard line. Evanosky gained 1 yard at center on a fake kick formation. Horine lost 8 yards on an attempted end run. Carney punted, Miller received and was stopped on the 28-yard 'Berg line. Miller went thru left tackle for 8 yards. Fox was stopped in his tracks. Irwin and Fox carried the ball in successive line jabs but failed to gain. 'Berg's ball on their own 20-yard line. Lafayette offside and a 5-yard penalty. Wavrek made 4 yards on 2 rushes. Evanosky got away and spun thru right guard 6 yards for a first down. Wavrek and Horine failed to gain on successive tries and Carney kicked to Irwin who caught the ball on his 40-yard line and carried it to the 40-yard 'Berg line. Wavrek crashed thru and threw Irwin for a 5-yard loss. Matuska tackled Miller for a 7-yard loss. A well-timed forward pass brought the ball to the 35-yard 'Berg line. Marsh punted out of bounds at the 15-yard 'Berg line when the Muhlenberg line held. Wavrek gained 4 yards on two line plunges. Carney punted out of bounds at the 45-yard 'Berg line. A pass from Fox gained 27 yards before Wermuth was brought down by Horine. Muhlenberg time out. Miller was stopped after gain of one yard as the period end with the ball in Lafayette's possession on the Muhlenberg 18-yard line.

Score: Lafayette, 6; Muhlenberg, 0.

Second Quarter

Irwin got thru left tackle for 7 yards. Fox went thru center for a first down on the Muhlenberg 6-yard line. Miller broke thru for 5 yards. Fox went over for a touchdown. Cook made the placement. Score: Lafayette, 13; Muhlenberg, 0.

Wavrek kicked for Muhlenberg to Miller on the 15-yard line. Miller ran up to the 34-yard line. Fox was stopped for no gain. Miller made 8 yards at left end. Fox went thru for first down on the 46-yard line. Two unsuccessful passes, a penalty of 5 yards, and a loss of 1 yard on a line jab made Marsh kick. The ball was downed on the 20-yard 'Berg line. Horine lost 4 yards on an end run. Klotz punted to Wright who was downed on his own 49-yard line. Sterner broke thru and dropped Miller for a 6-yard loss. Lafayette time out. Klotz caught a punt from Maass and was brought down on his 20-yard line. A 20-yard pass from Klotz to Giltner brought the ball to the Muhlenberg 40-yard line for a first down. Maass intercepts a pass from Carney and it is Lafayette's ball on the 'Berg 41-yard line. Miller fumbled and Giltner smeared him for a 15-yard loss. A wide pass from Maass was grounded. Maass punted out of bounds on the 16-yard 'Berg line. Wavrek on a fake kick formation got away thru a wide hole at right tackle to the 30-yard line and a first down. Two passes from Carney were grounded and 'Berg received a 5-yard penalty. Klotz punted out of bounds on the Lafayette 45-yard line. Wright carried the ball around end 15 yards for a first down. Smith went around left end on a long run to the 'Berg 9-yard line. Wright went over for what looked like a touchdown, but the ball was brought back to the 24-yard line on a penalty for Lafayette for holding. The Muhlenberg line held and the ball went to 'Berg on downs on the 20-yard line. Carney caught a wild pass from center and his forward went wide and was grounded. Pulasky broke thru and blocked Klotz's punt and Lafayette got the ball on Muhlenberg's 4-yard line. Wright fumbled on the next play and 'Berg recovered the ball on their own 1-yard line. Klotz punted. Lafayette was given a 15-yard penalty for roughing the kicker. First down for 'Berg. Wilkinson punted for Muhlenberg and Lafayette had the ball on the 35-'Berg line as the half ended.

Third Quarter

Wavrek kicked to Marsh who caught the ball on his 20-yard line, ran to the 37 and fumbled. 'Berg recovered. A pass from Evanosky was knocked down by Marsh. Miller was injured in the play and Muhlenberg took time out. Muhlenberg could not gain and Carney kicked to Socolow who was downed on his 12-yard line. Socolow went thru right tackle for 11 yards and a first down. The 'Berg line held and Marsh punted to Rosenberg who was run out of bounds on his 49-yard line. A pass, Carney to Rosenberg netted 11 yards and a first down. Muhlenberg received a 5-yard penalty for offside. Wavrek threw a wild pass which was intercepted by Miller on Lafayette's 38-yard line. Two line plunges made no gain for Lafayette. A pass was knocked down. Carney caught a punt and was downed on his 25-yard line. Wavrek was thrown for a 5-yard loss on an attempted end run. Line jab netted no gain. Carney made a kick which was delayed by a poor pass from center, Miller received and was brought down on the 41-yard 'Berg line. Socolow and Fox reeled off long runs thru the line for successive first downs. The 'Berg line tightened and the ball passed to Muhlenberg's possession on her own 10-yard line. Evanosky was thrown for a 1-yard loss on a jab at the line. Carney punted to Socolow who was downed in his tracks by Giltner on the 40-yard line. Fox spun thru the Muhlenberg line for a first down on the 23-yard line. Irwin got 3 yards and Miller went thru left tackle to the Muhlenberg 7-yard line and a first down. Fox got 1 yard thru the line. Irwin swung around end for a touchdown. Cooperman blocked the placement. Score: Lafayette, 19; Muhlenberg, 0. Carney kicked to Marsh on 26-yard line and the ball was returned to the 30-yard line as the period ended.

Fourth Quarter

Marsh punted out of bounds on the Lafayette 43-yard line. Carney attempted a pass but had to change to an end run and was thrown for a 10-yard loss. Carney threw a pass to Giltner who went to the 25-yard line for a first down. Two incompleted forwards. The Lafayette line held and the ball went to Lafayette on her own 20-yard line. Miller and Irwin made short gains thru the line, but Muhlenberg tightened up and Marsh punted to Rosenberg who received on his 35-yard line and advanced with the ball to the 46-yard Lafayette line. Carney threw two forwards which were incompleted. A line plunge failed. Carney punted to Irwin who was dropped on his 33-yard line. Two line plunges netted no gain. Wright threw a pass to Maass who went to the 45-yard Muhlenberg line for a first down. Irwin went 8 yards thru right tackle. Wright on a reverse spun around left end to the Muhlenberg 23-yard line and a first down. Two line plunges netted only small gains. Irwin threw a beautiful forward pass which was caught by Wright on the 'Berg 1-yard line. Bugen plowed thru center for a touchdown. Wright drop kicked the extra point. Score: Lafayette, 26; Muhlenberg, 0.

Carney kicked to Smith who ran the ball back to the Lafayette 34-yard line. Lafayette was given a 15-yard penalty for tripping. Two successive line plays were stopped for no gain. Cirrello gained 8 yards around end. Marsh punted to Horine who was dropped in his tracks on the 36-yard line. A pass Wilkinson to Cooperman gained 5 yards for 'Berg. A second pass was incompleted. A beautiful pass Paladino to Cooperman brought the ball to the 45-yard line for a first down. After another incomplete pass, Palladino threw a pass to Morrison for a 15-yard gain. Rosenberg fumbled a nice pass. A penalty of 5 yards, Palladino was thrown for a 5-yard loss. A long forward was knocked down and another 5-yard penalty was given to 'Berg while Lafayette took possession of the ball on downs. Pini and Bugen cooperated for another first down for Lafayette. A long pass was intercepted by Wilkinson who carried it to the 45-yard 'Berg line. A pass from Palladino was knocked out of Morrison's hands. Another pass was kocked down by Bugen incurring a penalty of 5 yards for Muhlenberg as the game ended.

To Dr. and Mrs. Brandes was born a son, Gordon Stanley, on August seventh. The entire student body joins in offering Dr. and Mrs. Brandes their heartiest congratulations.

In the very near future the Brandes' hope to be living in their new home at the corner of Broad and Gordon Streets.

Professor Dech, head of the mathematics department is at the present time taking graduate work at Columbia University.

COACH GEORGE HOLSTRUM

George Holstrum, varsity coach, has been a familiar figure on the Muhlenberg campus since 1920 when he transferred to this college from Shurtleff College in Wisconsin. He graduated from Muhlenberg with a B. S. degree in 1923. The present football season marks the third anniversary of his service as coach of varsity athletics at Muhlenberg.

Holstrum helped make football history for Muhlenberg under the coaching regime of "Punk" Wood. George has the unique distinction of not only playing on a 'Berg football team which defeated Lehigh, but also of coaching a Cardinal and Grey squad which performed this task. George Holstrum was one of the stars of the 'Berg team which defeated Lehigh by a 14 to 13 score in 1921, and coach of last year's squad which treated Lehigh to a 24 to 0 trouncing.

Immediately after his graduation from Muhlenberg, Holstrum signed up as a member of the Allentown Dukes baseball team. He then sold real estate for a time with a local firm until he was appointed Freshman coach. George served in this position, turning out some fine yearling squads, until 1929 when he was appointed varsity coach to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of "Haps" Benfer.

George Holstrum spends his summer vacations at the Notre Dame coaching school in South Bend, Indiana. George does his best to apply the technique of the well remembered Rockne to the material which turns out for the 'Berg squads in the fall.

"That bully old slogan hits me just right—

. . . no bamboozlin' about that!"

SURE! When a word fits, you know it! "Satisfy" just fits CHESTERFIELD. A smoker picks up a package, and he likes its neat appearance – no heavy inks or odors from ink. That satisfies him.

Then he examines a Chesterfield. It is well-filled; it is neat in appearance; the paper is pure white. And that satisfies him.

He lights up. At the very first puff he likes the flavor and the rich aroma. He decides that it tastes better—neither raw nor over-sweet; just pleasing and satisfying.

Then he learns it is milder. That's another way of saying that there is nothing irritating about it. And again he's satisfied!

Satisfy – they've got to satisfy! The right tobaccos, the CHESTERFIELD kind, cured and aged, blended and cross-blended, to a taste that's right. Everything that goes into CHESTERFIELD is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. CHESTERFIELDS do a complete job of it. They Satisfy!

FROSH RECEPTION WELL ATTENDED

One of the highlights of Freshman week was the annual Freshman Reception—sponsored by the M. C. A. Cabinet. Freshman week opened on Monday. On Tuesday evening they were welcomed to Muhlenberg with the annual reception.

This year the reception was held in the Social Room of the Library instead of in the Science Auditorium. A new type of program was also instituted. Games of several kinds—designed to test the skill of the freshmen along various lines—were enjoyed by all.

After this period "Roastmaster" Rev. Cressman introduced the various speakers of the evening—Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college; Rev. Robert R. Fritsch, D.D., head of the department of Bible; Dr. Robert C. Horn, dean of the college; Rev. Gomer Rees, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Allentown; Prof. Charles Bowman, head of the department of Economics and Mr. Harry Benfer, registrar. These men all gave short, peppy speeches for the benefit of the incoming freshmen.

After the speeches were over the entire assemblage enjoyed itself with refreshments.

The program was arranged by "Haps" Benfer, Rev. Cressman and John H. K. Miller. The M. C. A. Cabinet which sponsored this event was; Edward Barndt, president; John H. K. Miller, vice president; Donald B. Hoffman, secretary; and Howard Kaiser, treasurer. Rev. Cressman, the student pastor, is advisor for the cabinet.

Who's Who on the Campus

Kenneth H. Koch
Phi Kappa Tau

Here, fellows, is a lad who is going to make a big mark in the world in the near future. Hailing from Allentown, Pennsylvania, he established quite a record in Allentown High and he is now giving us the benefit of his leadership and ability.

Since coming to "Berg" in '28, "Ken" has already become a prominent figure on the campus. In his Freshman and Sophomore years he was elected Vice-president of his class as a token of his leadership. He was also a member of the Varsity Debating squad, a member of the "Weekly" Staff during his first two years and besides held membership in Tau Kappa Alpha.

In his Junior year he was selected for representation of his fraternity for Inter-Fraternity Council and he became the president of Tau Kappa Alpha in this year also, as well as a member of the "Ciarla" Staff. He was elected to membership in Phi Alpha Theta. But the crowning achievement to such a busy man was his election as President of the Student Body for the year 1931-32.

"Ken" aspires to be a lawyer and his talents certainly lie in that direction. We know that he will gain his end successfully and best of luck! His brothers of Phi Kappa Tau where he is House President, join in wishing him every success in his chosen field.

VARSITY "M" CLUB MEETS IN COMMONS

Gives Annual Donation For Recreation Hall

The "M" Club opened its schedule for the year 1931-32 by holding a well-attended meeting in the "Commons" Wednesday, September 30th. President Palladino opened the session.

The following men were initated into the "M" Club: Schlotter, Symons, Shimer, Drach, Wilkinson, Welsh, Munsch, and Kaiser. After the initiation problems for the year were discussed and big plans are in progress for the coming year.

True to its usual custom the "M" Club contributed the sum of one hundred and seventy-five dollars toward the upkeep of the "Rec" hall.

Plans are under way for an amendment to the constitution of the organization whereby members of the tennis club would be eligible for membership, as well as men participating in other minor sports. No definite action has been taken as yet but there is reason to believe that the subject will be taken care of at a later meeting. Discussion being concluded, the meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Kahler, mathematics instructor, is taking graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

'BERG ALL SET TO WIN LEBANON GAME

This Friday night under the big lights Muhlenberg will attempt to avenge the 14 to 12 defeat received last season from Lebanon Valley. Last year's game with the Annville crew was one of the most exciting in the season.

The game this week shows promise of being another thriller. Muhlenberg's over-confidence after piling up a 12 to 0 lead on Lebanon Valley in the first period was largely responsible for its defeat. This over-confidence and poor condition will not be present with this year's team.

Both squads have a real respect for the other. Each has had a defeat this season, and a victory Friday night will go a long way towards making a successful season for either team. Lebanon Valley forced Georgetown, one of the best teams in the east, to go the limit before being defeated in the last two periods by a score of 26 to 0.

CUE AND QUILL TO HAVE PLAY CONTEST

Will Be Held Around The Holidays; Cash Prizes

The Cue and Quill will run its first play on the 26th of October, before an assemblage of alumni. Tryouts and castings for the production have been tried out during the last few days.

At present the Cue and Quill is considering the presentation of a full length play, probably "Secret Service" by Gillette. The play will be given sometime during the course of the first semester.

A new departure this season will be the use of women for the female parts. In this innovation the feminine characters will be selected from the Extension School.

Around the holidays a play writing contest will be scheduled. Any student, of Muhlenberg College will be eligible for the cash prizes offered. The contest will which is expected to create a great deal of interest along dramatic lines will furnish as its theme some phase of Muhlenberg College, and it may be done in satire, burlesque, comedy or tragedy. Persons who submit these plays will be able to see their compositions produced by the Cue and Quill players. Judges will be appointed to take care of the awarding of prizes. Just who they will be has not yet been decided. Watch the "Weekly" for details of this contest.

KNUCKLING DOWN to this new college year? It's the life—and a busy one! But with all the rush of classes and campus fun there are Mother and Dad to remember!

Pay them a "voice visit"—once a week at least! Have a regular Telephone Date with home. News about the family—news about yourself—that's a fair exchange and a lasting pleasure shared by all concerned.

Easy? There's nothing easier! Cheap? Surprisingly so!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

First Student Body Meeting Evokes Lively Discussion

New Budget for Year Is Presented and Approved

PEP. COMMITTEE FOR LAST NIGHT GAME APPOINTED

The first meeting of the current year of the Student Body was called to order in the Science Auditorium, on October 8, by the President Kenneth H. Koch, at 11:10 o'clock. The minutes were read by Secretary Geiger and approved as read. As no committee reports or old business presented itself, new business was called for. Morris Efron, the Treasurer of the Student Body, presented the Budget for the coming year. It is as follows:

The Band	$ 200.00
Recreation Hall	175.00
Assb. Entertainments	300.00
Dance Committe	125.00
Ciarla	75.00
Student Council Charms	65.00
Awards	50.00
Tennis	75.00
Secretary fees	50.00
Debating	75.00
Total	$1,190.00

Under new business, Henry Richards, indirectly speaking in behalf of the College Debating Team, requested that the sum of $75.00 be added to the budget, and given to the Team, in order to further its forensic relations with colleges of a higher calibre in this respect. Immediately upon this suggestion, Richard Thiede added that the $25.00 to be spent on student Council hats be appropriated to the cause of debating. Gehr and Richards made and seconded a motion that the budget be adopted on the second reading. A vote was taken and the budget was passed. President Koch next brought forth the following proposed amendment to the Constitution:

"The Council shall consist of the officers of the Student Body and additional members from the groups not represented by the officers; one member from each fraternal group living in a house outside of the dormitories; and one member from the non-fraternal group for each 40 students on the day of election. Although it was unconstitutional to pass upon it, as an oversight failed to have it in the Weekly prior to Tuesday, President Koch suggested that it be voted upon at this meeting, as the next one will occur in February, 1932. A vote was taken.

MUHLENBERG PRESS BUREAU RECEIVES OFFICIAL SANCTION

Three Student Body Heads Are Appointed

Final organization of the newly formed Muhlenberg Press Bureau was completed over the week-end. Under the direction of Mr. Harry Benfer, Registrar, a group of interested students gathered in the Assembly Room.

After a talk by Mr. Benfer and also one by Prof. Simpson, the underclassmen left. Immediately after this meeting the official organization was completed. There will be three student heads of this bureau—Donald B. Hoffman in charge of the Weekly; Ralph Dinger as representative of the Alumni Quarterly; and Gordon B. Fister in charge of Newspaper Contacts. As faculty sponsors of this organization, Prof. Corbiere, Prof. Fasig and Prof. Simpson, and Mr. Benfer have been selected.

The purpose of the Bureau is to keep the various town papers informed of what the students from those sections are doing at Muhlenberg. In addition to this the Bureau is attempting to advertise Muhlenberg thruout the eastern part of the country.

FROSH-SOPH FIGHT TO BE HARD PULL

Plenty of Action Promised Spectators at Cedar Creek

Intense interest is being manifested at this time of the year by members of the student body, including, of course, even the sophomores and freshman in the Soph-Frosh pull for the campus plum and the right to enter the "Ad" building by the main rear door. Thus far there exists a complete deadlock betwen the two classes with fine prospects of its being broken at the tug-of-war contest, to be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 over the clear (warm?) waters of the beautiful winding Cedar Creek, so beloved by Muhlenbergians.

As usual the freshmen are feeling their "oats" because of their superior strength of numbers, but on the other hand, the sophomores are determined by all the shades of their former classmates to fight to the finish, e'en though it be the dusk, if the rope holds, and to defend their honor at the price of a free bath (a cleanup we might say).

Advance notices inform us that President Hunt of the "Sophs" will be on hand to arouse the fighting "Irish"?) as per schedule, in their pull-to-a-finish match. Great hopes are being raised that allowing for possible "breaks" he will be in their fight (or shall we say pull?) to accomplish this victory.

The cheering section we suppose, will consist, as usual, of a number of apathetic and disdainful upperclassmen, commingled with the number of sure-to-win underclassmen. The future spectators are even cherishing fond hopes that Charley Cooper, '33, the well-known frosh coach will not forget himself and become atavistic as the evolutionits say, so far as to assume the role of freshmanry in similar fashion to that of the past contest, in which it seemed that his sympathies or whatever you call them, got the better of his judgment.

ALUMNI NEWS

Rev. Frederick C. Krapf, '95, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Pittston, Pa., celebrated the tenth anniversary of his present pastorate last Wednesday, October 7th, when a testimonial dinner was tendered him and Mrs. Krapf by members and friends of the congregation in appreciation for the faithful services they have rendered.

Pre-Med. Society Organized At 'Berg

Dr. John Shankweiler Faculty Advisor of New Group

Another organization will take its place on the Muhlenberg Campus in the near future. This will be a Pre-Medical Society.

Muhlenberg College has been sending an ever increasing number of students to the various medical schools of the country. The need for an organization of students interested in these courses has long been felt. It was not until this Fall, however, that a definite movement for the formation of this group was begun.

Under the leadership of Dr. John V. Shankweiler, head of the Biology Department of Muhlenberg, a meeting of interested students was held in the Science Building. Twenty-nine students were in attendance and several others have signified their intention of joining this organization.

Temporary organization of this group was effected. Richard Thiede, '32, was elected temporary chairman. A committee to petition the faculty for permission to form this organization was appointed. This permission has been practically assured by leading members of the faculty.

Plans were advanced at this meeting concerning programs for the group. Several leading Allentown doctors have agreed to give lectures before the group on the various phases of the medical profession. In addition to sponsoring these lectures the local organization hopes to be able to join with the Pre-Medical Societies of Lehigh and Lafayette and to bring some outstanding leaders in the medical profession to speak before the combined groups.

The addition of this organization to the campus will be a big boost to the science department.

SENIOR CLASS BALL COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The first class meeting of the Senior class for this year was held on Tuesday afternoon. President Geiger presided.

The most important business to be transacted was the appointment of the annual Senior Ball Committee. George Majercik was appointed chairman of this committee. He will be assisted by Morris Efron, Donald B. Hoffman, Charles Saul, Richard Thiede, Franklin Giltner and Ferdinand Palladino.

Since its inception as a college affair the Senior Ball has been one of the biggest successes of the collegiate year. This year a well-known broadcasting and recording orchestra will be secured to furnish the syncopation.

The date, as set by the college calendar, for this dance is November 13, but due to the fact that holding this dance at that time would prohibit many of the football men attending the affair, the committee has decided to postpone the dance until after the football season. It will probably be held sometime during the second week of December in conjunction with the various Christmas formals of the fraternities.

YEARLINGS ARE THE GUESTS OF PHILOS AT RUSHING DANCE

Saturday night was the occasion of the "rush" dance sponsored by the Philos Club and held at the Woman's Club. More than seventy-five couples danced to the tunes played by the Lafayette Music Masters. Besides the number of regular members and "rushees" present, quite a few alumni fraternity brothers were also at the dance.

The committee in charge consisted of John Detweiler, Chairman; Warren Smith and Harold Heiter.

The officers of the fraternity are: President, Leroy Moyer; Vice President, Howard Miller; Secretary, Roy Shupp; Treasurer, Warren Smith.

Debate Squad Tryouts To Be Held Thursday

Actual work on the questions to be used for debate during the coming year will begin this week with the tryouts for the debate squad, Thursday afternoon.

The question, which seemed to be the most suitable, as selected by the meeting of the representatives of various colleges in Pennsylvania at Harrisburg last week, is "Resolved, That the present system of Capitalism is Economically Unsound."

Muhlenberg was represented at this meeting by Donald V. Hock, Henry M. M. Richards and Alton Clauser.

The varsity team this year will be composed of five veterans in Donald V. Hock, Donald B. Hoffman, Kenneth H. Koch, Donald B. Mancke and Henry M. M. Richards.

All students who are trying out for the squad will prepare a five-minute speech on either side of the question and report to Coach Gillespie in the Assembly Room this Thursday at 3:45 P. M.

Debates this year have been scheduled with Villanova, Ursinus, F. and M., Dickinson, Gettysburg and possibly debates with Cedar Crest, Temple, University of Pennsylvania and Swarthmore.

RUSHING SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING

Dates Are Scheduled For Various Fraternity Functions

The annual fraternity rushing season at Muhlenberg College is under full swing. The first event was a rushing dance by Phi Kappa Tau at the Hotel Traylor. The second event was a smoker, Tuesday night by Theta Upilson Omega.

The dates for the rest of the season are as follows: October 7th, Phi Epsilon; 8th, Delta Theta. Due to the night football game with Lebanon Valley on the 9th, no rushing date was given for that night. Closing the first week on the 10th the Philos Club will hold their first rushing event.

Alpha Tau Omega will start the second week with a rush event on October 12th. Philos Club will sponsor their second event on the 13th. The 14th will be taken up by a smoker at the Phi Kappa Tau house. The Delta Theta fraternity will hold their closing rush event on the 15th. Depending upon whether or not a night football game is played at Muhlenberg on the 16th the Phi Epsilon will sponsor their second rush event on either the 16th or 17th.

Theta Upsilon Omega will close their rush events with a dance on October 19th. The final event of the rushing season will be sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega on the 20th.

The annual day of silence will be Wednesday, October 21st. Pledging will take place on Thursday, 22nd, at 4:15.

BERKS COUNTY ALUMNI TO MEET OCTOBER 26

The meeting of the Berks County Alumni Association of Muhlenberg College will be held on October 26th in Reading. This meeting will mark the resumption of activities of this active alumni group.

Among the representatives of the local college will be George Holstrom who has been guiding the destinies of the various athletic teams of Muhlenberg for the past few years.

Mr. Coder, instructor of English and coach of dramatics at the local college will present a group of students in a one-act play. The actors in this presentation have been drawn from members of the play production class and from the incoming freshmen class.

Dr. Wickey Speaker At Vesper Services

Large Gathering at Second Vesper Service

The second of the series of vesper services held in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, took place on Sunday, October 11th with Dr. Gould J. N. Wickey as the guest speaker.

Dr. Haas, president of the college, Rev. Cressman, student pastor and Rev. Stine of the department of Religion, officiated.

As speaker for the services the Administration had secured Dr. Gould J. N. Wickey, Secretary of the Educational Board of the United Lutheran Church and Chairman of the Council of Church Boards of Education in the United States. The main offices of Dr. Wickey are in Washington, D. C., but much of his time is spent on the lecture platform. The authorities feel highly honored to be able to present such a distinguished man as the speaker at this Vesper Services.

Dr. Gould prefaced his sermon with a short word of graphic praise for the beautiful new memorial chapel. He stated that as much as Muhlenberg College needed a gymnasium to take adequate care of the physical growth of their students the college needed this new chapel still more so as to be able to better take care of the student's spiritual growth.

Another new fact to most of the assembled students and friends of Muhlenberg was the fact that pictures of the new chapel have appeared in one hundred and fifty thousand pieces of literature in the last two weeks. This was exceptionally fine advertising for the local college and also showed that the new chapel, was regarded as a remarkable piece of work by all.

Dr. Gould put his theme in the form of three questions: "What am I?", "Whence am I?" and "Whither am I?" Dr. Wickey questioned whether people of to-day have a living reality of the Saviour of Men or whether they were content to merely accept the description of Him as offered by somebody else who has had more active experience with the Master. The speaker urged everyone to retain his belief in the reality of God.

Supplementing his last statement, Dr. Wickey, related the theme of Henry Van Dyke's wonderful piece of literature—"The Lost Word". This is the story of a man who had deviated from the word of God, and who now faced with the possible death of his beloved child came to God in his hour of need. From this wonderful story and its only to apparent comparison in the lives of a great majority of the people of to-day, Dr. Wickey advanced to the conclusion of his wonderful sermon.

Dr. Wickey briefly summarized the various questions he had asked and many possible answers to them. In addition the answer, according to the speaker, which we ourselves give to these questions will in all probability be the deciding one. This answer is the one which will determine our way of living, our code of ethics and our standards of Christianity.

Following the address of Dr. Wickey, the newly formed Chapel Choir, composed of approximately thirty-five male voices rendered a very beautiful anthem. Dr. Harold K. Marks presided at the console of the new Skinner Organ. The choir gave a fine account of itself and as time goes on it will be recognized as a standard group on the local campus.

Push Ball Contest Declared Draw By Student Officials

Sophs Put Up Game Fight Against Overwhelming Odds

MORAL VICTORY CLAIM OF FIRST YEAR MEN

The first of three contests in what might be termed, "The Siege of the Ad Building steps" took place on Tuesday afternoon at the football field. Although the official decision was a draw, the yearlings were certain they won a moral victory.

The freshmen gathered their army of forty men early in the afternoon while the sophomores sent a remarkably large mass of fourteen. Referee Efron of the Student Council explained the rules with the help of the freshman coach, Cooper. According to Cooper the contest was a "knock him out and shoot 'em" contest. Anything went, including slugging, kicking, and swearing. After the rules had been explained, the mass of wildly hilarious freshmen ran out on the field much to the disgust of the handfull of sophomore. Hunt, the stalwart organizer of the sophs, immediately protested and the frosh were given, not ten more men, but five more.

After the six round preliminary, the real fight began. Foster played center for the sophomores and Schaeffer held the ball for the freshmen. Foster started with the whistle and drove the ball into the center of the enemy's forces. The freshmen advanced the ball about five yards and it seemed assured that their courageous attack would net them a goal. The sophomores, however, led on by the howling of Captain Hunt, withstood the advance for about three minutes of the first quarter. The freshman advantage, however, had its effect and very shortly the ball was moved nearer and nearer to the goal of the sophs. During this first quarter Schaeffer was easily the leading star. He kept rushing in and grabbing the hated sophomores by the neck and a convenient portion of their trousers and rushing them down the field. This mild form of exercise began to weaken him about two minutes after the period opened and he began to meditate upon the ethical justification for wearing a shirt. Finally his baser nature prevailed and after throwing aside his shirt he once more rushed into the fray to the decided glory of the class of '35.

The first period ended with the ball on the sophomores 40-yard line, the freshmen hysterical with joy and the sophomores despondent over the blemish on the escutcheon of a once spotless class.

The original rules stated that there were to be four five-minute quarters, but the sophomores now protested so loudly and so sincerely that the student council was moved to compassion and the quarters were changed to two five-minute halves. Immediately the freshmen became raving demons. Hunt was accused of everything from unsportsmanship to arson. The debate became so heated that a rather corpulent freshman named Schlick and a sophomore, Lester Smith, began to entertain the assembled spectators with a skillful wrestling match. The hilarity, however, subsided as suddenly as it had begun.

The second half began with the sophomores gallantly defending their goal. The freshmen pushed, and the sophs pushed, but neither could out-

Student Council recommends the following amendment to the Constitution:

"The Council shall consist of the officers of the Student Body and additional members from the groups not represented by the officers; one member from each fraternal group living in a house outside of the dormitories; and one member from the non-fraternal group for each 40 students on the day of election."

Better Chapel Service

After one week of regular services, it may do us all good to look back and carefully observe where and how we may improve the spirit of true worship of and with God in ourselves.

Would an outsider, coming into our midst, be impressed by our general attitude as we enter the sanctuary? Which is proper—to come strolling down the aisle, slouch into a pew, and in a noisy whisper pass a few comments with a friend, or to quietly find a pew, kneel in prayer (an act most proper no matter who or what you may be), and then reverently await the Invocation. An observer last week might have noticed more of the first attitude. Will not those who have had better training leaven the lump?

As the Service began, the first thing that might spoil the observer's appreciation of this period of communion, is that "bug-a-boo" of the church-announcements. Announcing the hymns, announcing the prayers, psalms, and any other part of the service. There is nothing that breaks the continuity of the service more than these continual and everlasting breaks. Would it be too much trouble to mimeograph or print a card for the week, with each day's list of hymns, etc. under their appropriate dates, and then place these cards in the back of the service book, in a manner similar to the method used by the library? This certainly would be appreciated by both the clergy and the general student body.

We have without a doubt a most beautiful chapel, a symbol of our beautiful, happy, and sublime religion. It symbolizes the beauty and holiness of Him Whom we adore. Yet the appearance of those who administer before His Altar, certainly did not seem to fulfill the same promise that the building gave us. They, in appearance, seemed to contradict the story told by the very stone and wood about them. The dead academic robe, cast over the shoulders, open at the front, revealing a white or sport shirt and colored tie, is suitable in the classroom, but not before the Altar of the Most High. Which or who shall speak more eloquently of His glory, the building or the Pastors and leaders of His flock?

May we consider for a moment those who assist in the worship with their music. It is understood about the campus that the choir will shortly be vested in the proper Lutheran vestments, that is, cassock and cotta, but now, while this is still impossible, why must the freshmen wear their regulations (tag, etc.) in the chancel? Is this not mixing the ridiculous with the sublime? Let these things disappear when the freshman enters the sanctuary, whether his pew be in chancel or nave. He is in God's House—let him dress accordingly.

If this same observer, whose mind we read, should be a Lutheran with a knowledge of our wonderful liturgy, he might be surprised at the inconsistency with which the service is read. As a rule we have little respect for one who does things haphazardly. In the matters of religion Jesus Himself will have nothing to do with those whom He calls luke warm, in fact He tells the Laodiceans because of their luke warmness He will spue them out of His mouth. Sad to say many of our pastors know little and care less of the proper conduct before the Altar, yet they are, perhaps, most exacting in their social forms. Who is greater, God or man? For those who would know, perhaps they may find help from Doctor Strodach's "Manual on Worship, Part II, "Directorium Lutheranum." Our chapel will prove the training school for many of our future pastors, is it right that they should be trained in anything but that which is truly proper.

Then there is the matter of the Altar itself. What of empty flower vases—are they not empty offerings? What of unlit candles—can they thus symbolize Christ the Light of the World giving Himself for men? Why not someone to care for the Altar, seeing that it is properly dressed for the services?

This week the ear of the observer has been filled with the music like unto that of angels, and words of prayer, of wisdom, and of inspiration that lift from this world, but the ear is only part, man must worship with all his senses. What the eye sees may spoil that which the ear hears. Can we not have both?

What has been written here is with no thought of malicious criticism, but rather an effort to point out St. Paul's words, "Let all things be done decently and in order." (1 Cor. 14:40)

Christian Schneck.

FIRST STUDENT BODY MEETING EVOKES LIVELY DISCUSSION

Under further new business, it was stated that all freshmen were to be out of the Recreation Hall by 8 o'clock, and all Frosh would be fined $1 for failure to matriculate.

The President then spoke of the Booster Football game occuring on Friday night, October 16, with St. Joseph. He exhorted everyone to sell the 2000 tickets alloted to him. Three prizes are to be awarded for most tickets sold. They are 1st prize, a varsity sweater; 2nd prize, an open front sweater; 3rd prize, a tennis racquet.

An announcement was made by Doctor Haas, that he wanted all dormitory men to remain after the meeting. The motion for adjournment was made, seconded, and passed.

DRAMATICS

The department of Dramatics under Prof. Coder will resume activity with the presentation of three plays in the very near future. The members of the class in play production will again coach the players as was the method used last year.

The first of these plays is under the supervision of Robert Eisenhart and is entitled "Dark Moments." It is a sketch of two negroes and their experiences in the trenches.

"All Aboard," under the direction of Paul Scholl is the second play to be presented, and is a humorous treatment of a situation in a railroad station. The president of the company is expected to arrive and the information clerk is supposed to be there, but he is called away unexpectedly and in order to offset the difficulty he hires a professor who happens to stutter. The president also stutters and arrives first, hence the plot.

Although a name has not been definitely selected for the third play, Prof. Coder hinted that in all probability, it would be called "Down in the Sixth Ward." This play will be directed by John Greenawalt and Charles Preston. The plot is that of Frenchman who teaches in a bowery school.

One of these plays will be selected to represent the college at Reading, October 26th and the remaining two will be presented at various places.

There are aproximately forty Freshmen seeking parts in these plays and from this number a fine cast is assured.

Sometime ago Prof. Coder received a request from on out of town organization to produce a Pennsylvania German play. Prof. Coder consulted Dr. Reichard, professor of German, and decided to accept the invitation.

Mr. Jules Roskon, '31 who during his senior year was much interested in this line of activity is at present connected with the Theater Guild of New York City and now is working on the scenery to be used in Eugene O'Neil's "Mourning Becomes Electra." Mr. Roskin's success in this field is unquestionably a compliment to Prof. Coder and the dramatics department.

Harvard does not allow in its dormitories either "women or dogs."

Incredible as it must seem, the ancient and honorable University of Harvard has made a contract with the manufacturers of Yale locks by which the name "Yale" will not appear on any Yale locks used in the University's buildings. We can picture some fire-eating alumnus on homecoming day prowling by the campus in search of a lock missed by the inspectors. The Alumni are doubtless responsible for this as it is. The average undergraduate today bothers very little about his school's "traditional rivals."

Are they as good as when the ruffles came down to the ankles?

GOOD? . . . You bet they are! Maybe the girls are even better. Anyhow, cigarettes are a whole lot better. No doubt about that.

They used to be made by hand—
Now it's machines; no hand but yours ever touches them.

They used to be packed in expensive, highfalutin' cardboard boxes—
Now the quality is in the cigarettes.

The U. S. Revenue Tax used to be a penny a package of twenty—
Now it's six cents a package of twenty.

Tobacco used to be dried by air—
Now Liggett & Myers alone has thirty-five drying machines of the latest type, with a daily capacity of over 2,000,000 pounds—and over four miles of warehouses for tobacco storage.

BETTER—they're miles better! Everything used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is the best that money can buy or that Science knows about.

CHESTERFIELD TOBACCOS—both Turkish and Domestic—are mild and ripe, the best that money can buy.

AND THE WAY Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended is like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco, with greater smoothness, more mildness and a more pleasing aroma—a fragrance and flavor not to be found in any other cigarette.

CHESTERFIELD gives you the benefit of all the world knows about the production of better cigarettes. Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield.

LEBANON VALLEY DOWNS MULES 7-6

'Berg Rally of Second Half Falls Short

Splendid 90 yd. Run of Wavrek Called Back by Referee

On Friday night, under the big lights on the Muhlenberg field, the Cardinal and Gray grid warriors were defeated by a 7 to 6 score by Lebanon Valley. The Holstromites outplayed their opponents in every period, only to go down in defeat because of bad breaks. The locals piled up a total of 14 first downs to 5 for the Annville delegation.

Bad passes from center were a big item in the Muhlenberg defeat. Lebanon Valley scored through two bad passes from the 'Berg center, one resulting in a 20 yard loss bringing the ball to the 'Berg 10-yard line before it was recover by Weiner, who was back in kick formation, and a second high pass delaying Carney's punt so that it was blocked by Stewart, who dropped on the ball behind the goal line for a touchdown. Lebanon Valley scored the winning extra point by a forward pass from Orsino to Williams from a kick formation.

Muhlenberg's only score came late in the third period after a series of line plunges had brought the ball to the visitors 20-yard line. A pass, Wavrek to Giltner gave 'Berg a first down on the 10-yard line. Wavrek dashed off tackle for the touchdown. Carney's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Every one of the Muhlenberg punts was hurried due to high passes from center which allowed the visitors to crash thru before the punter was braced for the kick. The Mules suffered from poor field generalship, after making consistent gains thru running plays, the 'Berg quarterback called for forward passes which were almost uniformly wild.

Wavrek, early in the final period, intercepted a Lebanon Valley forward pass on his 10-yard line and ran 90 yards down the side of the field for what looked like a touchdown, but the referee ruled that he had stepped out of bounds on the 50-yard line and the ball was brought back to this point.

The Muhlenberg line showed up exceptionally well as is indicated by the totals of the first downs. The stands were packed to capacity, and there were hundreds of spectators standing around the field. Between the halves what appeared to be all the kids in Allentown were scrimmaging among themselves out on the field. The Muhlenberg band missed a splendid opportunity to add to the night's spectacle when they remained in the stands between the halves, due to their new uniforms not yet having arrived.

First Quarter

Carney kicked to the 5-yard line and the ball was run back to the 25-yard line. Two line plunges failed to gain and Lebanon Valley punted to the 'Berg 35-yard line. Weiner went off around the end for 5 yards, but 'Berg was given a 15-penalty. Wavrek got 3 yards in a line plunge. Carney punted to the Lebanon Valley 35-yard line. Three plays failed to dent the 'Berg line and the visitors punted to the 'Berg 30-yard stripe, where Weiner ran it out of bounds. Wavrek squirmed thru left tackle for 6 yards. Weiner went thru center for 15 yards and a first down. Rosenberg made two yards off tackle. A hurried pass went wide. Wavrek was stopped at the line of scrimmage for no gain. A terrible pass from center on a kick formation sent the ball high over Weiner's head and he was dropped on his 10-yard line when he recovered the ball. Another high pass from center delayed Carney's punt, and it was blocked by Stewart, who dropped on the ball behind the goal line for a touchdown. Orsino threw a pass to Williams who ran over the line for the extra point. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 0.

Wavrek kicked to the 35-yard line and the ball was run out of bounds on the Lebanon Valley 42-yard line. The Muhlenberg line held like a brick wall and Lebanon Valley punted to the 'Berg 32-yard line. Rosenberg crashed thru to the 50-yard stripe for a first down. Rosenberg twisted thru the line for 9 yards. Rosenberg plowed thru center 3 yards for a first down. Lebanon Valley time out. Wavrek was stopped at the line. Rosenberg gained 6 yards at left tackle. Two passes went wide. One pass was over the goal line and the ball went to Lebanon Valley on their 20-yard line. Stewart punted to Weiner who was dropped on his 40-yard line. A pass went wide. Wavrek made 6 yards thru the line as the quarter ended. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 0.

Second Quarter

'Berg was unable to gain thru the line. Carney punted out of bounds on the Lebanon Valley 25-yard line. Line plunges netted no gain and Lebanon Valley punted out of bounds on 'Berg's 45-yard line. A forward went wild and was grounded. A line jab made no gain. 'Berg time out. Line plunge netted 3 yards. Carney got off a hurried punt from his 40-yard line to the Lebanon Valley 35-yard line. Eisenhart dashed thru and threw the Lebanon Valley ball carrier for a 7-yard loss. Punt went out of bounds on 'Berg's 47-yard line. Carney threw a pass which was intercepted, the ball was downed on the 45-yard line. Evanosky intercepted a Lebanon Valley forward and was downed on his 35-yard line. Wavrek twisted thru for ten yards and a first down. Wavrek threw a forward on the run and it was intercepted on the 30-yard line. Giltner recovered a fumbled lateral pass and gained the ball for 'Berg on the Lebanon Valley 37-yard line. Wavrek ran around end to the visitor's 13-yard line. Two line plunges made only a small gain. Two forwards went wide. Lebanon Valley's ball on their 20-yard line. Rust gained 3 yards. Punt to Wavrek who was downed on the Lebanon Valley 45-yard line. Rosenberg made 4 yards on two rushes. Palladino was smothered for a 5-yard loss on an attempted forward pass. Wavrek punted to the Lebanon Valley 25-yard line. Furlong made 3 yards at tackle. Feeser swung around end 9 yards for a first down. Rust got off on an end run and went thru to the 'Berg 12-yard line. 'Berg time out. Two line plunges made no gain. A forward pass was batted down as the half ended. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 0.

Third Quarter

Lebanon Valley kicked to the 'Berg 20-yard line and the ball was run back to the 35-yard line. Three line plunges neted 9 yards. Punt went to the Lebanon Valley 20-yard line. Wavrek smeared the ball carrier for a 6-yard loss. Ball was punted to mid field. 'Berg was unable to pierce the enemy line and punted to the 12-yard line where the ball was fumbled and 'Berg recovered the ball. Wavrek made 5 yards. The Mules seemed to lose their "kick" and were unable to gain. Lebanon Valley took the ball on downs on their 15-yard line. The 'Berg line held and the visitors punted to midfield. A wide pass was grounded. Lebanon Valley got a 10-yard penalty. Wavrek made 6 yards thru left tackle. Wavrek went over for a first down. A pass to Giltner netted 10 yards and a first down. Wavrek took a pass from center, started off slow, picked a hole a right tackle and dashed thru for a touchdown. Carney's kick was blocked. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 6.

Carney caught the kick on his 15-yard line and ran the ball up to his 37-yard line. A high pass from center, and a hurried punt goes to the Lebanon Valley 35-yard line. Furlong went around end 12 yards for a first down. Giltner tackled Stewart at the line of scrimmage as the period ended. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 6.

Fourth Quarter

Lebanon Valley punted over the goal line and it was 'Berg's ball on their 20-yard line. Two line plunges made no gain. 'Berg punted to midfield and Rosenberg threw the carrier out of bounds on the 'Berg 40-yard line. Three plunges at the line made no gain. Williams caught a forward pass on the 'Berg 25-yard line for a first down. Wavrek intercepted a pass and ran down the field 90 yards to the goal line, but the ball was brought back to the 50-yard line where the referee ruled Wavrek had stepped out of bounds. Weiner made 9 yards thru center. A line plunge carried the ball 5 yards for a first down. A jab at center netted 3 yards. Wogen intercepted a forward pass and was downed on his 37-yard line. A pass was wide. Feeser was thrown for a 10-yard loss on an end run. Weiner caught a punt and was dropped on his 37 yard line. A pass was grounded. Wavrek twisted thru for 14 yards and a first down from kick formation. A nice pass was knocked from Giltner's hands. A second pass was grounded and 'Berg was given a 5-yard penalty. Muhlenberg punted to the 20-yard line, but Lebanon Valley was given a 15-yard penalty for roughing the kicker. A line plunge netted no gain. An attempted forward pass lost 10 yards. 'Berg time out. 'Berg fumbled on an attempted forward pass and Lebanon Valley recovered on the 'Berg 47-yard line. Three line plunges made 7 yards. Punt went out of bounds on the 15-yard 'Berg line. A pass was knocked out of Carney's hands. Wavrek went thru for a first down. Two long forward passes were broken up with little trouble. 'Berg was given a 5-yard penalty. Muhlenberg fumbled and Lebanon Valley recovered on the 'Berg 20-yard line. An exchange of punts followed as the game ended. Score: Lebanon Valley, 7; Muhlenberg, 6.

THE MULE KICKS

MULES EXERCISING FOR GAME

In an effort to bring the varsity team to its highest peak for the St. Joseph booster game, Head Coach George Holstrom and Line Coach Bill Springsteen have been running their charges through exercises as pictured above.

These gymnastics are designed to aid the Mules in getting limbered up from previous scrimmages as well as getting ready for the afternoon scrimmage.

The St. Joseph game will be the final night game and both teams will be fighting to win. The Mules kicked St. Joe to the score of 6 to 0 last year and are out to repeat their victory.

St. Joseph held the strong Delaware Crusaders to a scoreless tie Saturday.

PREPARATIONS BEING COMPLETED FOR ST. JOSEPH BOOSTER GAME

Student Committee Appointed To Push Publicity

FINAL NIGHT GAME OF YEAR FRIDAY

Extensive preparations are being made to make the last night football game of Muhlenberg College a decided success. The opponents of the Mules will be St. Joseph. St. Joseph was beaten by a series of bad breaks in their game with F. and M. last week and will offer first rate opposition to the Muhlenberg team.

A student committee under the direction of Kenneth H. Koch, president of the Student Body, and composed of the various student leaders of the fraternities and non-fraternity groups, is working hard to push publicity and tickets for this game.

Three valuable prizes are to be awarded to those selling the greatest amount of tickets.

St. Joseph showed its power last week by holding Delaware, a much larger school, to a scoreless tie.

Last year Muhlenberg defeated St. Joe's 6-0 and the 'Berg squad is out to make it two straight from the down state boys.

Majercik made the winning tally last year, and it is expected that he will be sufficiently recovered from the injury received in the Juniata game to be on the field this Friday night.

It is imperative that this game draw a large crowd as the college administration is very anxious for the team to make a good showing in this final night game.

The remaining home games will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 P. M.

WITH OUR OPPONENTS OVER THE WEEK-END

A weak Lehigh team was given its second defeat of the season by a score of 20 to 12 by Johns Hopkins. This was but a mild upset, since the weakness of the Bethlehem team was a matter of common knowledge. Lehigh had beaten Johns Hopkins by a 19 to 0 score last year.

St. Joseph fought Delaware to a scoreless deadlock. Last year the Delaware collegians ran up a 13 to 6 score against St. Joseph, and Muhlenberg was extended to the limit in defeating St. Joseph by a 6 to 0 score.

An unimpressive University of Pennsylvania team defeated Franklin and Marshall 18 to 0 before a sparse crowd at the Philadelphia stadium. The F. & M. forward wall was unable to withstand the onslaughts of a heavier line which had the added advantage of superior replacements. All of the Penn gains were made by straight football, no forwards or trick plays being used. F. & M. opened a futile passing attack late in the game. They boast of an excellent passer named Passel.

Lafayette continued its showing of strength by holding a powerful Colgate team to a 16 to 0 score.

Ursinus came thru a hard struggle with Dickinson on the long end of a 7 to 6 score. A blocked placement was their margin of victory. Dickinson, never very powerful in football, surprised by holding the highly rated Ursinus squad to this low score.

Western Maryland came back from their defeat on the previous Saturday by running up a 59 to 0 score against St. Johns'. Last year's undefeated Western Maryland team was only able to run up an 18 to 0 score against St. Johns last season.

Gettysburg eked out a victory over Mt. St. Mary's by the narrow margin of 6 to 3.

Juniata held Drexel to a 13 to 7 score and was defeated only after a thrilling tussle.

DUKE

Editors of college papers certainly have a tough job of it these days especially at Duke University. All that a gentleman must do there is to choose the best looking and best dressed girl at the Junior Prom.

MINNESOTA

At the University of Minnesota a student received the mark of "B" in 30 hours of work and two hours were graded "F", or failure. This sole failure was made in a psychology course, "How to Study".

William Springsteen
Line Coach

William Springsteen, the new Muhlenberg varsity line coach, has had plenty of football experience. Bill alternated at the positions of tackle, center, and end during the four years, 1920 to 1924, that he played on the Lehigh University varsity football teams. He was captain of the Brown and White squad during his senior year.

Each year, while at Lehigh, Bill was given an Honorable Mention by the late Walter Camp. He was also given the honorary position of All Eastern center during the Senior year. After graduation from Lehigh, Bill played professional football with the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, the Chicago Cardinals, and a strong professional team at Shenandoah, Pennsylvania. He also served as line coach at Lehigh during the seasons of 1925 and 1930.

Bill Springsteen was born in New York City. He spent his youth in Detroit, Michigan, and graduated from North-Western high School in that city. He played center on his high school varsity, and was named All-Time, All-Michigan center. He, with his parents, moved to Allentown in 1920, the year he started his career at Lehigh.

DR. HAAS SPONSORS NEW SERIES OF LECTURES

A special series of sermons on the "Ten Commandments" will be given by Dr. John A. W. Haas during the chapel periods. The first of these sermons was given last Friday. The topic was "The First Commandment". The second will be given Wednesday at 11 o'clock. The topic will be "The Second Commandment". The remaining lectures will be given at regularly announced chapel services.

The fine reception given the first of these talks by the student body augurs well for the remaining talks in the series. Dr. Haas has been able to clearly, concisely yet instructively explain the commandments to the students. It is hoped that more talks of like kind will be sponsored by the Administration in the near future.

MILLSAPS

At Millsaps College in Mississippi tuition fees are paid according to the scholastic standing of the individual. "A" students pay least, and "flunkers" pay most.

ALLEGHENY

A new custom was established at Allegheny last spring when it was decided that all track officials should wear tuxedoes when officiating.

Football Records of Past Five Years Show 'Berg on Top

Ursinus, Gettysburg and Western Maryland Have Edge on 'Berg Teams

Thru the courtesy of the "Muhl Handbook" the Weekly is able to furnish the following comparative scores for recent years between Muhlenberg and its various opponents.

Heading the list is St. Joseph, who was defeated by 'Berg last year 6-0. This game marked the opening of hostilities between the two colleges.

During the past four years Ursinus has had an edge over the Mules by winning three out of four.

Lehigh, the traditional rivals of Muhlenberg, has a big lead over the Mules in the all-time games but during the last six years has not had as easy a time as the Mules have won four out of the six games.

For six years F. and M. and 'Berg have battled to such an extent that four games were won by the Mules, one by F. and M. and one was a scoreless tie.

Gettysburg has had uniform success in downing 'Berg teams—winning five out of the last six contests.

Dickinson has been comparatively easy picking for 'Berg teams as four games were won by the Mules, one game was a scoreless tie and Dickinson managed to eke out a victory in only one game.

The closing game of the year will see the powerful Western Maryland outfit in action. With the exception of one year—1927, 'Berg has not won a game. The nearest they came to winning was in 1929 when they held the Green Terrors to a 7-0 score.

The composite score of these teams is as follows:

BEAT ST. JOE'S

MUHLENBERG YEARLINGS BEAT LEHIGH FROSH 7-0

Captain "Babe" Schraeder Outstanding Frosh Player

ENTIRE 'BERG TEAM FUNCTIONS SMOOTHLY

In the opening game of the season the Muhlenberg Freshmen overpowered their rivals from Lehigh in a closely fought battle on the Muhlenberg gridiron, by the score of 7 to 0.

The opening quarter was loosely played, neither team showing their real ability. Fumbles by Muhlenberg together with penalties placed Lehigh in the shadow of the Mules' goal posts, with only 12 yards for a touchdown as the quarter ended.

Lehigh opened the second quarter with a first down. The Mules line then held like a wall and Captain "Babe" Schraeder threw Lehigh for a loss. After Muhlenberg punted out of danger they blocked a Lehigh kick. The Mules had control of the ball for the greater part of this quarter. Lehigh was penalized and 'Berg completed a forward pass to make a first down. After Lehigh intercepted a Muhlenberg pass, Coach Paul Weber substituted an entire line and a quarterback just before the first half ended.

With the same teams that started the game back on the field, a much faster game was played. Rohn, Catasauqua High Alumnus, distinguished himself in this quarter with short but consistent gains through the line. After Bloom and Padolin made short gains, Lapore made a beautiful 25-yard forward pass to Rohn for, what proved to be, the only touchdown of the game. Bloom passed to Rohn for the extra point. The quarter ended with the score Muhlenberg 7, Lehigh 0.

Schraeder, Allentown Prep product, kicked to Pethick, who was stopped in his tracks by Weingrad, Muhlenberg tackle. Watkins was substituted for Lapore, who had played a remarkable game and showed up nicely. Padolin and Watkins made short gains in the closing minutes, but Muhlenberg was forced to kick. Lehigh then resorted to an aerial attack as its only hope, but this proved fruitless. The game ended 7 to 0.

Captain Schroeder and Rohn were the Muhlenberg stars, while Pethick and Jackson shone up well for the Bethlehem Institution.

Coach Weber is to be complimented on the way he has drilled his squad into a smooth working machine.

The starting line-up is as follows:

Goodrich	L.E.	Dietrich
Kaufman	L.T.	Weingrad
Taylor	L.G.	Riley
Jackson	C.	Schraeder
Curtis	R.G.	Schreiber
Loux	R.T.	Cohen
Stallings	R.E.	Rogers
Kennan	Q.B.	Padolin
Furman	L.H.	Rohn
Ocke	R.H.	Lapore
Pethick	F.B.	Bloom

Score by periods:

Muhlenberg	0	0	7	0	—7

TULSA

The Collegian of Tulsa gives the following grammatical pedigree of a kiss: "A kiss is a pronoun because 'she' stands for it. It is masculine and feminine gender mixed, therefore common. It is a conjunction because it connects. It is an interjection (sounds that way). It is plural because it call for another. It is usually in apposition with caress; at least it is sure to follow. A kiss can be conjugated but never declined. It is not an adverb because it cannot be compared, but it is a word that expresses feeling".

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

See where those Juniors put us this issue. Just as if it isn't enough work to write this column without having to see that we get put in a prominent place.

What a game that Lebanon Valley tussle turned out to be. A beautiful 90-yard run by Wavrek wasted.

Keady probably pitied the Annville crowd or else had a girl friend down at that school.

At any rate we had a wonderful crowd which means a lot to the college at the present time.

Here's hoping we have as good a crowd this Friday.

The Freshmen and Sophomores are having a glorious time these days with all these banquets. Wish we rated an invitation.

Sunday Vesper Services seem to draw about three or four townspeople to one student. The students should give better support to these splendid services.

Now with rushing season almost over maybe (?) the Freshmen will begin to study.

The recent student body meeting was the best attended for several years. If this only keeps up the results will be greatly to the benefit of the college.

There is a new feature in this issue —"Muhlenberg Mirrored". At present the writer does not wish his identity known but don't let that spoil your enjoyment of the articles.

Muhlenberg Mirrowed

This week's issue of the MUHLENBERG WEKLY introduces an entirely new feature column in its effort to present to its readers the full and complete news of the school.

The column, to be known as "MUHLENBERG MIRRORED" will be presented each week and will, in addition to interpreting Muhlenberg events with a view toward world events, present interesting snapshots of various people and happenings on the campus during the course of the week immediately past.

It will not be the purpose nor the policy of the columnist to harangue any individual or organization nor will it take sides in any controversy, unless at a later date it feels justified in doing so in light of campus happenings.

The columnist is a member of the student body and will welcome any comments or criticisms of his work. All such communications should be addressed to "Muhlenberg Mirrored, in care of the Muhlenberg Weekly".

The staff and the author ask your support.

THE REASON

According to an Associated Press dispatch released during the past week, college enrollments throughout the country are greater this year than they have ever been. Muhlenberg College is no exception to this general trend. According to available reports the enrollment at the College this year is approximately twenty in excess of any previous registration.

This great influx of young Americans to institutions of higher learning, according to the Associated Press, is being interpreted throughout the country as the inevitable result of the depression and the unemployment situation. High School graduates, finding it imposible to secure employment, have realized that the college trained man is more eligible for a position than the man who lacks this background.

But even college trained men are finding it difficult to secure remunerative positions. Colleges are evidently turning out too many partly qualified men, men who are specialists in but one field.

A CONTROVERSY

This leads us to a question which was presented to the new men during the Freshman week activities. The freshmen, while listening to one speaker, were told that the prime purpose of a college was intellectal training. Several days later another speaker emphasized the point that the college's duty was to train men for leadership.

By discussing these two points with men who are considered successful business and professional men we came to the conclusion that in their opinion a man who is trained for leadership is more likely to succeed than the man who simply has intellectual training. We believe that both are necessary for a well rounded man, but that a man who is a real leader and executive has more chances of success than a man who is merely intellectual.

WITH A SNAP SHOT CAMERA

In walking across the campus the other day we were approached by a Freshmen who asked us for a match. Have the traditions of the college been reversed or was the verdant one merely unaware of the fact that Freshmen and not Juniors are the ones who are to carry the fire?

At the primary election, when inspecting the voting machines, we wondered whether it might not be a wise idea for colleges in Pennsylvania and New York to offer a course on the proper and speedy use of these successors to the old paper ballot.

Erich Stoeckel, after many valiant attempts, has succeeded in presenting one of his valuable possessions to a fair Wilson co-ed. In return we see him sporting a sorority pin. We wonder how many more summer romances had a similar ending.

The first services for the college year in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel last Monday were enough to inspire anyone into a Christian way of living. Atmosphere does mean a lot. Compare the present chapel services with those we were used to having heretofore.

Statistics gathered at Carnegie Institute of Technology show that the cost to a student for cutting one class is about 66 cents or the equivalent of two movie shows.

Varsity letters at George Washington University are very insignificant. They are only eight inches high by a foot wide and any man of slightly larger than average build can wear them.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch on Sunday conducted the largest fall communion service in the history of St. Joseph's Lutheran Church. In the afternoon he spoke at the Y. M. C. A. service in Mauch Chunk. On Tuesday evening he opened the third annual series of Bible studies in the local Y. M. C. A. On Thursday he begins the second annual series of similar studies in Perkasie. On Friday morning he will address the Lehigh County Institute on "The Etymology of Words". On Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon and evening he will give a series of three addresses at the Methodist Protestant Conference at Shickshinny, Pa. On his return he will stop over at Pottsville to preach in the First Evangelical Church on Sunday morning, arirving in Allentown in time to conduct the evening service in St. Joseph's Lutheran Church.

On Monday, October 5th a daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. Anthony S. Corbiere. This is their second child. Their first child is a son who is now three years old.

MICHIGAN

A student is not permitted to give rides to fellow students at the University of Michigan, according to a recent ruling.

FIRST MEETING HELD BY COLLEGE "Y" CLUB

The first meeting of the year was held in Room 204, "Ad" Building. Mr. Frederick Fairclough acted as chairman of this meeting. Mr. John Bennetch had charge of devotions. Under old business, announcement was made that the five beautifully embroidered cloth markers, representing the seasons of the church year, were purchased for the musical book on the altar of the new chapel. Under new business, the officers for the coming school year were elected.

Mr. Frederick Fairclough was elected president, Mr. Herbert E. Frankfort, vice president and Mr. John H. K. Miller, secretary-treasurer. Rev. Cressman then spoke briefly about the plans for the coming school year. New topic books were selected and a new program committee appointed consisting of John Bennetch and Herbert E. Frankford. The meeting then adjourned.

A man is justified in telling a fib on just four occasions according to General Smedley D. Butler. "The first" he explained in a speech to a Boston group, "is speaking to the deceased; the second, when speaking to, or of, a woman; the third, when introducing a speaker; and the fourth, when representing your nation in a diplomatic contest."

FROSH OUTWIT SOPHS WITH ANNUAL BANQUET

Many Sophomore Leaders "Guests of Honor" At Yearlings Banquet

After a struggle that waged on Muhlenberg college campus from early yesterday morning until late in the afternoon, 146 members of the freshman class of the college sat down at the annual Freshman banquet at the Hotel Allen last evening. This banquet and the sophomore feast which follows it climax the period of traditional strife between the two under classes.

The freshmen kept the place and date of the banquet from the ears of the Sophomores until at about nine o'clock yesterday morning when a group of husky yearlings took the sophomore president, Kenneth Hunt, and locked him in a room in the dormitory. Throughout the day bands of freshmen roved through the campus seizing many sophomores. Several of these were taken to the Cedar Crest college campus at noon and compelled to perform some rather embarrassing antics.

One of the captives who was especially perturbed was Herbert E. Frankfort, a Junior, who in the midst of the ceremonies at Cedar Crest fainted into arms of his captors.

DR. WICKEY SPEAKER AT VESPER SERVICES

Without the aid of the choir many of the daily assembly services as well as the Sunday Vesper services would not be as finely carried through.

Dr. Harold K. Marks, organist, also favored with several selections on the new Skinner organ, the gift of the Muhlenberg Ladies' Auxiliary.

Before concluding the services Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, announced the program for Sunday, October 11th. The vesper services for this Sunday will be under the direction of the Allentown Conference. The speaker will be Reverend Dr. Franklin K. Fretz, President of the Allentown Conference and also Professor of Philosophy at Lafayette College. A new feature for this service will be the fact that the Lafayette College Choir would be here and will unite with the Muhlenberg College Chapel Choir.

The services were concluded with the recessional. A large attendance of students of local friends of Muhlenberg was present for the second of these splendid Sunday Vesper services. A cordial invitation is extended by the college authorities to all friends of the college to attend these services, held each Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

FRATERNITY ROW

PHI EPSILON HOST TO PROSPECTIVE MEN AT INFORMAL DANCE

The "rush" dance of the Phi Epsilon fraternity was held on Thursday evening in the new ballroom of the Hotel Traylor. More than seventy-five couples danced to the strains of Ray Wahl and his Rhapsodists

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of: Ben Watson, Chairman; Jack Staples, John Mitchell, Carl Clayton and Paul Stoneback.

The officers of the fraternity are: Alan Hawman, President; Pierre Thomas, Vice President; Paul Stoneback, Secretary; Otto Saalfeld, Treasurer.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bolich and Mr. and Mrs. Levan P. Smith.

The Phi Epsilon fraternity also announced the initiation of three new members, Francis Corbeau, William Horine and Luther Miller.

SIGMA LAMBDA PI RUSH SMOKER HELD OCTOBER SEVENTH

The "rush" smoker of the Sigma Lambda Pi fraterity was held on Wednesday evening, October 7th and was attended by fifteen prospective pledgees.

The speakers of the evening were Professor Simpson, Professor of English at Muhlenberg College, George Feldman, alumnus member and executive director of the Jewish Community Center and Philip Gesoff, alumnus member and now attending the graduate school at Lehigh.

The officers of the fraternity consist of: President, Lewis Wilker; Secretary, Morris Effron; Treasurer, Leon Rosenberg; Chaplain, Arthur Simensky.

The fraternity announced the initiation of Charles Cooper, '33, into the group.

T. U. O. FRATERNITY ENTERTAINS FRESHMEN AT RUSHING SMOKER

The Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity held its annual "rush" smoker at the fraternity house on Tuesday, October 6. Donald B. Hock, master of ceremonies, introduced Charles Fetter who extended the welcome to the prospective pledgees gathered there.

The speakers of the evening were: Attorney Carl Cassone, Doctor Keller, Professor Simpson and Professor Miller.

A novel dance duet was featured by the Misses O'Donnell and Erdman of the Grace Livingood School.

The committee in charge consisted of Messrs. Charles Hoppes, Chairman, Woodrow Kistler, Donald B. Hock, Charles Fetter and Ray C. Held.

DELTA THETA HOLDS RUSH SMOKER FOR INCOMING FRESHMEN

Fifty Freshmen Entertained With Excellent Program

Delta Theta fraternity of Muhlenberg College was host Thursday evening to fifty freshmen at the annual rushing smoker held by the fraternity. The night's event was the third on the program of rushing season at the local college and was held in the fraternity's new home, at 2141 Chew Street.

Attorney George Rupp, an alumnus of the chapter, Prof. William D. Coder, of the English faculty, Dr. J. C. Keller, professor of chemisty, and Ralph Wetherhold, graduate manager of athletics at Allentown High school, were the speakers.

Charles O'Brien, president of the group welcomed the freshmen and explained a part of the history of the fraternity. There were thirty alumni and twenty active members present at the affair. Following the speaking program a Dutch luncheon was served.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of the following: Ralph Buehler, chairman; Joe Henry, Al Kunz, Edward Judt and Ferdinand Palladino.

PHI KAPPA TAU MEN OPEN THE RUSHING SEASON WITH DANCE

The opening event of the "rushing" season sponsored by Muhlenberg's Interfraternity Council was held on Monday evening, October 5, 1931 when Eta Chapter of Phi Kappa Tau entertained eighty-five couples at a "rushing" dance.

Members of the resident council, Alumni, and "rushees" danced to the merry tunes of Bud Rader's Orchestra on the dance floor of the Hotel Traylor and the affair was a very entertaining one.

Chaperones for the evening were: Doctor and Mrs. I. M. Wright, Doctor and Mrs. Carl W. Boyer and Doctor and Mr. John V. Shankweiler.

One of the entrance requirements at Princeton in 1748 was an oral examination in the classes given by the president of the university.

Dr. Walter Janes, geologist, is of the opinion that women to-day are no different than they were 10,000 years ago. Of 600 ancient skeletons recently dug up in Alabama all the women had their mouths open; those of the men were shut.

The dean of women at the University of Minnesota has proposed a time clock for those co-eds who go out on dates. On the clock there is space for the name of the fellow, the occasion, and "any other information desired."

Who's Who on the Campus

George Majercik
Alpha Tau Omega

George is undoubtedly a man of whom every alumnus as well as undergraduate is proud. When "Major" was graduated from Binghampton High School, which incidently is his home town, he enrolled at Allentown Preparatory School where he established an enviable record in both football and track. As a Freshman the 'Major" was elected president of his class for both semesters. As a Junior, George was president of the Varsity "M" Club and this year was elected to the presidency of Omicron Delta Kappa. He has held down a half back position on the football team ever since his Sophomore year and last year was rated one of the best backs in the East receiving honorable mention on several All-Eastern Teams.

Besides being one of the best football players ever to attend Muhlenberg he is unquestionably the best sprinter that has ever worn the Cardinal and Gray. Last year "Major" established a new record for the 100 yard dash and equalled the 220 yard dash record at the Central Pennsylvania Conference Meet, and at the Middle Atlantic meet he placed first in the 220 yard dash and placed second in the 100 yard dash.

Socially George is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity of which he is an officer. Although he has not definitely decided on anything in particular upon his graduation, his brothers, and the entire student body as well, feel certain that he will succeed in anything he may select.

PUSH BALL CONTEST DECLARED DRAW BY STUDENT OFFICIALS

push the other. Hunt was systematically slugged and ostracized from the festivities, but the sophs still held their own. With about two minutes to go, there was a fumble behind the sophomore line and the ball went shooting down toward the objective of the freshmen pushers. This onslaught was greeted by frenzied cheering on the part of a mass of maniacs who had once been freshmen. However, their enthusiastic joy was short-lived, for the sophomores once more made a gallant stand on their one yard line, and the whistle found the two opposing factions again attempting to outpush each other. When the decision was rendered, the freshmen flew into a rage, and as Hunt and his cohorts left the field razzberries were the predominant fruit.

Mr. Hock—"Didn't you say there was something you liked about me?"
Althea—"Yes, but you spent it all."

Dr. Gould Wickey Addresses Students At Monday Chapel

Stresses Care in Selection of Life Vocation

The Monday chapel service from 11 to 11:30 was given over to Dr. J. N. Wickey, Secretary of the United Lutheran Board of Education.

Dr. Wickey had delivered the address in the regular Vesper Service, Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Wickey stated that there were three questions which a student is called upon to answer. They are, "Whom shall I serve?", "Where Shall I Serve?" and "How Shall I Serve?".

In answering these questions the student should not select his life work in a hurry. Proper investigation along all lines should be made by the student before he reaches a final decision.

Each one of us has a place in God's plan. In this plan every one has three calls—the call of regeneration; the call to grow in this regenerated life; and the call to life service.

In deciding upon our life work, we should follow six cardinal points. These are:

First—don't decide too quickly but investigate all fields thoroughly before deciding to enter any definite field.

Second—study yourself—your aptitudes, desires and your various mental, technical, any spiritual abilities.

Third—study the available vocations and see how your individual aptitudes and eccentricities adapt themelves to the different fields.

Fourth—study the needs of the vocation. Today all professions are overcrowded—not with excellent men—but mediocre material. For this reason one should select the field in which they can do the best work so that they will have an added advantage.

Fifth—consult friends and authorities and seek their advice on the various propositions. From this advice take that which seems to you to aid you the most.

Sixth—consult God as to-day as always He should be our final authority.

Dr. Wickey closed his address with a dramatic plea for young men to enter the ministry. To-day in the ministry there is a big field for workers, a great opportunity for self-expression and development and an unexcelled opportunity to aid one's fellowmen.

Today there is ringing throughout the nation an emergency call for ministers. It must be and will be met.

Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, announced that he would continue his talks on the Ten Commandments on Wednesday at the regular chapel period. His topic will be "The Second Commandment."

Thursday will be the annual College Day with Dr. W. Mather Lewis president of Lafayette College as the guest speaker. The ceremonies will begin at ten o'clock in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

Efforts of the class weer concentrated on John Erie, hefty sophomore. He was finally located at his home, 134 South Seventh street, late yesterday afternoon, but Police Sergeant Larrimore kept him from harm.

The freshmen were supreme at the banquet and forced their captives to go through the same things that they had inflicted upon the yearlings. Herbert Foster, Kenneth Hunt, Bob Mentzer, Asa Wohlson and George Zanger, all sophomores, and Herbert Frankford, the junior, were among the "honored" guests. While they were being "put through their paces" their tormentors added to the ordeal by pelting them with pies and garbage.

Hubert Bury, president of the class, presided as toastmaster, and introduced as the speakers Dr. Isaac Miles Wright and Prof. Stephen G. Simpson, both members of the Muhlenberg faculty.

The committee of the class which made arrangements for the affair was composed of the following: Morris Parmet, chairman; John Danner, Richard Kutzelman, Fred Laubach and the following officers: Hubert Bury, president; Richard Kuntzleman, vice president; Henry Held, treasurer; and Lloyd Moyer, secretary. Robert Geiger was present at the banquet as the representative of the student council.

A Colgate professor of psychology required his students to sleep in class so that he could determine the most effective pitch for an alarm clock.

An enterprising reporter for the Columbia Spectator set out to determine the cause for the large number of sleepers in a certain class. It's no wonder one gets sleepy when a "prof" utters exactly 267 "er's" in 40 minutes.

Dr. Haas Announces Plans For Visitor's Room In The Arcade

Announcement is the Feature of A Busy Student Council Meeting

Evidence of the Student Council functioning smoothly was displayed at the meeting held at the Latin Room of the Administration Building, on Friday 16th at 4:15 o'clock. The President, Kenneth Koch, called the meeting to order, after which Secretary Geiger read the minutes which were approved as read.

Considerable discussion has been entertained concerning the allowing of visitors in the dormitory rooms after 8 o'clock in the evening. Dr. Haas suggested to Thiede, that if the student body is willing, he will set aside a reception room in the Arcade which he will have entirely rennovated and refurnished. A motion was then taken to present the matter to the student body at the following meeting.

Mr. Thiede, chairman of the Publicity Committee stated that Dr. Haas and he had discussed the system of Proctorship. The Board of Directors, had appointed a committee of student proctors, who were in charge of the dormitories. In the previous years the Student Council always had control of proctorial affairs by virtue of the constitution. Dr. Haas stated that the Student Council should appoint proctors who in cooperation with the directors committee would solve all problems arising. Mr. Thiede, the head proctor, has the following student council men working with him: Paul Gerhard, Daniel Latshaw, Donald Steinhauer, Samuel Bortel, Franklin Giltner, and Ferdinand Palladino, while the committee appointed by the Board of Directors consists of John Smith, John Benetch, Mervin Shelley, Frederick Fairclough, and Herbert Frankfort.

Two freshmen, Watkins and R. Wieder, were then called into the conference and were found guilty of general insubordination to upper classmen. The fine imposed upon them was the wearing of "I am a fresh freshman" tag, for one week.

Discussion was raised concerning the Frosh Tribunal, composed of upper classmen which is taking the place of the former Sophomore Vigilance Committee. The Tribunals' duties are, to make provisions for all

J. Jermiah Snyder Alumnus of 'Berg Fatally Injured

Was A Member of the Class of 1886 At Muhlenberg

Courtesy of Morning Call

J. Jeremiah Snyder, '86, veteran newspaperman, lawyer, politician, traveler and columnist was fatally injured on October 12 at 2 A. M. when he was struck by a taxi-cab while alighting from a trolley car. Mr. Snyder had left the office of the Morning Call, where he was employed for more than two decades, but a short time earlier.

Mr. Snyder was a member of that famous class of '86. Talents which he later expended in the fields of politics and law were already present when he was a student at Muhlenberg. Since his graduation he has been a leader of the community for many years. Always a staunch supporter of Muhlenberg he took an active interest in all affairs of the college. Mr. Snyder was a man who stood head and shoulders above the crowd.

He was a grandson of J. Jeremiah Shindel, for many years a member of the board of trustees of the college. The altar in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel was dedicated to the memory of Mr. Shindel.

FROSH DEFEAT SOPHS IN SECOND CONTEST

Drenching in Cedar Creek Reward of Sophomores

Last Wednesday afternoon, October 14th, a husky delegation of Freshmen defeated a group of fighting Sophomores in a tug-of-war contest over the waters of Cedar Creek. This was the second in a series of battles to determine the rights of the first year men to use the main steps in the rear of the Administration Building. The first battle, a push ball contest, was declared a draw by the officials.

The teams lined up on oppoite banks of Cedar Creek, and each tried to pull the other thru the icy waters. The Frosh were successful, and hugely enjoyed the spectacle which the dripping "Sophs" made of themselves. The contest was made vastly more pleasing to the Freshmen due to the fact that the Sophomore captain slipped, and was dragged thru the water in a sitting position.

The Freshmen need a victory in only one more contest, which will be held very soon, in order to win the coveted honor of using the main door. The officials of the contest were Paul Gerhard and Sam Bortel.

Dr. F. K. Fretz Speaker At Sunday Vesper Services

Lafayette College Choir and Organist Present Fine Program

"The Essential Laws of Life" declared Rev. F. S. Fretz, Ph.D., D.D., at the regular Muhlenberg College Vesper Services held Sunday afternoon, "are the three constituents of life." Rev. Fretz is pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Easton; and also Professor of Philosophy at Lafayette College.

"The essential laws of life may be divided into three groups," the speaker continued. "First the 'Law of Work,' second "Law of Love" and finally the 'Law of Religion'. These three laws form the length (law of work), breadth (law of love) and height (law of religion) of life. The length, breadth and height of life should all be the same."

"All life, not only today but since the very beginning is based on these three laws. "Work," the speaker added, "was the first law in human experience. This law was given Adam at the end of the Garden of Eden and since that time has played a prominent part in all human history. One should not work for earthly gain," he continued, "but for the love of work. In this manner only will one be a success in his work. Life is measured today not by what has been accumulated or accomplished in a selfish way, but by the service that has been rendered to society by the individual

"The second great law is that of love. This was created so that man would not be alone in the world. The law of love is the foundation upon which rests the home, society and the state. If this law should ever crumple

NEW WINDOWS PLACED IN MEMORIAL CHAPEL

Two new windows were placed in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel on Saturday morning. One of them is a likeness of General Peter Muhlenberg, son of the great patriarch of the Lutheran Church, in whose honor the college is named, and the other depicts Martin Chemnitz, a great thinker of the period following the Reformation.

The first window shows General Muhlenberg preaching his final sermon to his congregation before leading the Eighth Regiment of Virginia Volunteers against the British forces in the Revolutionary War. It was at this time he made the famous statement, "There is a time for all things. There is a time to pray, and there is a time to fight." Muhlenberg is shown with his clerical robe cast partly aside, exposing the colorful uniform of his regimental office.

NOTICE

The photographer for the 1933 Ciarla will be on the Muhlenberg campus beginning Thursday, October 22. On Thursday and for several days following he will photograph the Junior individuals and as many of the group pictures as is convenient for him at that time. Juniors and organizations will receive their appointments from Mr. Gerhard or Mr. Sell. This year we are insisting that all subjects whether appearing for individual or group photographs, must wear coats and vests. The photographer is instructed to reject anyone not properly attired.

In obeying this rule, and in keeping your appointments promptly, you will be co-operating with us in producing a yearbook that will fulfill every expectation of the staff.

Dr. W. Mather Lewis, President Of Lafayette College, Is The Guest Speaker At The Annual Muhlenberg College Day Program, October 15th

Sittig Trio Entertains With Instrumental Selections

"LEARN TO STUDY TO BE QUIET" IS ADVICE GIVEN BY THE SPEAKER

Dr. W. Mather Lewis, President of Lafayette College, was the guest speaker on the annual College Day program held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Thursday morning, October 15th, Dr. Lewis, speaking to a large audience composed of students, alumni, and townspeople, used as his topic "The Inner Light," and developed as his theme, the admonition, "Learn to study to be quiet."

Following his address, a fine program of instrumental music was furnished by the well known Sittig Trio of New York.

Dr. Lewis, in his address, stated that "The main trouble today, is the fact that too many of our youths, in their search for the revelations as concerned in the Bible, seem to be possessed of the idea that they must reach back to that little land of Galilee over a period of almost two thousand years in order to fully understand the Scriptures. This should not be the case, as God today is just the same as when he sent his Son to the world.

"Just as Moses was divinely inspired to lead his people out of Egypt, so was Abraham Lincoln inspired to lead his people away from the practice of slavery. Just as the apostles of the early days were inspired, so the great ministers of today, and the great religious leaders as Millikin and others are inspired to help direct the people along the right path."

A great deal of study is necessary to be able to face life in a quiet, peaceful, meditative state of mind, Dr. Lewis said in quoting a statement of Dr. Mayo, just released to the press, in which he stated that the people of today are being broken down, because of the rush and tumult of modern living. This age today is moving along at such a rate of speed that man's ability to adjust himself to changing surrounding is being so sorely pressed that many are not able to stand the pace, the speaker said.

The depression which we are undergoing is not of the same type as that of 1842, 1857, 1873, or even the great railroad panic of 1907, Dr. Lewis pointed out. Some of the same elements prevail, but the primary reason is because we have deserted the quiet contemplation of life, the joy of living the simple life, and because we seem to be after some foreign gods. Today we are always searching for prominence and trying to create an artificial demand. The search for something material has carried us to such an extent that we have gone further than we can afford to go, he said.

"The values which America has worshipped have been proven false and a period of re-adjustment is going on, he added. A college can be compared to the mouth of a gold mine. Some students enter the mine and gain knowledge. Others merely live around the opening of the shaft and "kid themselves along" for the years they spend in college. Too many of the mature people of today are also victims of this strange disease—"kidding yourself along."

Dr. Lewis returned to the Scriptures for another point—"Be still and know I am God." The Kingdom of God is within yourself. There is no outside sanctuary. Every man must find this inner sanctuary for himself if he wishes to succeed. The courage of the common place is greater than that of the crisis."

"Today one must have peace of mind to meet the inner voice and thus assure leadership."

The program was opened with a picturesque academic procession led by Dr. Haas and Dr. Lewis, followed by the members of the Muhlenberg faculty in their robes, and the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen classes in the order given. The procession entered into the chapel to the music of the organ and of the chapel choir.

The opening ceremonies were in charge of Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, Rev. Chas. Bowman and Rev. Russel Stine. Dr. Haas read the Epistle for this occasion from Ephesians 4: 22-23 and also from Matthew 9:1-8.

The program of the Sittig Trio was divided into five parts. In the first part the Trio played a group of selections written by Jean-Baptist Loeillet including the "Sonata in G Major", "Largo", "Allegro con brio", "Lento espressivo" and "Allegro giocoso".

To increase the interest of the students in the series of lectures on "Christian Evidences" the Administration is offering two prizes for the best reports of the lectures by Dr. Jacobs.

A Senior prize of $10.00 and a Junior prize of $10.00 for the best reports, will be awarded by the Administration.

DR. RUFUS JONES OF HAVERFORD WILL BE SPEAKER IN ASSEMBLY

A treat is in store for Muhlenberg students during the Thurday assembly period when the Administration presents Dr. Rufus Jones, professor of Philosophy at Haverford College.

The topic of his discussion has not as yet been announced, but it will in all probability, be on some subject in the field of metaphysics.

Dr. Jones is one of the best known speakers on the collegiate platform. The Administration is indeed fortunate in securing Dr. Jones for this occasion.

The entire student body is urged to attend this lecture which will be of interest to all.

SPECTATOR STRICKEN PRIOR TO NITE GAME

Charles Sumner Keyes Dies of Heart Attack

Charles Sumner Keyes, district representative for the Sinclair Oil company, was stricken with a heart attack while he was seated in his box on the Muhlenberg field just prior to the Muhlenberg-St. Joseph's game on Friday night. He died on the way to the Allentown Hospital where he was being taken for treatment.

Mr. Keyes, although he had been in failing health since last August, was an interested spectator at many of the local sporting events. He was present at the Muhlenberg field, Friday night as a result of a decision which he and Mrs. Keyes made at their evening dinner.

Soon after arriving at the field, Mr. Keyes was seen to slump in his seat. Mrs. Keyes and his neighbors immediately came to his aid and assisted him into a spectator's car in which he was rushed to the hospital.

Charles Keyes is a graduate of Yale, and has been in charge of this district of the Sinclair Oil company for the past fifteen months, prior to which he was field representative of this company for the Pennsylvania area. Both he and Mrs. Keyes made many friends in this city since their arrival a short time ago.

Mr. Keyes, who was in his 48th year, and his wife, resided in the Grafcourt apartments, 214 North Sixth St.

DEBATE COACH HOLDS TRYOUTS FOR NEW MEN

Tryouts for the Varsity Debate Squad were held last Thursday afternoon in the Assembly Room. A group of about ten underclassmen presented itself to Coach Arthur T. Gillespie for the trials.

The question to be used for debate this year is "Resolved: That capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is unsound in Principle."

The first debate will be in the early weeks of December with a dual debate with Villanova College. The team for this debate will be composed of the varsity men from last year's successful squad and one new man. The affirmative and negative team have not as yet been chosen, but they will probably line up the same as last year with Koch, Richards and Hock on the affirmative and Mancke and Hoffman on the negative.

COMMITTEE FOR JUNIOR PROM APPOINTED AT CLASS MEETING

The Junior Class of Muhlenberg College held its first meeting of the year on Wednesday afternoon, October 14th, with Harold Weiser, class president in charge of the meeting.

Continuing the tradition of holding the ever famous Junior "Prom", the big social event of the year, the Junior class well again feature it this year, after mid-year exams. The committee in charge of the "Prom" is composed of the following men: Samuel Shimer, chairman; Ray Bachman, Otto Saalfield, Rudolph Novak, Charles Cooper, Donald Carpenter, Michael Henry, and Wellington Walters.

Another committee appointed was the finance committee with Evanosky, chairman, and Ray Heist, and Gordon Fister as the other members.

Donald Schlotter, business manager of the "Ciarla" presented a report concerning the awarding of contracts and he disclosed the fact that those who placed the lowest bids received the orders.

The officers of the class for the first semester are: Harold Weiser, President; Christian Schenck, Vice President; C. Dean Symons, Secretary, and Donald Schlotter, Treasurer.

DR. JACOBS TO DELIVER SERIES OF LECTURES ON "CHRISTIAN EVIDENCES"

The first of a series of five lectures dealing with the approach to and problems of Christian Evidence, to be delivered by President C. M. Jacobs, of Mt. Airy Theological Seminary, will be presented on Sunday afternoon, November 1st, at 4 P. M., in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

This issue has been made possible only by the Wilson M. Rehrig Foundation. Mr. Rehrig, Ph. D., Class of '79, who died a few years ago, has left the college $6,000, the interest on which is to be used for a lecture series each year. This series has been prepared thru the efforts of Dr. Haas. President Jacobs will take up such vital questions on Christianity as "The Approach to Christianity," on Sunday, November 1st, at 4 P. M.; "Christianity and God," on Friday, November 6, at 11 A. M.; "Christianity and Christ," on Friday, November 13, at 11 A. M.; "Christianity and Faith," on Friday, November 20, at 11 A. M.; "Christianity and Salvation," on Friday, December 4, at 11 A. M. The student body is cordially invited to attend these lectures as they should be of deep interest to every thoughtful, wide-awake person interested in the future of Religion.

CRITICS AGAIN!!

"Critics" They are with us always! Like vultures they hover over the desert caravan in the hope that something might die; and when nothing in the semblance of death appears they set up an infernal squawking to let the whole world know that they're still alive and waiting.

Anyone with any common sense, or any student with any respect for those conducting collegiate chapel services in a new building and under new conditions for the first time, and doing their best to make a success of it, were surely ashamed of the editorial which appeared in the Weekly of October 13th. If you haven't read that editorial, fellow students, read it now and see for yourselves to what extremes some Muhlenberg students can go. The critic has utterly disregarded the fact that every new thing is entitled to a fair trial, and he starts out by saying that "after one week" we should look back and see "how we may improve" things. As if a thing of this nature could be given a complete test in the space of one week! And besides, the article mentions nothing in the way of improving matters, but with the exception of one impracticable suggestion consists merely of a column of destructive criticism.

We do not want a stiff and staid chapel service. Candles and flower vases are only symbols and ornaments, as well as the other paraments, and should not be worshipped in themselves, or their presence, or absence allowed to detract from our ability to worship. As to irregularities in the services, our president knows that variety is not only the spice of life, but an incentive for the students to desire more. We are endeavoring to make the services appeal to ALL the students, not just to the Lutheran group, or the ministerial students in that group.

Our would-be reformer does not seem to realize that an editorial of such a nature does more harm than good. The Weekly is circulated not only among the students, but also among Alumni and their friends. When they read such criticisms they receive the impression that things are being badly and carelessly managed at their Alma Mater. Such is not the case. And besides, these unwarranted criticisms are a direct disrespect and insult to the president of our College, who has labored long and hard to build up a Greater Muhlenberg and who is vitally interested in the success of our chapel services.

Would it not be better, in the future, for those who are dissatisfied to take their grievances to the college chaplain and discuss them with him before scattering them broadcast over the land? This would show far better judgment and more maturity of mind.

As to your references to Scripture,my dear critic, please remember that the Devil knew his Bible, and quoted from it, too, but that didn't get him anywhere.

—J. F. Gehr, '32.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Editorial contributors should remember that the "Weekly" has a large circulation among alumni, and others who are not students at the college. These subscribers have no way of knowing that the "view with alarm" editorials are based on biliousness rather than facts.

It is no hardship to go to chapel on Wednesday during the current series of splendid sermons by Dr. Haas on the Ten Commandments. Wednesday is our no-cut day for chapel.

We don't like the idea of Freshmen giving the works to a Junior. Juniors are supposed by all traditions to be the Freshmen's best friends, but according to what we hear about the case under question—oh well.

Un-rushed Frosh shouldn't take the matter to heart. Get to work, after mid-years you are very likely to be able to sign up with the fraternity of your choice, while a number of present "rushees" will be on the outside looking in. It's happened every year —it'll happen again.

Muhlenberg is getting a great deal of publicity thru the newly formed Publicity Bureau. Unlike other ventures of the same nature, it has made provision for a continuous existence thru the use of underclassmen as apprentices.

We still think that the only lasting publicity for the college will be thru the careers and conduct of its graduates. On the other hand, however, perhaps both kinds are needed.

It would be interesting for some energetic "Weekly" reporter to make a survey of why each student came to Muhlenberg, not the reasons which they wrote on the entrance questionnaire, but the real reasons. It would be an interesting experiment in every college, but it would require attendance at an appalling amount of bull-sessions.

Did that team play ball against St. Joe's. And how! Here's hoping they continue their work.

DR. W. MATHER LEWIS IS GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Sittig favored with three violin selections in the second part of the program. These selections were "Romance" by Svendsen; "Mazurka" by Chopin-Kreisler and "Tempo di Minuetto" by Pugnani.

Prof. Harold K. Marks, Muhlenberg organist, accompanied the Trio in the next part of their program. "Dream Song" by Franz Schubert and "Hymn to Saint Cecile" by Charles Gounod featured this portion of the concert.

Edgar Sittig, celloist, rendered the beautiful "Kol Nidre" by Brush as his selection for the program. The final group of selections played by the trio was the "Allegro moderato, Opus I", by Rubin Goldmark.

Immediately after the program Dr. and Mrs. John A. W. Haas were hosts to the faculty and their wives, and had as their guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. W. Mather Lewis, at a luncheon at the Hotel Traylor.

The afternoon was taken up by several alumni reunions and a get-together of many of the old graduates who had returned to their Alma Mater for the occasion.

Two theological students at a Texas university turned bandits so that they could continue their studies to become ministers. They were sentenced to five years each in prison.

Muhlenberg Defeats St. Joseph's 7-0

Mules Kick Hard In First Period To Win Close Game

Visitors' Rally In Second Half Nearly Overcomes 'Berg

Last Friday night, in a Booster game, the Muhlenberg Mules defeated a scrappy St. Joseph eleven by the score of 7 to 0. The Cardinal and Grey squad completely outplayed the visitors in the first half, but the tables were turned in the second period during which the St. Joseph team took on new life and constantly threatened to score.

Evanosky made the only touchdown of the game early in the first quarter, after the ball was advanced deep into the visitors' territory by the sensational runs of Wavrek, his running mate. Wavrek made the extra point by a well directed placement.

Weiner occupied the quarter-back position for the 'Berg squad and displayed some classy form in twisting thru the line. Rosenburg at fullback tore off some nice yardage. Doherty and Morris for the visitors threw plenty of scares into the 'Berg rooters during the St. Joseph second half rally.

There was a fine turnout considering weather conditions, rain threatened constantly. The band made a fine display in their flashy new uniforms.

First Period

St. Joe received Wavrek's kickoff on their 10-yard line and the ball was downed on their 30-yard line. Kane lost 2 yards on an end run. A plunge off tackle made no gain. A punt to Weiner who was run out on Berg's 40-yard line. Wavrek gained 1 yard at center. Weiner lost 1 yard due to low pass from center. Weiner punted to the 20-yard line and the receiver was downed there. An attempted end run made no gain. Center plunge was blocked after 4-yard gain. Punt to Weiner and he was downed on his 47-yard line. Evanosky got 5 yards thru center. Wavrek went around end for 8 yards for 1st down. 'Berg got a 5-yard penalty on next play. Line plunge failed. Long pass was grounded. St. Joe received a 5-yard penalty. Weiner twisted thru for a 1st down. Wavrek went around end 11 yards for 1st down on St. Joe's 10-yard line. St. Joe got 5-yard penalty. Line plunge was blocked for 1 yard loss. End run lost 1 yard. Evanosky went thru left tackle for touch down. Wavrek made the point by a placement. Score: Muhlenberg 7; St. Joe, 0.

Wavrek kicked to 25-yard line and receiver was downed on 35-yard line. Line plunge netted no gain. St. Joe was given a 5-yard penalty. Ball was run out of bounds with no gain. Punt to Weiner who was run out of bounds on his 45-yard line. Evanosky was tossed for no gain.. Weiner threw a pass which was grounded. Weiner punted, but 'Berg was offside and received 5-yard penalty. Weiner punted and receiver was run out of bounds on his 20-yard line. A line plunge was smeared for a 2-yard loss. Weiner leaped up and intercepted a long forward pass and was dropped on 35-yard St. Joe line. Five yard gain on end run, but 'Berg got 5 yard penalty. A long pass was grounded. "Red" Weiner got 2 yards at left tackle. Wavrek gained 4 yards around right end. Weiner threw a pass into arms of Linaugh of St. Josephs and he was stopped on his 25-yard line. Line plunge gained 3 yards. Run around left end gained 2 yards. Line plunge netted 2 yards. Punt was received by Evanosky on his 40-yard line and he was run out of bounds on the 45-yard St. Joe line. Ball run out of bounds for no gain as the quarter ended. Score: Muhlenberg, 7; St. Joseph, 0.

Second Period

'Berg's ball on St. Joe's 45-yard line, 3rd down, 10 to go. Weiner threw a long pass which was grounded. Weiner punted high kick and the ball was downed on visitors 1-yard line. Ball was run out of bounds for 3-yard gain. St. Joe punted out of bounds on their 41-yard line. Weiner twisted thru left tackle for 8 yards. Wavrek made 1 yard at right end. Rosenberg crashed thru center 3 yards for 1st down. Evanosky made 3 yards at left end. 'Berg delayed and got 5-yard penalty. Weiner crashed thru for 10 yards. Line plunge lost 2 yards. Weiner gained 1 yard and the ball went to St. Joe on downs. Line plunge netted no gain. A pass gained 9 yards. A plunge at center netted 2 yards and a 1st down. A line plunge was a stopped at the line of scrimmage. Thrust off right tackle gave visitors 2 yards. Rosenberg intercepted a pass and was downed on the visitor's 35-yard line. A line plunge failed to gain. Weiner was thrown for 1 yard loss. A pass was intercepted, but the St. Joe man slipped and dropped the ball. Weiner punted over the goal line. St Joe's ball on their 20-yard line. Line plunge gained 1 yard. Plunge at left tackle made 3 yards. Jab at center was stopped at the line of scrimmage for no gain. Weiner caught a punt on his 30-yard line and was dropped on his 40-yard line, but 'Berg was given a 15-yard penalty. End run lost 5 yards. Wavrek made no gain at center. WITH OUR OPPONENTS OVER THE WEEK-END

The game occupying the spotlight of football interest for Muhlenberg fans last Saturday was the contest at Lancaster in which Ursinus, last year's conference champions, defeated Franklin and Marshall by the score of 7 to 6. F. and M. shot the works in that contest which was their first conference game of the season, but the Collegeville squad kept their slate clean and dashed the conference title hopes of the Blue and White. F. and M. was all primed for the game. They have yet to win a conference championship. Muhlenberg was given an indication of the calibre foe they will meet this Saturday when the Cardinal and Grey squad travels down to Collegeville for its first conference game of the season against the Ursinus Bears.

Dickinson, also a conference member, upset the football dope plenty when they sent the Penn State Lions down to a 10 to 6 defeat. Penn State is notoriously weak this year, but then Dickinson has not been rating very high on the football field for the past several seasons either. New life must have come into the Carlisle gridmen this last two weeks. They surprised by holding Ursinus to a 7-6 score the Saturday before. It looks like a tough year for Muhlenberg in the conference games that are on their way. Muhlenberg defeated Dickinson at Carlisle last year by a 7 to 0 score.

The biggest surprise of any, however, was the 6 to 0 trouncing which Gettysburg, always a big gun among the conference teams, took at the hands of a fighting Juniata eleven. Juniata became tired of being pushed around over the field this season and came up to Gettysburg to prove it. There must have been some heavy gloom hanging over the little town of Gettysburg over the past week-end.

Western Maryland put up a plucky fight against a much heavier W. and J. eleven in being defeated by a 13 to 12 score. A fumble prevented a touchdown which would have won the game for Western Maryland.

Lehigh took a heavy lacing at the hands of Pennsylvania by the score of 32-0 at Franklin Field in Philadelphia. This is the third defeat for the Brown and White delegation this season.

Lafayette had little trouble in trouncing a lighter St. John's delegation by the score of 22 to 0.

SAVES ON TICKET, SPENDS ON DOCTOR

Youth Falls From Perch in Tree and Cuts Gash in Head

George Kutz, aged 20, enjoyed the Muhlenberg-St. Joseph's game at no cost from his perch high in a tree at the eastern end of the field last Friday night, but was forced to spend his saving for medical services necessitated when he fell, rather than climbed down, from his position after the game.

Kutz's companions had safely reached the ground, but the young man's hands slipped from a wet branch and he fell to the ground twenty-five feet below. In his fall, Kutz's head struck the bumper of a parked automobile, and the impact inflicted a gash about three inches in length.

Officer Wesley Jones, on duty at the game, commandered an automobile and rushed the unfortunate chap to the hospital for treatment. After aid had been given, Kutz was detained at the hospital in order that an x-ray examination might reveal whether a fracture existed.

'Berg Freshmen Defeat Lafayette Frosh 7-0

Rohn Goes Around End Twenty-five Yards For Touchdown

Muhlenberg Freshman team continued its winning streak by defeating the powerful Lafayette Frosh to the tune of 7 to 0. Although hampered by a high breeze, both teams played a fine brand of football.

Coach Weber started his shock troops in the first quarter. These held the 'Little Leopards". The outstanding stars for the "Baby Mules" were Captain "Babe" Schraeder, Rohn and Neubauer.

The only serious injury to result from this contest was suffered by "Bob" Schweyer, former Allentown High School star, who played end for Lafayette. He broke a bone in his cheek in the second quarter and had to leave the game.

A short resumé of the game is as follows:

First Quarter

Stabley, Lafayette, kicked off and after two kicks into the end zone the ball was placed into play on the 'Berg 20-yard line. After several line plunges by Neubauer, 'Berg kicked to Weis on the Lafayette 45-yard line. Delvicio and Stabley tried line plunges but did not gain. Stabley punted over the end zone. The remaining time of this quarter was spent in a punting duel between the two teams with the ball remaining fairly well in the center of the field. Gamble, Muhlenberg right tackle blocked a Lafayette kick, but 'Berg could not gain.

Score: Muhlenberg, 0; Lafayette, 0.

Second Quarter

The first team of the Freshman squad of Muhlenberg was substituted at this time. Lafayette made two consecutive first downs through the Muhlenberg line. However, the Mules stiffened and Stabley was forced to kick. Rohn carrying the ball made a beautiful run for a first down. Muhlenberg fumbled on the next play, but as Lafayette was offsides, the ball was brought back and Lafayette was penalized five yards. Another first down was garnered by the 'Berg team, but the Lafayette line held and 'Berg was forced to kick. It was on this play that Schweyer, playing end for Lafayette was hurt and had to leave the game. Lafayette fumbled and 'Berg recovered on the twenty-yard line. On the next play 'Berg was penalized 5 yards for being offsides. In a beautiful end run which turned out to be a touchdown play, Rohn, Catasauqua High School star, ran 25 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was made when Sheehan, from a fake placement kick formation, tossed a forward pass to Dietrich who was over the goal line.

Lafayette kicked off to 'Berg and Sheehan received. Several more substitutes were sent in for both teams. After two plays the half ended with the ball on the 40-yard line.

Score: Muhlenberg, 7; Lafayette, 0.

Muhlenberg College Band Organizes For Another Year of Strenuous Activity

TENNIS TOURNAMENT WELL UNDER WAY

Players Enter Third Round

The annual fall tennis tournament has gotten under way and at present most of the contestants have advanced to the third round. No startling upsets have taken place, in fact many of the seeded players of last year's varsity team have not even entered this tournament. However, no seasoned player has as yet fallen by the wayside altho within a very short time many of them will be pitted against each other and of course the result will be hard to tell.

Cliff Roehrig, veteran varsity man of last year and one of the best players at Muhlenberg has advanced to the fourth round with comparative easy victories over Bitting 6-2, 6-4; in the second round; and Richards 6-4, 6-0 in the third round.

In the third round bracket Abbott has advanced thru the defeat of Friedman 8-6, 6-2 in the second round. Bennetsch was aided by the default of Baker in the second round as was Drach, also a varsity man from last year, who advanced thru the default of Naratil.

Two matches remain to be played in the second round. Lowy-vs. Van-Buren and Fritsch vs. Kersteller.

At present all indications point to a final between Roehrig, Drach and Fritsch all veterans of last year's team. Cooper and Weiser, two of the mainstays of the 'Berg tennis team last year did not enter the tournament.

DR. HAAS DELIVERS SECOND OF SERIES OF CHAPEL TALKS

"Second Commandment" Subject

Continuing his series of talks on the "Ten Commandments" Dr. John A. W. Haas gave a short talk on the "Second Commandment" during the regular assembly period last Wednesday.

Dr. Haas stated that if we had God then we must also have His name. Our names are accidental. But in the Old Testament the names of the people described them or certain of their characteristics.

The name of God, according to the speaker, is the whole revelation of the Divinity. We only know Him through His name and because of this His name should be kept sacred.

There are three ways of taking the name of God in vain, Dr. Haas continued. First is by cursing. In this use the user is hurt and not the one against whom the curse is directed. The second way is by swearing. Swearing means to call upon God as a witness of truth, but most people use this idea for every trivial occasion. The final method of taking God's name in vain is the common practice in this section of Pow-Wow. This is a relic of barbarianism and paganism of the very lowest form. This type of work makes God a cosmic errand boy and is one of the supreme insults levied against God.

In concluding the talk Dr. Haas stated that at present the way in which the oath in the public courts is administered is so perfunctory that it would be far better if they eliminated this type of oath giving entirely.

The third in this series of interesting talks will be given Friday, October 23rd at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Brandes and Carl Fisher In Charge Of Organization

FIFTY-TWO MEMBERS REPORT FOR BAND

No Muhlenberg football game would be complete without a well-trained band. The college is fortunate this year in having just such an organization. Under the leadership of Carl S. Fisher, himself an accomplished musician, the band of fifty-two men is doing excellent work.

The organization meets every Wednesday afternoon from 4:15 to 5:15 for rehearsal and when the director's baton is raised, cornets, clarinets, trombones, baritones, saxophones, altos, tubas, piccolos, flutes, cymbals, snare drums and bass drums all unite in the formation of sweet sounds which delight the hearer's ears and are so arranged as to spur on the football team to victory—sometimes.

A colorful and interesting part of the booster game with St. Joseph's was the appearance of the band on the field for the first time in flashy uniforms. Their snappy marching thrilled the hearts of the assembled spectators.

Dr. Brandes, the faculty director of the band, and Mr. Fisher are to be heartily commended for their excellent direction and the members themselves deserve all due credit for making what we believe will be the largest and best band ever assembled at Muhlenberg.

It is hoped that when the present football season draws to a close that the band will not cease to function but will continue throughout the year. Many of the college functions as the basketball games and baseball games would be pepped up considerably if the band would be present. Sometime after January first the band is scheduled to present a one hour program during the regular Thusday assembly period. This yearly program is always well received and the student body is expecting great things from the band this year.

MUHLENBERG PLAYS URSINUS THIS WEEK

This Saturday afternoon, at Collegeville, the Muhlenberg football squad faces the undefeated Ursinus Bears. The Ursinus team has been bowling over their opponents right and left this year, and aims to continue their winning streak by defeating Muhlenberg.

The Bears have to their credit wins over Lehigh, Haverford, Dickinson, and F. and M. They were conference champions last year, and were defeated in only one conference tilt during that season. Muhlenberg defeated them by a 14 to 13 score in one of the most thrilling games played on the local field last year. The Mules aim to repeat last season's performance, while the Bears are out for revenge.

The Ursinus team has a head start towards another conference title, and Muhlenberg will be beginning its campaign in this game. A large number of 'Berg rooters are expected to make the trip with the team down to Collegeville for what promises to be a football classic.

C-Y CLUB MEETING IN LIBRARY BUILDING

Rev. Schaeffer Speaker

The C-Y Club of Muhlenberg College met last Tuesday evening, October 13th, on the mezzanine floor of the Library Building. The Rev. Dr. W. C. Schaeffer, Jr., D.D., Ph.D., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, was the speaker. He used as his topic, "The College Man's Relation to the Outside World," and developed it very eloquently along educational lines.

Rev. George Sowers, former missionary to Japan, who is now assisting Dr. Schaeffer at St. John's Church, also spoke briefly. Mr. Walter R. Harrison conducted the devotional service.

Dean Robert C. Horn, Ph.D., Litt.D., addressed the club on October 6, 1931, on "Some Problems of College Men," which proved very interesting to all those present.

The platform of the C-Y is: Clean Speech; Clean Thoughts, Clean Habits; and Clean Scholarship.

Third Quarter

With practically the same line-up starting the third quarter that started the game Lafayette started a drive towards the Muhlenberg goal line. The 'Berg line held and after receiving the ball immedately kicked. However, because of the high wind the ball only traveled about 20 yards to 'Berg's own 42-yard line. At this point a new line and backfield was substituted by Coach Weber.

After several line plunges Lafayette lost the ball on downs and 'Berg again was forced to kick. Most of the playing was being done about 20 yards from the Muhlenberg goal line. On the next play Muhlenberg was penalized 15 yards for roughing. The quarter ended with the ball in Lafayette's possession on the 'Berg 22-yard line.

Score: Muhlenberg. 7; Lafayette, 0.

Fourth Quarter

Lafayette tried desperately to score, unleashing a stabbing line attack as well as an aerial advance. However an unsuccessful pass into the end zone gave the ball to the 'Berg team on their own 20-yard line. After two line plays, 'Berg was forced to kick. On the next two plays Lafayette made a first down. However, after several line plays another unsuccessful pass into the end zone sent the ball to 'Berg.

A penalty of 5 yards was given to the 'Berg team for two much time out. The Mule Frosh were forced to kick and Lafayette tried once more to drive through the line. After two unsuccessful passes had been attempted the ball went to the 'Berg Frosh on downs and the game was over.

Score: Muhlenberg, 7; Lafayette, 0.

DR. FRANKLIN K. FRETZ SPEAKER AT SUNDAY VESPER SERVICES

the state, home and society would fall with it," Dr. Fretz added.

"The final law of the three foundation laws of life is that of religion. The uplook and outlook of life is religion. Without a vision, society fails. Without faith society fails. But with religion, society goes forward, ever advancing to the ultimate goal of a happy, well rounded life," Dr. Fretz concluded.

Another feature of this splendid program was the appearance of the Lafayette College Chapel Choir. This choir favored with several selections. "My Chosen King is Christ the Lord" by Bach; "We Praise Thee, O God", by Buck; and "Intercession" by Rutenber were three selections presented by this group. As soloist for the two selections the choir presented Messrs. Peddison, Loper and Benson. Two other selections were presented after the sermon—"Gesus Bambino" by Pietro Yon and "Peace I Leave With You" by Roberts. Mr. Kermit Jones of the Lafayette Choir was the soloist for the latter numbers.

In addition to these numbers the combined choirs of Lafayette and Muhlenberg sang "Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Kresmer.

Mr. Thomas Yerger, organist of the Lafayette College Chapel gave a short organ recital before the services. His presentations included "Fugue in G Minor" by Bach; "Magnificat in 6 versets" by Bonnet and two composition by Marcel Dupre—"Verset des Psaumes" and "Benedictus".

Fun is the most important thing in college, a professor at Northwestern University told the freshman class.

SCOTTY RENWICK

There is very little to be said about "Scotty" Renwick that the student body does not already know. "Scotty" is our trainer, has been our trainer, and will be our trainer until he can no longer train.

He comes from a family of trainers, his father having been head-trainer at the University of Pennsylvania until 1904. "Scotty" may be seen at every game, and at every practice session tending to the needs of the players. When not out on the field or in the gym floor, he is to be found in the dressing room rubbing out kinks in muscles.

"Scotty's" fight-talks play no small part in making the "Mules" go out in the field with the will to win. He is very popular on the campus, and is an honorary member of the varsity "M" club. His hobby is playing the trumpet in the American Legion Band of the Herbert Lentz Post in Allentown.

Sixty former college athletic heroes are now presidents of colleges and universities in the United States.

WHAT OF THE MORROW?

In the heyday of youth the future has but little significance. We live in the present only, and want our pleasures today. We want the thrills and adventures now, the future is too far distant.

The best way to profitably take care of the present is to look out for the future.

Whatever your attitude toward life may be, don't overlook your reliable friend, "Life Insurance".

Let us help you in creating and building a life insurance program for the future. No obligations.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

John Erie, with all of his 300 pounds, must have made a pretty picture, tied in a pig pen somewhere in the wilds of Lehigh County, following the Freshman banquet last Tuesday.

And speaking of Erie, the Allentown police department got a great kick out of his calling them for protection from the freshman on Monday. Erie was about to be nabbed by a few freshmen at his home on Monday afternoon when he called the police station and an officer was detailed to act as his personal body guard. All of which shows that bulk isn't all that counts.

We wonder whether the Freshmen really believe all that was told them during rushing season. If they do they soon may be disappointed.

Favorable Advertising

Muhlenberg was placed in the limelight last Wednesday when its president, in speaking before a regular student assembly, urged that the Bible be taken out of the courts of the country, if the oath administered on it is to continue to be regarded as lightly as it is at present. The Muhlenberg Press Bureau, through the medium of the Associated Press and special wire services, sent a synopsis of the address to every Associated Press paper in the United States. We understand that a great deal of favorable comment has been aroused by Dr. Haas' remark.

Editorially Speaking

Speaking about editorials, we'll have to depart from our non- partisan attitude to take the editorial published in last week's issue of the WEEKLY for a merry ride. Granted we all can't set ourselves up as paper saints —and fortunately so. We believe that the greater majority, yes we'll say every Muhlenberg student, is inspired with a fervent religious spirit when entering the chapel. If a person is inclined to adopt a pose when in chapel different from his pose on the campus, that is his privilege. We feel however, that the attitude of the average student is real and genuine and that they enjoy the service. Perhaps our "editoral writer" would like to conduct a service and show just how it should be done. We shall have to watch his attitude in chapel and if it is not too affected may pattern ours after it. But then we have observed it and do not care to appear like him.

What about the freshmen "crashing" the Lyric on Monday evening? Was there a special point to having the banquet on the same night as that theatre's popular show? Upper classmen better follow their example. Why pay fifty cents to see something which you can see for nothing?

And by the way, the name of this column is MUHLENBERG MIRRORED, not Muhlenberg Mirrowed. Mistakes will happen, don't you know.

INTRODUCING

Miss Margaret Schwartz who is now entering her eighth year of service in the Business Office of Muhlenberg College. She came to the college as a secretary to the officials in the Million Dollar Campaign fund, and since the close of that campaign has been retained in the Business Office in a secretarial capacity. She is of valuable assistance to the Athletic Association.

During the period of her service Muhlenberg has had three different head coaches and as many assistant coaches. Walter Wood was coach when she arrived, then "Haps" Benfer, and for the past three years, George Holstrom.

Miss Schwartz has control over the distribution of complimentary tickets to the games, and her office is usually well populated by band members and football players on the Friday before a game.

Margaret Schwartz is a native of Lehighton, attended school there, and graduated from the Bethlehem Business College. She assumed her duties at Muhlenberg in the autumn of 1923.

FRATERNITY ROW

PHILOS ALUMNI HELP ENTERTAIN AT SMOKER

Approximately fifty men attended the annual "rush" smoker of the Philos Club at their home October 13, 1931.

Russel Strubel, an alumnus member of the fraternity, class of '29, at present the head of the mathematics and science department of Coplay High School, discussed fraternities from the viewpoint of an alumnus.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Eddie Keenly and his banjo. Keenly is an alumnus, class of '30.

The program committee consisted of: John Detweiler, chairman; Harold Hieter, and Warren Smith.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA HAS RUSH DANCE FOR FROSH

Monday, October 12th, was the occasion of the annual rush dance given by the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity in their home on Chew street. Approximately sixty couples danced to the music played by the well known Art Mickley and his orchestra.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Clifford Roehrig, chairman; Rudolf Scheidt; Sam Shimer, and Richard Baker.

The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. Albert Fasig, Doctor and Mrs. William Ramer and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hartman.

DELTA THETA TENDERS RECEPTION TO COACH

The Delta Theta fraternity tendered a reception to Mr. West Hackman, Coach of West Philadelphia High School after the West Philadelphia game last Saturday.

Various alumni were guests of the fraternity during the past week. The guests included Dr. Young, Mr. Henry Ashbach, and Mr. Jack Lester.

An alumni gathering was held on Thursday, October 7, 1931. The committee in charge consisted of Messrs. Bueller, O'Brien, Simmons, Judt, and Bianca.

PHI KAPPA TAU GIVES PARTY FOR FRESHMEN

Eta chapter of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity entertained forty freshmen at a rushing smoker in the fraternity's home, 2224 Liberty Street on Wednesday evening, October 14, 1931.

An interesting program of entertainment, including musical numbers by various members of the chapter and addresses by members of the faculty was arranged by the committee of officers in charge.

Among the speakers were Dr. Carl Wright Boyer, Dr. Charles B. Bowman, Dr. Ira Zartman, Dr. John V. Shankweiler, Dr. George T. Ettinger and Rev. H. P. C. Cressman. Ray K. Heist, master of ceremonies was introduced to the gathering by Kenneth H. Koch, president of the house.

Wednesday night's event was the last of Phi Kappa Tau's social functions for the rushing season.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA MOTHERS HAVE MEETING

The first meeting of the Mother's Club of which Mrs. Schlotter is president was held on Saturday, October 10, 1931.

DELTA THETA HOLDS DANCE AT TRAYLOR

Last Thursday evening, October 15th, Delta Theta fraternity held its rush dance in the ball room of the Hotel Traylor.

Approximately 40 couples danced to the strains of the music furnished by Art Mickley's Fantasy Orchestra. Dancing was from 9 to 12.

The committee in charge of the affair was: Neil Ward, Albert Kunz, Ferdinand Palladino, and Ralph Bueller, chairman. The chaperones were: Professor Luther Deck, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Hummel, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Belles.

freshman fights; to dispose of the regulation freshman dresses, and to attend to the general wants of the Freshman.

Geiger, in his sympathy for the restricted Freshman, proposed that permission should be issued to the underclassman for the use of the campus section in the quadrant of the dormitory building, as a playground. No definite conclusion was reached concerning the question at hand, but as the Council thought the poor Freshman should be allowed some liberty on the Campus, they decided to permit them to police the forbidden green pasturage every Tuesday afternoon.

A lively discussion then ensued concerning the amendment to the Constitution. By an error of the Council, the amendment was not forwarded to the faculty, thus making the student vote in the Assembly on October 8th, void, for the faculty must pass on the amendment in order to make it constitutional. An addition was made to the amendment stating that the fraternity group must be recognized by the Inter-Fraternity Council. A motion was made and seconded that the amendment should be forwarded to the faculty.

Under new business, Mr. Efron, suggested that the monetary amount due for the Student Council letterheads, and the allotments of the budgets should be placed in his hands immediately. A motion being made by Thiede and Steinhauser adopted Efron's suggestion.

College-trained engineers revisit the athletic field

Night photograph of Temple Stadium, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, floodlighted with G-E projectors

ON more than a hundred floodlighted fields, football is being played and practiced in the evening hours, before larger audiences than ever before—with fewer injuries and in better conformity with classroom duties.

This constructive revolution in athletics is largely the work of college-trained engineers—young men personally familiar with the needs of college and school. They are dedicating the technical experience gained in the General Electric Test Department to the practical service of undergraduate athletics—designing and installing floodlighting equipment for virtually every sport—football, baseball, hockey, tennis, and track.

Other college men in the General Electric organization have specialized in street-lighting and floodlighting projects, or in the electrical equipment of industries and mines or of immense power stations; some are designing and applying electric apparatus to propel ocean liners and locomotives. All are engaged in the planning, production, or distribution of G-E products and so are performing a work of national betterment and creating for themselves recognized spheres of personal influence.

Who's Who on the Campus

STAN CARNEY
Alpha Tau Omega

Stan since the day he entered Muhlenberg as a Freshman has always been an outstanding man on the campus. He hails from Wilson Boro of which Easton is a suburb. While attending high school Stan starred in football, baseball, and basketball. During his college career he has held down the varsity quarterback position for three years, pitcher or first baseman on the baseball team, and a forward position on the basketball team.

All who remember last year's Lehigh football game will recall Stan's spectacular run-back of a punt through the entire Lehigh team for Muhlenberg's first touchdown which paved the way for the biggest score Muhlenberg has ever rolled up against a Lehigh team.

Stan's activity is not confined to the field of sport entirely, for he is also treasurer of the M Club and has always taken an active part in any college activity. Scholastically Stan ranks with the best in his class and his hearty smile and pleasing personality have endeared him in the hearts of all who know him.

Socially, Stan belongs to the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity and in his chosen profession of teaching and coaching, his brothers and the entire student body as well, feel certain that he can do nothing but succeed.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, Director, School of Education, and Dr. Carl W. Boyer, Assistant Professor of Education, were among the speakers at the Wilson Borough Teachers' Institute held on October 15-16.

Dr. Boyer used two phases of Mental Hygiene as his topics speaking on "The Mental Hygiene of the pupil of High School Age" to the High School Teachers and "The Mental Hygiene of the Elementary School Child, to the Elementary teachers.

Dr. Wright spoke on "The Objectives of Systematic Teaching" to the High School Teachers, and "The Teaching of Reading" to the Elementary Teachers.

Dr. J. Edgar Swain, of the History Department, is in receipt of a copy of the "Berliner Monatshefte" wherein is contained an article written by Dr. Swain concerning the part played by Germany in the World War. A group of three questions was sent to many of the leading historians of America, Denmark, England, Finland, France, Holland, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Russia.

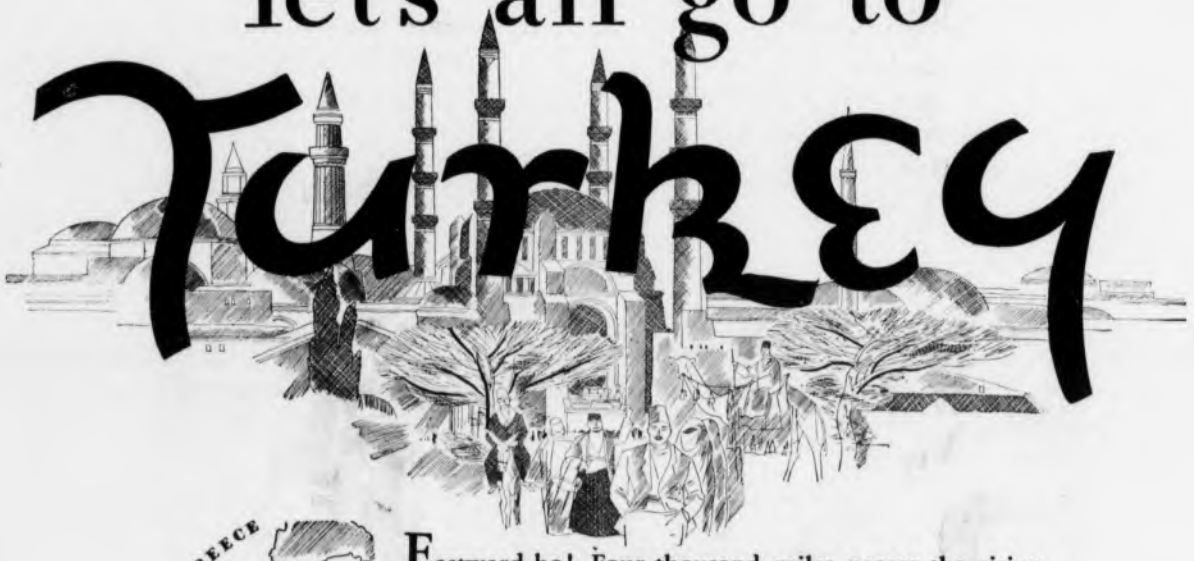
The three questions which the German government is anxious to have answered are as follows, "Are you of opinion that Germany planned the Great War with premeditation and brought it about designedly and intentionally?", "Are you of opinion that Germany imposed the war upon the Allied and Associated Governments?", and "Do you assent to the opinion that the affirmation made by the Allied and Associated Governments in Verailles regarding the responsibility of Germany for the war was arrived at on the basis of material which was incomplete, tendentious, and, in part, even falsified?"

EARLE THEATRE TO BE HOST TO FOOTBALL TEAM

Through the courtesy of the management of the Earle Theatre a free performance of the film drama "Spirit of Notre Dame" will be given for the benefit of the Muhlenberg Varsity football team. In addition the college band and cheerleaders will be the guests of the manager. The date for this performance will be Monday, October 26.

Last year the same theatre sponsored a Muhlenberg College night, admitting the entire student body to the evening performance at 7 o'clock.

let's all go to Turkey



Where Turkish tobacco grows

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples.

Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff!

Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

In every important tobacco-growing center Chesterfield has its own tobacco buyers

XANTHI . . CAVALLA . . SMYRNA . . SAMSOUN . . famous tobaccos!

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee!

You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend.

This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.

The cost is low . . . particularly at night. Just look at these figures! After 8.30 P. M., points a hundred miles away can be reached for 35c . . . nearly two hundred miles away for 60c! And, of course (Dad will O. K. this), you can always reverse the charge!

Now for the call . . .

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.) Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than the more expensive Person to Person call.

Varsity "M" Club Sponsors Trip Of Band To Ursinus

Raise Money For Trip Rather Than Have Band Absent

It has been the custom in years past for Muhlenberg's band to accompany its team to all foot-ball gamees. Last week the news that, because of unforseen circumstances, the condition of the treasury would not warrant the taking of the band to Ursinus caused a great deal of discussion among the student body.

An appeal was made to Registrar Benfer who in turn presented the matter to the Varsity "M" club, an organization of all men who have earned their letters at 'Berg. Because the letter men realize and appreciate the value of a band at a game both as a spiritual incentive and to add a colorful touch they decided to supply the amount needed. A meeting was held and the club, following its customary procedure of readiness to serve, gallantly volunteered to make up the necessary money required to send the band to the game.

The Weekly together with the Student Body joins in heartily commending the "M" Club for its action and in wishing it a successful year.

Messrs. Ferdinand Palladino and Stanley Carney as president and secretary and Al Greenberg, vice president and Charles Evanosky, treasurer, are the officers of the organization.

WIENER ELECTED NEW SOPHOMORE PRESIDENT

At meeting of the Sophomore Class on Tuesday, October 20, Albert Weiner was elected president to succeed Kenneth Hunt who had resigned.

Forty-four Sophomores or a number less than half the membership of the class cast ballots.

LEHIGH

The Lehigh University authorities report that there is a very noticeable decrease in the number of "band wagon" type automobiles on the campus this year. The general depression is held responsible for the tendancy away from the "gas hungry" heavy cars towards the lighter and more economical popular priced models. Fords lead the field, and seven students commute to the university on motorcycles.

DR. HAAS LECTURES ON THIRD COMMANDMENT

Continues Interesting Series of Talks on "Ten Commandments"

A third address in a series of lectures dealing with The Ten Commandments was delivered in Chapel on Friday, October 23, by Dr. J. A. W. Haas, on The Third Commandment.

Dr. Haas maintained that 'while it is proper and right to worship God every day, it is necessary among all the days, to have one set aside for the culture of the soul'. He continued in remarking that the Hebrews decided to reserve one day in seven for worship to mark the cessation of the creation of the world by God. Then, the introduction of Christianity brought it about that Sunday, the first day of the week was to be used as a day of physical and mental relaxation, and the culture of both mind and soul. Calvin, his successors, and followers committed a grave error in making the prohibitions and laws concerning Sunday so very strict and inflexible; in other words to make worship a matter of force, instead of a pure flow of voluntary, spontaneous gratitude for the resurrection of the Lord. Laws should be used only in such a manner as to protect the free right of worship, not to interfere with Church, and to prevent all such disturbances that hinder devout worship. There are laws, too, that look out for the welfare of the working man who must rest physically, to be able to assume his duties of the following week in a more capable manner. Dr. Haas went on to say that there were two abuses of Sunday by the individual. Either the individual carries on work by his own choice, when not required to work by others, or, he gives himself over to a Sunday of laziness, or even, a wrong type of pleasure, 'which wearies the body and soul, and lowers the life, the mind, and infringes upon the health of the soul, as a degradation to the day that can be a day of great joy and happiness, of restfulness and peace'.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETS FOR FIRST SESSION

The first meeting for the year of the Classical Club was held at the home of Charles Fritsch on Thursday evening, October 22, 1931.

After prayer and the customary business during which plans were mentioned for providing for interesting meetings during the year as of slides and a visit to the museum the following new members were taken in to the club. Wilmer Wolf, Rudolf Novak, Herbert Frankfort, Harry Dunlap, Alfred Mattes, Martin Ruoss. Besides these, Dr. Horn, Dr. Ettinger, Rev. Stine, Richard Klick, Mr. Gehr and Mr. Fritsch were present.

Mr. Gehr then presented a very interesting talk on "Who carved the statue of Hermes of Praxitteles?" In the course of the discussion it was brought to notice that this statue may be a false one due to certain artistic influences. Mr. Gehr also spoke on the "Use and Worship of water among the Romans." from which it was interesting to discover that Rome was modern in water, fire, police department, but not in lighting.

The members then discussed these topics. After this Mr. Klick and Mr. Fritsch related very interestingly with pictures their travels in Europe the past summer with Dr. Barba. This was enjoyed by all.

After the usual club closing of "tea for two", the meeting disbanded.

The present officers of the club are: President, Mr. Klick; Vice President, Mr. Gehr; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Fritsch. The aim of the club is to increase interests in the classics by fellowship.

The men at St. Benedict's College are requiring the freshman to wear Empress Eugenie hats instead of customary dinks.

Dr. H. H. Horne Gives Stimulating Speech In Chapel

Proposes the Question "Do We Live A Christian Life?"

Muhlenberg College was indeed fortunate in having for its speaker during the Tuesday, October 20, chapel period Dr. Herman Hurrell Horne, of New York University, one of the most distinguished philosophers, educators and writers on Christian ideals throughout the United States.

Dr. Horne delivered his talk "Is Christianity practical?", through the medium of asking questions which stimulated keen thought among the members of his audience. Some of his questions were "Is Christianity practised by those on college campusses by those who profess to be Christian? Do we carry a sense of communion with God? Do we love our neighbors as ourselves? Do I love the will of God for my life more than selfish pleasures?"

Without attempting an answer to these queries Dr. Horne concluded his talk with "We can not measure up to such standards. Let us pray God's forgiveness and begin afresh where we are."

It is interesting to note that both Dr. Wright and Dr. Boyer, of the education department of Muhlenberg College took advanced courses under Dr. Horne, while studying for their degrees at New York University.

FIFTY-FIVE FROSH ACCEPT BIDS FROM 'BERG FRATERNITIES

Rushing season is over! Whew!

After two weeks of incessant activity among fraternity men in an attempt to "sell" their organization to qualified freshmen the grand climax was reached on Thursday, October 22, 1931 when actual pledging took place in the Administration Building.

Ninety-five men were called to the third floor to receive their "bids" while their future brothers awaited them on the floor beneath. Singly and doubly the men were brought down by the various fraternity leaders only to be hurried away to the "house" where they signed the pledge cards. Thursday evening was spent in general get-together and theatre parties.

Rev. Conrad Wilker Speaker At Sunday Vesper Services

"Onwardness Of Faith" Topic Of Interesting Discussion

The regular Sunday vesper services of Muhlenberg College were in charge of Rev. Conrad Wilker, pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Allentown, Pa. Rev. Wilker used as his topic "The Onwardness of Faith."

The outstanding example of the following of an urge of faith is that of the life and accomplishments of Thomas Alva Edison, greatest of inventors. Like him we should all follow the urge of our faith onward to Jesus Christ.

To-day there are two challenges which must be faced by everybody. The first is the challenge to make a living. This in itself is a splendid challenge to answer. Most of us however under the mere necessity of making a living and of gathering some material things of life fail to follow in any degree the spiritual things of life and neglect these entirely.

"Great men," the speaker continued, "have often had to work very hard and for long periods of time in order to have the bare necessities of life before they achieved their greatness."

Paul the great apostle and first missionary, carried on the process of making a living even while an apostle and this in itself seems to prove the importance of this challenge. There is no greater satisfaction than to feel the satisfaction of success in making a living for oneself and relatives.

"The second great challenge to be faced by all is the challenge of building a life. In the process of earning a livelihood we should take time to appraise our lives and view our progress. In this we should be conscious of our imperfections and limitations and seek to remedy these and cleanse our many sins. In doing this we will reach upward toward perfection and toward Christ.

"The outstanding example of this can be found in the life of Paul who in the end was a martyr, who looked forward to death as a renewal of life in the great beyond.

"The most outstanding example of a life that was the most unselfish the world has ever known," the speaker concluded, "can be found in the life of Paul, the first missionary."

Dr. Rufus Jones Is Guest Speaker At Chapel Service

To increase the interest of the students in the series of lectures on "Christian Evidences" the Administration is offering two prizes for the best reports of the lectures by Dr. Jacobs.

A Senior prize of $10.00 and a Junior prize of $10.00 for the best reports, will be awarded by the Administration.

Stresses Importance of a Definite Goal in Life

The most important thing in life to-day, the supreme business of life, is to be here in the midst of the turmoil and strife and form a place where the eternal realities of God are demonstrated by our lives," stated Dr. Rufus Jones, Ph.D., professor of Philosophy at Haverford College, during the regular assembly period, Thursday, October 22nd.

"To-day," the speaker continued, "there are one hundred million persons of college age throughout the world. Of these only three million are in colleges while seven million are working in industry—mainly day laborers. The remaining ninety million are working on the land with little prospects of ever advancing any further.

"The chance which the students have to-day has come at a time when there is an economic depression and confusion existing. This depression is strikingly conscious in the minds of men. However beneath the surface of this depression there runs a deep stream of moral and spiritual confusion. A loss of standards and a change of faith are prevalent. The drift of the secular and material aims has overcome the religious viewpoint," the speaker added.

Dr. Jones then showed a parallel circumstance which existed in Palestine with the period of depression in our own country. The descent from Jerusalem to the fields of Sharon is rocky and unprofitable land. The fields of Sharon however are some of the richest fields in the world. At the edge of this great plain the desert mixes with the plain at Gaza. Here the farmers must constantly be afraid that the desert will drift and shift during the night to such an extent that the work of a lifetime will be wiped out. Just so in life to-day these periods of depression seem to overthrow the work of man. There was a similar period of "depression" immediately after the French Revolution and the world weathered the storm. So it will to-day if men keep faith.

"To-day we must rebuild our civilization," he said. "But the first place must be in our souls. Here in the very temples of God will be laid the foundations of our future civilization and economic life. A good, firm foundation will mean a better civilization in the future."

Taking a text from the Bible in Proverbs, Dr. Jones, contrasted the ebb and flow of civilization with the spiritual life of the people of that time. All victories of the economic world are won first in the soul. A person, the speaker concluded, can not meet the arguments of the material world with arguments but with a laboratory demonstration of the correct life by the example of his own living.

Dr. Fritsch and Rev. Cressman of the faculty had charge of the opening ceremonies and Dr. Haas of the closing ceremonies.

The speaker next Thursday will be Dr. Preston A. Barba, head of the German department.

COMMITTEE FOR 1932 JUNIOR PROM PLANS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

A meeting of the Junior Prom Committee was called to order at the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house on Wednesday evening, October 21, at 7 o'clock, by Chairman Samuel Shimer, for the purpose of determining a date, a place, and an orchestra for what will be one of the most outstanding affairs of Muhlenberg's social calendar.

A tentative date of Friday, February 5, 1932 has been under consideration and needs the approval of the Student Council, before it can be made definite.

Temporary arrangements have been negotiated with the Americus Hotel for their ballroom. The dance will be either from 9 to 2, or from 10 to 3. As yet no orchestra has been selected, but one of several nationally known bands will be here to make this affair an unprecedented one in the history of Junior Classes. Further plans will be divulged as soon as final arrangements have been made.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL SPONSOR NEW PLAYS

"All Aboard" Directed By Paul Scholl

The play entitled "All Aboard" under the direction of Paul Scholl, and sponsored by the class in play production promises to be a most interesting as well as entertaining presentation. The cast for the play has been selected and coach Scholl announces the following parts to be played. A. L. Mattes, Peter, a negro porter; Alfred Breinig, Betty Brown, a young negress; Richard Kuntzelman, Eddie Wise, the Station master; Robert Stinson, P. P. Pierpont, president of the Now and Then Railroad. Marlin Herb, J. Phillip Sell, Luther Ziegler, and Samuel Kidd will play the parts of passengers.

The story of the play is this: The station master of the Now and Then Railroad Company is disturbed, even though his name is Eddie Wise. The new president of the road is coming on a tour of inspection and Wise has just lost his information clerk. The best he can get from the Useless Employment Agency is a professor who stutters. When the stutterer arrives Wise hustles him behind the desk and sets Peter, the porter, as a guard and also, to help him. The stuttering is hard on the seekers for information and is climaxed when, on account of it, a passenger misses his train. Then Wise gets a note from the agency saying the professor is ill and cannot come. He finds out the man he thought was the professor is the new president.

Last year the organization met with wonderful success notwithstanding the fact that it was the first time anything of this nature had been attempted at Muhlenberg. First place was taken in a competition of local organizations sponsored by the Civic Little Theatre of Allentown, and second place was won at Philadelphia in a state intercollegiate competition.

Victor Scrunian, a freshman at the University of North Carolina and a native of Persia, says that American girls are the prettiest he has ever seen. He attributed the American feminine beauty to athletics.

FRESHMAN ENTERTAINED AT A. T. O. SMOKER

The Rush Smoker of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity was held on Tuesday, October 20, in the fraternity home, Twenty-third and Chew Sts.

The speakers were Dr. R. C. Horn, Dean of the college, Oscar Bernheim, Treasurer of the College; Prof. Albert C. Fasig, head of the Department of Geology and William Ritter, Physical Education Director. Attorney James F. Henninger was the toastmaster.

The Committee in charge: Clifford Roehrig, Walter Brewer, Rudolph Scheidt, Samuel Shimer, Harry Saylor, Dick Baker and Lawrence Rupp, Jr.

Gems

In past years Muhlenberg College students came to know our honored President scarcely in any other way then by means of the Senior Ethics class. It always was, and still is considered a privilege on the part of Muhlenberg alumni to say that they too have sat under the tutelage of Dr. Haas. For this worthy educator, theologian, and philosopher has gained not only a national but also an international reputation.

But we are here congratulating the fact that the new chapel has given our highly esteemed President an opportunity to appear before the student body in an entirely new role. Never before has Dr. Haas had the occasion to discuss thoroughly the moral problems which confront the majority of college students.

The recent ten minute sermons on the Ten Commandments are gems. They are learned, concise, and to-the-point. These brilliant short talks, which touch a young man's "shaky spots," are certainly some of the very finest that Muhlenberg students have ever heard. Moreover, the attendance at these chapel services is extremely gratifying. If we continue to show our appreciation of Dr. Haas' efforts, the talks may not end with the Tenth Commandment. Request him to kindly discuss your problem,—whether it be fatalism, the inspiration of the Bible, or the divinity of Christ!

Would it be asking the "Weekly" too much to attempt to reprint these talks of Dr. Haas each week as nearly "word for word" as possible? Several of the students are quite adept in shorthand. Undoubtedly the majority of the students would prize a collection of these sermonettes, and certainly our ministerial alumni would thank the editorial staff many times for the printings.

—R. C. K.

"Study To Be Quiet"

As head of the Department of English Bible, the undersigned wishes to state that he does not agree with the speaker on College Day that men are inspired to-day in the same way as the writers of the Bible, who were led of God to write for a special purpose. Unitarians can agree that the Confucius, Emerson, Jesus and Jeremiah are on the same plane with respect to human intelligence, albeit one may have been "more inspired" in degree than another, but not in kind. The Bible is a complete and perfect revelation of salvation in Christ as our wisdom from on high, and no essential new word or sentence or idea necessary to salvation has been received or discovered since, although men led by the Spirit of God do come to see the revealed truth of the Scriptures in many new aspects. The speaker used a quotation from Izaak Walton's grave, "Study To Be Quiet" as an illustration of modern inspiration. This quotation is taken verbatim from the Bible, viz 1 Thess. 4:11.

—Robert R. Fritsch.

The entire staff of the Muhlenberg Weekly wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the alumni of Muhlenberg College who have so finely responded to the appeal for subscriptions to the Weekly. The response of the alumni clearly indicates that many of the graduates of the college are still actively interested in the doings of the college. The larger the group of this type of alumni the better advertised will be the college. Of course many of the alumni subscribe to the "Alumni Quarterly" who do not subscribe to the Weekly. However to those who have forwarded their subscriptions for the Muhlenberg Weekly we want to take this chance of saying THANK YOU and hope that through the pages of the Weekly you will be kept better informed of the doings of your Alma Mater.

There is a veritable gold mine waiting for some ambitious students in Muhlenberg College. The mine referred to is the Muhlenberg Weekly. There are many vacancies on the editorial staff for Freshmen and Sophomores. The training secured while working for a newspaper of the type of Muhlenberg Weekly is invaluable and will aid one in his future work.

Any student interested in working on the editorial staff will kindly hand his name to the Editor or to any of the Junior Associate Editors as soon as possible. There are particularly fine chances for Sophomore students as at present there are only three Sophomores out for the staff and there must be four Junior Associates appointed for next year. A little co-operation in this matter from the underclassmen will serve to greatly increase the efficiency of the Weekly.

The Dean of Boston University estimates that a college degree is worth $72,000. Several hard pressed alumni we are told, are seeking to have theirs cashed in.

At the University of Denver, six students were suspended for wearing bathing suits to class. While at the University of Florida, all unbeknownst to the Denverites, bathing suits are the correct attire for a number of courses. Life is like that.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

Of the four hundred and some odd students enrolled in this institution we believe there is one who outshines all the others in popularity. Have you ever met "Don"? Look him up some time. He's always in the foreground. Probably one of these days Mr. Bernheim will send his parents a bill for his long overdue tuition.

But Don has one privilege that few of us enjoy, he is evidently on the Dean's list as he seems to attend classes only when he feels inclined. He's been around long enough to become a post graduate, but in spite of that he attempted to take Prof. Zartman's course in A. B. physics the other day. He evidently lacked his card of admission, for the esteemed scientist ordered him from the room.

Well Don is a happy-go-lucky fellow and a peach of a pal. Worries and troubles aren't for him. He seems to have no use for the weaker sex. The economic depression doesn't phase him one bit. All in all we envy him.

Here's luck to Don—the collie dog who is at home at Twenty-third and Chew Streets.

Muhlenberg College had a distinguished visitor on Friday when Samuel W. McGinnis, a prominent Pittsburgh attorney and Arch Master of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity, paid a visit to the local campus. Mr. McGinnis was greatly impressed by the improvements made on the campus during the past few years. The Egner-Hartzell chapel drew great admiration from him.

Isn't it a bit peculiar that such a small percentage of Freshman class accepted bids to join fraternities. Figures available late Thursday evening showed that but twenty-eight percent of the new men had affiliated with social groups. The fraternities also seemed a bit more elective in that but fifty three percent of the class received bids. We can easily recall last year's rushing season when but six members of the class failed to receive bids.

And speaking of fraternities, in a few days some freshmen may get eye openers.

Are you reading the series of stories running in the Allentown Morning Call each Sunday morning entitled "The Story of a Great Institution, A History of Muhlenberg College"? They present an interesting and graphic account of the development of Muhlenberg college from the time of its birth as the Allentown Seminary until the present time. Old steel engravings are being used to illustrate them. Probably worth your while to clip them and have a complete record of your Alma Mater.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Well, unfortunately we have met the Bears and we are theirs. Even at that the team played a fine game and should be able to take Lehigh over the coals (or gridiron) without much trouble.

We take notice that one of the editorials this week advocates a verbatim report of the fine speeches of Dr. Haas in the "Weekly". Of course we realize that these speeches are very fine and instructive but nevertheless we feel that it would be unwise in view of the limited amount of space at our command to produce a verbatim report of these addresses each week.

Now that the rushing season is officially closed maybe (?) the Freshmen will get down to work. It seemed as if the close of the rushing season was a signal for all the professors to hold tea parties (otherwise known as examinations) this week. So far only five have been scheduled for ye editor, but even that number assumes enormous proportions when the amount of material to be covered is hunted up.

We still like the "Muhlenberg Mirrored" Column in the "Weekly" and have even heard some favorable comments (usually a lost art on the campus) concerning some of the dissertations which the writer makes on various subject. In fact we are more than well pleased with these articles because it often saves us the trouble of writing something along the same line.

Well, I notice that there are several interesting (?) books to be studied for these examinations so will see you at Lehigh.

Ursinus Bears Hand Mules 7-0 Setback In Close Game

Giltner Outstanding Star of Muhlenberg Team

URSINUS CONTINUES DRIVE FOR CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP.

On Saturday afternoon, at Collegeville, the Ursinus Bears clawed their way thru the ranks of the Muhlenberg Mules to win by a score of 7 to 0. The only touchdown of the day came near the end of the first quarter, after a forward pass from Soeder to Isett brought the ball eight yards from the 'Berg goal line. Miller, the Ursinus captain, crashed thru off tackle for the touchdown, and Soeder added the extra point by a placement.

The Muhlenberg line could do nothing against the husky, scrappy Ursinus forward wall. Giltner, Muhlenberg end, turned in a fine performance for the Cardinal and Grey squad, breaking up many forward passing attacks, and several times throwing the Ursinus ball toters for big losses. Miller, the Urinus half back, was easily the star of the game, while the passes of Soeder to Isett were responsible for many scoring threats. The Bears are as yet undefeated and well on their way towards another conference championship.

Muhlenberg, without the services of Rosenberg, Majercik, and Wavrek, never advanced very far into the Ursinus territory. A number of 'Berg rooters were present. The Muhlenberg band accompanied the team and received a great deal of favorable comment from the spectators for its snappy marching and music.

First Quarter

Muhlenberg won the toss, and chose to receive. Miller kicked to Evanosky who caught the ball on his 10-yard line and ran to the 25-yard line. A line plunge was tossed for a 1-yard loss. Evanosky punted out of bounds on the 50-yard line. Two plunges at the line failed to gain. A pass from Soeder to Miller gained 5 yards. A line plunge netted 4 yards. 'Berg received a 5-yard penalty. Lodge carried the ball over for a down. Matuska intercepted a forward pass and was dropped on his 18-yard line. Wilkinson was tossed for a 7-yard loss on an end run. Evanosky punted and Miller who received was downed on the 'Berg 30-yard line. A line plunge failed to gain. Two forwards were batted down. 'Berg was given the ball on downs on their 35-yard line. After two downs Wilkinson punted to the 50-yard line. Muhlenberg was given a 15-yard penalty. The Bears' ball on Muhlenberg's 36-yard line. Isett caught a forward and was downed on 'Berg's 8-yard line. Tropp went thru the line for 4 yards. Muhlenberg was given a penalty for offside, bringing the ball one foot from the 'Berg goal line. Miller went thru tackle for the touchdown. Soeder made the extra point by a kick. Score: Ursinus 7, Muhlenberg 0.

Weiner kicked to Lodge, who was dropped on his 35-yard line. Tropp crashed thru to the 50-yard line for a first down. Miller recovered a fumble and went around end for 5 yards. Miller was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Miller punted out of bounds on the 'Berg 25-yard line. Muhlenberg was given a 15-yard penalty. Wiener punted out on the 36-yard line. Miller was thrown for a 4-yard loss. Tropp was stopped at the line as the quarter ended. Score' Ursinus 7, Muhlenberg 0.

Second Quarter

Ursinus' ball on Muhlenberg's 40-yard line, third down and 12 yards to go. A long forward went wide. Miller punted over the goal line. Berg's ball on their 20-yard line. Wilkinson made 4 yards thru the line. Evanosky gained 3 yards thru tackle. Evanosky carried the ball over for a first down. A line plunge failed. Wilkinson was thrown for a 5-yard loss. Evanosky punted and the receiver was downed on his 43-yard line. A lateral pass fell from the receiver's hands. Giltner tossed Miller for a 9-yard loss. Miller punted out of bounds on the 'Berg 25-yard line. 'Berg punted to their 40-yard line. A line plunge was good for 5 yards. A pass was grounded. A jab at the line made 2 yards. A long pass over the goal line was grounded. 'Berg's ball on their 20-yard line. Evanosky went thru the line for 5 yards. Weiner made 3 yards. Evanosky went thru 2 yards for a first down. Wilkinson went around the end for 7 yards. Evanosky made 2 yards at guard. A jab at center netted 1 yard and a first down. A forward was batted down. Weiner made 3 yards at tackle. A forward was dropped and 'Berg was given a 5-yard penalty. Wiener punted to the Ursinus 42-yard line. A lateral pass was fumbled, but recovered—no gain. Tropp broke away and ran to the 'Berg 30-yard line where he was tossed out of bounds. Isett caught a forward on the 'Berg 16-yard line. A line plunge netted 6 yards. Isett caught a pass back of the goal line, but the ball was brought back and Ursinus given a 15-yard penalty. An attempted end run was stopped for a 1-yard loss. Miller caught a pass on the 'Berg 10-yard line, but he dopped the ball when tackled. A pass was grounded and 'Berg gained the ball on their 30-yard line. Evanosky was tossed for a 1-yard loss. A triple lost 6 yards. Carney threw a wide pass which was grounded. Lodge caught a punt and was downed on the 50-yard line. Giltner intercepted a pass and was dropped on his 40-yard line as the half ended.

Score: Ursinus 7, Muhlenberg 0.

Third Quarter

Evanosky received the kickoff and was dropped on his 25-yard line. A jab at the center of the line made 5 yards. Weiner tore thru to the 30-yard line for a first tdown. Weiner threw a wide pass which was grounded. Weiner was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Miller caught the 'Berg punt on his 40-yard line. Two jabs at the line made 2 yards. Miller punted to Weiner on his 25-yard line, and he advanced to his 40-yard line. Symons gained 2 yards at center. Weiner made 2 yards. Soeder intercepted a pass and was tackled on the 'Berg 45-yard line. A line plunge netted 3 yards. Miller twisted his way thru for 8 yards and a first down. 'Berg was given a 5-yard penalty. Two jabs at center made 4 yards. The 'Berg line braced and 'Berg gained the ball on downs on their 25-yard line. Ursinus was given a 5-yard penalty. Evanosky was tossed for a 1-yard loss. Weiner was stopped at the line. Evanosky punted, Ursinus fumbled and Carter recovered for 'Berg on 'Berg's 48-yard line. Weiner was stopped at the line of scrimmage. A bad pass from center, and Evanosky fumbled and recovered for a 10-yard loss. A second fumble gave a 6-yard loss. 'Berg punted to the Ursinus 25-yard line. Weiner caught a punt on his 25-yard line, and advanced to his 38-yard line. Evanosky went thru right tackle for 7 yards as the quarter ended. Score: Ursinus 7, Muhlenberg 0.

Fouth Quarter

Two line jabs advanced the ball 1 yard, and 'Berg punted to Miller who was dropped on his 27-yard line. Two stabs at the line made 5 yards. Weiner caught a punt and was dropped on his 30-yard line. A punt was downed on the Ursinus 26-yard line. A run around right end gained 3 yards. Tropp was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Weiner caught a punt and was dropped on his 35-yard line. Weiner made 3 yards at tackle. Weiner threw a pass into the hands of Tropp, the Ursinus half back, who was dropped on the 40-yard 'Berg line. A pass was grounded. An end run was good for 4 yards. Miller punted over the goal line. 'Berg's ball on their 20-yard line. Three line plunges carried the ball over for a first down. Evanosky caught a forward on the Ursinus 44-yard line. A long forward was grounded. Carney threw another wide pass which was grounded. Carney punted to the Ursinus 30-yard line. A jab at the line made 1 yard. Miller went thru for 6 yards. Weiner caught a punt and was tackled on his 30-yard line. A lateral pass made 8 yards. A pass was grounded, a triple pass was fumbled and Sommers recovered for Ursinus as the game ended.

Score: Urinus 7, Muhlenberg 0.

'BERG POINTING FOR ANNUAL LEHIGH GAME

Expect To Duplicate 24-0 Lacing Of Last Year

Coach George R. Holstrom's Mules are set for a repetition of their smashing victory of last season over Lehigh when they encounter their traditional rival again on Taylor Field, in Bethlehem this Saturday.

The high spot in Muhlenberg's football season last year was the humbling of their ancient foe by the overwhelming score of 24-0, the largest score 'Berg has ever piled up against any Lehigh team. Stan Carney's dash of forty-seven yards for a touchdown in returning a Lehigh punt was the feature of the Mules' victory. It started 'Berg on an offensive that sank Lehigh to a devastating defeat before five thousand fans.

Lehigh's record so far this season is anything but impressive. They have played five of their scheduled games so far, winning but one, while losing four. Lehigh has to its credit a win over Pennsylvania Military College, while numbered among their victors are John Hopkins, University of Pennsylvania, Brown, and Ursinus.

Muhlenberg's record against Lehigh since their football relations began in 1907 is as follows:

	Muhlenberg	Lehigh
1907	0	29
1912	3	7
1913	0	7
1914	0	27
1915	0	20
1916	0	9
1917	0	47
1918	0	54

SIGMA LAMBDA PI RUSH DANCE WELL ATTENDED

Saturday evening marked the occasion of the annual rush dance sponsored by the Gamma Chapter of the Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity in their home, Twenty-first and Gordon Sts.

Over thirty couples danced to the splendid musical program of the Rhythm Ramblers of Philadelphia.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Charles Cooper, Chairman; Albert Greenberg, and Leon Rosenberg.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. George Feldman.

BEREA

Berea College in Kentucky is probably the low-price leader in higher education. The tuition fees are never over one-hundred and forty-six dollars per annum, a room costs sixty-five cents a week, and meals are about eleven cents a piece.

REV. H. P. C. CRESSMAN ADDRESSES C.-Y. CLUB

Rev. H. P. C. Cressman, A. M., chaplain of Muhlenberg College was the speaker at the meeting of the C-Y Club last Tuesday evening, October 20, on the mezzanine floor of the library building.

Rev. Cressman, who is also the faculty advisor of the club, used as his topic "How Shall I Direct Desire", which is the first of a series of five discussions on problems which are facing the majority of college students.

Mr. Frederich Schlick was in charge of the devotional part of the meeting.

The time for the regular weekly meeting was changed from Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock to Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The new hour is to go into effect immediately.

Massa Hero Huneno, a native of Kumanoto City, Japan and a Junior at Muhlenberg College will address the club this week on "My Experiences As a Christian in Japan". Everyone is cordially invited to become affiliated with the club. Visitors are also welcome at any meeting.

An effective means of combatting "Athlete's Foot" has been instituted at Northwestern University. Troughs filled with "athlete's-foot-preventing" chemicals have been placed at the entrances to the swimming pools so that no one may enter or leave the pool room without stepping in them.

Who's Who on the Campus

Franklin "Dank" Giltner
Phi Epsilon

Here's a man of whom we all are proud. He hails from the coal regions where it is usually agreed, men are men. As an athlete "Dank" has few equals. For two years he has been a varsity end on the football team and at present seems to be handling this same position very capably. "Dank" also is a baseball player of no mean ability. For two years he has alternated between roaming the outfield and stopping the fast ones that get by the batter.

Another thing about "Dank" is that he is a fine student and takes an active interest in all school activities. Besides belonging to Kappa Phi Kappa, the honorary professional educational fraternity, he has been a member of Student Council for two years.

All in all "Dank" is an all around fellow and a friend worth having. His congenial personality has endeared him in the hearts of every Muhlenberg man and they together with his brothers of Phi Epsilon unite in wishing him success in his chosen field of teaching and coaching.

Although Yale locks are being used on the doors of the Harvard University buildings, a contract has been made with the manufacturers whereby the name "Yale" will not appear on any of the locks.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Harry Hesse Reichard gave an address on the life and works of Ulrich Zwingli at the Salem Reformed Church, on Sunday, October 18. Zwingli was the Founder of the Reformed Church, and this occasion marked the 400th anniersary of his death.

Reverend Robt. R. Fritsch conducted a Bible Study Class at Perkasie, on Thursday, October 22. Over a hundred people attended the class.

Beginning November 6, Reverend Fritsch will give a series of six Bible lectures on successive Friday evenings in Wilmington, Delaware. These lectures will be run under the auspices of the combined churches of Wilmington.

Dr. Fritsch is to be a speaker at the Founder's Day Services of the Long Swamp Lutheran Church on November 1.

Dr. Isaac M. Wright will conduct a Round Table Conference for the Supervising Principals of Delaware County, at Media, Pa., on Thursday, October 29.

It will be of interest to many students to know that Dr. Preston A. Barba has moved from Emaus into his new home in Allentown at 729 N. 24th Street.

Professor W. D. Coder gave a talk to the Fortnightly Club of Allentown at a meeting held at the Women's Club, 11th and Walnut Streets, on Wednesday, October 14. Mr. Coder spoke about the works of Eugene O'Neill. On Tuesday, November 10, in the afternoon, Mr. Coder will give another talk to the same group on the play "Barretts of Wimpole Street".

The Student Body offers Mr. Coder its sincere sympathy on the recent bereavement of his father.

A salary decrease amounting to 10 per cent has been accepted by the Ohio Wesleyan University faculty this year in order that the university may balance its budget.

On the eve of the Columbia-Dartmouth football game, a bonfire and pep rally at Columbia turned into a riot when the fire department arrived, reinforced by the police. Mobs of students engaged in the battle. Some stopped a movie by crashing into a theatre and tramping up and down the aisles. Other students, beleaguered in their dormitories by the police, poured down a veritable rain of water and missiles which lasted for an hour.

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness . . . smoothness . . . and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.

All right then . . . get this straight.

CHESTERFIELD pays top prices . . . yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.

The curing and conditioning is done by specialists . . . men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.

IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different . . . Instead of merely mixing the tobaccos together . . . we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder . . . and a more pleasing aroma.

Cigarette paper? Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.

PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance . . . free from heavy inks. It's moisture-proof, too.

And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—operating under the strictest sanitary standards—rush them fresh to you.

Good . . . they've got to be good. Because they're made that way. And most important of all . . . you can taste this goodness in the cigarette. You can tell it in the smoke.

Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield.

Let the cigarette do its own talking.

You'll get the whole thrilling story, in just two words . . . "They Satisfy"!

"Yes Sir—Mild yet they Satisfy"

"Weekly" Staff Men To Attend I. N. A.

Will Represent 'Berg At Annual Convention

Delegates from Muhlenberg College to represent the "Muhlenberg Weekly" at the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention, were selected by the staff Friday. The Convention will be held at Dickinson College November 6th and 7th. Donald B. Hoffman, Editor-in-chief of the Weekly and Robert W. Drach, Business Manager, will be the official representatives.

Extensive plans have been made by the officers of the I. N. A. and the staff of "The Dickinsonian" to make this convention a big success. Among the outstanding events will be the formal dinner, Saturday evening at which prominent leaders in the fields of journalism and advertising will address the delegates. Plans are also being made to have the delegates be the guests of Dickinson College at the Dickinson-Gettysburg football game, Saturday afternoon.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING ON OCT. 29TH

Settlement Made For Fence Burned At Lehigh Bonfire

The Student Council held its regular meeting on Thursday evening, October 29th at seven o'clock.

At the beginning of this year the Treasurer of the College at the order of the President paid a bill of forty dollars for a fence which was destroyed at the Lehigh bonfire. Treasurer Effron informed the Council that this bill was paid without the consent of the Student Body.

A motion was made by Mr. Effron granting permission for a Pagan-Minister game between the A. B. and the Ph.B., B.S. Juniors and Seniors. The scheduled date for this game was fixed at 1:30 P. M., directly before the F. and M. game on November 7.

At the suggestion of Mr. Effron a committee to decide upon the next Frosh-Soph fight was appointed. Various fights including a bag fight, a trouser fight, and a finish push ball fight were suggested. The committee, consisting of Chairman Latshaw and Messrs. Thiede and Effron will consider these suggestions and take action.

After a tentative date of February 5 for the Junior Prom had been approved, the meeting was adjourned.

Many Students Turn Out For Lehigh Smoker

Enthusiastic Procession Parades To Center Square

The Pep Smoker of Muhlenberg began on October 30, at 7:30 o'clock in the Science Auditorium, on the eve of another annual football struggle with Lehigh, amid wild enthusiam and a general feeling of optimism on the outcome of the Lehigh Valley gridiron classic of 1931. The players were given a wild ovation upon their entrance to the building. The band blazed away, playing like a house afire. Before things were quieted down to any extent, announcement was made of a prize fight for the evening. The gladiators for the evening's entertainment were Russ Keebler, and Fred Schlick, graduates of the Earle Liederman Correspondence Course in domestic science, judging from the manner in which they fought. Schlick was attired in tights and garters. The bell rang, and the 1st round was on, amidst wild prancing, tackling and diving. The 2nd round was much the same as the 1st and it was then that Don (the dog) entered the ring, to keep the fighters from falling asleep. The last round was featured by a wrest-

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS PRESENTS COMEDY AT READING

Will Offer Three Farces In Near Future

On Monday evening, October 26th before a gathering of Alumni at Reading the class in play production presented the play entitled "The Muhlenberg College Extension School Starts Americanization Classes in Reading."

The characters were as follows: School Director Müller, who is responsible for the class; John Gosztonyi; Alderman Hogan, who takes an active interest in the school and who attempts to examine the class which finally ends disastrously; Fred Blank, Mick de Bite, a tough character; Julius Kish, Issy Letosky, who is a firm believer in advertising his father's clothing business; Rudolph Koster, Gong Sing, who has transferred from the laundry business for the night; Hubert Bury, Herman Schwartzheimer, a native of Allentown who believes English to be a foreign language; Joseph Markle, Guido Capiro, an Italian banana seller, not a gangster, James Vaccaro.

The play was exceptionally well received by the alumni and encouraging comments were made by them upon the ability and promise shown by Joseph Markle, John Gosztonyi and Rudolph Koster. The play was coached by John Greenawald and the manner in which it was presented reflects hard and effective work on the part of all who had anything to do with it.

The present schedule of the players call for the presentation of three Freshman farces in the near future. One will be presented at Bethlehem, Friday, November 20th and in all probability, another will be given in Womelsdorf, at the Church of Rev. Miller. Present plans also call for one of the plays to be given before the student body sometime during the month of November.

A meeting of the Intercollegiate Dramatic Alliance, an organization formed by the Philadelphia Art Alliance, will be held Saturday, November 7th at which Prof. Coder will represent Muhlenberg. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the coming year. It will be remembered that last May this same organization sponsored a contest among the various colleges and universities in Pennsylvania in which Muhlenberg won second place.

Dr. Haas Reveals The True Meaning Of Family Ties

"Honor Thy Parents," Is Keynote Of Speech

Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College, in continuing his enlightening talks on the significance of the Ten Commandments and their application to life today delivered a very inspiring lecture on the fourth commandment on Thursday, October 29, during the chapel period.

Dr. Haas brought out in his lecture that it is rather odd no demand of affection or love of children toward their parents exists. This he attributed to the natural attitude of a child toward his parent as being that of love and affection and it is thus generally understood.

Discussing the relationhip of parent to offspring he stressed the importance of the word honor. "This word," he explained, "brings the family relationship to a high spiritual and moral plane. There is further attached the reward of happiness if one obeys this commandment. To honor implies obedience. Obedience is never hard to one who honors."

In regard to the attitude of the child to an erring parent, Dr. Haas urged that although home conditions may not be as they should, one should show respect to one's parent as one ought to do.

PHI SIGMA IOTA INITIATES THREE NEW MEMBERS

Morrison, Eisenhard, and Wolfe Honored By Fraternity

Lambda chapter of Phi Sigma Iota, national honorary Romance language fraternity initiated three juniors at Muhlenberg college into its ranks last evening at the home of Prof. Walter Seaman, 2223 Liberty Street.

Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere, professor of Romance languages at Muhlenberg and president of Lambda chapter, had charge of the ceremonies which admitted James Morrison, of Easton, Robert Eisenhard, of Windsor, N. Y., and Wilmer J. Wolf, of Allentown.

Lambda chapter was the eighteenth chapter of the national fraternity to be established. It was located on the Muhlenberg campus in 1928. Two other chapters have since been added to the roster of the organization. Membership may be obtained only by those men who have achieved a grade of B both in their romance language work and in their general academic course. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in the Romance languages.

Following the initiation ceremonies last evening, Miss Augusta Seaman, sister of Professor Seaman, served delicious refreshments.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA CONSIDERS NEW MEN

Members of Alpha Kappa Alpha assembled at the home of Professor Russell W. Stine on Wednesday evening, October 28th to continue their work in the field of philosophy.

Pursuing their work in the "Essentials of Philosophy" by Gamerts, Felder and Evans, the group held a lively discussion in which all members assembled took an active part.

In the course of the business meeting the names of new men were brought up and their relative merits in regard to possessing the necessary qualifications for membership discussed.

After business affairs had been arranged the members of the fraternity partook of very savory refreshments.

Dr. C. M. Jacobs Pres. Of Mt. Airy Vesper Speaker

Gives First of Series of Five Lectures on "Christian Evidences"

The first of a series of five lectures on "Christian Evidences" was given Sunday afternoon by Dr. C. M. Jacobs, President of the Mt. Airy Theological Seminary, in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel. The topic of the first address was "The Approach to Christianity".

Dr. Jacobs used as his main theme "What is Christianity". He based his remarks upon the idea that at the present time a defense of Christianity against attack is more necessary than an attempt to prove the truth of Christianity. Thus a true description and definition of Christianity will be its best defense.

The generations living to-day, the speaker said, are critical of everything of historical value, of all institutions, of doctrines, religion, politics, economics, philosophy, nothing is exempt everything is under their surveillance.

Another question which arises in the minds of the people is "How can we discover what Christianity actually is?" The answer to this question has split the church into two groups—Protestant and Catholic for over four hundred years. The Catholic group is content to have the question answered by an institution in which it has complete confidence. When the Church has spoken the case is terminated. However the Protestant group is unwilling to accept this attitude as they know too well the fallibility of human judgment and the mistakes of organizations. Thus the answer is sought in the Scriptures. Only where the Church and the Scirtures agree can any thing be called right. All else is error. The Protestant branch supports his claim with the backing of antiquity as the Old and New Testaments quite often parallel themselves.

However because of all these various attitudes, Dr. Jacobs added, we should adopt a different line of approach to the question rather than thru the Church or Scriptures. We must begin to remember that Christianity is not merely a thing of the past but is alive to-day as well.

By approaching the question in this manner we find that Christianity is alive. Certain marks as activity show this. It has been proved by what it does. The second great proof is that of continuity. For 1900 years it has been steadily spreading its influence in an ever widening circle. The line remains unbroken. Approximately sixty generations have come and gone since Jesus came but still the religion he founded moves onward.

This then should be the starting point of the definition of Christianity. There are three fundamental kinds of Christian activity—acting, thinking and feeling. These are all interwoven but must all point the same way towards God.

Christianity is a life, a long series of continuous activities of the heart, mind, soul and will of men. Dr. Jacobs concluded.

The chapel choir rendered a selection "Swedish Vesper Hymn" by Xander. Rev. Cressman and Rev. Stine were in charge of the opening and closing exercises. Dr. Haas read the Scripture passages.

The remaining four lectures in this series will be given on the following Friday mornings at 11 o'clock—Nov. 6, 13, 20, and Dec. 4th.

FACULTY NOTE

Prof. Joseph Jackson is working for his Doctor's Degree in History at the Univesrity of Pennsylvania. Starting next semester he will be attending weekly classes at the University under Dr. Cheyney, famous American historian.

Dr. Barba Continues His Lecture On European Trip

Visited Many Places Made Famous By English Authors

MANY INTERESTING OCCURRENCES OF HIKING TRIP RELATED TO STUDENTS

Dr. Barba, having returned from his eighteenth foreign tour, was prevailed upon to give his impressions of sights he saw, countries he visited, on October 29, in the Science Auditorium, during the regular Assembly period. He intimated that the trip this year was far less interesting than the others, for the reason that Europe is becoming more and more Americanized.

Dr. Barba sailed on the Bremen, June 14, at 12:01 o'clock, with a party of twelve Muhlenberg men. There were six meals a day (3 down and 3 up), movies, dancing, and many other modern conveniences and sources of pleasure on board one of the best known liners on the high seas. The trip was an uneventful and uninterrupted one, and the ship docked at Southampton, England. From there, by rail, the party continued on to Lemington, in southern England, where the Clarendon Hotel was utilized as a stopping place. The next day Stratford-on-Avon, the beautiful spot made famous as the birthplace of Wm. Shakespeare, was visited. The party returned to the Red Horse Inn at Stratford, where Washington Irving wrote and meditated. Thence to the red sandstone ruins of Kenilworth, the scene of Scott's work. As the next day was Sunday, services were attended at St. Mary's. A train was taken to London, and the distance of 92 miles was negotiated in 90 minutes. There, Westminster Abbey greeted them, and reincarnated for them such men as Wellington, Gladstone, Pitt, the Kings of England, Tennyson, Keats, Browning, Gray, Spencer, Newton, Darwin, and others of equal brilliance.

A short trip brought them to the tavern of Samuel Johnson fame. The English Channel was crossed, and the next destination was Holland. In Amsterdam, a diamond cutting plant was visited. The Carnegie Peace Palace at the Hague was another source of admiration. Fishing villages were passed though, and the Zuider Sea was crossed, and several small islands were visited. From here Paris was the next stop. The Follies Bergiere was a great attraction, as was the opera, Samson and Delilah, by St. Saens. The scene from the top of the Notre Dame Cathedral was a majestic one, overlooking the entire city. Versailles, the city where Louis XIV spent over $100,000,000, to erect the famous Palace of Versailles. The battlefields of the Marne, at Verdun were also objects of curious investigations. Then the path led onward to Strassburg, the ancient capitol of Alsace-Lorraine, which is now a French city. The mighty Rhine was crosed into Germany, where the old University of Freiburg was observed. The Church of St. Mark, a wonderful piece of architecture, divulged its secret beauties, once the doors were passed. From the Hotal Polmischer Kaiser, shoes were sent out to be hobnailed in preparation for hiking. This hiking jaunt took them through the Bavarian, Austrian, Italian and Swiss Alps. The party, of course, was attired in the habit of the mountain climber. Upon climbing a small peak, the Black Forest was visible below. From there, Lake Luzerne was the next scene of concentrated exploration. The sunrise from the Alps was a glowing sample of Nature's handiwork. Then, on through small villages, filled with the famous folklore of Wilhelm Tell and Schiller, his creator. At Interlachen, a performance of Wilhelm Tell was witnessed out in the open, during which a wild patriotism was exhibited. After further exploring the beauties of Interlachen, the party was left at that place until December 9th.

FRESHMAN DEBATE TEAM ORGANIZED AT 'BERG

Donald Hock, '32, Selected As Coach of Yearlings

As a fitting reward for his fine services rendered in behalf of the college, during the past three years, the Muhlenberg Administration has installed Mr. Donald V. Hock, of the class of 1932 as Coach of the Freshman Debate Squad, the first position of its kind to be filled on this campus.

Coming here from Catasauqua with four years of intense forensic and oratorical training, coupled with an agressive personality, Mr. Hock succeeded from the start in college debating activities.

Debating Coach, Arthur T. Gillespie, recognizing his ability placed him on the Varsity team, which incidentally won 6 out of 7 debates that year.

In his Sophomore year Mr. Hock was selected as the representative of the College in the Pennsylvania State Oratorical Contest. Vying with many prominent collegiate debaters he won the State Oratorical Contest and repŕesented the Keystone State in the Ypsilanti, Michigan finals where he emerged second in rank thus achieving Inter-state recognition.

As captain of the debate team in his Junior year Mr. Hock led the squad through a very successful season, as a consequence of which he was again elected to the position of captain for his Senior year. It was in his Junior year, that Mr. Hock in competition with outstanding men at Muhlenberg won first prize in the Junior Oratorical Contest.

PRE-MEDICAL GROUP OFFICIALLY ORGANIZED

Richard Thiede, '32, Elected President of New Campus Club

Under the leadership of Dr. John V. Shankweiler a medical club has been organized on Muhlenberg's campus.

The first official meeting of this club took place on Thursday evening in the Science Building. The first step toward organization was the selection of officers which resulted in the election of Richard Thiede, president; Charles Sell, vice president; J. Woodrow Savacool, secretary and Leroi Moyer, treasurer.

A committee to form a constitution was appointed by Mr. Thiede. Dr. Shankweiler was appointed chairman and Messrs. Sell, Hausman, Minner, Schmoyer and Heller were appointed to assist him.

The second and fourth Thursday of each month were designated as meeting nights.

The following men are charter members of the club:

Dr. Shankweiler, faculty member, and Messrs. Saul, Savacool, Sell, Thiede, Heinzleman, Schlotter, Rocheu, Dilcher, Albright, Pankovitz, Sterritt, Moyer, Schmoyer, Helms, Reinhard, Heller, Shack, Foster, Miner, Hacker, Baer, Underwood, Turtzo, Tartarsky, Hausman, Kunkle, Kilpatrick, Goll.

Professor Stephen G. Simpson addressed the Woman's Club of Bethlehem at their clubhouse on the corner of Center and Market Streets. He gave a review of "Hatter's Castle," by A. J. Cronin.

ling match. (Dissociated Press), score sheet gave the first round in favor of the referee, the 2nd in favor of the audience and the 3rd was thrown out because both combatants were on the floor for a count of 35 (counted by scorer).

George Holstrom, head coach, and Bill Springsteen, his first lieutenant entered, upon which the band and students collaborated in producing Rush, Rush On Down the Field.

The Mule was also cheered when it made its appearance.

Coach Holstrom was introduced, and the general attitude displayed by him was one of confidence in his boys to come thru. A double whip followed. George then introduced Bill Springsteen, who spoke of his days as a football player, when he played for Lehigh against the Mules. He was utterly sincere in wishing his boys victory on the morrow.

Following this, the Mule went into a Strange Interlude.

After a '32 yell, Coach Holstrom introduced Carney, Giltner, Bortel, Palladino, as seniors with their last opportunity of playing and beating Lehigh. A double whip followed for each. Then the whole team made its appearance on the stage amid a demonstration on the part of the students, never before heard at 'Berg, in such a vociferous manner.

And then came the pretzels and apples. Afterward, everyone paraded downtown to the square, where the enthusiasm got an airing.

November 1st is the last day Juniata College, students will be allowed to sleep in the library. After that date any student caught "napping" will receive a sleeping slip designed especially for the purpose.

Rushing is referred to as frosh-baiting contest at Northwestern University.

Haverford College students will be permitted to ice skate on Sundays again this year.

At Denver, freshmen are dragged from the stand if they bring dates to football games.

An unusually large number of women featured the annual McPherson college nightshirt parade this year. The parade disbanded after it had jammed traffic several times and then crashed the doors of a local theatre.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Isaac M. Wright will discuss the preparation of teachers from the viewpoint of the professor of education at a meeting of the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Pennsylvania for the Advancement of Teaching on November 6.

Reverend Robert R. Fritsch spoke last week about the various phases of Church work at an open meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of Freedmansville. The talk was sponsored by the Reverend Titus Druckenmiller, pastor of the church.

Beginning Tuesday, Nov. 3, Dr. Fritsch will deliver a series of lectures on the International Sunday School lessons at the Y. M. C. A. of Allentown.

Reverend Russell Stine will speak before the congregation of St. Joseph Lutheran Church of which Reverend Fritsch is pastor, on Wednesday, November 4th.

Professors Coder and Fasig and Coach Holstrom attended a meeting of Berks County Alumni Association in Reading, October 26. Coach Holstrom, the principal speaker of the evening used as his topic "Athletics". Professor Coder gave an outline of the development of Drama at modern colleges. Professor Fasig emphasized in his speech the necessity of becoming a member of the Alumni Association in order to vote for the Alumni representative on the Board of Trutees.

SOPH-FROSH GAME RESULTS IN O - O SCORE

More Contests Required To Determine Winners

The last of three scheduled contests to determine the status of the Ad Building steps resulted in a scoreless tie.

The contest had been postponed three times before it finally took place on Monday afternoon.

The game itself was a continuous series of line plunges and incomplete forward passes. The sophomores had a decided advantage throughout the entire contest, scoring nine first downs to four for the yearlings. It seemed, however, that the sophomores were unable to muster sufficient strength to crack the freshman line. Twice during the game Bianca got away for thirty yards and each time the air was filled with shouts of fury and glee from the assembled multitudes. The runs, however, were wasted energy inasmuch as the ball was twice returned for penalties. The officials, Bortel, Seldon and Majercik were highly courageous and were entirely unaware of the thoughts of murder which were developing in sophomore hearts.

The lineup of "The Battle of the Century" follows:

Sophomores		Freshmen
Rupp	L.E.	Doolin
King	L.T.	Miles
Straub	L.G.	Milton
Miller	C.	Henshaw
Detweiler	R.G.	A. H. Smith
Foster	R.T.	A. E. Smith
Dillinger	R.E.	Marquet
L. Smith	Q.B.	Saul
Webster	L.H.	Blank
Shack	R.H.	Sontag
Bianca	F.B.	Wieder

Substitutions: Sophomores—Abbot for Shack, Kessler for Rupp, Michael for Detweiler.

Officials: Seldon, '33; Referee, Bortel, '32 Umpire; Majercik, '32, Head Linesman.

Attendance, 500.

PAGAN-MINISTER GAME NOVEMBER 7TH

Will Be Played Prior To F. and M. Contest

At 1:30 on Saturday, November 7, immediately previous to the F. and M. game the A. B. juniors and seniors will attempt to defeat the Ph.B. and B.S. juniors and seniors in a battle of the pigskin.

Coach Holstrom will supply uniforms for the gladiators, and it is possible that "Haps" Benfer and Dr. Wright will officiate with the assistance of "Whitey" Marzoff as head linesman.

'BERG WILL ATTEMPT TO WIN OVER F. AND M.

Muhlenberg and Franklin and Marshall will clash in their annual pigskin classic next Saturday on the local gridiron and it will be marked by the determination of the Mules to regain some of the prestige lost during the past two seasons.

Coach Holstrom's boys have not been victorious over F. and M. in the last two years, although they held the Possums to a scorless tie before five thousand fans in last season's encounter at Williamson Field in Lancaster.

Last year both teams were within scoring distance, but lost the chance for a touchdown through fumbles, intercepted passes, and failure to make placement kicks count.

Both F. and M. and Muhlenberg have bowed to Ursinus this year in the latter's drive to regain the conference championship. Muhlenberg was unable to advance very far into Ursinus territory but the Possums, from Lancaster, pushed over a touchdown and barely bowed to Ursinus by the score of 7 to 6. When the game ended F. and M. was in the shadow of the Ursinus goal posts ready to push over another touchdown.

The Ursinus Bears consider themselves very lucky to have been successful in defeating the F. and M. eleven. The opinion at Collegeville ranks Franklin and Marshall one of the toughest elevens in the conference.

Although Muhlenberg has only been defeated once by an F. and M. aggregation in the history of their football relations, this defeat coming in 1929, it was followed in 1930 by a scoreless tie. This year's game ought to be especially interesting as the Mules are set upon an attempted comeback.

F. and M.'s record so far this season is fairly good. They have played five of their scheduled games, winning 3 and losing 2. The Possums have to their credit victories over St. Joseph's, Swarthmore, and Geneva, while they have bowed in defeat to Ursinus, University of Pennsylvania.

Muhlenberg's record against Franklin and Marshall for the past several years is as follows:

	Muhlenberg	F. & M.
1928	8	0

Brown And White Overwhelms Cardinal And Grey 33-0

Lehigh Gains Revenge For 24-0 Lacing of Last Year

GILTNER, CARTER AND MATUSKA MAINSTAYS OF 'BERG TEAM

Last Saturday afternoon the Lehigh gridmen ran wild against the puny opposition afforded by Coach Holstrom's Muhlenberg Mules in piling up a 33-0 score, the largest margin of victory that the Brown and White squad has gained over the 'Bergmen in the past ten years.

The persistent line smashes by Ware, Short, and Halsted broke down the resistance of the Cardinal and Grey forward wall so that the Bethlehemites ran up a total of 20 points in the final quarter. Muhlenberg, except for two successive first downs from forward passes in the last period, never threatened to score, and the ball was constantly in their territory.

The crowd of well over eight thousand spectators who lined the stadium expecting a close, exciting game was amazed by the new born power of the Tate machine in contrast to the lethargic performance of the 'Bergmen.

A cleverly executed triple passing play was a big item in the Lehigh offensive drive. Numerous punting duels always resulted in a big advantage for the Lehigh eleven. Muhlenberg gained only three first downs in comparison to thirteen for their opponents.

Giltner, Carter and Matuska played a fine defensive game for 'Berg. Coach Tate's machine, entering the game as the underdog on the basis of early season performance, avenged last season's defeat in a great big way. The Bethlemites added the final touch of ignominy when they sent in an entire team of substitutes late in the final period.

The Cardinal and Grey squad traveled over to Lehigh full of confidence in their ability to conquer the team which had acted as a doormat for its opponents almost all season, and could not adjust themselves to the sparkling performance of their revamped rivals. The game left a dark brown taste in the mouths of the 'Berg rooters.

The Muhlenberg band and a large number of local supporters made the trip to Bethlehem.

First Quarter

Muhlenberg won the toss and elected to receive. Suvalsky kicked to Winkinson who was downed on his 15-yard line. A line plunge failed, and Klotz kicked out of bounds on his 46-yard line. Who's Who on the Campus

"Polly" Palladino
Delta Theta

"Polly" is a well known figure about the campus. None who know him fail to value his acquaintance and few are they who don't know him. Hailing from Allentown high school where he is rated one of the best quarterbacks ever developed at that institution "Polly" upon his entrance into Muhlenberg quickly set about to make a name for himself in the realm of sport. For two years he has played varsity football and baseball and this year, his last, he was elected to the presidency of the varsity "M" Club. "Polly" is a man who puts every ounce of energy into whatever he undertakes. Besides being an athlete, he is an active man in all campus activities and can be counted upon to do his share in any undertaking. The men of Delta Theta are proud to call "Polly" one of their brothers and they, as well as every Muhlenberg man feel certain that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HERE'S ONE FACT proved beyond a doubt! More and more telephone calls from campus to home are being made each month.

The reason's not hard to find!

Try it yourself, just once! Call up Mother and Dad. You'll not forget the thrill of hearing their voices . . . nor their joy in hearing from you in person. Small wonder if you come back for more . . . regularly, each week!

"Voice visits" with home, you'll soon discover, are next best to being there. They cost so little and give so much. That's the reason for their popularity.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Three mighty good reasons!

"TASTE BETTER"—you'll like as many as you smoke! That's what more smokers are learning every day. Not over-sweetened, but just sweet enough for constant enjoyment. The mild, rich flavor of the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos.

"THEY SATISFY"—in every way! The tobacco, the paper, the package... everything about Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about!

GOOD...they've got to be good!

Dr. Jacobs Delivers Second Lecture In College Chapel

Addresses Made Possible By Rhoerig Foundation

CHRISTIANITY AND GOD HIS SUBJECT

The chapel service on Friday morning, November 6, 1931, was again in charge of Dr. C. M. Jacobs, president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, who, in his second lecture of the Religious Foundation series, discussed "Christianity and God."

Dr. Jacobs emphasized the fact that Christianity is a life—a continuous activity of all the elements of life woven together and that the studies henceforth would consist of the more important aspects of that life.

"For centuries," said Dr. Jacobs, "a deep conviction of the reality of God has underlain Christianity. The chief characteristic of Jesus was a vivid consciousness of God—an overpowering conviction for anyone less than Jesus. The same has been true in a different and minor degree of all Christian teachers, preachers, workers, children, and others."

"Christianity is a life in relation to God and it differs from all other ways of thinking at this point. If scientists who deal with phenomena etc., prefer to be Christians they must relate life to God or their science is incomplete."

The educator brought out that, "all social teachings of Christianity relate to the Christian idea of God and a true conception of society must have a true conception of God under it, in it, and through it. Christianity is a way of acting toward God—a Christian's duty becomes duty to God. Christians have not always thought alike in regards to God's demands—therefore, Christianity is a way of thinking of God. Also, Christianity is a way of feeling God—the worshiper forgets himself and is raised above ordinary life; his soul is in contact with the ultimate source of all being. Accordingly: from whichever side you approach Christianity actions, thoughts or emotions—it is a relation to God."

"And thus," Dr. Jacobs continued, "since Christianity is life in relation to God, we are naturally led to three questions: 1. What kind of life? 2. What kind of relation? 3. What kind of God?"

He chose to discuss the latter question and explained that Jesus' only argument for the existence of God was a moral argument—he assumed that people believed. There has been a diversity of opinions of God, but none of the ways of thinking of God through science or philosophy is the Christian way.

God, to Jesus, was no ultimate abstraction but was as close to him as a father to his child. He is a Holy Father with no imperfections, a Supreme Father who will not be thwarted or defied. God's life is a perpetual giving of Himself and we feel that we owe Him love and obedience even if he is at a distance.

Dr. Jacobs concluded with the statement that, "when men cease to trust their Heavenly Father and when they no longer aspire to reach goodness, Christianity will be dead. Let us all, therefore, live the Jesus' way of life and eventually live forever."

Dr. Jacobs' next lecture will be given on Friday of this week and will be entitled "Christianity and Christ."

Dr. Haas Speaks On Fifth Commandment

Discussion Interestingly Presented

The fifth commandment as a commandment and its relation to modern life was very vigorously and interestingly discussed by Dr. John A. W. Haas in the chapel session on Wednesday, November 4th.

"The fifth commandment 'Thou shalt not kill'," does not only refer to the killing the body," said Dr. Haas, "but it refers to the destruction of the life of the mind, the moral aspirations, and the personality as well, when life is destroyed.

Continuing, he attributed the increase of crime to being an aftermath of the war. He very carefully distinguished between righteous indignation and anger, and showed that murder in the hearts is as important as the act.

"War," in the opinion of Dr. Haas, "is murder! All war is based on lying whereby nations are made to hate one another." It was in discussion of the war that the President made the striking statement, "There is no war that could not have been avoided!"

Suicide and its effects were attacked by the Dr. while admitting that suicide may happen in some cases of mental derangement, he averred that most suicides can be attributed to cowardice in facing the issues of life. "To commit suicide is the act of a coward. It is not only an act of cowardice, he vigorously declared, "but it is a flaunt in the face of God!"

Turning from the negative side of the commandment, Dr. Haas turned toward the positive side. He showed that it was the duty of man to help his fellow man in time of distress and urged cooperation by everybody and concluded that with the statement that everybody should assist in any worthwhile movements.

JAPANESE STUDENT SPEAKS TO C-Y CLUB

A tale of the frightful religious persecution he encountered during his school career was the main subject of Massa Hero Huneno's talk before the C-Y Club last Wednesday evening on "My Experiences As a Christian in Japan." Huneno and Tadao Kai, '31 came from the same city in Japan—Kumanoto City.

The speaker told how at his birth the Christians of that section were persecuted by the other Japanese. He vividly described the most bitter years of his life which were spent in the public school of Kumanoto City. From this public school Huneno told of his passing the required examinations and entering the Kyushu Gakium—a Lutheran school in Japan. The speaker said that he spent five happy years at this school, years full of learning and pleasure.

Continuing, Huneno, told of passing from this school to the Aoyama College at Tokyo, where he majored in English and graduated with honors. Feeling the urge for more education, the speaker told of leaving the shores of his home land and coming to America. Here he entered Oberlin College in Ohio and spent his first year at that institution. From there he came further east and entered Columbia University where he majored in Anglo-Saxon in an effort to better learn and understand the English language.

It was upon the recommendation of Tadao Kai that the speaker finally decided to finish the remaining two years for his A. B. degree at Muhlenberg College.

Mr. H. Bowers Grove was in charge of the devotional service.

The next meeting of the club will be on Wednesday evening, November 11, at 6:30 o'clock in the mezzanine floor of the Library Building.

Waldo Heinrichs Speaker In Chapel

Presents Complete Survey Of Jerusalem

A distinguished aviator with an enviable war record and several crosses of valor, an inmate of 26 hospitals and the scheduled secretary of the new $1,000,000 Y. M. C. A. building in the Holy City Jerusalem. Such is the record of Mr. Waldo Heinrichs who addressed Muhlenberg students in the chapel period on Monday, November 2.

Showing an intimate knowledge of history Mr. Heinrichs gave a very complete survey of Jerusalem from 1400 B. C. to the present day. He traced its development from the time even before David had conquered it through its conquest under Nebuchadnezzer and later Alexander finally winding up with its life under Rome, the Turks and Arabs unto the conquering of it by General Lord Allenby in 1917. In connection with its conquest in 1917 Mr. Heinrichs showed the homage and respect paid to it by Lord Allenby when he walked on foot through the gates of Jerusalem, not as a conqueror but as a pilgrim.

After giving the survey, Mr. Heinrichs explained in detail the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. building in Jerusalem. The building will include a gymnasium, auditorium and administration which will be symbolic of the Trinity. The purpose of the building, incidentally, will be to challenge the ideals of peace and will be a symbol of love toward men. It will have many rooms devoted to the portrayal of Biblical life and it will include a tower in which is enclosed a carillon of 35 bells.

A very definite example of peaceful methods employed in the world today was given by the speaker who referred to that dynamic emaciated figure of a man, Gandhi, who controls the destiny of 330 million souls. The speaker told of Gandhi's carrying only two pictures, one of Christ on the cross and one of Christ washing his disciples' feet. Mr. Heinrichs also gave many more details revelant to the life of Gandhi and he concluded with the offering of the torch of friendship as offered by Colonel John McCrea in his famous War selection "Flander's Fields."

Hard Times Dance To Be Held Nov. 20

A "Hard Times Dance" will be sponsored by the College authorities on November 20th in the Library. The purpose of this dance is to raise money for Muhlenberg's contribution for aid of some unfortunate families in Allentown. The dance will run from 9 to 1.

C. Steve Fischer and his "Muhlenberg Collegians" will furnish the music for the dance and are donating their services. The price of admission will be fifty cents per couple.

This dance will be the forerunner of several other student dances in the social hall of the Library and a good turnout is asked by the Administration to make this dance a big success.

PRE-MED SOCIETY TO HOLD MEETING

Dr. Shankweiler, faculty member of the recently founded pre-medical organization, will deliver the first of a series of lectures on the subject of "Heredity" at the next meeting of the society to be held Thursday, November 12th.

Besides the address by Dr. Shankweiler a round-table discussion will be held, led by Dr. Clyde Kelchner, an alumnus of Muhlenberg and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School and now a practicing physician in this city.

The main business of the organization will be to adopt a constitution which has been drawn up by the officers acting as a committee.

Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention Held At Dickinson College

'BERG REPRESENTED BY HOFFMAN AND DRACH

Secure Positions on Important I. N. A. Committees

Muhlenberg College was given a distinct honor at the recent Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention held at Dickinson College, November 6th and 7th.

Donald B. Hoffman, Editor-in-chief of the "Muhlenberg Weekly" was appointed chairman of the important Faculty Relations Committee. In addition he was appointed a member of the Extension Committee, which committee must pass on all applications for membership in the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association before each convention. Robert W. Drach, Business Manager of the Weekly represented the business department at this convention.

The convention opened Friday afternoon at two o'clock. A welcome address was made by Miss Esther F. Chambers, Editor of "The Dickinsonian". Pres. R. B. Counsellor, also welcomed the delegates.

One of the features of the convention was the address by Mr. Morton S. Rutsky representing the Collegiate Special Advertising Agency. Mr. Rutsky traced the development of advertising in the college field and gave many excellent pointers as to making a college paper a better medium of advertising.

After the standing committees had given their reports the afternoon session of the convention adjourned.

The evening session was opened with an address by Mr. John R. Hood, Director of the Bureau of Publications, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Mr. Hood, a former Associated Press reported gave many interesting side lights on correct reporting for a newspaper.

Following his address the Editorial members held a conference on special problems while the Business members met in another conference room and discussed ways and means of making a college newspaper a financial success.

A smoker at the Sigma Chi fraternity house brought festivities for the evening to a close.

The Saturday morning meeting was given over entirely to a business session.

The delegates to the convention were the guests of Dickinson College at the traditional Dickinson-Gettysburg football game. This game ended in a 0-0 tie, much to the disappointment of many old grads of Dickinson who had returned for "Home Coming Day."

A formal banquet in the Molly Pitcher Hotel marked the grand finale of this convention. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Fred Fuller Shedd, Editor of the Philadelphia

Phi Alpha Theta In First Meeting Of School Year Monday

Elect Delegate To Biennial Convention

Kappa Chapter, of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary History fraternity, held its first meeting of the school year at the Alpha Tau Omega house, Monday evening. Mr. Howard Kaiser, president, presided.

The most important business to be discussed at this meeting was the election of a delegate to the bi-ennial convention of Phi Alpha Theta, to be held on November 27th and 28th at Denison University, Granville, Ohio. Mr. Donald B. Hoffman, vice-president of the local chapter, was elected as the official delegate to this convention.

Several new members were proposed and the matter referred to the scholarship committee. Requirements for membership are a "B plus" average in at least 12 hours of history and a "B" average in two thirds of the remaining subjects of the students' curriculum.

Officers of the local chapter are: Howard Kaiser, President; Donald B. Hoffman, Vice-president; and Alan Hawman, Secretary and Treasurer. Faculty members are Dr. Henry Mueller, Dr. J. Edgar Swain and Prof. Joseph Jackson.

M. B. A. HOLDS MEETING AND ELECTS OFFICERS FOR THIS SEMESTER

A reorganization meeting of the Muhlenberg Business Association was held on Thursday, November 5, at 4:15 P. M. in the Administration Building. The matter of officers for the first semester was taken up. The result: President, Raymond M. Munsch; Vice President, Morris Efron; Secretary, Robert W. Drach; Treasurer, Howard F. Kaiser.

In the absence of Mr. Munsch, Mr. Efron presented a resume of the program for the ensuing collegiate year. The program promises to be of great interest to the members, including several prominent men who will make their appearance before the Association, discussing matters of vital importance in the business world of today. The meetings are to be held once a month at the various fraternity houses on the campus.

Any men, Juniors or Seniors taking work under Dr. Bowman or Mr. Hartman, desirous of affiliating with this progressive organization, will please hand their names to any of the officers. Social life, as well as educational, will be on the program, and a highly successful season is anticipated by the association.

Prof. Bowman, Faculty Advisor and Mr. Hartman, Instructor in Business Administration are heartily behind the movement. They will extend their influence to assure most interesting and entertaining meetings for the group.

Those present at the first meeting included Messrs. J. H. Miller, Wilker, Henry, Greenberg, Efron, Kaiser, Fairclough, Seigel, Drach, Prof. Bowman and Mr. Hartman. Other members are Messrs. Munsch, Quick, Wescoe, Boone, Carpenter and Greenawalt.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

The stadium at the University of Arizona has classrooms located under the bleachers. Here also are the museum and Little Theatre.

Several Harvard students who had personally invited Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton to the college were threatened with expulsion if their names were used in connection with the evangelist. Such is life.

DONALD V. MANCKE PLEDGES T. K. A.

Mr. Donald B. Mancke, '32, a member of the varsity debate team for the past two years was pledged to Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debate-fraternity on Thursday, November 5th.

Mr. Mancke was the Muhlenberg entrant into the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest last year and won first place in the state contest. In the All-Eastern Contest at Centre College, Danville, Ky., he placed third. In addition to his oratorical feats he has been a member of the varsity debate squad for the last two years and has aided greatly in the gaining of the fine record of the Muhlenberg teams.

Officers of the fraternity are Kenneth H. Koch, Persident and Donald B. Hoffman, Secretary-Treasurer.

A Little Support!

Through the hard work of Mr. Harry Benfer, the Muhlenberg Recreation Hall has been completely renovated. This place is practically the only place for the non-fraternity and town students to spend their leisure time.

In the past the condition in which the students have left the Hall has been anything but satisfactory. An appeal is being made by the Administration to aid in keeping the "Rec" Hall in fine condition. In line with this appeal a director of the Hall will be appointed to have charge of the rooms.

All the students using the "Rec" Hall are urged to keep the rooms in good condition. A little bit of co-operation by the students in this matter will lead to still better conditions in the future.

After a survey of the large number of students posted at the first marking period it would seem as if a little more application on the part of most of the students is necessary.

About one-third of the first semester is over. There is still plenty of time to make up the material missed and to pull up the low grades. In some cases a great deal of studying will be necessary if certain students wish to remain in school.

The high scholastic standing of Muhlenberg has been made by the record of former students. In order to keep this record the present students must do their part if they wish their Alma Mater to keep her extraordinarily high ranking. By so doing the student will not only aid the college, but will benefit greatly himself. Think it over.

For the first time for several years Muhlenberg is making a concentrated drive to secure a fund for the relief of the needy. Under the auspices of the Administration a "Hard times Dance" will be held, the entire proceeds of which will go towards this fund.

It is hoped that the students will respond to the plea of the Administration for support in this affair. Many of the students are themselves receiving aid from the college. Surely they should be willing and ready to help aid some other people in a less fortunate position.

If the college fails in this undertaking a great deal of the splendid reputation which Muhlenberg has made for itself in Allentown and other places will be lost.

If the college succeeds the students will have the satisfaction of knowing that their Alma Mater came through with aid when aid was needed.

There is nothing which can give one as much pleasure as the knowledge of a deed well done.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Just another lacing but even at that we scored 13 points. Better luck against Gettysburg.

Another convention over, a good time had by all and an empty pocketbook. Oh well, such is life.

Did you see the long list of Seniors posted in one subject? Confidentially speaking, the Dean just wanted to know if they were still in college and so called them into his office for a little conference. We enjoyed it at that. So did the rest (?).

The first of a group of student body dances will be held on the 20th. Everybody out and let's support this dance. More to follow if this one is a success.

Pretty soon the college formals will be coming along. Better start saving money for them now. If we don't we may not get there.

The football season is drawing to a close (some had better) and in many places basketball practice has already started.

At that rate we ought to begin to study for the mid-year exams.

You know it's funny how interesting some of the text books really are after you get past the first page.

Some books have never been opened as far as the first page by the looks of some in my locker. (Most of these were borrowed from professors for research work. They were recommended highly.)

We wondered why everybody was coming around in their Sunday clothes. Reason—Ciarla pictures were being taken this week.

In The Mail Box

This poem deals with the nonchalant manner in which civilization slowly pervades our last places of resort in which to enjoy the pleasures of Mother Nature, and is vindicative concerning this slow death of beauty.

ROBINHOOD

Oh Robinhood,
You alone remain unscarred
By the far-reaching roads of man,
You alone are unperturbed
At your slowly diminishing beauty,
You alone scoff
At your slowly receding pastures,
Soon 'twill be over and time will have claimed
Another treasure of Nature's many;
And when will be seen again the hills,
The trees, the birds, the babbling brook,
All gone forever.
Ah! Yes, the brook remains,
But it's language is not the same,
It has lost its happy laughter,
And no more flows with a carefree abandon,
And even the fish swimming by,
In their sweatless garb of many colors,
Note the change and exclaim,
"Man has come and wrought the change;
No more do the willows o'erhang its low banks,
In their stead are gasoline stations;
No more do the tall trees offer cool, green protection,
In their stead are the cement, Man-built roads
That cover the foot trails dear to mem'ry;
No more does the fisher cast in quiet,
The silence is broken by "Hot dogs and ice cream";
No more can the lovers plight troth at the bridge,
Over which there rides an unsightly trolley";
And the birds will twiter—
"Where is the path that winded and wove
Among the beeches, the sumach, and birch,
Whose foliage descended as the way gently dipped,
And suddenly dropped to the road below?"
Out of the air came the shriek of a train,
Overhead came the buzz of a Man-made bird,
In the distance arise the mighty stacks,
Competing above with Man-made structures.
Oh where are the thistles that once drew the claret,
Would they again might tear my flesh
As I went in quest of red berries and black,
And where are the oaks, the sturdy oaks,
That embraced me with their leafy arms,
No more do the locusts whirr in the tree tops,
Instead they whirr on telegraph poles;
No longer does the oder of peppermint come,
Slowly wafted on by a cooling breeze;
In its stead comes the stink of garbage;
No longer are hills dotted with cows and sheep,
In their stead ride the Man-made Fords;
And where shall the butterflies flitter about,
And where the beetles, the bob-white, the bee?
What a great calamity!

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. J. A. W. Haas gave an address concerning world affairs at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Bangor, Friday, November 6.

On Wednesday evening of this week Dr. Haas will speak on the subject, "The Necessity for Peace" at a Peace Meeting of the local Y. M. C. A.

Dean Robert C. Horn illustrated the most efficient methods of conducting and teaching adult Bible classes at a convention of the Sunday Schools of the Allentown Conference, Thursday, November 5. Dean Horn is well qualified for this work because of his years of experience as Sunday School Superintendent of Christ Lutheran Church of Allentown. Prior to this position, Dr. Horn held the same office at the Trinity Church of Catasauqua.

Professor George H. Brandes had charge of the Senior Department Conference at the above-mentioned meeting.

Professor Harold K. Marks led the music hour and spoke on "The English Hymn Tune."

At Barnard College, it is a freshman offense to show an anxious desire to laugh at faculty jokes. We always thought it was.

Majercik and Horine Save Muhlenberg Team From Shutout With Splendid Play

Nevonians With Diversified Attack Overwhelm Mules

Last Saturday afternoon a powerful, smooth working Franklin and Marshall eleven overwhelmed the battered forces of Muhlenberg by the score of 40 to 13 on the local field before a crowd which included many of the Alumni of both schools who came to see this traditional game.

The star of the game was Britton, the burly 200 pound visiting fullback, who made three touchdowns, reeled off long runs thru the line, and made a sensational sixty-yard end run for a touchdown at the opening of the third quarter. Passel, Horst, and Saltzman gave him perfect suport, while the hard-charging Nevonian line tore wide holes in the Muhlenberg forward wall.

Horine, Majercik and Wavrek played a nice game for Muhlenberg but the Lancaster squad completely outplayed the Cardinal and Grey from start to finish, except for the brief spurts in the third and fourth quarters when Horine and Majercik each made a touchdown.

The Franklin and Marshall squad was an almost perfect football machine. Saltzman put the finishing touch on the Franklin and Marshall field day program when he made a beautiful field goal from the twenty-yard line in the closing minutes of the game.

The Nevonians had at their command all the stars of last year's team, plus a number of Sophomores, as well as the services of their new Coach, Holman, a former Ohio State luminary. Muhlenberg lost a great number of last year's varsity and Freshman squads thru flunk outs, while many of the present team are suffering from injuries.

First Quarter

F. & M. won the toss and elected to kick. Britton kicked to Horine who received on his 15-yard line and advanced to his 35-yard line. Horine made 2 yards at end. Weiner was tossed for a 2-yard loss. Wavrek punted to his 40-yard line. Britton made 3 yards at tackle. Passel threw a pass to Horst who ran over the goal line, but F. & M. was offsides and was given a 5-yard penalty. Horst carried the ball over for a first down and 'Berg was given a 15-yard penalty for holding. Passel ran around end for a touchdown. Horst missed the kick for extra point.

Score: F. & M., 6; Muhlenberg, 0.

Britton kicked to Horine who advanced the ball from his 10 to his 20-yard line. A line plunge by Weiner gained 1 yard. Symons punted to his 20-yard line. Saltman carried the ball out of bounds for a 1-yard loss. Passel gained 1 yard on a reverse. Britton passed to Horst who was downed on 'Berg's 20-yard line. Passel was stopped for no gain on an end run. Britton gained three yards. Wavrek tackled Passel after he had gone 7 yard for a first down. Britton made 4 yards thru the line. Horst was stopped for no gain. Passel made 1 yard thru the line. Britton was stopped at the line, and 'Berg received the ball on downs. Weiner punted to Passel who was downed on Muhlenberg's 22-yard line. Passel threw a pass which was grounded. Passel thew another pass which was also grounded and F. & M. received a 5-yard penalty. Another pass was knocked down, and the ball went to Muhlenberg on downs on their 32-yard line. Symons carried the ball thru the line for a gain of 1 yard. Horine attempted a pass and was thrown for an 18-yard loss. Weiner punted to his 23-yard line. A line plunge gained 1 yard. Salzman went thru tackle for five yards. Britton tossed a pass to Passel who was run out of bounds on 'Berg's 5-yard line for a first down. Britton crashed thru the line and trotted over the goal line, but F. & M. received a penalty and the ball was brought back to the 20-yard line. Horst gained 1 yard on an end run. A pass to Britton netted a first down. Two line plunges failed to gain. A forward pass, Horst to Britton, gained a touchdown. Saltzman made the extra point by a placement.

Score: F. & M., 13; Muhlenberg, 0.

Weiner kicked to Prinkey who was run out of bounds on his 25-yard line. Britton crashed thru for 6 yards. Saltzman dashed thru tackle for 12 yards and a first down as the quarter ended.

Score: F. & M., 13; Muhlenberg, 0.

Second Quarter

Britton crashed thru the line for 3 yards. Passel threw a 20-yard pass to Prinkey for a first down. Passel tore thru the line for 9 yards. Britton crashed thru center for a first down on the 'Berg 25-yard line. Saltzman dashed thru guard for 6 yards. Britton smashed thru for another first down on the 'Berg 10-yard line. Passel took a reverse and made 6 yards. Saltzman made 1 yard. Britton was stopped at the line and Muhlenberg received the mall on downs. Klotz punted, but stepped out of the end zone and F. & M. gained two point on a safety. Score: F. & M. 15; Muhlenberg, 0.

Evanosky punted to the F. & M. 30-yard line. Britton made a quick kick to 'Berg's 10-yard line. Wavrek lost 6 yards on an end run. Klotz punted, the kick was blocked by Mazlolf, and Evanosky who recovered was tackled for a safety. Score: F. & M., 17; Muhlenberg, 0.

Weiner punted to Britton who was tackled at midfield. Britton crashed thru the line for 4 yards. Saltzman dashed thru a wide hole in the line for 3 yards. Britton went thru center for a first down on the 'Berg 39-yard line. Passel was tossed for a 5-yard loss. Pasel was tossed for a 15-yard loss on an attempted forward. Passel threw a long pass which was knocked down by Horine on his 15-yard line. Britton punted out of bound on the Muhlenberg 15-yard line. Horine crashed thru the line on a fake reverse for 8 yards. Evanosky went into a pile-up after making 1 yard. Warek was stopped at the line. Klotz punted out of bounds on the F. & M. 46-yard line. Saltzman gained 4 yards thru tackle. Britton made 3 yards at end. Britton crashed thru the line for 3 yards. Saltzman went thru tackle for 5 yards. Coach Holman sent in an entire team of substitutes. A reverse made 1 yard. French was tossed for a 5-yard loss. Brubaker punted out of bounds on 'Berg's 30-yard line. Weiner gained 3 yards on an end run. Weiner threw a pass which was intercepted by French on F. & M.'s 47-yard line. French gained 3 yards on an end run. Brooks crashed thru center for 6 yards. Brooks went thru for a first down on 'Berg's 40-yard line. French went around end for 8 yards. A line plunge made 1 yard as the half ended.

Score: F. & M., 17; Muhlenberg, 0.

Third Quarter

Weiner kicked to Smoker who was tackled on his 40-yard line. Britton broke loose and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. Saltzman tallied the extra point by a placement.

Score: F. & M., 24; Muhlenberg, 0.

Britton kicked to Horine who was thrown on his 16-yard line. Wavrek ran the ball out of bounds. Horine went around end for 4 yards. Miller kicked, F. & M. fumbled on Muhlenberg's 48-yard line, Morrison recovered for 'Berg. Horine dashed thru the line for 3 yards. Weiner carried the ball for 3 yards on a reverse. Wavrek crashed thru center for 5 yards and a first down. Horine ran around end for 8 yards. Wavrek dashed thru tackle for 7 yards and a first down. Horine was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Weiner took a reverse and ran 6 yards. Horine ran around end to the F. & M. 4-yard line. Wavrek was stopped for no gain at the line. 'Berg time out. MULES AND BULLETS TO ENGAGE IN ANNUAL BATTLEFIELD CONTEST

Gettysburg Holds Edge In Games Played Since 1925, 5-1

George R. Holstrom's "Mules" will journey to Gettysburg next Saturday and attempt to get revenge for the defeat handed them last season by the "Battlefield Boys" which shattered 'Berg's hopes of an Eastern Pennsylvania Conference Championship.

Outweighing Muhlenberg about fifteen pounds to a man, the "Bullet" aggregation last season rode triumphantly over a fighting 'Berg team to dash away any hope of a conference championship by the Holstromites, by rolling up a 20 to 6 score.

The most sensational play of last year's battle was in the third period when Gerber, Muhlenberg back, crashed thru the right tackle for a run of fifty yards for a touchdown, shaking off his would-be pursuers some of whom missed him by inches in their desperate attempt to stop him.

Gettysburg fought a hard clean game last year to wrest victory from the stubborn "Mules" and Coach Holstrom's boys are determined to win this year's game not only to avenge that humiilation of last season, but to regain some of the prestige lost by reverses suffered earlier in the present season. The team realizes now that every game counts in telling whether 'Berg will have a fair season or not.

Gettysburg has been a flop in football this season. They have played six of their scheduled contests so far, winning but one while losing three and knotting up two. The "Bullets" just barely eeked out a 6 to 3 victory over Mt. St. Mary's, while they have bowed in defeat to Villanova, Bucknell, Juniata. Their battle with the strong Ursinus Bears resulted in a 6 to 6 deadlock. The Dickinson game was a scoreless tie.

The last time a 'Berg team was victorious over the "Battlefield Boys" was in 1926 and the present "Mule" outfit is set upon squaring matters up a bit.

The scores of Muhlenberg-Gettysburg battles of recent years are as follows:

	Muhlenberg	Gettysburg
1925	0	21
1926	15	6
1927	7	20
1928	6	26
1929	0	27
1930	6	20

Pagan-Minister Battle Results In Scoreless Tie

Game Evokes Lively Interest Among Student Body

CONTESTANTS FIGHT HARD THROUGHOUT ENTIRE GAME

Science and religion clashed on the Allentown Prep School gridiron last Saturday afternoon when the arts students of Muhlenberg College engaged the science students in the traditional Pagan-Minister football game. The arts students traditionally are the Ministers while the science men are known as the Pagans. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

Led by Captain Rudy Novak, and Nev Singer the Ministers supplied enough initiative to carry the ball down the field within the shadow of the Pagan goal posts but their chances for victory vanished as the referee, "Haps" Benfer, sounded the final whistle.

Harry Dunlap started the game with a beautiful kick-off to the Pagans. The first quarter was marked by a series of short line plunges, the ball being held in the territory around midfield. During this quarter Harold Weiser, star for the Pagans, distinguished himself by a remarkable punt which was received by Novak.

Early in the second quarter Novak was forced to punt as the Pagans had advanced far into the Ministers' territory. A beautiful pass Weiser to Sheldon gained thirty yards for the Pagans, but the most remarkable play of the quarter was made by Singer who intercepted a forward pass from the Pagans.

The teams battled on even terms during the third period but in the last quarter the Ministers showed their strength. Novak was forced to punt as the quarter opened and, when the Ministers received the ball again on downs, Novak crashed thru the line for a first down. A long forward pass Boone to Meyers made another first down but, as the Ministers' aerial attack continued, Dunlap threw a pass to Boone which did not gain any yardage. The Pagans were forced to punt, as they received the ball on downs, on their own two-yard line, Smith doing the punting. Several attacks on the part of the Ministers placed them in scoring distance as the game ended in a deadlock 0-0. Boone starred for the arts men during the final period.

The game was particularly interesting inasmuch as the tradition had been discontinued for the past two years and a large crowd was on hand to witness it.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

College men prefer college women as life companions according to the nation-wide poll of the college stories magazine. The poll revealed that men preferred college girls because they have "it", intelligence, and a knowledge of the higher values of life.

Then there is the football player who flunked geometry. He knew darned well that two parallel lives could meet.

Sir James Irvine, Vice-Chansellor of Saint Andrew's University in Scotland, says that men do not begin to think until they are 24 years old at least, and usually not till 28.

PHI KAPPA TAU HOLDS BI-ANNUAL DANCE AFTER F. & M. GAME

Following the bi-annual custom of entertaining members of the F. and M. chapter of Phi Kappa Tau when the Franklin and Marshall team plays Muhlenberg at home, Eta chapter sponsored a delightful dance on the evening of Saturday, November 7, 1931.

The colorful event was held at Machado Manor on the Allentown-Reading pike and music was furnished C. "Steve" Fisher and his orchestra.

The affair was very well attended and chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. I. M. Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Boyer and Dr. and Mrs. I. F. Zartman.

Mr. Ray K. Heist, Jr., was chairman of the committee in charge.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA SPONSORS F. & M. DANCE

A dance was sponsored by the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity following the F. and M. game at the fraternity house. Music was furnished by Smith's Troubadours. The committee in charge comprised Messrs. Gordon Fister, Malcolm Parker, Woodrow Kistler, Ray Held and Robert Dilcher.

WITH OUR OPPONENTS OVER THE WEEK-END

Gettysburg and Dickinson, our next two opponents, battled to a scoreless tie. This was a very exciting game which furnished many thrilling moments.

Lehigh continued the brand of football that they showed last Saturday by beating Princeton 19-7. Halsted and Ware were again the stars.

Lafayette was too strong for Rutgers and easily overpowered them 22-0.

Drexel surprised everybody by defeating the strong Urinus team 12-7. This was the first defeat of the season for the Bears.

Juniata ran thru a weak Susquehanna team to gain a 26-2 victory.

Lebanon Valley defeated St. Joseph 18-7. Harley and Petty were again the stars. They were the two players who played so well against 'Berg.

Western Maryland put up a good fight against Boston college, but were defeated 19-13.

MR. HARRY "HAPS" BENFER

The prime mover in back of the "Rec" Hall is "Haps" Benfer, friend of every Muhlenberg student. "Haps" has stood up for the Recreational Hall through thick and thin.

The extensive renovations of the "Rec" Hall have been brought about largely through his efforts.

In addition to aiding the Recreational Hall, "Haps" sponsored the First Annual College Ball last spring and is largely responsible for the forthcoming "Hard Times Dance" to be held in the Social rooms of the Library Building.

Recently the daily of the University of Michigan criticized the faculty.

Result: As one man the faculty cancelled its subscriptions removing some nine hundred names from the paper's list. Possibly the faculty hadn't paid. So who cares.

Student Activity Center Completely Renovated

Many Changes Made In "Rec" Hall During Past Week

HALL SPONSORED JOINTLY BY "M" CLUB AND M. C. A.

One of the finest institutions on the Muhlenberg Campus is the Muhlenberg Recreation ("Rec") Hall sponsored jointly by the M. C. A. and the "M" Club. This hall has been developed from a few games and magazines into a finely fitted recreation hall. The pool tables have been entirely re-built and recovered. All the cues have been re-tipped and some new ones added to the rack.

New furniture in the form of more comfortable lounging chairs and other articles for the students' use have been added during the past week. Draperies suitable for this type of a building have been made and hung in the hall.

During the past week the hall has been closed to the students in order that these new improvements and changes might be made. Beginning with this week a new policy has been put into effect in regard to the running of the Hall and it is hoped that the students will aid the Administration, the M. C. A. and the "M" Club and make this place a bigger and better recreational "hangout" for all the Muhlenberg students.

Reformation Services Held At Muhlenberg

Dr. John A. W. Haas Delivers Excellent Sermon

Speaking before an audience of almost a thousand people who filled every available space in the Egner-Hartzel Memorial Chapel on the Muhlenberg college campus for the service in commemoration of the 414th anniversary of the Reformation, Sunday afternoon, Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, extolled Martin Luther, the great patriarch of the Protestant church, and his work in popularizing religion.

Dr. Haas was called upon to deliver the address after Dr. Frederick H. Knuble, president of the United Lutheran church of America, who had been brought to this city specially for the service, was taken ill at the residence of Dr. Haas on the college campus, shortly before the time scheduled for the opening of the service. Dr. Knuble's condition on Sunday was reported as being greatly improved.

Dr. Haas, speaking in no uncertain terms, declared that the trouble with the country today is that the people have drifted away from their moorings and urged the Christians of the reformation to "Go back to the rock from which they were hewn."

Reiterating the doctrine of Martin Luther, Dr. Haas maintained that the church is the servant of Christ and not the master of Him and that in this respect all people should be spiritual priests. Christ, he maintained, was the only mediator between God and man and any institution which set itself up as a mediator for salvation was purely autocratic.

Martin Luther, according to Dr. Haas, was not only the father of Protestanism, but was also the prime mover for popular education. His translation of the Bible into a language readable by the masses, Dr. Haas said, was a great step in reducing the great illiteracy of the Middle Ages. He further urged the retaining of the Christian element in all education. The fact that God can be praised in every tongue, he stated, was the evangelical idea of popularized religion.

The service throughout was planned to be a reformation celebration. The Muhlenberg college chapel choir, under the direction of Dr. Harold K. Marks, sang "Judge Me, O God" by Mendelssohn and Dr. Marks played a festival prelude on "Ein Feste Burg" by Faulkes, "Aria," by Dethier, and "Fugue in B. Minor" as the organ prelude, offeratory and postlude, respectively.

The vesper service of the United Lutheran Church was read by Rev. William L. Katz, while Rev. Conrad L. Wilker read the scripture lessons and Rev. Corson C. Snyder led in the closing prayers and pronounced the benediction.

Preceding the service Dr. Marks played a short organ recital consisting of two chorale preludes, "Es ist Ein Ros Entsprungen" by Brahms and "Ich Ruf Zu Dir" by Bach. The entire service was in charge of the Lutheran Pastoral Association of Allentown and vicinity.

DELTA THETA FORMS FATHERS AND MOTHERS ORGANIZATIONS

The first meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary was held on Friday, November 6th at the fraternity house. Meetings hereafter will be held once a month.

This Friday, November 13th, the fathers' organization will hold a meeting at the home. The committee in charge is composed of an alumnus, brother Nicholas, and Messrs. O'Brien, Buehler, Bianca, and Singer.

During the past week one more freshman was pledged, Charles McKenzie.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Fritsch will speak on Monday evening in Girardville, Pa., at a union meeting of the churches which have invited him to give a series of Bible studies in that town.

Dr. Fritsch has been engaged as guest preacher for Sunday, May 22, 1932 at the famous Mt. Hermon School for Boys located near Northfield, Mass.

More than two hundred people were present November 8 at the second Bible Study conducted by Dr. Fritsch in Wilmington, Del.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

DON'T LET IT THROW YOU

Judging from the size of the delinquent list that was posted on Wednesday no one at Muhlenberg knows anything except the faculty. The thing that those esteemed gentlemen seem surest of is that nobody knows anything. But then, a few little E's and F's at this time of the year serve as an incentive to a fellow to get down to honest to goodness work.

Muhlenberg is especially fortunate in having a faculty that will refuse to pass a man unles he shows some evidences of knowing what it is all about. Too many colleges today are mere diploma mills, set up as purely commercial enterprises. It really does mean something to be graduated from a college where a strict academic standard is maintained.

All of which reminds us that if we don't get down to the books this column will be among the features of the MUHLENBERG WEEKLY that will be missing after February 1.

ATHLETICS

There is a lot of comment down town that the peculiar athletic situation at Muhlenberg is due in a large degree to the graduate manager. Since the college, to an extent, is subsidizing football men, the belief among men who should know is that the authorities should make a real effort to subsidize some good men. And then the matter of schedules—why play Lafayette so early in the season, or better still, why play them at all. There's no particular thrill or inspiration in playing a team which traditionally defeats you.

Well, there never was a man who could serve two masters successfully.

THE PRESS

Is there any good reason why Muhlenberg College should not have an adequate press box at a suitable place in the stands on the athletic field? The best advertising any college receives is through the press. Men from out of town papers have been here to cover football games and the comments on their accommodations were anything but satisfactory.

On a windy day it's necessary to have someone hold the paper in a typewriter to keep it from being torn by the wind. We really hate to think what a condition the fourth estate would be in if it should rain during a game.

The point is this, there is quite a bit of lumber around the college that could be used to build a sheltered box at the top of the North stands. The utility men could easily build a shelter at a very small cost. At least it's something to think about.

WITH A FAST CAMERA

The boys at the T. U. O. house have a new brother. He is none other than a very highly cultured and refined parrot. And joking aside he is one parrot that must have taken a course in ethics for he never says a naughty word.

Have you heard those ripping "Aubrey stories"? If not, ask Mal Parker. They're a series of short tales about a little girl named Aubrey. A very sweet girl, at that.

And one of these days we'll have a good story for you. Cedar Crest, always willing to cooperate with Muhlenberg, has given a reporter the permission to spend twenty-four hours in the dormitories of that school disguised as one of the pupils. We are still looking for a volunteer to send. Mail all requests to the editor.

And for those of you who rarely attend chapel—make it a point to

FRESH in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

Who's Who on the Campus

Donald V. Hock
Theta Upsilon Omega

Here we have a man who has done and is still doing his bit to further the name of Muhlenberg. Upon his graduation from Catasauqua High School Don enrolled at Muhlenberg and ever since has been doing big things for his Alma Mater in debate and oratory. He has been a member of the debating team for four years and was elected captain his last two years. Last year Don won first place in the state intercollegiate oratorical contest. In recognition of his attainments in this field of activity he was elected to membership in Tau Kappa Alpha honorary debate fraternity.

Don's ability, however, is not restricted to this end entirely, for he is a good student and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity, as well as Alpha Kappa Alpha, honorary philosophy fraternity. A man among men Don's abilities and personality were recognized by Theta Upsilon Omega which fraternity now claims him as one of its members. In the profession of law which Don intends to study upon being graduated from Muhlenberg, judging by past attainments, he should meet with nothing but success. However, our best wishes are extended to him in whatever he attempts.

ENGAGEMENT OF CARL MOYER ANNOUNCED AT PHILOS DANCE

A radio dance, held by the Philos Club on Saturday evening, October 31, 1931, was attended by twenty couples, including present members and alumni. Mr. Carl Moyer, class of '30, and Miss Clara Smull announced their engagement at this gathering.

The committee in charge consisted of Messrs. John Detweiler, Chairman, Harold Hieter and Warren Smith.

S. L. P. ORGANIZES CHAPEL SERVICES FOR JEWISH STUDENTS

The Sigma Lambda Pi fraternity has taken charge of the chapel services held on Thursdays or Fridays for Jewish boys in the old chapel and has secured a number of fine speakers for the program.

Several alumni brothers were entertained over the week-end: Jules Roskin, Harry Batalin and Louis Bernstein.

ALBRIGHT

Cider and doughnuts were offered as a temptation to attend the poetry circles' meeting one evening. The meeting went over great, but when refreshment time came—the cupboard was oh so bare. A bunch of ne'er-do-wells had broken in and rifled the cache.

attend the services at which Dr. Haas preaches the sermon. The series of sermons he is delivering on "The Ten Commandments" is the most worthwhile discussion that can be heard. They have received more of favorable comment from the press, not only of this city, but throughout the eastern section of the country. Muhlenberg is fortunate in having as its president a man of the calibre of Dr. Haas.

SIXTH COMMANDMENT TOPIC OF DR. HAAS

Continues Interesting Series On "Ten Commandments"

Continuing the series of talks on the "Ten Commandments", Dr. John A. W. Haas spoke on the "Sixth Commandment and Its Social Significance" in the regular student assembly period, Monday, November 9th.

This commandment was given for the protection of mankind and the development of an upright race. The social relations of individuals however should be well regulated even though married, for the highest good of all concerned.

The human race to-day should cultivate a true sense of purity and in so doing a better generation will be developed.

The seventh of this series of addresses will be given next week.

GETTYSBURG COLLEGE

A perplexing question to some students is whether the teacher reflects his likes or dislikes for a student in his making. Tests at Columbia University revealed that there is a slight tendency for teachers to assign lower marks to pupils showing undesirable conduct than their achievements on objective tests indicate that they deserve. Draw your own conclusions about marking in this college and mend your ways if necessary.

DELTA THETA FORMS MOTHERS' AUXILIARY

The first meeting of the newly organized Mothers' Auxiliary of the Delta Theta fraternity was held in the chapter's home 2141 Chew St., on Friday, November 6.

Plans were made for a line of work to be carried out by this organization throughout the year.

The meeting for formal organization of the Auxiliary will be held on Friday evening, November 20th. Preceding the business meeting an informal card party will be held. At this meeting the officers for this year will be elected.

Delta Theta is the third fraernity on the local campus to organize a mothers' auxiliary. Phi Kappa Tau and Theta Upsilon Omega have both live wire organizations. The Delta Theta group will soon take its place as an outstanding aid to the local fraternity.

WASHINGTON & JEFFERSON COLLEGE

On the eve of the Pitt-Tech game the Pitt students held a wild celebration in the Academy Theatre. They raided the burlesque show and danced with the chorus girls. In spite of all this, Tech won. Might we suggest that it was because of all this? "Never throw things at a lady; always reach for a hatchet instead."

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD — a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.
Good . . . they've got to be good.

"Hard Times" Dance Arranged For Help Of Allentown Poor

All Money Collected Will Be Given To Community Chest

Muhlenberg College will do its share toward the support of needy families of the city through a contribution which will be made to the Allentown Community Chest next Saturday. The students have arranged to raise their contribution by means of a "hard times" dance which will be held in the college ballroom, on the third floor of the library building this Friday evening.

The dance will be conducted in such a way that it will create no expense, the floor, orchestra and programs being furnished free of charge. Steve Fisher and his Muhlenberg Cardinals, a band which has gained a wide reputation for itself during the past year, has donated its services and will play from 9 to 1 o'clock. Every penny of the admission charged will be turned over to the Community Chest. It is expected that more than $200 will be realized.

The affair is being conducted under the management of Harry A. Benfer, registrar of the college and is the first in a series of affairs which Mr. Benfer plans for the student body. He is being assisted by Mrs. Benfer, Miss Ruth Bernheim and various members of the student body and Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity.

Dr. Kelchner Speaks To Pre-Med. Society

Dr. Shankweiler Lectures on Heredity

The second meeting of the Pre-Medical Society of Muhlenberg College was held on Thursday evening, November 12, in the Biology lecture room in the Science Building. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Clyde Kelchner, an alumnus of Muhlenberg, '25, and U. of P. Medical School, and now a practicing physician in Allentown.

Dr. Kelchner spoke on the Art of Medicine, intimating that there were four types of men seeking an M. D. degree, the idealist who wants to help humanity, the philosopher, who wants to do research work to further the Science of medicine, the money-getter, and the social climber. Dr. Kelchner stressed the importance of combining the first two characteristics.

Dr. Shankweiler, head of the Biology Department opened a series of lectures on Heredity which will be continued from week to week.

SIGMA LAMBDA PI TO HOLD DANCE SOON

Varsity "M" Club To Hold Formal Dance

December 4th Is The Date Set for Affair

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Varsity "M" Club for its annual dance. The date this year is December 4th, a Friday evening. The dance will be formal and will be held in the ballroom of Americus Hotel.

In line with its active policy on the campus the "M" Club has sponsored a dance every year. This has come to be one of the social high lights of the season. This year the committee has secured Art Mickley and his orchestra to furnish the syncopation. Dancing will run from 9 P. M. to 2 A. M.

This will be the first formal dance of the year and a fine turnout of students is expected.

The committee arranging this affair is George Majercik, chairman, William Horine, Denton Quick, Clyde D. Symons, Charle O'Brien, Paul Weber and Albert Greenberg.

Doctor C. M. Jacobs Gives Third Lecture Of Series In Chapel

"Christianity and Christ" Is His Topic

The third in the current series of lectures by Dr. Jacobs, head of Mt. Airy Seminary, on Christian Evidences was held on Friday morning, November 13, during the regular chapel service. The subject of this lecture was "Christianity and Christ" and interpreted Christianity as a life in relation to God thru Christ, and no other source. Faint traces of the approach to Jesus as a god are noticeable in the Old Testament. Not only does our idea of God come from Christ, but also, the New Testament embodies a new conception of God thru Christ. In speaking theologically, the question rises, "Who was this Jesus, and what has this Jesus done?"

All those who expound Christian doctrine claim Christ as their authority. It can be proven that doxology, or the glorifying of God came before dogma. Thus, emotion was expressed in the doxological writings of Paul. Hymns of praise, adoration, supplication to express Christian thought and emotion, have been composed. Christianity will be dead only when it fails to stir up emotion in man.

At first, all emphasis of Christianity was placed on God, later it was changed to Christ. Matthew, Mark, and Luke stress the first hypothesis, while John expostulates the second. Christianity for nineteen hundred years has been a religion of and about Jesus. In studying this, we find that the Gospels are not the oldest books in the New Testament. The Epistles of Paul are the oldest known documents purporting the Christain relgion. The life of Christ was one of extreme privation, self-denial, sorrow and suffering; he drew the persecution of his own people and ended on a cross. His was a life of loving service, gone out in physical torment and disgrace. All the New Testament writers look forward to the overthrow of evil and the entrance of good. This is based on the fact of the resurrection of Christ. This naturally places him definitely in the center of Christianity.

Next week, Dr. Jacobs' topic will be "Christianity and Faith."

On Monday, November 16, he gave the fourth Bible Study in Genesis at a meeting of the United Churches of Girardsville. On Tuesday, the 17th, Dr. Fritsch will conduct a class for Sunday School Teachers of Allentown at the local Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Russel Snyder Speaks In Regular Sunday Vespers

"Things That Are Excellent" Topic of Splendid Sermon

The public Vesper Service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, November 15, 1931, at four o'clock, as has been the custom this year. The Reverend Russell D. Snyder, Professor of History at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, was the preacher of the afternoon; his sermon was entitled "Things That Are Excellent."

Dr. Marks opened the servie with the prelude "Communion" by Hollins. Reverend R. W. Stine read the opening sentences of the Vesper service, together with leading in the reading of Psalm 8.

"What He has done for others, He can and will do for you," said the Reverend Russell D. Snyder in conclusion to his inquiry into "Things that are Excellent." The Liberal Arts College, especially one of a Christian character, should afford its students an adequate sense of values. The aim of the college should coincide with Paul's: "And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment; so that ye may approve the things that are excellent." (Philippians 1:9, 10.)

"Surely most of us grow up like Topsy, we have no great purpose in life; let us first realize that fact as we begin our consideration of life's excellent things," said Reverend Snyder. "Millions of years of life are wasted throughout the world.

"The first essential is the Word of

Attorney Schatz Is Armistice Speaker

Warns Against A False Conception of Nationalism

The thirteenth anniversary of the signing the armistice was commemorated in the Chapel service by Attorney Ralph Schatz, on November 13, who spoke on Armistice Day. He paid a glowing tribute to those men who, 14 years ago succeeded in making the world safe for democracy, by making the sacrifice that is supreme in our eyes,—the giving of life voluntarily.

Attorney Schatz called forth from the past such similar historical events as the Pass of Thermopylae, and Gettysburg, all heroic attempts, some successful, some not. Attorney Schatz signified that the occasion was not mean to glorify arms, or the god of war, mars.

Many results of the war are still present, the poverty, depression, and distress are all outgrowths of it.

And then, we have not accomplished entirely the reason we entered the war,—to end war, for to-day China and Japan are ready to fly at each other's throats. The whole difficulty lies in the wrong interpretation of nationalism. We revere our country, but some people hold the nation as supreme, and always right. We must not forget that other people love their countries, homes, and children, so why not respect the rights of others?

Attorney Schatz asked a rhetorical question—"What is our conception of a state? The true Christian conception of nationalism and a state is a great brotherhood of man under the divine Fatherhood of God. Too long has Christ's cross been a symbol of battle and war. War is a sin, and there is no justification for it.

Japanese Student Explains The Causes Of Sino-Japanese Strife

M. H. Huneno, Muhlenberg Junior, Presents the Facts Which He Discovered in a Study of Japanese Periodicals, Newspapers, and Histories

Russo-Japanese War

On February 10, 1904, Russo-Japanese-Chinese bickering in Manchuria, out of which Russia had heretofore always been the victor, was ended by the Japanese declaration of war against Russia.

In the war Russia was quickly defeated and President Roosevelt intervened, called the peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H., where Japan received only half a loaf. Indemnity was refused her and President Roosevelt supported the Russian refusal. As a result of the war, the Liaotung Penninsula lease and the south Manchuria branch of Chinese Eastern Railway from Changchun to Dairen became Japanese with the consent of China, which ratified clauses in the treaty of Portsmouth affecting China by the treaty of Peking signed on December 22, 1905.

Japan thus came into possession of an area of 1,400 square miles, a railroad 694.8 miles long, the ports of Port Arthur and Rairen, the latter destined to become the third most important commercial city of China, and the centre of economic life of Manchuria. Russia, however, was still a factor in Manchuria, owning various lines of railways in the northern part and eastern part of Manchuria.

Japan Developes Manchuria

Japan devoted herself to the strategic and economic development of Manchuria. The South Manchuria Railway was reorganized into a private company; factories, mills and mines were opened, agriculture was developed, particularly the soy bean crop, which had become the pay crop of the country. The trade of Manchuria increased nine-fold from 1907 to the present day, at a ratio of two to one as compared with the rest of China. The Japanese government alone invested $1,100,000.00 in Manchuria. Japan has been making Manchuria a safe place for the Chinese colonizers, who have been coming in at the rate of something like a million a year. Today, after twenty-five years of Japanese influence in Manchuria, it is the only truly sanitary, prosperous, and civilized region in China.

Japanese colonization in Manchuria, however, was a failure. The country, cold and forbidding in Winter, did not attract the Japanese, who normally dislike leaving their own country. On the other hand, Chinese immigration into Manchuria increased by leaps and bounds, so that from an insignificant Chinese population in 1905, the Chinee in Monchusria now number 29,000,000 and possess the best agricultural lands, and control vast commercial and financial enterprises.

China Profits from Development

The immigration of Chinese to Manchuria changed the face of Manchurian relations, for whereas in 1905 Russia and Japan were fighting over virgin soil, sparsely populated by Chinese, today Japan deals with a Chinese State beginning to be well-populated and in places even thickly populated by Chinese who desire full recognition of Chinese sovereignty and unimpaired and unhampered Chinese participation in the economic and political life of the country. The paradox of the situation is that the more Japan does for Manchuria the more Chinese the country becomes.

But Japan cannot and probably

Faculty And Students Entertained By Freshman Farces At Reception Held In The Science Auditorium

Dramatic Club Orchestra Makes Its Debut

FRESHMAN ANTICS HIGHLY AMUSING

As a conclusion to an evening's entertainment whose sole purpose was to better cement friendly relations between the faculty and students, the Play Production Class of Muhlenberg College, despite all jinxes and ill omens usually attributed to a Friday the 13th, presented two highly successful farces, "A Bowery Night School" and "All Aboard" in the Science Auditorium, before a large and appreciative audience.

Professor Coder, Coach of Dramatics at the college made the opening remarks of the evening concerning the method of presentation of the plays and he introduced to the public the Muhlenberg Dramatic Club Orchestra of 18 men, newly formed under the direction of Carl ("Steve") Fisher, popular campus band leader and musician.

Preceding the play "A Bowery Night School", the orchestra rendered in a very vigorous manner the march "Trisgian" followed by an encore "On the Campus."

"A Bowery Night School", a farce showing the cosmopolitanism of the students attending a New York night school was presented to the highly enthusiastic audience. In this production as well as in "All Aboard" the cast showed the result of intensive preparation and acquitted themselves very favorably.

In the intermission which followed, the orchestra rendered two compositions considered very difficult in the opinion of musicians "The Light Cavalry Overture" and the "The General Pershing" march, which numbers met with the applause of the assembly.

Second of the plays to be offered was "All Aboard," a farce dealing with the inspection of a railroad station by the railroad president.

Much mirth was elicited from the audience in the dramatic example of gold-digging between Peter,—the negro porter and Betty Brown, his sweetheart. So appreciative was the audience to the two farces that at the end of "All Aboard" they made no move to depart and it was only after the announcement that the evening's entertainment was at an end that they left, fully satisfied with the performance.

The guests of the evening were the faculty of the Prep school and the Mothers' organization of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

The members of the class in play production are as follows: John Greenawalt, Charles Eisenhard, Charles Preston and Paul Scholl.

Dr. Haas Continues His Lecture Series On The Commandments

Sixth Commandment Is Explained Monday, Nov. 9th

During the chapel session of Monday, November 9th, Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College presented the sixth of his series of lectures on the Ten Commandments before a large number of Muhlenberg students.

Opening the talk with the query, "Why wasn't this commandment placed after the fourth commandment in order to keep the family commandments together?" Dr. Haas proceeded to explain that the idea of preservation of life was deemed more important.

The true purpose of the family, he explained is two-fold: First, to act as the means through which traditions are handed down; second, the means of propagating the race.

There must be true attachments between members of the family. There must be a wholesome respect for each other's personality. In regard to sex relations the Doctor clearly showed that proper relations between man and wife are according to nature and the will of God. If indulged in between the proper bonds of man and wife the relations are sacred, if indulged in promiscuously the relations are degenerating.

Thereupon the speaker called to the listener's attention the words of Christ in which adultery in the mind is just as bad as the act. The relationship of imagination to lust was graphically described in that harboring lustful thoughts leads to a perverse mind and to a will of wrongdoing in sexual matters.

Dr. Haas then urged that one should keep oneself clean in body and mind so as to ward off temptation.

"Dancing concluded Dr. Haas," depends on the attitude of the person who is dancing. If the mind is free from lustful thoughts, dancing is perfectly all right to indulge in. If however it leads to exercise of the imagination it is harmful and should be abstained from.

Senior Ball Plans Are Being Completed

Plans are rapidly being completed for the annual Senior Ball to be held on December 16th. According to present indications the Casa Loma Orchestra will be secured for the dance. As has been customary in the past, the Americus Hotel will be the scene of the festivities from nine until two o'clock.

Probably the most important part of the program is the price of admission. This year the cost will be only $4.00 per couple. In view of the fact that such a nationally known orchestra as the Casa Loma Band has been secured for the dance, this price is very reasonable.

The committee in charge of the Senior Ball is George Majercik, chairman, Donald B. Hoffman, Charles Saul, Morris Efron, Franklin Giltner, Ferdinand Palladino and Richard Thiede.

How About Some Action?

The unfortunate jinx that has been pursuing the football team, showering it with injuries brings before us the ever prevalent question—Why must Muhlenberg lose so many football players each year?

In the first place the players on the team now are practically all good students. At least they can pass the majority of their subjects. Last year about 25 football players "crashed out" before and during the mid-year period. In addition 8 graduate in the Senior class.

What was left—a mere handful of players Muhlenberg, has not had a successful season. Why—simply because this small body of players with little if any chance for a rest between games had to stand the punishment of continual practices and then hard games with no let up. The reserve strength of the Mules is very small. This last game at Gettysburg showed the 'Berg team taking a squad of nineteen (19) players along. Imagine that, for a college the size of Muhlenberg to only have a football squad of nineteen.

Then we must look to the fundamental cause for the small squad condition at the local college. Coach Holstrom has worked very hard with the team this year, attempting to aid the players in every way possible. The players have worked harder this year than ever. But with no reserve strength the team could not do much better than it did.

It would seem as if the entire secret of the difficulty of the Muhlenberg teams is in the fact that when athletic scholarships are awarded, no thorough attention is paid to the scholarship side of the student and so a group of fine football players but very poor students is admitted each year at 'Berg. The inevitable result was shown more clearly this year than at any other period. Can't something be done with the awarding of these scholarships to at least assure the school of a few outstanding or good players each year. If only eight to fifteen men were added to the squad each year the question of reserve power would be completely settled. Other colleges with the same scholastic standards as Muhlenberg are able to secure good players and students at the same time.

Something wil have to be done concerning the football team immediately or 'Berg will soon begin to lose a great deal of its name and following not only in this section but in other sections.

The student body is one hundred per cent in back of the team this year and at the same time is one hundred per cent in back of any move to secure better players without sacrificing any on the scholastic side. It can be done. The leaders MUST do it immediately or the school will suffer. If changes in personnel must be made as the only remedy to this situation make these changes, but at the same time attempt to secure the best men available for our football team.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Phew, judging by the reactions of certain individuals the article in the Muhlenberg Mirrored Column must have struck home and struck HARD.

Incidentally the Weekly was severly censored for this article—particularly the unfortunate (?) editor. Even at that the article was probably correct.

At any rate the article will result in the Muhlenberg Weekly having a platform—sooner or later. And that's something.

And then again this article showed us that certain people think they can run the school, including the student paper. Even tho delayed by the actions of this certain individual the paper will go out just as it always has done and now has something to fight for. Figure it out for yourself —Enuf hints, or else read the last issue of the Weekly and look long and hard until you discover the portion referred too.

If you want to see a bunch of convicts in action just watch a certain portion of the campus at a set time when all you hear is a jumble of numbers as A-1, L-15, c-E-4, etc. Got the idea.

If our football team is hit any harder with injuries we had better start substituting certain faculty members. We understand that quite a few were very good players in their college days.

Too bad the G-burg contest had to end up as the last several games have, in a track meet for the other team. But then don't blame the team or the coach. There is no reserve material and the varsity and second string player can't stand the constant hammering all the time that the team is forced to take.

Which brings us right back to the question—Why can't Muhlenberg draw good football players that can pass the examinations? Other schools do. Muhlenberg has a good name, but what's the use of talking.

DRAMATICS

The class in play production under Professor Coder again received much praise for their success in this line of activity by presenting "Dark Moments" and "All Aboard" before the Rotary Club of Kutztown.

Ladies were the guests of the members present and judging from the comment of all of them the plays were very well received. Mr. Esser, an alumnus of Muhlenberg, had charge of the arrangements for the evening.

Tryouts for parts in "Secret Service," the next play to be presented by the class, were held last Tuesday evening. The following is a tentative selection:

Gen. Randolph (an officer in the Confederate Army), Sontag, Wohlson, Lubsen.

Arrelsford (Chief of the secret service of the South, the villian of the play) .....Mattes, Mancke

Wilfred Varney (younger brother of Edith Varney who supplies comedy) .....Weiner, Stinson, Bianca

Capt. Thorne (Dashing hero of play; a Union spy, doing everything to weaken defense at Richmond, Hemmerly, Hollenbach

Henry Dumont (His brother who allows himself to be imprisoned in the South so that he might send messages to his brother), Hollenbach, Lubsen

Jonas (A trusted old slave of the Varney's), Scholl, Mattes, Eisenhart.

SCENE:—Richmond, prior to its capture by the Union army.

The movie version of this play is somewhat disappointing in as much as a great deal of the exposition is drawn out in preliminary scenes which greatly detract from the interest. Another thing about the movie version that certainly is true is that the scenario writer cut out a great many of the most dramatic parts of the play.

The student body certainly owes the faculty a nice Thank You for the splendid reception tendered them last Friday evening.

Here's hoping some more follow.

Well as we are still burned up with what happened last week after the Weekly came out we had better sign off. (Incidentally we will probably be called on the carpet again this week for this column. But that is one way of meeting the leaders of the college at any rate).

All we ask for is the support of the student body. Do we get it? Here's hoping.

RABBI ROSEN SPEAKS TO JEWISH STUDENTS

"Believe, But Not Blindly," He Urges

The second in a series of addresses in the Chapel services for Jewish students at Muhlenberg College was delivered on Thursday morning, November 12th, at 11 o'clock in the Assembly room of the Ad. building, by Rabbi Rosen, of the Conservative Temple Beth-el.

The subject of the talk dealt with the necessity of religion in a student's life. He exhorted them to believe, but not blindly. The Rabbi also stressed the fact that too many boys in college, both Jew, and Gentile, get away from religion because they are under the impression that they have out-grown it, as they have in their high school days.

A number of interesting lectures are being arranged for these services which will be held every Thursday morning at 11 o'clock during November, and on Friday thruout the rest of the year.

Gettysburg Crushes Muhlenberg 26 - 0

Mules Seriously Handicapped By Injury Jinx With First String Backfield Out

LINE PLAYED EXCELLENT GAME

Gettysburg came bounding back into the ranks of the triumphant last Saturday on their own grid-iron by toppling a ragged Muhlenberg eleven, 26 to 0 as the main Father's Day attraction.

Coach George R. Holstrom and his boys left Allentown by bus for the Gettysburg Battlefield on Friday night at 6 o'clock. A party of twenty-five, including eighteen players, two coaches, the student managers and trainers made the trip. They stopped off Friday night in Harrisburg and bunked at the Penn-Harris Hotel. Early Saturday morning they moved on to Gettysburg where they encountered the supposed weak Gettysburg eleven.

Using practically every man on the squad the Orange and Blue displayed a herculean defense that did not bend before the crippled offense of the Holstromies.

The Mules tossed about uncertainly in their campaign so far this season were handicapped in their attempt for an Eastern Pennsylvania Conference victory at Gettysburg on account of the crippled condition of the majority of their varsity backfield men.

Coach "Hen" Bream's proteges displayed the best offensive work against the "Mules" last Saturday that they have shown at any previous time throughout the present season.

The "Bullets" were able to complete forward passes at will. Johnny Howard's passing especially being one of the high spots of the "Bullet" offensive throughout the battle.

The "Battlefield Boys" opened with a rush and the game was not many minutes old when the "Bullets" shoved over their first touchdown to give them an advantage they never yielded throughout the struggle.

First Period

Kicking off to Muhlenberg to start hostilities, the "Bullets" soon forced the "Mules" to kick. 'Berg after returning a punt to its own 49-yard line, fumbled and Gettysburg recovered. The Gettysburg backs, Hardy, Jones and Mulligan, took their turns at carrying the ball and when they had advanced to the Muhlenberg 14-yard line, Jones let go a beautiful 9-yard pass to Eby who ran the remaining 5 yards for a touchdown. Mulligan took the ball over for the extra point on a line plunge.

Score: Gettysburg, 7; Muhlenberg, 0.

Second Period

After punting and line attacks failed, Muhlenberg took to the air. Buohl, Gettysburg left end, intercepted a Muhlenberg pass and ran to the 'Berg 3-yard line. There the "Mules" braced and held for four straight Gettysburg rushes. After Muhlenberg kicked, Gettysburg tried an aerial attack. Jones threw a pass to Eby which was good for 16 yards and placed the ball on the Muhlenberg 19-yard line. On a fake reverse, Hardy carried the ball to the 'Berg 8-yard line, but again Muhlenberg held and took the ball on downs and punted out of danger. Near the end of the period, Hardy threw a 37-yard pass to McCarty who made the remaining 7 yards for another score. The try for point failed.

Score: Gettysburg, 13; Muhlenberg, 0.

Third Period

The "Bullets" continued their forward passing game and a toss from Howard to McCarthy netted 18 yards and opened the way for their third touchdown. With the oval resting on the 18-yard line Dracha got loose thru left tackle and went the entire distance to place the ball back of the last chalk mark. Howard passed to McCarthy to score the point after touchdown. This quarter witnessed Muhlenberg's strongest offensive effort of the game, an advance in which Wilkinson tore off 35 yards on a pretty run, but the "Mules" lost the ball on downs on the Gettysburg 22-yard mark. Officials later decided that Gettysburg's forward pass for extra point was illegal.

Score: Gettysburg, 19; Muhlenberg, 0.

Fourth Period

Muhlenberg launched another scoring effort at the start of the final period, but it ended at the Gettysburg 36-yard line when Howard intercepted a Muhlenberg pass. In the middle of the quarter Howard snatched another Muhlenberg forward out of the air and ran 72 yards for a touchdown. Howard also place-kicked the point. Neither team threatened to score thereafter.

Final score: Gettysburg, 26; Muhlenberg, 0.

Dickinson Is Next On 'Berg Schedule

Visitors Will Be Out To Avenge Defeats of Other Years

Muhlenberg will endeavor to win its first league game of the current season this Saturday when a strong Dickinson team will come up from Carlisle to oppose 'Berg on the local gridiron.

Muhlenberg has won for the past two years, winning 21-6 in 1929 and again last year 7-0, when Wilkinson dashed 55 yards to put the ball in scoring position for George Majercik to take it over for the only touchdown of the day. The game, however, was marred by many fumbles. 'Berg had many chances to score, but lost them when they fumbled near the goal line.

This year Dickinson comes up with a fighting team that is never defeated until the last whistle has blown. Early in the season they defeated Penn State. This was a surprise to everyone. They were defeated by Ursinus, the conference champions, but only after a hard struugle, losing 7-6. They also played a tie with Gettysburg, neither team scoring.

Much of Dickinson's strength has been forward passes. Against Swarthmore they scored their winning touchdown on a forward pass play covering 80 yards with less than a minute to play. This makes all of their games very thrilling.

On the other hand Muhlenberg has become desperate. They have had a very poor season. It is a chance to redeem themselves. They should win one league game and this is their last chance. It can easily be imagined then, how much this game means.

When the kick-off is called for at 2:30, a fighting 'Berg team will take the field, expressing a spirit of "do or die".

'Berg Basketball Schedule Announced

Five New Opponents Scheduled, Eight Old Ones Dropped

Muhlenberg will enter into one of the most intensive basketball seasons in the history of the college, according to the 1932 schedule released recently by Guerney F. Afflerbach, graduate manager of Muhlenberg College athletics. Nineteen games have been scheduled with teams from prominent colleges and universities in the Eastern part of the United States.

The last Muhlenberg court season was not what we might call a huge success from the standpoint of games won and lost. The team came through with six victories and nine defeats, losing three out of its four conference games to forfeit the championship.

Although the varsity has lost four of its stars, by graduation of Lauck, Ulrich, Wackernagle, and Kratzer, it will be reinforced by several members of last year's Freshman team. Despite the fact that the yearlings of last season were unable to win a single game, several of the boys stood out as potential varsity material.

Coach George R. Holstrom will issue the first call for basketball candidates the first week in December, or the week following the climax of the football season.

The Cardinal and Grey coach when interviewed seemed very enthusiastic concerning the prospects of the coming season. "From all indications," explained Holstrom, " 'Berg will have a very successful basketball season. We have a wealth of material and the boys know how to play, because they have had a great deal of court experience." Paul Streng is student manager of basketball.

In the following schedule five new opponents have been added—namely, Long Island University, Pratt, Montclair A. C., Albright and Drexel. On the other hand eight of last season's opponents have been dropped—namely, Moravian, Geneva, Crescent A. C., Stevens Institute, Temple, Providence, Washington and Jefferson, and Dickinson.

The Muhlenberg College Basketball schedule for 1932 is as follows:

Jan. 6—Mount Airy, at Allentown.
Jan. 9—Franklin & Marshall, at Allentown.
Jan. 14—Long Island University, at New York.
Jan. 15—Pratt, at Brooklyn.
Jan. 16—Montclair A. C., at Montclair.
Jan. 20—Lehigh, at Allentown.
Jan. 23—Lafayette, at Allentown.
Feb. 3—Franklin & Marshall, at Lancaster.
Feb. 6—Lebanon Valley, at Allentown.
Feb. 10—Lafayette, at Easton.
Feb. 12—Gettysburg, at Gettysburg.
Feb. 13—Albright, at Reading.
Feb. 15—Ursinus, at Allentown.
Feb. 17—Lebanon Valley, at Annville.
Feb. 19—Drexel, at Philadelphia.
Feb. 24—Ursinus, at Collegeville.
Feb. 27—Drexel, at Allentown.
March. 2—Albright, at Allentown.
March 5—Gettysburg, at Allentown.

WITH OUR OPPONENTS OVER THE WEEK-END

Franklin and Marshall completely outclassed Dickinson on Saturday to win by a 28 to 7 score. 'Berg and Dickinson will fight it out for the cellar championship this Saturday.

Western Maryland, our Thanksgiving day opponent, gave 'Berg rooters a shock when they read about the 40 to 0 score the Harlow eleven piled up against John's Hopkins.

Lehigh took a 26 to 12 lacing from Rutgers on Saturday.

Lafayette sent Penn State home on the short end of a 33 to 0 score.

Ursinus came back to customary form to defeat Swarthmore 27 to 0.

St. Joseph was trimmed by a 21 to 0 score by Drexel.

Lebanon Valley sat down hard on Juniata when they defeated them by a 31 to 0 score.

She was only a garbage man's daughter, but when her old man died he left her a swell dump.

Football Schedule For 1932 Released

P. M. C. Replaces Juniata and Western Maryland Is Dropped

The official 1932 football schedule of Muhlenberg College has just been released by Guerney F. Afflerbach, graduate manager of athletics. The schedule shows that next year's grid season will not be as intensive as was the case in previous years. Only nine contests have been booked, the season closing the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day.

Only two major changes have been made in next year's schedule—namely, the substitution of Pennsylvania Military College, of Chester for Juniata; and the dropping of Western Maryland, usually Muhlenberg's opponent in a Turkey Day game.

Although the present varsity grid season is anything but impressive, Coach Paul Weber, of the Freshman squad, has discovered and developed some real stars among the yearlings who loom big as real varsity material. These men will be used to fill up the gap in the ranks which will be caused by the graduation in June of Bortel, Carney, Giltner, Majercik, Palladino and Thomas. All of these men have been towers of strength in their respective positions during their football careers and it will be an extremely difficult task to fill their places.

Despite the present poor season, prospects appear brilliant for next year. The schedule, however, includes some tough opposition; nevertheless, 'Berg is hoping for better days.

So far only two of the nine scheduled games are definitely to be played under the arcs. These night games will be with St. Joseph and Lebanon Valley, both of whom Muhlenberg played at night this season with wonderful results.

Following is the 1932 Muhlenberg Football schedule:

Sept. 23—St. Joseph, at Allentown.
Oct. 2—Lafayette, at Easton.
Oct. 8—Lebanon Valley at Allentown.
Oct. 15—Dickinson, at Carlisle.
Oct. 22—Ursinus, at Allentown.
Oct. 29—Lehigh, at Bethlehem.
Nov. 5—Franklin & Marshall, at Lancaster.
Nov. 12—Gettysburg, at Allentown.
Nov. 19—P. M. C., at Allentown.

Scores of the past 6 years with Dickinson:

1928	0	6

DEUTSCHER VEREIN INITIATES NEW MEN

Interesting Program Given

Eighteen students of Muhlenberg College were initiated into membership in the "Deutscher Verein", the German club of Muhlenberg College at a meeting held in the assembly room in the administration building on Monday, Nov. 9th. A program in which each new man offered some selection in German was in charge of Jerome Baer, chairman of the program committee.

Included in the program was a pseudo geography lesson, several humorous poems, and one or two impromptu skits. Dr. Preston A. Barba, one of the faculty members of the club, asked each of the new men riddles in German to which they were to give answers in the same tongue.

The men initiated include the following: Joseph Friedman, Alfred

JAPANESE STUDENT EXPLAINS CAUSES OF SINO-JAPANESE STRIFE

does not claim sole credit for the development of Manchuria. Although the Chinaman is a poor public administrator, he is an excellent business man. He saw his opportunities in Manchuria and he took them.

Important Treaty of 1915

To insure her position in Manchuria on May 25, 1915, Japan issued the Twenty-one demands which were incorporated into a treaty signed by Chinese and Japanese officials and dealing with South Manchuria and Eastern Inner Mongolia. In accordance with these treaties Japan's lease in South Manchuria was extended to ninety-nine years and Japanese subjects were permitted to lease land for agricultural and commercial purposes.

Public opinion in China has never recognized the validity of the demands. Although duly signed, the 1915 treaties are regarded as having been imposed on China by force. Japan, on the other hand, insists that a treaty is a treaty and that China must abide by her contractual arrangements. There seems to be no basis for compromise. Japanese public opinion is insistent that the Manchurian rights of Japan as appearing in the treaties, shall be defended to the last ditch; Chinese public opinion is equally intent that China shall never recognize the demands as binding upon the country. It is this impasse which is responsible for the present trouble.

Koreans Add Complications

The land clause of these treaties has, in particular, been responsible for incident after incident, until today some 300 cases are on record of Japanese protests and Chinese unwillingness to do anything about them. Most of these cases arise out of the presence of some 800,000 Koreans in the Chinese territory where they outnumber the Chinese. Koreans have been living in the Chientao district for centuries; in fact Korea once claimed the district as Korean territory, and while Korea was a Chinese protectorate the question was of no importance. But Japan could send, after the Russo-Japanese war, consular officers to attend the cases involving Koreans and an intricate machinery was created to hear appeals. Japan also contends that it may send Japanese consular police to protect Koreans in this area, which China denies. This question of Japanese consular police is also an irritant in South Manchuria, arising from a disputed reading of existing treaties.

Thus a large number of unfortunate incidents have arisen in Hunchun, which seem to be without solution, for there is no common basis of agreement. The Chinese once welcomed the Koreans; now they regard them as Japanese colonists, colonizing Chinese soil. The Wanpaoshan affair, which was the spark for the present trouble is one of those unfortunate, even silly, incidents, which become mighty international problems. Chinese and Korean farmers got involved in a land deal which led by an accident to the sending of Japanese conular police and Chinese soldiers, to rioting in Manchuria and Korea, to the death of Chinese-Koreans, to protests and recriminations, to an insistence on treaty rights and a claim that the treaties are invalid, to the possibility of war.

Quarrel is a Private One

The Manchurian situation can, in reality, only be settled by China and Japan, either by negotiation or warfare. There may be palliatives; there may be counsels of perfection; but the fact remains that the present contractual set-up is unsatisfactory to both China and Japan, and is bound inevitably to make bad blood between those two countries—particularly as in the north looms Russia, now Soviet Russia, the friend of either, the foe of either, instigator of trouble and dissatisfaction, fomenter of strife. When Japan looks at Manchuria, she envisages Russian imperialism; when China gazes at Manchuria she sees Japanese imperialism. Manchuria rich, prosperous, progressive, will remain a battlefield as long as the present treaties, with the insistence in rights, denials of rights, and misunderstandings, continue. The peace of the world calls not for a settlement of this incident, but for a complete rearrangement of Sino-Japanese relations on the basis of the good-will and cooperative well-being of either State. And there can be no solution unless the two countries forget the past and set up a new treaty and a new organic relationship between themselves in Manchuria.

Other Nations Stay Out

Twice in two years Manchuria has given Washington and Geneva a conundrum to answer—"When is war not war?"

The Japanese in 1931, the Russians in 1929, whipped the Chinese with military weapons, and in each case the foreign offices of the world declined to regard the affair as an act of aggression involving the League Covenant or Kellogg Pact. The recurrence of the question has the undesirable result that those who doubt the honesty or efficiency of international agreements for preventing war are confirmed in their unbelief; and public opinion, which is the breath of life to such agreements, is weakened by what seems to be the cowardice or helplessness of governments. It is consequently important to discover if the twice-repeated Manchurian incident is a fair sample of the war risk which those agrements profess to insure us against, or a special case.

China Must Be Re-built

Some light may be given by following up the analogy of insurance. The League of Nations covenant and the Kellogg Pact are insurance policies covering, let us say, an entire city. But in the city there are old structures, hardly insurable, whose owners find their claims rejected when they file them. China is such a building. Since the League of Nations and the Kellogg Pact are political and not business contracts, China is admitted, though if those agreements bound their signatories, as the underwriters of a policy are bound, to pay compensation according to the amount of their interest, China could not be insured at all. Her structure is too inflammable. Revolution, civil war, and anti-foreign agitation are chronic. China is like a very old building which has fallen into decay and is uninsurable until it has been reconstructed.

The world's refusal to be drawn into China's quarrel in Manchuria on each of the previous occasions is due to the fact that the Manchurian Government's policy has been reckless. The consequences were reprisals rather than war. The sufferer lost his claim because of his failure to observe elementary precautions.

Chinese Bandit-Kings

The League of Nations and the Kellogg Pact form the modern twentieth century machinery for regulating international differences. But China is a medieval walled country still struggling with a revolution not half completed. China, today like old Europe, is a land where a clever soldier may begin as a bandit and end as a king. That is the biography, in one sentence, of Chang Tso-lin, the late ruler of Manchuria. The reappearance of "mailed fist" diplomacy in the Far East is due to the local fact that various Chinese leaders chose to pursue a challenging policy which they had not the strength to support. They may have supposed that their unpaid subscription to the League of Nations and their signature to the Kellogg Pact would shelter them from the consequences, but it is likely that their miscalculations were much simpler. In 1929 Manchuria believed that Moscow could not risk a fight in Siberia because of internal difficulties and foreign enemies. In 1931 they thought that Tokio had not reached the end of her patience. Neither has she; but they had forgotten the army.

China Tired of Foreign Influence

What the Chinese want in Manchuria is primarily that Russian and Japanee influence, represented in North Manchuria by the Chinese Eastern Railway and in the South by South Manchuria Railway, should be eliminated. This might be done by purchase, if not by war, or the problem might be solved in a better way still by simply building up a stable administration in which there would be no excuse for foreign troops to guard foreign property.

Too weak for war, too poor to buy, too inexpert to provide good administration, the Chinese have tried the policy which comes natural to a feeble country—the policy of nibbling away foreign interests. Diplomatic notes are ignored; unsettled incidents are piled up. The process has to be stopped and Russia in 1929 invented a technique. The "mailed fist" is displayed and a military show-down is forced. This is how "war which is not war" has twice broken out in Manchuria since 1929. Such crude frontier methods comes as a shock to the rest of a world which has joined the League of Nations and signed the Kellogg Pact, but they are the product of the conditions which exist.

A New Treaty is Necessary

The solution, let us hope, must be effected and must be formulated by the two nations involved, which is the strong desire of the Japanese government. This may seem inconsistent with the rather drastic demands made by the Japanese government on the Government at Nanking, but there seems to be no doubt that those who control Japanese foreign policy are not only anxious for peace and honor in Manchuria, but would regard it as a grave mistake to stir up foreign opinion against Japan. They know perfectly well what the world would think of any nation which pursued aggression upon another to the point of leading to war. On that subject world opinion has already declared itself unmistakably. In the end both Japan and China must bow to it. They ought to effect a solution, in fact, even before it is forcibly expressed to them in a diplomatic round-robin which it might hurt their pride to receive. Again, the Manchurian situation can, in reality, only be settled by China and Japan, and there can be no solution unless the two countries forget the past and set up a new treaty and a new organic relationship between themselves in Manchuria.

The Pessimist: "It can't be done."
The Optimist: "It can be done."
The Peptimist: "I have done it."

FACULTY NOTES

Professor W. D. Coder gave another of his interesting weekly talks to the Fortnightly Club of Allentown last Tuesday evening, November 10th. Mr. Coder chose as his topic, "The Background of the Play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street'". The lecture was greatly enjoyed by all those present.

On Wednesday, November 18, Mr. Coder is to act as judge of a Dramatics contest between the county high schools at Nazareth.

Dr. Isaac M. Wright was given a signal honor at the convention at Harrisburg, November 6. After having spoken on "The Problem of Improvement in the Program of Teacher Training in the Liberal Arts Colleges," Dr. Wright was elected chairman of a committee which is to work out a syllabus for the professional courses in education required in Pennsylvania.

Professor Carl W. Boyer was elected at Harrisburg to the chairmanship of the Statistical Research Committee of College Teachers of Education in the Liberal Arts Colleges. This committee is to obtain statistical evidence of the contributions which Liberal Arts Colleges have made to the teaching profession.

Professor Boyer spoke at a meeting of the combined American Legion Posts of Carbon County held at Palmerton, on the subject, "The Outlook of the Ex-service Man."

Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere, head of the Department of Romance Languages at Muhlenberg college, was elected to his fourth term as president of the Lehigh Valley chapter of the American Association of French Teachers at a meeting of the group held in the administration building of Cedar Crest College on the evening of November 14th.

The six colleges of Lehigh Valley, Muhlenberg, Cedar Crest, Moravian, Lehigh, Lafayette and Moravian Theological Seminary, as well as High schools from all parts of the valley were represented at the meeting.

REV. RUSSEL SNYDER SPEAKS IN REGULAR SUNDAY VESPERS

God for It alone is the key to that amazing riddle we call Life. Yes, some doubt the Book's value and say that they have outgrown it. They are sure on their raft of speculation. But what can such people do with worries?

"Worry belongs to the devil and his angels, said Saint Francis. At least worry is a great burden as all of us know. Just as sure as God's love, is the coming of Worry, for that very love of God sends it to us Christians. Our Father doesn't want us to be anything but strong. He would help us to become nobler" the speaker added.

Irrelevities will dominate our actions if we have no measuring rod with us. We are liable to leave God's tasks undone although He has called us to be prophets.

What is the measuring rod which possesses such qualities that we all need it: The Cross. Cynewulf had a beautiful thought about the Cross; at the end of our age he prophesied that the sun would be darkened, the moon be turned to blood, but the Cross would shed a rich, rudy light on the world. This illumination would bring out to prominence earth's real values and shadow all other things.

"No man can reach and achieve Heaven alone. So let Jesus fill your chalice, thus only shall you be changed. When you are changed, your likes and dislikes will be totally different; beauty becomes love to you, righteousness a garb. Be a branch, let Jesus be your vine.

"Religions offer quests for a goal, only Christianity the full realization of a goal. The Christian who has been won from sin knows that 'He is able.' Consequently, you and I can be confident of an achievement of the things are are excellent," concluded the Reverend Russell D. Snyder.

Dr. Marks played an offertory entitled Meditation" by d'Evry and the Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Gaul's, "O Saviour of the World." The College Chaplain, Reverend H. C. Cressman, read the closing sentences of the Versper service. The postlude by Dr. Marks was "March Gothique", by Salome.

The preacher next Sunday will be the Reverend E. P. Pfatteicher, D.D., Ph.D., President of the Ministerium

(A REAL SCOOP)

In an exclusive interview with the MUHLENBERG WEEKLY columnist, Mr. William Seip Ritter, efficient and popular professor of physical education, stated in no unemphatic terms that his course was one of the most beneficial in the curriculum and justifiably required two hours each week for four years. Mr. Ritter further maintained that the successful completion of the physical education course or to use student slang "gripe" course, was one or the prime requisites of a successful man.

Mr. Ritter, an outstanding example of a life devoted to physical education, chewing on the end of one of his famous and inevitable Pittsburgh spitless Cremos, emphatically denounced those men whose prime purpose in college is to evade his classes. "They are doing themselves a grave injustice and will come to regret it in later life" said the esteemed mentor who holds forth in his sanctum in the basement of the administration building.

The professor bewailed the fact that his department lacks the proper facilities for carrying out the elaborate and comprehensive program of a body building nature which he is constantly dreaming of. He heartily agrees with the proponents of the theory that physical education with a mere two hours a week for four years is insufficient. Three hours, or even five hours, he feels, would be more ideal. It is our humble opinion that this increase in the requirements of the course would necessitate the droppining of either Latin, Greek, or mathematics and would require the addition of an assistant professor and an instructor to Mr. Ritter's staff.

Speaking of the old days when he was a student at Muhlenberg, Mr. Ritter said: "In those days C was passing and at that I was mighty lucky that I got through. If I were attending college now, I would never be able to make the grade."

When asked the question of the secret of his success, Mr. Ritter stated that whatever he was or hoped to be he owed to his intensive reading, especially along philosophical lines. It is to this reading that he owes his ability to take an active part in any discussion that might be on hand.

But Bill means well and when it comes to doing laps around the cinder oval next spring, he will be right there, stop-watch in hand, and will give words of encouragement to those poor unfortunates, your columnist included, who failed to agree with his ideas of physical education during the winter months.

Dr. John A. Bauman, professor emeritus of mathematics, recalls the days when Muhlenberg students attended Bible classes taught by the president of the college each Sunday afternoon. Believe it or not, but in those days students were not allowed to attend theatricals, and were absolutely forbidden to frequent taverns and eating or drinking saloons. They did have one advantage—they had stoves in their rooms and if the occasion arose were permitted to do their own cooking. Some students are said to have cooked all of their own meals. But that was in 1870.

It may be interesting to the admirers of Martin Luther to know that the oldest statue of Martin Luther in America is to be found in the front of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Ridge Avenue and Chew Streets. By the way, that church is the only one in the city that still conducts German services. Students of that language may hear a good German sermon there each Sunday morning.

Why doesn't some one send some real "dirt" or criticisms or something for this column to the editor. It's a job to dig enough up yourself. And that's the reason its being written anonymously—you really find out a lot more. But give us a break sometime if you hear of someone's escapades or know of his peculiarities. We really don't mean to be offensive.

(AND LET THE CHIPS FALL)

If there's one man on this campus for whom every student should have nothing but the warmest praise and the keenest sympathy, it's George Holstrom. There's a peculiar psychology in students that makes them stick to a coach when he has material that's going ahead and winning games, and that makes them "ride" him when the team has an off year.

George is all right. He goes out there and plugs away with his men, but he just can't get anything out of them. And if you think just a bit, it isn't that George doesn't have the ability. Up until this year he has turned out some pretty snappy crews. He has done more reading and studying this year than ever before. His hours are longer and more arduous than those of any man on the faculty.

Give him a hand—support him—and above all let's get out after some good material. There's a lot more to the cause for the poor showing the team has made than simply the coach. We remember saying something about that last week and the facts produced lately are bearing out our statement. But more of that in due time.

Turning from the ridiculous to the sublime—as students at Muhlenberg we are all a small part of the city of Allentown which has always supported Muhlenberg college. In the face of the present condition where a great proportion of the population is suffering for lack of food, fuel, and clothes, we owe it to ourselves and we owe it to the town that has fostered us to do our bit to take care of those who are less fortunate than we are. The best way to help them in an organized way is by contributing to the Allentown Community Chest. No matter how little we may have there are many who have even less. Let's equal Cedar Crest's record of 100% and give. Give anything, but don't let it be said that our Alma Mater fell down on the job.

If we're still around we'll see you next week.

FRATERNITY ROW

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

An alumni gathering at which the class of '22 was the oldest class represented and at which gathering twenty-two alumni were present was held at the T. U. O. home on Saturday, November 7, 1931. A business meeting was held in the morning after which the alumni were guests of the active members at lunch and the Franklin and Marshall football game.

PHILOS CLUB

The Philos Club tendered the eleven pledgees a banquet on Thursday evening, November 12, 1931. Russel Strubel, class of '29 was the main speaker. Short talks were delivered by various members of the club. Eddie Keenly and his banjo furnished the entertainment for the occasion. Messrs. Harold Hieter, John Detweiler, Warren Smith were the committee in charge.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB FORMED BY FRESHMEN

Friday afternoon, November 15th, a Social Science Club composed of Freshmen was organized under the sponsorship of Doctor Swain and Professor Jackson of the history department.

Thirty-five members of the Freshman class have signified their desire for membership in this new organization.

The first of the regular meetings of the club will be held on Tuesday, November 17th. The topic for discussion at this meeting will be Alexander the Great.

Never parched, never toasted

CAMELS are FRESH

in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

NO DEFINITE PLANS FOR A CHARITY GAME

Squad Is Badly Crippled Due To Hard Season

In compliance with the suggestion of Owen D. Young, the chairman of President Herbert C. Hoover's emergency relief fund committee, who suggested college football games as a medium for raising funds for the unemployment fund, George R. Holstrom, director of Muhlenberg College athletics, volunteered the statement that the Muhlenberg players are always willing to do their part in aiding this or any other charitable cause.

"My idea however", said the Cardinal and Gray coach, when interviewed by a Weekly reporter, "is to stage a charity game to help the needy students here at Muhlenberg. Charity is supposed to begin at home and it is an evident fact that there are many students here at Muhlenberg who are in dire need financially. As far as a post-season game is concerned I believe it should be for the benefit of the needy students at Muhlenberg."

"Although we play a tough ten-game schedule this year," continued the Muhlenberg mentor, "I know that the boys are willing to make the sacrifice if suitable arrangements for a game can be made."

However, no definite arrangements have been completed as yet with any outside opponent, although Albright College, of Reading, has been suggested several times as a possible opponent, providing the charity tilt materializes. Muhlenberg, meanwhile, is in the midst of one of the longest football seasons ever scheduled by any college in the United States; there being ten straight games without a single breathing spell. The results of this suicide schedule are being noted in the amount of injuries which have handicapped the team all season. Before the Gettysburg game there were only eighteen men who were not out with injuries.

It is probable that the benefit dance, and the assessment which has been made upon the students of the college will take the place of a charity football game, since it would be the height of folly to place any further burden upon a team which is already crippled thru such a difficult schedule.

Sophomore women at Syracuse prefer ambitious men, preferably tall and dark with a sense of humor, a recent questionnaire reveals.

Because someone took the needles, the weekly phonograph concert at Rutgers University had to be called off and the largest group ever to attend the meeting had to be turned away.

What this country needs is a good five-cent tip.

Who's Who on the Campus

Robert Geiger
Alpha Tau Omega

Bob is a big man about the campus, both in stature and as a leader. His list of campus activities are ample proof of this latter fact: He is president of the Senior Class, Secretary of the Student Body, a member of Phi Sigma Iota honorary romance language fraternity, Varsity "M" Club, Interfraternity Council, and what is equally important, if not more so, he is one of the best students in his class. For three years he has been a member of the varsity track team and during his Freshman year broke the school Discus record by a heave of 121 feet. Besides this he putts the shot and rarely fails to place in any event.

Very few are they who can boast of as enviable a record, and with it all Bob is as quiet and unassuming as though he was the most insignificant man in college. Socially, Alpha Tau Omega claims Bob as one of her own, and his brothers are mighty proud of him. It is not known what Bob intends to do upon being graduated from Muhlenberg, but everyone is certain that Bob is headed for nothing but success in whatever he undertakes.

PROFESSOR FASIG IS SPEAKER AT C-Y CLUB

Stresses Brotherhood To End War

"War may be compared to a football game", said Professor Albert C. H. Fasig, M.S., in his address on the "Armistice last Wednesday evening before the C-Y Club. "In a football game a player may use rough tactics in his zeal for victory, but he is not really an enemy of his opponent. They are friends and enjoy each others companionship. War is exactly the same thing. Men fight each other with intent to kill, but off the battlefield they are really friends."

"The only way to outlaw war is to spread the idea of Christian brotherhood and understanding" continued the speaker. "Business relations can not do that. They have been tried and only go so far and then stop. Christian understanding between nations is the only method under the sun to outlaw war."

"When the Armistice was signed" said Prof. Fasig, "the men of both sides who were at the front ran over and clasped each other, laughing and cheering for joy. These men will never have a desire for war again. It is true, if an enemy comes to their shores they will fight; but unless their country is endangered they will not willingly bear arms. It is different with the younger generation. They will be easily influenced by propaganda and the supposed thrill of war. We should", advised the speaker, "teach the young men the faults of war and spread Christian understanding."

Mr. Norman U. Miles was in charge of the devotional service.

Rev. Russell W. Stine will address the club next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the mezzanine floor of the Library Building. His topic will be, "How Shall I Stand Toward the Church." Everybody is welcome.

Shoemaker, Arwen Spangler, Edwin Faust, George Zanger, Frank Paukovitz, Arthur Hottell, John Hollenbach, John Albright, John Bennetch, Otto Saalfeld, Ray Musselman, Russell Kistler, Carl Clayton, Howard Miller and Morton Silverman.

Officers of the club who conducted the initiation included the following: Paul W. Doepper, president; Richard Klick, vice president; Charles Fritsch, treasurer and Paul Gerhard, secretary.

Membership of the organization now numbers forty, all of whom have taken at least two years of German and have attained high averages. German is taught by Prof. Preston A. Barba and Prof. Harry Hess Reichard.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Phi Eta, the mothers' sorority of Phi Kappa Tau met in regular session at the fraternity house on Liberty Street on Friday evening, November 13, 1931. The president, Mrs. C. B. Bowman, was in charge.

"They keep tasting better and better to me!"

Every Chesterfield is like every other one. No matter how many you smoke, the last Chesterfield of the day is just as smooth and sweet—as cool and comfortable—as the first.

They're milder, too! Chesterfield uses only mild, ripe, sweet tobaccos—the smoothest and ripest that grow.

Notice, too, how white and fine the paper is. It's the purest that money can buy.

All this care...to make Chesterfields taste better—to make them milder. And millions of Chesterfield smokers say it in their own way—"They Satisfy!"

GOOD...they've got to be good!

Muhlenberg's Aid Solicited By Owen D. Young

Chairman Of President's Relief Committee Writes To Weekly

Muhlenberg College had attempted to schedule a post-season game with some other outstanding team from this district for charity but were unable to play such a charity game. As a result unless some last minute arrangements are made Muhlenberg will not sponsor a charity football game.

However the authorities have just received a very important letter from Mr. Owen D. Young, chairman of the Committee on Mobilization of Relief Resources of the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief.

On October 14th in the capacity of chairman of the Committee on Mobilization of Relief Resources to which I have been summoned by the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief, I issued a call to all colleges and schools in the United States having football teams to give to unemployment relief the gross receipts, less actual expenses, of one game. I asked that, if the proceeds of a regular game could not be devoted to this purpose, or a substantial percentage of the receipts of one or more games, that extra or special games be scheduled to raise these funds. I did this because it is an excellent thing for the students of our colleges and schools to recognize the situation which the President has characterized as a National emergency, and to have a part, with the rest of us, in meeting it.

The response to this call has splendidly justified my expectations. One hundred and ten colleges have completed or are completing arrangements for special games. Eighteen others have pledged themselves to give all or part of the net proceeds of regular games. The list, we know, will be substantially increased before the football season is over.

E. K. Hall, of Hanover, chairman of the Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Football Association, who has taken over, at my request, direction of this project, very truly points out that "the response of the members of the football teams, most of which have already played through long, hard schedules, has been 100 per cent. Those responsible for the administration of the schools and colleges have done their part, and not without difficulty".

One very important aspect of the undertaking remains to be considered, considered with the same fine, hearty enthusiasm with which the other details have been taken up.

We must have spectators as well as players at these games. It is as spectators that the overwhelming majority of the students will have their part in achieving the purpose for which these games will be played. My call was issued to all students, not merely to the members of the football squads alone. It is to the spectators that the unemployed must look for the assistance to which they are so well entitled.

WEEKLY CHAPEL PROGRAM NOVEMBER 30TH

Monday, Nov. 30th—Morning Suffrages.

Tuesday, Dec. 1st—Song Service.

Wednesday, Dec. 2nd—Lectures by Dr. Haas on the Eighth Commandment.

Thursday, Dec. 3rd—Organ Recital.

Friday, Dec. 4th—Lecture by Dr. C. M. Jacobs on "Christian Evidences."

Fourth Of Series Of Lectures Given By Dr. C. M. Jacobs

The fourth in the series of five lectures on "Christian Evidences" by Dr. C. M. Jacobs of Mt. Airy Seminary was delivered during the chapel service on Friday morning, November 20, 1931.

"Many people", said Dr. Jacobs believe in a life of love—according to Paul—for, God is Love. Faith is a distinctly Christian word. There is no word in the Old Testament like it."

During his remarks Dr. Jacobs quoted from Dr. Rufus Jones' definition of faith in which the latter says, "Faith is an insight or discovery of reality which makes it possible for a man to stand anything the universe can do to him. It is a discovery of truth".

The speaker continued with many interesting remarks among which were the following highlights—

"The acceptance of the teachings of Jesus is an act of faith.

Faith in Christ is not a substitute for faith in God. Through faith in Christ we come to God.

Christian faith is an active life. Every man must fit his own life into a set pattern. This pattern is set by God.

God's will is law—to the Christian. Christ is the revealer of God's will—he is an example of perfect life."

Dr. Jacobs comes to us with inspiring messages which require concentration and thought. It is to be urged that all students make a conscientious effort to hear the last address of his series.

SUPPORT THE DANCE OF THE "M" CLUB!

They Supported Your Band!

Preparations have practically been completed for the Varsity "M" Club dance to be held in the ballroom of the Americus Hotel, Friday, December 4th.

Art Mickley and his Fantasy Orchestra have been secured for the occasion and his interpretations of the latest dance melodies promises to make this affair more enjoyable than ever.

The fact that this year the affair is to be formal will certainly lend something to the atmosphere of the occasion and will do much to make this dance one of the social high lights of the season. Dancing will extend from 9 P. M. to 2 A. M.

Tickets may be secured from any of the following committee: George Majercik, chairman, William Horine, Denton Quick, Clyde D. Symons, Charles O'Brien, Paul Weber and Albert Greenberg.

PHI SIGMA IOTA HOLDS SECOND MEETING

The second meeting for the year 1931-32, of Lambda Chapter of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary Romance Language fraternity was held on the evening of Thursday, November 19, 1931 at the home of Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere.

Following the custom of having some member of the organization present a paper at each meeting, Dr. Corbiere discussed the religious play "El-Magico Prodigioso" ("The Prodigious Magician") by Pedro Calderón, a seventeenth century Spanish author.

Dr. Corbiere used this author and his play as a starting point for his discussion which led into the development of the Spanish drama.

The evening was concluded by the singing of French songs and the serving of a delightful "French" luncheon of pumpkin pie, cider and pretzels by Mrs. Corbiere.

The next meeting of the group will be held on December 10, 1931.

Rev. E. P. Pfatteicher Sunday Vesper Speaker

"The Will of God and Our Daily Bread" Subject of Discussion

The public Vesper Service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, November 22, 1931, at four o'clock. The Reverend E. P. Pfatteicher, D.D., LL.D., Ph.D., President of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, preached the afternoon's sermon, "The Will of God and Our Daily Bread."

The organ prelude by Dr. Marks was the "Fantasietta avec Variations" by Dubois.

"Out of life's turmoil today", said the Reverend E. P. Pfatteicher, "'blessed are all they that take refuge in Him'." The text which is the basis for my discussion is: "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth. Give us this day our daily bread." (Matthew 6: 10, 11).

"Life hangs together so that if one little part of it were missing, the whole would be out of order. Life reminds me of a mosaic pin of my mother's; as soon as she lost one stone from it, she was obliged to put her pin away. Like this construction of life, is that of the Ten Commandments and that of the Lord's Prayer. If one law or one petition were missing, the whole would suffer and become useless.

"My topic", said Reverend Pfatteicher, "involves the third and last petition of the "Kingdom of God" grouping in the Lord's Prayer and the first petition about our earthly life. Just as closely as these two different petitions follow each other, is there a relationship between them. So there must be a unity in our discussion of the spiritual and earthly phases of life.

"Everyone, with no exceptions, is interested with the correlation of re-

Muhlenberg And Villanova To Meet In Debate

Capitalism Will Be Topic Of Formal Argument

The varsity debate squad will swing into action on Thursday, December 3rd against the teams representing Villanova College. After the meeting last Thursday, Coach Gillespie announced the starting teams for the 'Berg squad. The affirmative team will be composed of Silverman '36 and Yerger '35, first speakers; Donald B. Mancke '32 second speaker and Donald B. Hoffman '32 third speaker. The negative team will be composed of Ray K. Heist '33 and Alton Clauser '34 first speakers; Henry M. M. Richards '32 second speaker and Donold V. Hock '32 third speaker.

Due to another engagement Kenneth H. Koch '32 will not be able to start in the first debate but will be back on the squad after the Christmas vacation period.

The question being used for debate this year is "Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle".

Debates have been arranged with Cedar Crest, F. and M., Temple, Gettysburg, Ursinus, Dickinson, and other colleges in this vicinity. The varsity team last year won nine and lost five debates and during the past three years has won 23 and lost 9 debates making a fine record.

Five seasoned veterans were left from the squad of last year in the personages of Koch, Mancke, Richards, Hock and Hoffman. Koch, Hock and Hoffman have been on the squad for three years, Mancke two years and Richards one year. Together with some excellent material available in the Sophomore, Junior and Freshman class the team should have an excellent showing this year.

O. D. K. Announces New Membership Schedule

Qualifications Raised by New System To Be Put Into Effect

With the approach of the second semester in sight, when Juniors will be eligible for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, the local Circle felt the need for revising several parts of the point schedule as drawn up last year, and at the meeting of the Circle on Monday night, November 16, drew up, and passed upon the following list of points for campus activities. Phi Kappa Tau Invites Faculty To Series Of Discussion Hours

Eta chapter of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, thru the efforts of its president, Kenneth H. Koch, has succeeded in inaugurating a series of discussion hours with prominent educators, attorneys and businessmen which will be held bi-weekly at the fraternity house on Liberty Street.

The group will be honored by having as its first leader Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, who will be present on the evening of Wednesday, December 2, 1931.

The faculty of Muhlenberg College is cordially invited to be present at this informal gathering which will begin at seven o'clock.

Eto chapter in instituting this series which will be called "Modern Day Problems" is establishing a precedent, in an endeavor to aid its members and pledges by providing an intellectual as well as a social training.

The plan has been tried at many midwest colleges and it is attaining meritorious approval.

"Hard Times" Dance In Library Draws Large Student Support

Beautiful Decorations Help To Make Dance Successful

The "Hard Times" Dance, sponsored by "Haps" Benfer and Omicron Delta Kappa was held on Friday evening, November 20, in the Library Building. The proceeds of this dance will go to the Community Chest Fund. The floor was very beautifully decorated in Cardinal and Gray, and presented a picturesque scene, as 150 couples danced to the Strains of Steve Fisher's Muhlenberg Cardinals, a band which is rapidly gaining recognition. Arrangements have been made so that there will be no expense encountered. The floor and programs were furnished free of charge, and the band volunteered its services gratis. The dancing was from 9 to 1. In his successful efforts to make the dance unprecedented, Harry A. Benfer, registrar of the College, was ably assisted by Mrs. Benfer, Miss Ruth Bernheim, and the Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity. It is the first in a series of affairs which Mr. Benfer plans for the student body.

Since it became necessary for the Muhlenberg Students to contribute to the Chest, this means served the purpose very well.

Registrar Benfer Makes Interesting Survey

Statistics For Two-Year Period Are Presented

One of the most interesting surveys which the Registrar has made during the past few years has been those along the religious alignments of the students, the prospective professions they expect to enter and the states from which they come.

This week for the benefit of the student body and particularly the alumni we present the survey of the religious denominations at Muhlenberg College. This survey covers a two year period.

From this survey it can readily be seen that the two predominating religions are Lutheran and Reformed. Of the religions which are present this year we find that Russian Orthodox and Universal branches were not represented last year. On the other hand the Evangelial Congregational, United Protestant, Reformed Jew, and All Saint churches were represented last year and not this year.

The number of Lutheran students remains fairly constant from year to

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. John A. W. Haas spoke last week at the inauguration of the new president of Wagner College in Staten Island, New York.

Professor W. D. Coder will give a talk on Eugene O'Neill's play "Mourning Becomes Electra" on Monday, November 30, for a woman's club in Bethlehem.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA INITIATES NEW MEN

Five seniors and one faculty member were initiated into Kappa Phi Kappa, professional educational fraternity, Thursday evening, November 19th.

Mr. Roland Hartman, instructor in the Business Department was taken into faculty membership. The seniors initiated into full membership were Stanley Carney, Pierre Thomas, Willard Hausman, Harold Siegel and Paul Stoneback.

After the initiation ceremonies in the Educational Psychology lab, the old members and the initiates adjourned to the Commons where a splendid meal was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. "Haps" Benfer.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for this affair was composed of Franklin Giltner, Donald B. Hoffman and Harold Heiter. Officers of the local chapter are: Edward Barndt, President; Paul Doepper, Vice-President; John Detweiler, Secretary and Sam Bortel, Jr., Treasurer. Faculty sponsors of the group are Dr. Carl W. Boyer and Dr. Isaac Miles Wright.

CASA LOMA ORCHESTRA TO BE AT SENIOR BALL

The Senior Ball to be held December 15th at the Americus Hotel promises to be one of the best affairs ever held at Muhlenberg.

Gene Goldkette's famous Casa Loma orchestra of fourteen artists has been secured by those in charge, and their tantalizing and "hot" rhythms for which they are particularly noted should in itself be inducement enough to make the sale of tickets comparatively easy. The price of the precious pasteboards is $4.00 per couple. Dancing will continue from 9 P. M. to 2 A. M.

The committee consists of the following: George Majercik, chairman, Donald Hoffman, Charles Saul, Morris Efrom, Franklin Giltner, Ferdinand Palladino, and Richard Thiede.

NOTICE!

Any organization wishing to have the date and time of its meetings published in the Coming Events column will please turn this information over to the Editor not later than Friday noon one week in advance. Thank you.

Managing Editor, this issue, EDWARD G. DIEHL

Allentown, Pa., November 24, 1931

Will You Help?

A great deal of interest has been aroused on the local campus within the last few days by the statements made in certain portions of the paper. One of the first results of this interest was the discovery of the lack of a platform for the "Weekly". This was brought to the notice of the editorial staff of the "Weekly". In an effort to only present such planks in the "Weekly" platform as meet the approval of the majority of the students a period of two weeks will be spent to canvass the students for their opinions concerning needed reforms on the campus. The best co-operation of all the students is necessary so that as strong a platform as possible may be presented and backed by the "Weekly".

While there may be some doubt as to what can be accomplished by the introduction of a platform into the "Weekly" for the entire student body still the fact remains that by co-operation and union the students may be able to gain more than if individual groups or sections attempted to work for various things on the campus. With co-operation the faculty, governing board of the athletic association, trustees, and the administration will at least be made aware of the fact that the student body is backing certain movements and is actively supporting these movements. Possibly something may be accomplished.

Charity

Now that the smoke of "battle" has cleared away, it is the purpose of the writer to prove to his readers, that this article was not written in a moment of passion.

A week has passed and during that time the writer has given serious thought to the subject to be discussed. "Charity", I wonder what "Charity" means. According to the meaning the writer received the past Thursday in chapel, it would imply a compulsory "donation." The idea of giving to a society because it is the student body's duty, since the people of Allentown have so generously supported Muhlenberg College, should be cast aside.

Even though the city has given to the college, it is the purpose of the writer to call to the reader's attention that "charity" envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up." Compulsory "charity" should not be, "and though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing." Charity comes from the heart, not from the pocketbook. And when offering prayers for the entrance of charity into the hearts of the people, it should not be done with the intention of reprimanding the congregation. Personally, if the writer is told to give financial aid to an organized charity organization, it will be refused, however, upon receipt of knowledge that a family is in need of sustenance, the writer will do whatever is in his power.

An interested Student.

Thanksgiving??

First of all—this article is not a sermonette but an editorial, and is to be considered as such.

The Thanksgiving period is here!

Oh yes—that means a football game, a good meal, a chance to see "her" again, and many other factors resultant from tradition and conditions of society.

To be sure, Thanksgiving day will be an absolute farce, and only a day for vacation, if the Spirit of the day is not carried out. The last Thursday in November has been set aside as a holiday to enable everyone, and not only a few conscientious folks, to give thanks and to remind himself that he is under obligation.

No man or woman is "self-made." We have gotten to where we are and shall go to where we plan only thru our own assiduousness plus the assistance of others.

Therefore, sometime during our Recess at the end of this week, let us all be men enough to express our gratitude to our God, to our parents, and to all persons who have aided us in any way. The Latin motto, "Facta non verba" should help us a great deal in our efforts for, words are momentary but deeds are everlasting.

College students everywhere are coming to understand the fact that there is a great deal of hookum in the newspaper columns about "super coaches," "masters of strategy," and the like. Pop Warner, and the late Rockne would have been able to do nothing with the material which Holstrom had to work with this year.

This statement is welcome news to the 'Berg students who have seen and understood the difficulties under which George Holstrom has been working this year.

Harvard University leads the list of college endowments with a mere $108,000,000 to its credit.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

Who Can Tell?

We hear rumors about town that there are some rather important changes scheduled in the management of athletics at the college—and by that we don't mean to insinuate that George Holstrom will not be back. If the graduate manager's word is to be considered as reliable George Holstrom WILL be back next year as head coach.

Rumor also had it that J. Birney Crum, former teammate of Holstrom, and popular coach at Allentown High school, would succeed George as mentor. This is definitely no more than a groundless rumor. Birney says that he would have nothing to do with Muhlenberg's team under any conditions. No one can blame Crum for his attitude. There isn't many a coach who would even attempt to develop a team from the material that is given George Holstrom.

Does Muhlenberg have any scouts out after good material? If not, why not? That particular phase of football comes under the graduate manager's field and judging from appearances it is a field which has not been cultivated.

As we stressed before, no coach can develop a team from the kind of material Holstrom has to work with. We know of a man who at present holds a varsity berth who, when he came out for the varsity team, didn't know what was meant by "blocking."

But every school has its traditions and whether they are outworn or not they seem to just persist in hanging around.

———M———

At least we are glad to see that the comment appearing in this column is breeding discussion and a real fight. The only way the student body can get what it is after is by fighting for it.

———M———

In the Old Days

Once in the dear dead days beyond recall Muhlenberg had a department of chemistry. Don't let that be misleading—it has a splendid department now. But there's a story told about Dr. Davis Garber, who at one time was the professor in that department, which shows just how education has progressed.

Some of the students in the college sometime during the latter part of the past century were performing an experiment when the subject exploded. The result was that the remander of the chemistry course was confined to lectures.

———M———

Quoted from Real Life

Head cheer leader: "Let's give him a '32."

Associate cheer leader: "O, I won't help with that one, I don't like it.

———M———

All apologies to Mr. William S. Ritter. By a mere accident we called him William SEIP Ritter. But to correct that statement may we say that his name is really Mr. William STANLEY Ritter, B.S. STANLEY is the middle name, not SEIP.

———M———

Muhlenberg is fortunate in having an ENERGETIC group of cheer leaders. Yes sir, they can dance, smoke pipes, chew tobacco, lean on megaphones, walk around, watch a football game, they excel on dates, manage debating teams, perhaps they can sing, in fact they can do anything but lead cheers.

Next year's athletic budget should include expenses for the cheer leaders to go to at least one or two football games and see how cheering should be done. Any project, even cheering, needs a good leader.

The band has shown what it can do with a competent leader. Perhaps the student body could do the same about its cheering.

———M———

And now, last but not least, congratulations to "Haps" Benfer. If there's one man at Muhlenberg who has the interest of every student and the interest of the college and the community at heart it's "Haps".

The hard times dance on Friday evening, a brain child of the registrar's and sponsored by him reflected credit on the college in every quarter of the city. The idea of college men devoting the profits of a social function to charity was unheard of before.

The dance was a huge success and the thanks of the student body is due to Mr. Benfer. We understand that he plans more similar functions throughout the year. Here's to you "Haps."

A man with real sales resistance is one who can listen to the radio night after night and still not buy any toothpaste or cigarettes.

'Berg Loses Hard Game to D-Son 14-6

Majercik's Long Run For Berg's Touchdown Feature

D-Son Uncorks Brilliant Passing Attack To Win Game

BERG LINE PLAYS BEST DEFENSIVE GAME OF YEAR

Muhlenberg was defeated by Dickinson by a 14 to 6 score in a game which decided the cellar championship of the conference. Majercik, 'Berg's speedy backfield man, scored the first touchdown late in the first quarter when he caught a punt from Hughes in midfield and dashed down the side of the field for the score.

The Holstromites surprised the visitors by their flashing attack and stubborn defense, but the boys from Carlisle opened up a brilliant forward passing attack which was responsible for long gains, and their first touchdown.

Muhlenberg showed great improvement in its punting, several times getting off quick kicks which placed them out of danger. Wilkinson, Muhlenberg back, showed fine form and several times broke away for long gains.

First Period

Klotz kicked to the 15-yard line where Johnson recovered a fumble and ran to his 40-yard line. Hughes carried the ball out of bounds for a 6-yard gain. Johnson was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Kennedy crashed thru the line 6 yards for a first down. Johnson made 1 yard thru guard. Kennedy made 1 yard. Meyers threw a 20-yard forward pass which was knocked down. Hughes kicked to Wilkinson who ran to the 35-yard line where he was tackled by Meyers. Gramley made 1 yard thru tackle. Krauss crashed thru tackle for 7 yards. The Dickinson line held and the visitors recovered the ball on downs. Muhlenberg was given a 5-yard penalty. Johnson went thru the line for 1 yard. Wilkinson caught a punt from Hughes and was downed on his 40-yard line. Wilkinson crashed off tackle for 4 yards. Dickinson was off sides and received a 5-yard penalty. Majercik crashed thru the line for a first down on Dickinson's 45-yard line. Wilkinson ran around end for a gain of 5 yards. Gramley made 2 yards thru center. Majercik twisted his way thru the line for a 3-yard gain. Wilkinson took the ball over for a first down. Krauss carried the ball to the 30-yard line. Gramley went thru tackle for 4 yards. Wilkinson was stopped for a 2-yard loss on an attempter reverse. Majercik threw a pass to Gramley who failed by inches to receive it. Dickinson took the ball on downs. Kennedy was thrown by Klotz for a 1-yard loss. Hughes punted to Majercik who received the ball in midfield and ran down the sidelines thru the entire visiting team for a touchdown. Klotz failed to make the kick for the extra point.

Score: Muhlenberg, 6; Dickinson, 0.

Klotz kicked to Meyers who received the ball on his 10-yard line and ran to his 32-yard line. Johnson made 1 yard around end. Hughes crashed thru the line for 8 yards. Kennedy was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Hughes punted out of bounds on the Muhlenberg 45-yard line. Majercik threw a pass which was knocked down. Wilkinson got off a hurried kick over the goal line and Dickinson received the ball on their 20-yard line. Kennedy broke loose and dashed to his 40-yard line where he was tackled by Majercik. Johnson was stopped at the line. Meyers threw a 45-yard forward pass to Vivadelli who was tackled by Majercik on the Muhlenberg 15-yard line as the quarter ended.

Score: Muhlenberg, 6; Dickinson, 0.

Second Period

Hughes crashed thru the line for 6 yards. Lehman went thru center for 2 yards. Hughes was smeared at the line for no gain. Meyers threw a forward pass to Lehman who caught the ball on the Muhlenberg 3-yard line for a first down. Meyers went thru for 2 yards. Hughes carried the ball within inches of the goal line. Johnson was stopped at the line. The 'Berg line held and Hughes was stopped. 'Berg received the ball on downs. Klotz punted to the 50-yard stripe. A line plunge was stopped for a 1-yard gain. Hughes threw a pass to Lehman who was tackled by Morrison on Muhlenberg's 30-yard line. Meyers threw a pass to Vivadelli who ran to 'Berg's 10-yard line. Johnson went thru for four yards. Johnson went around end for 2 yards. Hughes crashed thru for 2 yards. Meyers threw a pass to Hughes who stepped over the line for a touchdown. Hughes kicked the extra point.

Score: Dickinson, 7; Muhlenberg, 6.

Hughes kicked to Majercik who dashed to the 35-yard line. Wilkinson crashed thru for 4 yards. Weiner broke thru for a 4-yard gain. Gramley went over for a first down on the 'Berg 48-yard line. Weiner was stopped at the line. A forward pass was knocked down. A second pass was knocked down and Muhlenberg was given a 5-yard penalty. Klotz punted to Meyers who ran out of bounds on his 30-yard line. Lehman was stopped at the line. Meyers threw a long pass which was batted down by Wilkinson. Dickinson was off-sides and received a 5-yard penalty. Meyers threw a pass which Weiner intercepted and ran to Dickinson's 30-yard line. Evanosky was stopped at the line. Wilkinson crashed thru for 3 yards. Weiner threw a pass to the ground. Weiner threw a second pass which was knocked down and Muhlenberg received a 5-yard penalty. Dickinson received the ball on downs. Meyers was smeared with no gain. Meyers threw a pass to Hughes who ran to his 44-yard line for a first down. Weiner intercepted a pass on his 45-yard line and ran to the visitors 45-yard line. A shoe-string pass from Weiner to Wilkinson, who was waiting far over on the opposite side of the field, was successful and Wilkinson ran to the visitor's 15-yard line for a first down as the period ended.

Score: Dickinson, 7; Muhlenberg, 6.

THE SPORTS REPORTER THINKS ALOUD

The "Brown and White" of Lehigh desires to know if Allenstadt is in America. Since Lehigh is trying to claim the national championship on the strength of their victory over Muhlenberg, why not send in a claim to the League of Nations for the Deutschland Championship instead? After all, Bethlehem is only a suburb of Hellertown.

What a man this "Corp" Reinartz must have been! He is, I think, Muhlenberg's greatest track figure. Here are some of his achievements: on April 15, 1922, in a track meet against Lehigh, he captured seven first places and one second for a total of 38 points. Incidently, the Muhls won the track meet.

Against Brooklyn Poly Tech, that same year, he took seven firsts and tied for another first; he was entered in only eight events.

In the Middle Atlantic Championships he gathered two firsts and one second, which enabled our college to place fifth with his 13 points.

In the U. of P. Relays, he scored his greatest feat when he took second in the Pentathlon, competing against the best athletes in the country.

To finish our biography, "Corp" was the captain and coach of the team. W'at a man!

The Reed Harris-Columbia controversy, in which the former as editor of the Columbia "Spectator" declared that football at that particular institution was a "semi-professional racket," evolved much discussion throughout the East.

As you remember, some "dreat big football mens" threatened to beat up the editor, if he continued to "think out loud." The Athletic Association demanded his resignation; Lou Little murmured something about feeding the fiery writer poison; and the papers printed yards and yards on the subject.

If Harris was "shooting his mouth off" and had no proof of his statements, they should have let him talk. Given enough rope, he would have hanged himself. But what did happen? The authorities connected with Columbia football endeavored to clamp the disturbing element. The result was publicity over the whole nation, and sentiment more or less for the young student writer. Right or wrong, Harris had the sympathy of the public with him.

It is a bad policy to deny too vigorously.

You know that a double negative always makes an affirmative. "If you don't hear no evil, or don't see no evil, you can't speak no evil."

REGULAR MEETING HELD BY STUDENT COUNCIL

The meeting of the Student Council held on November twelfth was concerned mainly with the failure of the Freshman Tribunal to enforce the rules and regulations demanded of the underclassmen.

Both the Sophomores and Freshman have been guilty of using the steps leading to the mailroom. This rule will be enforced rigidly in the future.

The failure of the tribunal to have the first year men police the campus resulted in the order that every Tuesday at 12:50 the Freshman must report to clean the campus.

The rest of the meeting was made up of the usual business routine.

Holstrom To Be Back As Coach Next Year

Graduate Manager Announces Appointment of Holstrom for Another Year

"George Holstrom will be back at Muhlenberg College next season as head football coach, and you can not make that too emphatic," was the statement given out by Guerney Afflerbach, graduate manager of athletics in answer to rumors that Coach Holstom would be given his release because of the present poor football season.

"Holstrom is not in any way to blame for the miserable showing of Muhlenberg in football this season," said Afflerbach. "Rather it is remarkable that he has been able to do as well under the conditions. Holstrom is in good standing at Muhlenberg, and there is no doubt whatever but that he will be back on the job next season."

WITH OUR OPPONENTS OVER THE WEEK END

Lafayette came from behind to defeat a hard fighting Lehigh team by a score of 13-7 in the annual classic of the Lehigh Valley.

The Army had no trouble in sending Ursinus home on the short end of a 56-4 score. Ursinus was without the services of three of its star players due to the fact that it was discovered they were playing football with another team.

Juniata defeated Waynesburg by a 25 to 6 score.

St. Joseph came into the win column by defeating Washington College 20 to 0.

Western Maryland gave 'Berg rooters something to ponder over when they defeated Mt. St. Mary's 20 to 0, as Gettysburg had defeated Mt. St. Mary's 6-0 in the beginning of the season.

COLLEGES MOBILIZING FOR CHARITY GAMES

In line with the movement for football games for charity the following teams have completed arrangements for special games.

College Student Returns Sobered

The college student, according to a recent article published in the New York Times, returns to the campus, stripped of his coonskin coat and determined to live without fall house parties, automobiles, and the like. Even the long condemned flask has been drained. Another thing that is quite hard to understand is the substitution of the once dreaded "parlor date" for night clubs and movies. The personal advisor is no longer called upon to mould campus heroes and to delve into complexes, but to find a job for the student. In other words, even the carefree atmosphere of college is being pervaded by the grim appearance of the wolf.

At some of the largest universities in the country, girls are literally fighting for restaurant work. The zenith of undergraduate ambition is the role of butler. According to a report submitted by Richard P. Doherty, director of business research at Boston University, hard times are harder on the campus, in terms of purchasing power, than in the outside world. Tuition, in most colleges, has been raised instead of lowered and board remains uniform.

Even from traditionally gilded centers of learning, as Princeton, come admonitions from the honored heads of said schools not to bestow upon their offsprings too little "long greens" lest they become "permanently embittered thru unnecessary privitations." The rah-rah boy is slowly but surely evacuating the American campus. The crash of 1929 has been likened to an unforgettable "morning-after". Education and not enjoyment is now the by-word in college today. Needless to say, this change of attitude is greatly noted by the college professor.

Many of the students look at this new phase of college life with grimness, but the majority have "broken themselves in" gradually but happily to the change. The wolf is not feared and since he is here, the general attitude of the students seems to be to call him in, to father him, and then to send him forth on the football field to act in the capacity of mascot.

'BERG MULES TO FACE GREEN TERRORS SAT.

When Muhlenberg journeys down to Baltimore to play the Green Terrors, they will enter the game with the odds decidedly against them.

Dick Harlow's team will endeavor to make it four straight over the Cardinal and Grey. Last year 'Berg lost 25 to 0, not being able to stop their strong attack at all. But in 1929, 'Berg gave them a great battle. Outweighted by a large degree and the "under-dogs" of the "dopesters" 'Berg arose and played a great game, holding them to a 7-0 score.

As we all know, 'Berg has shown very little this year. Losing to Lehigh 33-0 put a very black look to the season. Johns Hopkins defeated Lehigh 12-6 and Western Maryland defeated Johns Hopkins 40-0. Comparative scores do not necessarily mean much, but this does give you an idea of Western Maryland's strength. They also put up a great battle against Washington and Jefferson, losing by one point, 14-13.

This will be the final game of the year and it will be the last chance for George Majercik, Polly Palladino, Stan Carney, Dick Giltner, Pete Thomas, Leon Godshall and Sam Bortel to play for Muhlenberg. Therefore those seven men will strive their hardest to end up their football career with a victory.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR FOURTH ANNUAL LUTHERAN TOUR OF EUROPE

Paul G. Schmidt, manager of the St. Olaf Choir of Northfield, Minnesota, announces that arrangements have just been completed for the fourth Lutheran European tour which is to take place in the summer of 1932.

The tour will include France, Germany, Switzerland, and England. For those who wish to go to Italy, an extension has been provided through Florence, Milan, Genoa, Venice, and other Italian cities.

There will also be an extension to the Scandinavian countries, so that opportunity will be given to see the most beautiful sections of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark.

year. Most of the other religious branches vary slightly. No radical jump from one year to another has been experienced by any of the group. An increase of eight, noted in the Reformed and Episcopal, were the largest increases.

The composite chart of both years is listed here:

Next week or as soon as possible the composite chart of the trend of professions in the college will be given for the past two years.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING OF NOVEMBER 19, 1931

Freshmen Offenders Called To Judgement

The Student Council held its regular meeting on Thursday evening, November 19th, at seven o'clock.

The business of the meeting centered around the Freshmen offenders. These fellows failed at some time or other to report to Bob Geiger or Sam Bortel. Sixteen men appeared to receive their sentence. Each case was an individual affair.

After a short discussion on various topics, the meeting was adjourned.

Tennis Outlook Is Good For Next Year

Long Schedule Arranged

The outlook for Muhlenberg's tennis team during the 1932 season is very bright. We have four veterans from last year's team. Weiser, Cooper, Roehrig and Fritsch. These men all did very well last year. New men who are very likely to make the team are Van Buren, H. Miller and Abbott.

The schedule planned next year is unusually heavy and it is hoped that the team will show up well against the opposing colleges. Manager Drach is planning to secure the aid of a faculty representative who will devote some of his time to the coaching of the team. If this can be accomplished, it is certain that an improved organization will represent Muhlenberg.

The administration of the College has promised support to the manager in the up-keep of the tennis courts which have greatly been improved this fall. It is expected that next year's team will be able to have a captain elected by the coach of athletics, the faculty representative and the manager.

At present the Cardinal and Grey squad has the champion of Reading among its players in the personage of Harold Weiser. Another outstanding star, who was past junior champion of Allentown, is Clifford Roehrig. The most steady player and one who can always be depended upon, is Charles Cooper.

The schedule opens Friday, April 8th and includes 13 matches which will be completed by about the 21st of May. A new university to appear on our schedule will be Temple of Philadelphia.

The tentative schedule is as follows:

April 8—Gettysburg, at home.
April 16—Phila. School of Osteopathy, (pending).
April 22—Temple, away.
April 23—Lehigh, away.
April 27—Franklin and Marshall, away.
April 28—Elizabethtown, away.
May 2—Lehigh, at home.
May 4—Albright, at home.
May 6—Moravian, at home.
May 11—Lafayette, (pending).
May 13—Elizabethtown, at home.
May 16—Moravian, away.
May 18—Albright, away.
May 20—Ursinus, away.

SIGMA LAMBDA PI DANCE A SUCCESS

On Saturday, November 21, at the Sigma Lambda Pi house, the members entertained friends and members of the Dickinson chapter. In the evening a very successful radio party was held with twenty-two couples present.

The committee in charge consisted of Albert Greenberg, Charles Cooper and Leon Rosenberg. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. George Feldman.

ligion and daily life. The question which arises from the interest can be put into the modern expression with good effect: 'What are we going to get out of religion?' Even Peter once asked Jesus the same question. The Crusaders satisfied their natural desires by looting everywhere they went."

"Luther gives us our answer to the relationship of the spiritual and the temporal," continued Dr. Pfatteicher. "In his great hymn we read, 'Take they then our life, goods, fame child, and wife, when their worst is done, they yet have nothing won: the Kingdom ours remaineth.' Therefore he believes in putting temporal things second to spiritual."

"If we consider the relation between 'The Will of God and Our Daily Bread' through the ages, we will notice that there are three concepts of life. The first is the purely, or perhaps falsely, spiritual conception of life. Often this conception is misinterpreted and much trouble results. We even find this idea of 'Thy will be done' in the old Greek play of Aristophanes' 'The Clouds', as Socrates is pictured above the world in a basket, i.e., as an impractical person, purely spiritual.

"In Christianity some say that the Upper Room means everything; to attain to that high spirituality one must endure the prison and chains. They think that one is not a saint if he mingles temporal activities with his religion. Out of this conception grew the monasteries.

"Then came the Reformation" said Dr. Pfatteicher further, "that remarkable development of spiritual life and thought. Yet our problem was not answered then because of the great stress which diverted their attention from it.

"These purely spiritual people are unfitted to enter into our Lord's program for this world. We should say with Peter, when he was on the Mount of Transfiguration, 'It is well, Lord, for us to be here.' Yet there are those who won't unite with the church because there is no Upper Room.

"The second conception we consider is that purely materialistic and humanistic one. Today this idea of 'Give us this day our daily bread' has become a manifesto to man, and not to God. The proposed roads to freedom are Socialism, Anarchism, and Guilded Syndicalism.

"It has been said that 'The man who desires to create a new order must conquer man and nature, man is met by political and social organizations, nature by silence. There must be a motivation for this man and that is the devil. The evil one is given so that God can overcome him for us.

"The semi-popular and semi-scientific literature today claim that our daily bread is our right. This thought," declared Rev. Pfatteicher, "is a lament and a challenge to us, for here there is no connection with God. You know of that great manufacturer who is in a jam, like the rest of us, and how he is planning to force all his workers to have gardens.

"The idea is borrowed from a European philosopher and it is good, but some of us are not fitted for gardening. That would make me resent my employer's ordering me to have a garden. It is serfdom when I must surrender my leisure time to my employer. To me my mind is my garden, and I know nothing about a real garden. At the end of the day I am tired from my physical exertions and not in a condition to make a garden.

"There is a vital connection between these two contrary concepts of life", Dr. Pfatteicher assured us. "I ask you, does Jesus have an idea for us on this question? Does His life give us a clue to its solution? What is the relation between a gracious God and a wretched me?

"In the world and by its standards Jesus was considered imprudent. He said, 'The foxes have holes and the birds their nests, but the Son of Man has not where to lay His head.' He cast no net but He told His disciples where to cast. So He wanted the world to have its daily bread, He believed that it would be filled if it only would seek first the Kingdom of God.

The Gospels make this thought clear, especially in the description of Gethsemane, 'not My will but Thine be done.' It is Jesus, we see, who has the Supreme Purpose, He connects humanity and its more than purely economically relations.

"People now want more boys' and girls' camps so that the children can come closer to nature and God. Therefore we conclude that the world must have artificialities. For the same purpose we have the suburbs today. This modern, accumulistic world desires the simpler things, people flock to Canada and to the South Sea.

"We can conclude',, said Dr. Pfatteicher, "that our life lacks the essentials, there are bigger things than we possess. That is Jesus' philosophy, His obeying the will of His Father. So we Christians should associate with people to bring them into contact with a life that is worthwhile.

"We know, as the Psalmist phrases it, 'I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.' And the New Testament says, 'The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, lo, He was rich, for us He became poor; that through His power we might become rich.'

"How many will keep on thinking that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the temporal and religious issues? Or will Jesus provide an answer for you. Psalm 2 is a very great Psalm to my mind", concluded Dr. Pfatteicher, "for it portrays ably a turmoil like today's but finishes with: 'Blessed are all they that take refuge in Him' There are no spectres, or saints, or purely spiritual ones there, are there?"

Dr. Marks played for the offertory "Cantilena" by Stebbins and the Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Watson-Salter's "Praise the Lord, O My Soul." The Postlude by Dr. Marks was one of Gaul's, "Chant Triumphal." The Reverend R. W. Stine and the Chaplain, Reverend H. C. Cressman, read the Vesper service.

The preacher next Sunday will be the Reverend G. H. Kinard, M.A., Pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Allentown, Pa.

"You needn't tell me —I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

Milder because they're fresh

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FOLKS who smoke really fresh cigarettes made from choice sun-ripened tobaccos never have to give a thought to their throats.

That's because such fresh cigarettes retain natural moisture — and are gratefully smooth, cool, throat-friendly, mild.

Camels are the fresh cigarette — everyone knows that now — they're blended from the finest Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that money and skill can buy.

We would never dream of parching or toasting these choice sun-ripened tobaccos — that would only drive off or destroy the natural moisture that makes Camels fresh in nature's own mild way.

The Camel Humidor Pack protects a fine cigarette fresh with natural moisture — it could do little or nothing to freshen a cigarette that is dried-out or factory-stale.

If you smoke for pleasure, see for yourself what freshness means in mildness and flavor — switch to Camels for just one day — then leave them, if you can!

CHEATING REQUIRED

Cribbing was made compulsory on a quiz given recently in a University of Texas psychology class. Each student was directed to look at other papers, to compare answers, and "to cheat in any way provided you do not talk." The purpose of the test was entirely experimental, the material having been covered previously. The results have not yet been announced. It might be good strategy to flunk that exam.

Gamblers never bet on hockey because usually the game's on ice.

An Auburn student attending the Auburn-Georgia game in Atlanta spent the night in a bureau drawer in one of the large hotels.

MUHLENBERG'S AID SOLICITED BY OWEN D. YOUNG

From every point of view these games should be the most largely attended that have ever been played in this country. They will be marked by spectacular football. I am told, indeed, that it will be football beyond that which marked the regular schedules. In the number and the spirit of the people who attend them they ought to be great demonstrations of our determination to meet the emergency. The register of the turnstiles ought to run into the millions.

In my call I asked the senior classes of the colleges and schools to organize the students for attendance at the games. Through this message I am renewing this call, as the time for the games draws near. The response of the students should be unanimous, and I call on them to make it so. They should begin now their missionary work among their families and their friends.

I call, too, on the alumni to attend. I should like to know that as clubs and associations and individuals they will give every possible support. They have been having their part in meeting the emergency in other ways, and this is not at all to take the place of that participation. It is to be something over and above what they have already done or may have planned to do. We have need of every aid that can be rendered.

Through the "Muhlenberg Weekly" I call upon the present and former students of Muhlenberg College to make her contribution worthy of her traditions.

OWEN D. YOUNG.

JEWISH CHAPEL SERVICE

On Thursday morning, Nov. 18, the second in a series of talks was delivered by Mrs. Gottlieb, during the regular chapel service for Jewish students in the assembly room of the administration building.

The service was opened with the reading of the 133rd psalm. Mrs. Gottlieb was introduced and opened her address with a prayer. She spoke on the subject, Louis Brandeis and his rise to the high position he now retains. She defined genius, as the power of making continued efforts; that there is no defeat except from within, and no obstacles except those raised by ourselves.

The speaker for the next service has not as yet been announced, but the regular assembly will be held two weeks hence, due to the vacation interval.

Who's Who on the Campus

Howard Kaiser
A. T. O.

Behold the man, who needs no introduction, the Andrew Mellon of Muhlenberg campus. In the three years Howard has spent at 'Berg, he has distinguished himself scholastically and socially.

Dartmouth has every reason to be (green with envy) envious as it looks upon his splendid accomplishments; his first year being spent at that institution.

His many accomplishments are as follows: President of the Phi Alpha Theta; Varsity Track Manager; 1932 Ciarla Staff; Associate Business Manager of "Muhlenberg Weekly"; Debate Manager; member of "M" Club; Treasurer of M. C. A.; Treasurer Muhlenberg Business Association; Managerial Board; Cue and Quill Club; and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

We know that Kaiser will go into the business world, with the best wishes of his many friends and A. T. O. fraternity brothers, and will bring fame to his Alma Mater and his home town, Kew Gardens, Long Island, N. Y. Best of luck ole man.

BACHELORS OF R. H. ? ?

Do you know that a new course has been added to the curriculum? For a long time, most parents of Muhlenberg students have decried the situation that takes the student a few minutes away from the recreation hall: namely: classes. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has protested against making the pool-sharks, ping-pongers, and bridge players attend classes and thus keep them away from their beloved studies. Therefore a course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Recreation Hall has been added.

This new course includes such subjects as: Study and Methods of Pool; Psychology of Pool-Players; How to Play Pool; A Full Comprehensive Study of Billiards: Cause and Effects of Poolism; Ping Pong, a Science; History of the Ping-pong Ball; How to become an Expert Ping-ponger; How to play Bridge; How to Trump your Partner's Ace; Bridge for the Hoity-toity; How to Select a Correct Radio Program, etc.

—B. A. F.

The Student Council says it has heard that the newest move in the health campaign will be having all the Cedar Crest frosh wrapped in cellophane. We object to this drastic measure. They're fresh enough, as it is.

The First Thanksgiving Proclamation

"It is ordered that the 11th day of June throughout this jurisdiction shall be set apart for a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for His great and victorious mercies to our dear native country, for the comfortable and seasonable supplying us with moderate showers, and His mercy in withdrawing His afflicting hand from us."

An Account of the First Thanksgiving Celebration (Plymouth, December 11, 1621)

"Our corn did prove well; and, God be praised, we had a good increase of Indian corn. Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor sent four men on fowling, that so we might, after a special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors. Many of the Indians came amongst us, and amongst the rest their greatest king, Massasoit, with some ninety men whom for three days we entertained and feasted."

do more and more smokers say:

"I've changed to Chesterfield"

BECAUSE . . .

THEY'RE MILDER. It's the tobaccos! The mildest that money can buy. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads.

THEY TASTE BETTER. These tobaccos are put together right. Rich aroma of Turkish and mellow sweetness of Domestic, blended and cross-blended to Chesterfield's own BETTER TASTE.

THEY'RE PURE. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists. The purest cigarette paper made, tasteless, odorless. Sanitary manufacture . . . no hands touch your Chesterfields. They're as pure as the water you drink!

THEY SATISFY. You break open a clean, tight-sealed package. You light up a well-filled cigarette. Yes, sir . . . you're going to like this cigarette! And right there is where many a smoker changes to Chesterfield. They Satisfy!

GERMAN CLUB HOLDS CELEBRATORY NIGHT FOR PENNA. GERMANS

Features "Pumpernickle Bill" and Introduction Of New Members

Der Deutscher Verein, Muhlenberg's oldest departmental club, entertained its members with one of the most interesting programs ever presented, when Pennsylvania German Evening was celebrated on Monday, November 23, 1931.

Following the business session, the six new members, namely: Alan Hawman, Joseph Friedmann, William Kistler, Harold Miller, Paul Stoneback and Otto Saalfield were initiated.

The entertainment proper was conducted entirely in Pennsylvania German and consisted of the following features: Introductory remarks by Dr. Preston A. Barba; song duet by Ralph and Wilson Hartzell; Recitation, by Claude Wismer, John Kuehner, and Mervin Frantz; Quartette composed of Jerome Baer, Claude Wismer and the Hartzell brothers singing "Doktor Barba's Bowerei"; "Ghost Scene" from "Hamlet" starring Ralph Dinger as Hamlet and Jerome Baer as the Ghost of Hamlet's father.

As a climax to the already excellent presentations, Dr. Harry H. Reichard introduced the members of the club to Mr. Troxell of the "Allentown Morning Call", better known to a wide circle of readers by his pen name—"Pumpernickle Bill, who delighted them for half an hour with his humorous Pennsylvania German stories.

The evening was concluded with the singing of songs and the partaking of an excellent sauer kraut supper.

It is traditional for the club to dedicate one meeting in a year to Pennsylvania German, the language which is spoken a great deal in this locality, and Mr. Wilson Hartzell, who arranged the program, received many worthy commendations for its excellence.

The German Club under the faculty direction of Doctor Barba and Doctor Reichard is one of the most active groups on the campus, meeting regularly every two weeks and aiding its members not only socially but practically as well. The organization has a membership this year of forty-five men. The officers of the organization are: President, Paul W. Doepper; Vice President, Richard C. Klick; Secretary, Paul Gerhard; Treasurer, Charles Fritsch.

AUXILIARY TO GIVE ORGAN RECITAL HERE

The Muhlenberg Auxiliary will sponsor an organ recital by Harry A. Sykes, Mus. D., F. A.G. G., on Thursday evening, December 3rd in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

Mr. Sykes was granted his doctor of music degree by Muhlenberg College on May 29, 1929. He is organist of Trinity Lutheran Church at Lancaster, and also teacher of music in the Reformed Theological Seminary at Lancaster.

His program will consist of the following numbers, "March, Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar; "Romanza" by Sykes; "In Springtime" by Kinder; "Rone Poem, Finlandia" by Sibelius; A group of three selections "In Dulci Jubilo", "Air in D" and "Fugue a la Gigue" by Bach; "Evening Bells and Cradle Song" by MacFarlane; "Canyon Walls" by Clokey; "Adoration" by Sykes and "Hymn of Glory" by Yon concluded the program.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will donate the receipts of the silver offering towards payment of the organ, a gift of the auxiliary to the college. This program is but one of the many interesting programs which the Auxiliary has arranged throughout the year.

DR. HAAS PRESENTS SEVENTH OF SERIES ON THE "TEN" WORDS

"Stealing Attacks Personality of Individual"

Dr. John A. W. Haas delivered the seventh in a series of addresses on The Ten Commandments, during the regular chapel service on November 25, on the subject "Thou Shalt Not Steal". Dr. Haas intimated that stealing was not simply the objects we illegally appropriate, but also an attack upon the personality of the individual, and that greed, and jealousy are the premises of stealing. Not only is stealing taking something that belongs to someone else, but it may be taking something that is due someone else. We need an awakening of conscience in our social relations, for law itself does not satisfactorily act as a deterrent. This transgression must be treated in the Christian aspect, that God owns everything, and we are his debtors. Not only must we take and take, but we must also learn to give. The question asked eternally, but never fully answered beyond doubt,—What do we owe to our fellow man? is raised. The only answer available is, that we keep our hearts open and think of others in the midst of our good fortune.

Three New Windows Are Added To Chapel

Will Perpetuate Three Famous Lutheran Men

Through the generosity of friends of Muhlenberg College three new stain glass windows have been added to the chapel. The College has also obtained a temporary pulpit by which it is hoped the acoustics of the building will be greatly improved.

The three windows portray Dr. John A. W. Haas, Dr. W. A. Passavant, and Dr. C. P. Krauth in a manner which symbolizes their various accomplishments in life. The windows have been placed with the other portraits in the rear of the Chapel. These windows are complementary to the symbols in the front of the chapel. The new windows are creations of the D'Angelus Studio of Philadelphia, which also constructed the front windows.

When the chapel was constructed, efforts were made to eliminate any possible echo. For this reason a celotex ceiling was installed in the building. The celotex eliminated the echo but produced an obstruction for the proper reception of the human voice. The fact that the audience was so far distant from the speaker also produced a hindrance for the audience. It is hoped that the new pulpit will improve the acoustics of the building by bringing the speaker nearer the audience and also by placing him nearer the side of the chapel so that his voice will assume a new direction. It is hoped that the college will eventually obtain a permanent pulpit to take the place of the temporary one. The old pulpit will be retained but will only be used for student body chapel services. The new pulpit will be used for the Sunday services which, it is believed, should be better attended.

The new windows and their donors follow:

Dr. A. W. Passavant, by Olive N. and Estella Wilson Claus. Dr. Passavant was instrumental in founding orphanages in the United States.

Dr. C. P. Krauth, by The Lancaster Conference. Dr. Krauth was one of the foremost conservative reformers.

Dr. John A. W. Haas, Anonymous. President of Muhlenberg College and one of the leading Lutheran divines in the United States.

'BERG CLOSES SEASON WITH LOSS TO GREEN TERRORS 34-0

Smooth Working Western Maryland Machine Overwhelmes Battered Mules

MAJERCIK, GILTNER, CARNEY, PALLADINO, BORTEL AND THOMAS PLAY THEIR LAST GAME FOR 'BERG

Miller, Gramley and Wilkinson Also Play Stellar Game

Western Maryland defeated Muhlenberg 34-0. Dick Harlow's Green Terrors easily over-powered the small but game Cardinal and Grey. Greatly outweighed and facing defeat after the first 3 minutes, 'Berg never gave up but kept fighting thruout the entire game.

Bolton, Dougherty, Hoppe and Pincula starred for Western Maryland, while Miller, Gramley, Majercik, Giltner and Wilkinson played best for 'Berg. At the beginning of the game Wilkinson and Majercik ripped off gains for the Cardinal and Grey. Charlie Evanosky also hit the line with great power, but this lasted for only a few minutes. Wilkinson was injured and forced to leave the game early in the second period, and before the game was over Klotz, Majercik, Horine and Carter were taken out on account of injuries. Western Maryland did not have a fast or deceptive team, but won on their power and strength.

First Quarter

Bolton kicked off for Western Maryland to Evanosky, who fumbled, Wilkinson recovering on 'Berg's 15-yard line. A line play failed and Majercik's pass was grounded. Klotz punted to Doughty who returned to 'Berg's 35-yard line. Doughty made 4 yards off-tackle. Bolton hit center for 4 more. Doughty made a first down on 'Berg's 25-yard line. Bolton crashed thru tackle for 6 yards on the 10-yard line. On a reverse, Doughty ran around end for a touchdown. Jones placed kicked the extra point.

Score: Western Maryland, 7; Muhlenberg, 0.

Klotz kicked to Doughty who was tackled on his own 28-yard line. Bolton dashed thru a wide hole at tackle for 5 yards. Hoppe made it a first down on Western Maryland's 40-yard line. Bolton dashed thru center for 7 yards. Doughty made a first down at midfield. Miller threw Doughty for a 3-yard loss. Doughty's long pass was intercepted by Gramley. Wilkinson circled left end for 15 yards. Evanosky smashed thru tackle for 4 yards. Wilkinson hit the center of the line for 3 more yards. Evanosky then made a first down on Western Maryland's 40-yard line. Majercik sprinted out of bounds on Western Maryland's 28-yard line, a gain of 12 yards.

Wilkinson gained 3 yards thru the center of the line. Evanosky lost a yard. Majercik's pass was batted down by Bolton. Majercik's pass was incompleted over the goal line. Western Maryland got the ball on their 20-yard line. Two line plays netted 5 yards. Doughty kicked out of bounds on Western Maryland's 40-yard line. Wilkinson was thrown for a 3-yard loss. Majercik's pass was intercepted by Jones on his own 40-yard line. Jones made 7 yards at center. Bolton ran around end for a first down in the center of the field. Bolton made 10 yards and a first

Registrar Benfer Completes Survey Of Professions To Be Followed By 'Berg Students

Survey of Age Limits Of Students Also Prepared By Registrar's Office

After a great deal of research work by the registrar's office a group of statistics on the choice of professions of the students the various ages of the students, and the states from which Muhlenberg draws from, have been made available.

For the purpose of comparison the statistics for last year are also printed here.

PHI EPSILON TO GO NATIONAL DEC. 11-12

Will Become 50th Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu

In a little more than a week, December to be exact Phi Epsilon strong local fraternity will become the fiftieth chapter of Theta Kappa Nu a large and powerful national fraternity, exceeded in chapters only by Alpha Tau Omega. In Pennsylvania Theta Kappa Nu has several chapters at the following places: Gettysburg, Washington and Jefferson, Pitt and Thiel.

In the short period of three years Theta Kappa Nu was admitted to full senior membership in a combination of eleven local fraternities, which united in June, 1924. Within a short time the fraternity has established itself in some of the best colleges and universities in the country. The Grand Officers of the fraternity are: Grand Archon Winslow S. Anderson, Grand Scribe Otto R. McAtee, Grand Treasurer, Donald F. Lybarger and Grand Oracle Jerry H. Krenmyre, who helped make the fraternity the success that it is to-day.

Having its inception in the Aztecs Club, Phi Epsilon formally organized in the fall of 1921, and to date has become well known on and off the campus in scholarship activities and intra-mural sports. It has captured four out of five athletic cups, awarded as prizes.

Dr. John A. W. Haas To Deliver Address At Reading, Jan. 12

Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College, will deliver an address on Tuesday, January 12 in the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth Street near Cherry, Reading, Pa.

Each year for ten years this church has sponsored a series of lectures by leading American preachers.

Other preachers included in this year's series are Rev. Dr. Harris E. Kirk, pastor of Franklin Street Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Maryland; Dr. Robert E. Speer, Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.; Rev. Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

REV. DR. N. R. MELHORN TO BE VESPER SPEAKER

On Sunday, December 6th, the Rev. Dr. Nathan R. Melhorn, of Philadelphia, the editor of 'The Lutheran' will speak at the vesper service at Muhlenberg College at four P. M. His subject will be "The Kingdom of God Idea". Doctor Melhorn is not only a very capable writer ,but also an interesting and forceful speaker. He has often been invited to speak at large gatherings throughout our country. It will be a great opportunity for the people of Allentown to hear an outstanding message.

National Treasurer Of Phi Alpha Theta To Be 'Berg Student

Donald B. Hoffman Elected To Position At Recent Convention

The Muhlenberg chapter—Kappa—of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity received a high honor at the national convention with the election of Donald B. Hoffman, one of its members, to the position of National Treasurer. Mr. Hoffman is Vice-President of the local chapter.

The fifth bi-ennial convention of Phi Alpha Theta was held at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, on November 27-28, 1931. Representatives were present from chapters at Southern Methodist, Colorado State Teachers' College, Florida State Teachers' College, University of Arkansas, Ohio State, University of Pittsburgh, Muhlenberg and Denison University. Kansas, University of Illinois and U. of P. were not represented.

In addition to being elected to the office of National Treasurer, Mr. Hoffman served on two important committees—Nominating and Resolutions.

This convention marked ten years of growth of the fraternity and encouraging reports were given by all chapters.

Officers and members of the local chapter are Howard Kaiser, President; Donald B. Hoffman, Vice-President; Alan Hawman, Secretary-Treasurer; Kenneth H. Koch and G. Fredercik Gehr. Faculty members are Dr. Henry Mueller, Dr. J. Edgar Swain and Joseph Jackson.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEN SEE CLASSIC SLIDES

New Men Formally Initiated Into Organization

The second meeting of the Classical Club was held on Thursday evening, November 19, in the history room of the Ad. building.

A very interesting program of slides which had been secured from the State and from the Metropolitan Museum was presented. The slides were very fine and Mr Mattes gave a short explanation with each slide, being supplemented by comments from the members.

The new members were formally taken into the society. Novak, Mattes, Wolf, Dunlap, Frankfort, Ruoss. Mention was made by the President Mr. Klick as to plans for national organization. This will be discussed more in detail at the next meeting.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Managing Editor, this issue, WILMER J. WOLF

Allentown, Pa., December 1, 1931

There is a sore spot on our campus which has assumed proportions too large to be disregarded any longer by the more responsible element of the student body.

This particular ulceration has, by some hook or crook, wormed his way into the graces of the administration, and, having been entrusted, therefore, with certain unusual duties on the campus, is at present, and has been since his elevation using that authority pretty much as a child indulges in its first responsibility.

First of all, he has been given a key to the Chapel, a key to the "Rec" Hall, a key to the Library, and a master key to the rooms in the dormitories. It is interesting to note that the night watchman, who is responsible for the safe-guarding of the buildings on the campus, has out of the fourteen master-keys necessary to admit him to every part of our buildings, only one more key than this gentleman. This individual is not responsible for anything that may happen to our buildings, yet he has free-play in four of them. He has no stated authority to enter any of these buildings after they have been locked by employees of the college as he is not a licensed watchman—indeed, our own night watchman has not been given a badge of authority. Yet, this person claims to have the right to enter any of these buildings at will and, indeed, to shift the furniture in them at his pleasure.

Furthermore, this same person insists that he has full authority to enter any room in the dormitories at any time to search for stolen goods. The basis for his authority, we are led to understand is Dr. Haas. Well, it so happens that all detectives in the State of Pennsylvania must be duly registered and all policemen licensed. What is more, not even the uniformed policeman has the right to enter our rooms without our permission, or without first producing a search warrant.

Another thing, we have seen this person loitering about in the Treasurer's office by the hour, even though Dr. Haas, by a notice signed in his handwriting, and posted in October, although since removed by someone, strictly forbade and forbids any loitering in any of the offices.

Besides riling the upper classmen with his unforgivable impertinence, this person has taken to bullying the Frosh. We refer to recent happenings in Rhodes and "E" Halls particularly, and to his attempt to prevent the organization of the new Social Science Club. It is a tradition at Muhlenberg that any "riding of the Frosh" is a Sophomore privilege.

It is a pity that Dr. Haas' trust should be betrayed by the stupid insolence of this fellow. It is a crime that the student body living in the Dorms and visiting the "Rec" Hall must come into contact with his asininity. Why should he be allowed any more privileges than the rest of us? What is he, anyway? Where does he "get that stuff"—bullying the Frosh, snooping around as a policeman and a detective without proper authority, loitering in the office, and making himself generally obnoxious to us all? Why should any student at Muhlenberg be insulted to the point where he is asked to submit to the surveilance of "just another Junior"?

It is high time something is done about the situation. He has already received more publicity than rightfully belongs to him, and more authority than he will ever deserve at Muhlenberg or any student for that matter.

Let us suggest that the police powers of the campus be duly delegated to a properly licensed employee of the administration, and that this person be relegated to his insignificant corner as "just another Junior". Furthermore, to show him that we too can threaten, we advise this same person and his two or three colleagues that the student body is ready to accept their resignations as campus policemen and pious judges of the conduct of the student body at Muhlenberg.

If identification is necessary, the undersigned offers his services.

Henry M. M. Richards. '32.

It's certainly too bad that the Muhlenberg cheering section doesn't include more of the type of man as edits our "Muhlenberg Mirrored". I feel certain that with such a lusty voice, such manly powers, such devotional interest at our football games, he would make it much easier for the cheer leaders—as he very kindly addressed us. Such wide awake men—especially in English classes—are to be sought after.

I, as Head Cheer Leader am taking it upon myself to answer for my three assistants, since, in the main, I seemed to be the recipient of the attack, even tho I don't smoke a pipe or chew, sad to say. I don't claim to be "par excellence" in this and—nor do any of my assistants, but I do resent slams. We're doing the best we can—we would welcome constructive criticism. We realize our deficiency, but we do hate slaps in the face. It's not even sportsmanlike. It's certainly to be regretted that Muhlenberg lost out on a man who knows so very much about cheer leading. We all feel guilty in thinking that there is a better man among us who deserves the position. Woe be to the Cheer Leaders.

We haven't found any fault with the student cheering this year, as you infer. We've given a very creditable showing at every home game, and at Lehigh and Lafayette. At the latter, we heard a Lafayette student remark that the Muhlenberg cheering sounded better than their own. Maybe the writer wasn't along then—maybe it wasn't due to the competency of the Cheer leaders—but the fact remains that it was good—and our job thus remains fulfilled.

Our friend who criticizes us seems to think that a Cheer leader is synonymous of a jumping jack, whose job it is to keep arms, legs and bodies disturbing the ozone—in fact, any movement whatsoever that prevent any momentary pauses. I would like to question him as to whether or not he ever really saw a big college game and took notice of the Cheer leaders. For his enlightenment, we have attended so-called "big college games"—we have watched the men in white—we admit that we are not as good as some—but we feel satisfied in doing the best we know how. Moreover, dear friend, isn't it rather an insidious comparison to place us along-side these large colleges, which have a much bigger field to choose from, a more select and expert group? Is our band as good as that of Ohio State? Does our team rank with Notre Dame? Rather foolish, don't you think—but they're good in their Class—and so, in defense, we contend that we can hold our own, despite your effort to paint us otherwise.

Listen, editor of "Muhlenberg Mirrored", whether the reports are erroneous or truthful, it comes to our ears from Muhlenberg students that the cheering this year has been much better than that in the past. That this has been due to our efforts, I will not say, but, nevertheless, as Head Cheerleader, I am proud of it—yes—proud. Proud that we have a good cheering section, proud that our cheers rank with those of any big college—proud that we introduced a new cheer this year that won the approval of the whole Student Body.

Another thing, when quoting remarks from real life, if it's not too much of a task, be sure the material and essence of what you print is authentic. People might like you a little better for it.

And now a last word. You seem to take great delight, in your attitude of a martyr, by crticizing everything you can find faulty and stirring up comment. It's all right to a certain degree—but palls when it passes that point. I am not speaking for ourselves—but from what I've heard all around the campus. Constructive criticism is good in its place—but why not pick out some of the redeemable features of our college. Make your column worth while and, in criticizing, make certain that you are good enough in your own field before going afar and criticizing others in different fields.

R. M. M. '32.

It may seem a little early but now's the time to prepare for the Christmas season. Let's get the Christmas spirit in our being as soon as possible and acquire the true atmosphere of Christmas time so as to bring a little more cheer into our relations to one another. Let's keep our eyes open and assist wherever possible in brightening up some dark corner in the life of a person less fortunate than ourselves. Let's put aside our personal troubles and join together in creating a real spirit of fellowship and optimism for one another. Last but not least let's get down to serious business for the next several weeks in order that we may enjoy a bigger and better Christmas season free from any care or worry whatsoever.

—The Managing Editor.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

Someone suggested that it might be a good idea for Muhlenberg to play a post season charity game with Cedar Crest. Think of the way the fans would turn out to see a match like that. And then think of the gallantry the football men could show. Think of a lot of other things. But keep on thinking, because such a thing is really impossible.

— M —

If you hit any animal on the head hard enough the blow will undoubtedly prove fatal. If you just give them a mild tap, but squarely on the head, the poor thing will squeal. Depending how hard you hit it the squeal will be more pronounced.

Which reminds us that after the last issue of the "Weekly" was published certain individuals started squealing, all of which proves that they must have been hit. We really didn't mean to put the cheer leaders out of business—cheerleaders are a valuable adjunct to any college. What we meant to do was to get them on their toes. Well, it looks as if we did. Listen to one of them squeal.

By the way, just about fifty percent of the student body encouraged and contributed to that particular reflection in the MIRROR.

And then there's the type of man in every college who takes all he can and looks for more. We're just questioning why a man who drives around the campus in his own car and seems to have all the luxuries of life, should receive aid from a college.

There are men on a campus who will do anything for dear old Skiwash, they'll fight for it, work for it, die for it—as long as they get paid for what they do. And those are the men who oft-times are looked up to as leaders.

— M —

We're not discouraging the granting of aid to students, in fact we believe that it is one of Muhlenberg's strong points. But it really is a question as to whether certain men, or we might even make it singular, should be given a chance to work for the college when they really have an abundant income to take them comfortably through college. These are times of depression, by the way, and good men are leaving simply because they don't have sufficient means to carry them through.

— M —

There seems to be a campaign waged recently as to how much a girl should allow a date to spend on her. A student at Wilson college, according to a story published in a Philadelphia paper, stated that she never ordered more than a "raspberry ice" when out with a boy. Another girl, with the view of helping the soda fountain proprietor, orders a banana split but never a thing more.

———M———

Erich Stoeckle, who boasts a fiance or something like that at Wilson College might be glad for that news, and it really is news to him. At least, if that really is the case at Wilson, it must be at Eutopia.

Personally, we don't think a girl does or should limit herself quite so much. What are the men here for anyway.

In The Mail Box

This poem is satirical of the slow and inanimate attempts on the part of the world to disarm itself in the face of obvious consequences of war.

TIN SOLDIERS

March your soldiers down the rug,
Pit-a-pat, pit-a-pat;
On the run to fife and drum,
Rat-a-tat-a-tat.

Drill your men and turn 'em round,
Heel and toe, away they go;
Left face, right face, and about face,
Keep on with the show.

Now here comes the enemy,
Shoulder arms, load your guns,
Dress parade is o'er to-day,
Come on, soldiers, come!

Soon the battle royal begins,
Soldiers urged, soldiers surge;
Advance, retreat, the bugles blow,
Soon you'll hear a dirge.

The battle's o'er, the battle's won,
A gory sight,—it is night;
It's time for bed but it must be said—
Right has conquered might.

FRESHNESS

— that's the thing!

CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?— freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with — blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted — the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back — if you can.

Who's Who on the Campus

Morris Efron
Sigma Lambda Pi

Here, there, everywhere, and in a hurry, too—that's Morris Efron. Morris, beyond question, is one of the most active as well as best liked men on the campus. He can always be counted upon to do his best in anything he undertakes. During the present school year the Student Body recognized the abilities of this man and wasted no time in handing Morris the responsibility of looking after its money as treasurer of the group. As a member of the Inter-fraternity Council for two years he has contributed much to the success of that body. Besides these two responsible positions that our subject holds the Muhlenberg Business Association claims him as one of its members and because of his interest he was chosen vice-president of this organization.

Socially, Moris is a member of the Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity and that group is proud to include him as one of its brothers. We don't know just what Morris intends to do upon receiving his Ph.B. but we feel confident that anything he undertakes will be done well.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS—what could be better! Nothing, of course, except more of it and oftener. Then why wait for holidays to visit Mother and Dad? Reach them tonight by telephone—it's next best to seeing them.

Thousands of college men "go home" each week by telephone. That's one date they'd never cut! Try it yourself—you'll soon see why. For a lasting pleasure you can't beat a "voice visit." And if it gives you a kick, think of the thrill it gives the home-folks!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

DEBATE CEDAR CREST vs. MUHLENBERG MON. DEC. 14!

Vol. L. Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., December 8, 1931 No. 11

'Berg and Villanova Divide Dual Debate

Negative Teams Of Both Colleges Win Decision In Debate on "Capitalism"

On Thursday evening, December 3, the Muhlenberg debate squad opened its 1931-1932 season by splitting a dual debate with Villanova College. The question of the debate was: Resolved, that capitalism as a system of economic organization is unsound in principle.

The Muhlenberg negative team composed of Captain Donald V. Hock, a veteran of three years standing, Henry M. M. Richards, and Ray K. Heist, defeated the Villanova team composed of Daniel S. J. Buckley, John Mickles and Joseph Hausman by a unanimous decision of the three judges, William Reimert, City Editor of the Allentown Chronicle and News; Dr. Samuel J. Ziegler, professor of psychology at Cedar Crest College, and Mrs. Roberta Raker Hudders. The work of Hock and Richards was outstanding in the debate at Muhlenberg.

At Villanova the Muhlenberg affirmative team composed of Morton Silverman, Donald B. Mancke, a veteran of two years experience and Donald B. Hoffman, captain, a veteran of three years varsity experience was defeated by the Villanova negative team three to two. The Villanova team was composed of Martin Gill, Paetius Banmiller and Joseph Conlan. The splendid work of Mancke and Hoffman for Muhlenberg was outstanding at the Villanova debate.

Ray Munsch, varsity manager, accompanied the team to Villanova.

The next debate scheduled for the Muhlenberg squad will take place on December 14, with Cedar Crest College on the same question of capitalism.

Formation of Student Loan Committee Marks Step Forward At 'Berg

Purpose Of Organization To Aid Needy Students

Another step in the development of a "Greater Muhlenberg" has been taken this past month with the formation of a Muhlenberg College Student Loan Fund Committee Organization. Members of this committee are Mr. George Balmer, an attorney at Reading, Rev. Harvey Snyder of Nazareth, and Professors Mueller, Bowman, Swain and Dean Horn. Officers are President, Mr. Balmer; Secretary, Dr. J. Edgar Swain and Treasurer, Dr. Henry M. Mueller. Mr. Balmer and Rev. Snyder were appointed by the Executive Committee of the Muhlenberg College Alumni Association and the faculty members were appointed by the local chapter of the College Association of Professors with the sanction of Dr. Haas.

The operation of the plan for student loans is very simple and at the same time very definite. The whole transaction will be on a busines basis between the borrower and the Bank, where the committee has deposited the funds. All the committee does is to recommend a student to the Bank and the loan creates a debtor-creditor relationship between the student and the bank. The committee will carefully consider the credentials of the applicants from every point of view before a recommendation is made. Due to the present financial limitations of the fund the committee has decided to loan only to seniors, for the time being, up to one hundred dollars. As soon as funds will permit the committee hopes to, increase the scope of its activities.

The idea of a student loan fund was an outgrowth of a discussion of the financial conditions of Muhlenberg

Eighth Commandment Subject of Address By Dr. John A. W. Haas

Continues Series Of Weekly Addresses Before Student Body

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," the eighth of a series of lectures on the ten commandments was offered by Dr. John A. W. Haas in the chapel service of Wednesday morning, December 2nd.

"A lie," said the Doctor, "is a statement made with the intention to deceive. "It is forbidden. The lie destroys human intercourse. To the degree that a lie enters business and causes it to suffer so will it cause human relations to suffer. A lie runs for a time but it will eventually be discovered."

Not only does a lie become harmful in itself but it is an insult to the God of Truth. The liar thinks he can even after a time deceive God. A liar lies in actions. He urged that we must be sincere and honest in our lives for it is a terrible thing to live a life which will impress others as being what we are not rather than what we are. Not only did he point out that a man can lie in intercourse but he can even lie in religion as well.

At this juncture he discussed Truth and Criticism. "If criticism has an attitude of love," expanded the President, " it is worthwhile but if criticism is for the purpose of deliberately hurting a person, it is not right."

In a vigorous outburst of righteous indignation the doctor said "We should not be hypocritical in our attitude toward the sinner and say to ourselves "Thank God we are not that way! but we should make an attitude. one of help." Gossip is a sin. It brings slander and ruins reputations. Give the benefit of the doubt to the man! he concluded.

Phi Epsilon, Strong Local Fraternity, To Be Installed As Fiftieth Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu on Friday and Saturday

PHI EPSILON

Local Chapter Will Be Known As Pennsylvania Epsilon

Formal Ceremonies At Hotel Allen To Close Installation

This week-end will see the arrival of a new national fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus when Phi Epsilon Fraternity is formally installed as Pennsylvania Epsilon of Theta Kappa Nu. The installation program will include a flag-raising and buffet luncheon at the Phi Epsilon house, 2215 Gordon Street, at noon Saturday, and a formal banquet and ceremonies at the Hotel Allen in the evening. Phi Epsilon will hold its last meeting Friday night in the form of an informal smoker, at which time both alumni and active chapter men will gather at the house for the last time as a local fraternity.

At the installation banquet, of which Fred W. Diefenderfer, class of '27, will be toastmaster, addresses will be made by Mr. Harry A. Benfer, Registrar of the college; Leroy A. Wilson of Grand Archon of Theta Kappa Nu; Rev. Richard A. Beck, class of '26, president of the Phi Epsilon Alumni Association; Woodrow J. Savacool, president of the Interfraternity Council; and Alan M. Hawman, Jr., president of Phi Epsilon. Theta Kappa Nu men who will attend the installation include delegations from Pennsylvania Alpha, Gettysburg College; New York Alpha, Broklyn Polytechnic Institute; New York Beta, Alfred University; and New York Gamma, Cornell University, besides many alumni of various chapters of the fraternity who are located in this district.

The program of the installation ceremonies is as follows:

Friday, December 11

8:30 P. M.—Informal Smoker, at the Phi Epsilon house.

Saturday, December 12

12:00 M.—Flag raising, at the house.

12:30 P. M.—Buffet luncheon, at the house.

2:30 P. M.—Degree work, at the Hotel Allen.

7:30 P. M.—Formal banquet at the Hotel Allen.

9:00 P. M.—Formal presentation of the charter to Pennsylvania Epsilon of Theta Kappa Nu.

T. K. N. Young But Powerful National

Fraternity Has Chapter In Practically Every State

Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity, which comes to Muhlenberg with the installation of Phi Epsilon, though new to our campus, is not new to this section of the country. There are already seven chapters of this fraternity in the Middle Atlantic States, four of which are in Pennsylvania. These chapters are located at Gettysburg College, Thiel College, Washington and Jefferson College, University of Pittsburgh, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Alfred University and Cornell University.

Theta Kappa Nu, a powerful young national, with central offices in Cleveland, Ohio, and fifty chapters at colleges and universities throughout the country, was founded in June, 1924, by the union of eleven local fraternities, of which the present Gettysburg chapter was one. At the first session of the Interfraternity Conference following the founding of Theta Kappa Nu, the fraternity was admitted to junior membership. Three years later, on the basis of its remarkable growth and strength, it was admitted to full senior membership in the conference by special amendment.

The fraternity expanded but soundly from the very beginning, and at present is truly national in character, with chapters in almost every state in the union.

Phi Epsilon Organized As Aztecs Club In 1920

Changed Name To Phi Epsilon In 1922

Phi Epsilon Fraternity has had an interesting history at Muhlenberg College. It was originally organized as the Aztecs Club upon petition to the faculty dated March 2nd, 1920. The first meeting of the group was held in the old Sophronia Hall, May 4, 1920, at which time Paul R. Ronge, class of '21, was selected first president of the group. The Aztecs continued to hold meetings for some time in Sophronia, until they moved into rooms at 114 north Sixth Street, later moving to 819 Turner Street.

In January, 1922, as a result of a petition to the faculty, the Aztecs Club was established as a local Greek-letter fraternity, taking the name of Phi Epsilon. The fraternity was immediately admitted to non-voting representation in Pan-Hellenic Council, and a year later to full voting representation. As such it has continued to the present time. The fraternity later moved to 17 North Madison Street, then to 2014 Chew Street, and finally, in January, 1928, to its present home at 2215 Gordon Street.

The presidents of Phi Epsilon in the order in which they held office have been: Ralph R. Gresh, '22; Horace S. Mann, '23; Raymond L. Waller, '24; Allen H. Roth, '25; Richard A. Beck, '26; Fred W. Diefenderfer, '27; Warren H. Held, '28; Howard D. Miller, '29; M. Jack Morgan, '29; Frank H. Hartzell, '30; Earl F. Ocksrider, '31; and Alan M. Hawman, Jr., '32.

The present officers and members of Phi Epsilon: President, Alan M. Hawman, Jr.; First Vice-president, Pierre C. Thomas; Second Vice-president, Ben Watson; Secretary, Paul M. Stoneback; Treasurer, Otto A. Saalfield; Corresponding Secretary, Carl S. Beck; Chaplain, Vincent Takacs; Sergeant-at-arms, John W. Greenawald; and Franklin Giltner, William Horine, James Kilpatrick, John Mitchell, Luther Miller, Alan Ritter, John Turtzo, Angelo Bianco, Carl Clayton, Walbert Grasley, Robert King, Harold Miller, Jack Staples, and Ray Wahl.

First Formal Dance Of Present Season A Great Success

150 Couples Frolic At "M" Club Dance

On Friday evening in the Rainbow ballroom of the Hotel Americus more than 150 couples danced to the rhythm set by Art Mickley's Fantasy Nine at the Varsity 'M' Club's formal dance. The hotel was beautifully decorated with fraternity banners, college banners and the seal of the club.

The guests at the dance were: Profesor and Mrs. A. C. H. Fasig, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Holstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer, Mr. and Mrs. Guerney F. Afflerbach, and Mr. and Mrs. Willian Springsteen.

The committee in charge of the affair was headed by George Majercik, who was assisted by Denton Quick, Paul Weber, C. Dean Symons, Charles O'Brien, Albert Greenberg, and William Horine.

The officers of the Varsity 'M' Club are: Ferdinand Palladino, president; Albert Greenberg, vice-president; Charles Evanosky, secretary; and Stanley Carney, treasurer.

Dramatic Club Will Sponsor One-Act Play Writing Contest

Cash Prizes To Be Awarded For Outstanding Plays

The Dramatic Club of Muhlenberg College announces the plans for the first "One-Act Play Writing Contest" to be held on the local campus. This contest will be open to all members of the student body and two prizes, first prize of ten dollars and second prize of five dollars, will be awarded to the winners.

The theme for these plays is to be taken from some phase of life at Muhlenberg College. It may be presented in any form—satire, humor, tragedy or any other which the writer may select. These one-act plays are not to last more than thirty minutes in production.

The manuscripts for the plays must be neatly typewritten on one side of the sheet only and be turned in to Prof. Coder before Wednesday, January 6. From the group turned in Professor Coder will pick the five best plays and these will be presented in a contest on Feb. 1 in the Science Auditorium before the public. No admission will be charged to this performance. At this contest the various one-act plays selected will be judged, not from a manuscript, but from their actual presentation, by a board of outside judges. The two prizes will then be awarded at this time.

As the plays will be given in the Science Auditorium they should not be too difficult to stage and should also have very few women parts.

The purpose of this contest is to stimulate interest in the student body in dramatics and to give students a chance to do some constructive work and then see it produced on the stage. In addition it will serve as a chance for students to air certain features of the college life which they may not be able to do in the student publication or at any other time.

The author of the play will have the privilege of aiding in the selecting of the cast and the staging of the play.

Annual Senior Ball To Be Gala Affair December 15th

Once more the time for the annual Senior Ball is rapidly drawing near. This year the committee has secured the famed Casa Loma Orchestra for the dance. Dancing will run from 9 P. M. to 2 A. M.

Up to the present time the advance sale of tickets forecasts a record crowd at this affair. No pains have been spared by the committee to make this dance a huge success.

Reservations for tables can be made with Donald B. Hoffman any time before Tuesday noon, December 15th.

The committee in charge of this dance is Majercik, Chairman, Giltner, Saul, Hoffman, Thiede and Palladino.

First Of Series Of Discussion Hours Held At P. K. T. House

"Modern Day Problems" Topics

The first of the series of discussion hours on "Modern Day Problems" sponsored by Eta chapter of Phi Kappa Tau was held on the evening of Wednesday, December 2, 1931, when Dr. John A. W. Haas led an interested group of members of the College Administration and students in the discussion of "Centralization and Lawlessness."

Dr. Haas first took up the subject of "Centralization" and began by citing various instances through which we are daily drawn toward a common union, even to the extent that plans are being made for the introduction of a Secretary of Education into the cabinet of the nation.

Under the topic of "Lawlessness" he stated that "the people of the United States have always been lawless—one of the early evidences being the Boston Tea Party."

M. B. A. Addressed By Mr. Clearwater

A regular meeting of the Muhlenberg Business Association was held on Monday night, November 30, at the Sigma Lambda Pi house. There was the usual business meeting at which time President Munsch appointed the following committees:

Membership Committee—A. Greenberg, chairman, Lubsen, Evanosky.

Entertainment Committee— J. Miller, Chairman, Boone McTighe.

Constitution Committee: Carpenter, Fairclough, H. Saylor, Chairman.

After the business of the evening was over, the twenty members present enjoyed a very timely talk on the functions of the Allentown Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Clearwater, the Secretary of the local chamber. At the end of his talk various members of the association asked questions and the discussion proved very beneficial to all.

When the discussion was over the members enjoyed light refreshments and lingered for a time talking and becoming better acquainted.

Let's Be Constructive

During the past several weeks we have noticed a general tone of destructiveness in the editorials and of the "Mirrored Column." While a certain amount of this type of criticism is necessary still it seems to be carried slightly too far.

Let's pull together for a constructive policy on the campus. A constructive policy will always carry an ideal further than a destructive policy. Several changes demanded by editorials have been made. Now is the time for the people who made these demands to put their shoulders to the wheel and do some really fine constructive work on the campus.

It can be done. It must be done. The Student Body must support these moves and with their support greater things than these will be accomplished.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Here we are, back again. Those big fiery editorials crowded us out the last week or so.

Were you at the "M" Club Dance? If you missed it you missed the best dance the "M" Club has sponsored for many a year.

Final plans have been made for the Student Body Loan Fund. Just another BIG step towards a "Greater Muhlenberg."

Only two more local fraternities left on the campus since Phi Epsilon has "gone national". Congratulations Phi Epsilon and good luck.

At last arrangements have been made for a Cedar Crest-Muhlenberg Debate on December 14th. It should be a pretty hot debate.

Basketball will soon swing into its own. Here's hoping we have some success this year.

Don't forget the Senior Ball, Tuesday, December 15th, 9 P. M. to 2 A. M.

The Administration announces the appointments of the following men as Proctors in the various dormitories: Richard Thiede, Henry M. M. Richards, Stanley Carney, Ferdinand Palladino, George Grollman, Franklin Giltner, Frederick Frailclough.

Muhlenberg Mirrored

These mirrors also reflect editorial comment. But then every person has the right of self defense—we admit the student body did well in cheering, better than the average student body would have done under similar conditions. But then we don't mean to hurt anyone's feelings.

And by being wide awake we saw that Professor Simpson wears an Ingersoll watch on a Phi Beta Kappa key. Someone suggested, in fact it was the professor himself, that it might be a splendid idea for someone to buy him a new watch for Christmas.

Sullivan, O'Brien, O'Doyle, O'Donnell and Snyder, five venerable gentlemen from in and about Philadelphia, awarded a 3-2 decision to Villanova in the debate between them and Muhlenberg last Thursday evening. That particular part of the contest was held at Villanova.

And that old list is up again.

We are just curious whether fraternity men on this campus must continually knock the members of another house. Wherever you go you hear some talk about what this fraternity man said about that fraternity or what that one said about this one.

Is Muhlenberg a kindergarten or a college. We couldn't all belong to one fraternity, nor would we all care to belong to the same group. Our personalities are too different. Our aims and ambitions have too wide a divergence.

It's disparaging to talk to a person and to be told that one group has a song they sing about another group or that they use unfriendly epithets when speaking of each other. We should all be broad enough and men enough to realize that each fraternal group has its good and bad points.

College men are supposed to be cultured and broad minded. Why not show it in the relations of one fraternal group to another?

And that recalls the sermon on the Eighth Commandment preached by Dr. Haas. Gossip is the worst thing in the world. Every college man should spurn it instead of foster it. It is something usually blamed on the fairer sex, let's not have ourselves branded as gossips.

Muhlenberg is receiving much comment in all quarters for the splendid speakers and musical attractions it brings to the chapel for the benefit of the community. That's the best publicity any college could receive.

And here's a plank for the WEEKLY'S platform. A new watch for Prof. Simpson, to match his Phi Beta Kappa key. But in an authoritative statement, and he said we might publish this, he believes, Mrs. Simpson may tell Santa Claus to bring him one.

Then remember this only a few more shopping days until Christmas. Patronize your advertisers, buy her a pack of cigarettes, a new book or a pair of shoes.

FORMATION OF STUDENT LOAN COMMITTEE MARKS STEP FORWARD AT 'BERG

students held in a meeting last May of the local chapter of the Association of College Professors. There is at present a heavy drain on the limited resources of the College Treasury in order to help students who are unable to meet their current expenses. Many of these grants are not repaid, not so much because there is an unwillingness to do so, but because there is no real understanding as to the obligations of the student by the student.

The 50-50 date club at the University of Utah is meeting opposition from the co-eds. They believe that a girl pays for her dates in wearing more expensive clothes than the boys, in entertaining their escorts, and in giving club and sorority parties.

FIRST OF SERIES OF DISCUSSION HOURS HELD AT P. K. T. HOUSE

"We have too many laws," continued Dr. Haas, "and it seems to be one of the chief aims of legislators to introduce new laws."

The introductory remarks were concluded with the question, "whither are we drifting?" and the remainder of the time was spent in friendly argumentation, so dear to college students and faculty members, as to whether we will eventually experience powerful centralization or unlimited lawlessness.

Discussion groups and project methods of education are rapidly coming to the fore today, and this first group meeting has proved to the members of Phi Kappa Tau at least, that the plan is worth-while.

The time of the next meeting and the speaker who will lead the discussion will be announced in a future issue of the "Weekly."

Outlook For 1931-32 Basketball Season At 'Berg Is Very Bright

Only Four Varsity Players Lost Last Year Through Graduation

HORINE, NIXON, CARNEY, JUDT, O'BRIEN AND NOVAK BACK

The outlook for this year is very bright. Four good men from last year were lost thru graduation, Ulrich, Lauck, Kratzer and Wackernagel. Nevertheless Horine, Nixon, Carney, Judt, O'Brien and Novak are left from last year's varsity. From last year's freshmen team the following men will come up: Sterner, Steckel, Shack, Weiner and Rosenberg. Wilkinson and Dunlap of the Junior Class will also be out for the team. With this nucleus 'Berg ought to have a fine team to represent them.

Again the team will be handicapped in not having a home floor of their own. They will be forced to practice at the Y. M. C. A. and at Prep School. The Y. M. C. A. will be the site of almost all of the home games. Coach Holstrom believes that the new men will make up for those who have been lost. After a few weeks of hard practice, an excellent combination ought to be secured. Already Nixon, Judt, O'Brien and Novak are working out. Practice starts December 7th. It is hoped that Bill Horine's ankle, hurt in football, will not keep him out, as Bill was one of 'Berg's best players last year.

This year Muhlenberg is joining a new league, which has just been formed. The name of the league is "The Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball League." The league consists of Albright, Drexel, Ursinus, Gettysburg, Lebanon Valley, Franklin and Marshall and Muhlenberg. Each team plays each other twice. Two trophies have been secured. A large cup and a small cup. The large cup goes in the league champions' possession for one year. When any member wins the championship for 3 years they obtain permanent possession. Every time a team wins the championship they get their name placed upon the cup. The small cup is given each year to the league champion and is kept by that college.

The first game of the season is with Mt. Airy, January 6th. The first conference game is January 9th. 'Berg plays Lehigh and Lafayette twice and they meet three strong teams in New York, Pratt, Long Island University and Montclair A. C. Montclair has a very strong team having several college stars in their lineup. Among them Griggs, former Muhlenberg star center.

M. B. A. ADDRESSED BY MR. CLEARWATER

The next meeting of the M. B. A. will be held on the second Monday in January. The entertainment Committee is arranging a New Year party for this occasion and big doings are in store for the boys. It is hoped that Mr. Benfer will grant the club permission to use the Commons for this meeting and it is the wish of the committee that every member be present at this New Year's event.

Dr. Jacobs Concludes Series Of Sermons

First Series of Lectures Under Roehrig Foundation Brought To A Close

On December 4, 1931, Dr. Jacobs, President of the Mt. Airy Seminary, brought to a close, his series of five lectures on Christian Evidences, with an address on Christianity and Salvation, during the regular Chapel Service. The question raised at the beginning,—What is Christianity? had been only partly answered, according to Dr. Jacobs. He repeated that it was a life, in relation to God, that it centered in Christ, and was a product of faith, and went on to say that there were two aspects remaining, first, the ethical aspect, or a life of men with one another on this earth, and not only with God; second, a spiritual aspect, or salvation, which Dr. Jacobs chose to ellucidate on for this lecture. He showed that the New Testament, from beginning to end is a Book of Salvation, and that salvation itself has been recurring innumerable times in Christian teaching, thought, and preaching. The word salvation itself roused the question—What are its contents? The answer was that it contained three ideas, 1st, that it expresses the ultimate expectation from Christ, or salvation,—Christianity turned toward the future, therefore interpreted as Faith. We have a right to hope from Christ, for the optimism of Christianity has always been evident, emanating from the Christ himself. Therefore, hope and salvation can be used, if not synonymously, then, in a complementary way. The second point or idea was that salvation is a thing of the past, the present, and the future. 'We have had it, we are having it, and we shall have it.' Thus we can look forward optimistically to being saved, as others were in the past. The third notion was that salvation describes future hope in contrast to its antonym. It is making less without its opposite,—damnation. The opposite of saved, therefore, is lost. Salvation itself implies safety instead of peril. But what are we to be saved from? We must be saved from wrong things, from the misery of economic chaos, confusion, stress bewilderment, and fear. These are things which we may be rescued from, and presents salvation with an opportunity to act. And what has Christianity to say to the World War? War is also something we must conquer, let it conquer us. If Christian salvation cannot do away with these things it is meaningless. But Christianity posseses the formula for the salvation of war and economic misery. Christianity has given men the vision to see these things and has pointed out the road to the solution. Men have generally accepted the visions but have not walked the road. In other words, we need a revaluation of life. The formula is, to seek the Kingdom of God, and then all miseries will be abolished from their causes upward. And then, when we have conquered these wrongs, we are saved. We may look at salvation in two ways, 1st, as the rescue of the individual men from a world that is all wrong. Man cannot escape his surroundings, but it is possible for him to acquire inward repose and freedom. This is sometimes termed salvation. Then, there is a second explanation,—the rescue of the world itself, and the rescue of society from evil. Emphasis on either one of these ideas will show a distorted view of Christianity. In salvation, the conquest of sin itself is most important, for it results in salvation itself. Confession of sin is a rare thing. We think of sin as a mal-adjustment, as an imperfection in man, or an illusion of the mortal mind. Salvation, therefore, is a process of growing knowledge. Sin is meaningless without God. It really is, living at cross purposes with God. It has nothing to do at all, with our relation to our fellow man. It is only our relation to God. It is not the committing of an offence against law so much as it is an offence against God. It is not the violation of God's commandments, but the direction of life opposite to God's purposes. No man feels sin till he becomes conscious of a hatred toward God. The life of Jesus Christ show-

CAMELS are KEPT Fresh!

YOU probably know that heat is used in the treatment of all cigarette tobaccos.

But you know too that excessive heat can destroy freshness and fragrance.

That's why there could be no truly fresh cigarette except for scientifically developed methods of applying heat.

Reynolds is proud of having discovered and perfected methods for getting the benefits of heat treatments and still avoiding ever parching or toasting.

With every assurance we tell you, Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

If you wish to know why the swing to Camels is nationwide and steadily growing—switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can.

Who's Who on the Campus

Alan Hawman, Jr.
Phi Epsilon

Bud is one of Muhlenberg's best examples of an all around fellow. He is a man who holds many important positions on the campus and with it all is still quiet and unassuming. Nothing daunts him. He can be and at various times has proven the fact that he is equal to any situation. For these reasons Bud is exceptionally well liked and respected by the entire student body.

Because of his scholastic attainment he is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary romance language fraternity of which he is treasurer, and besides this he is Secretary-treasurer of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity. He is a member of the Interfraternity Council and editor of the 1932 "Ciarla". During his Sophomore year he was president of his class, and manager of Frosh track and a member of the Junior Prom Committee during his Junior year. This year his brothers of Phi Epsilon elected him president of that fraternity, and last but surely not least, Bud made the honor roll during these years.

Because Bud's interests have been so varied during his college career and because whatever he has done he has done well we, as a student body, predict that Bud's future is unusually bright and extend to him our best wishes.

Rev. N. R. Melhorn Vesper Service Speaker

"The Kingdom of God Idea" Topic of Interesting Sermon

The public Vesper Service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, December 6, 1931, at four o'clock. The Reverend N. H. Melhorn, D.D., Litt.D., the editor of "The Lutheran," preached the sermon of the afternoon, "The Kingdom of God Idea."

Dr. Marks played an organ prelude by Borowski, "Andante."

"If you are a good citizen of the Kingdom of God, if you are loyal to the Kingdom',, said Dr. Melhorn, "you will also be loyal to the Church of Christ. The basis for this Kingdom of God idea is found in the Gospels where we read about Pilate's questioning of Jesus.

"Jesus was carried away by the elders and the scribes to Pilate. And Pilate asked Him, 'Art Thou the King of the Jews?' He answered and said, 'Thou sayest. My Kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.'

"From Pliny we hear about the early Christians, his is the first unsacred reference to the Church of Christ; it dates about 107 or 109 A.D. Pliny wrote to the Roman Emperor Trajan about Bithynia, a province, saying that Demetrius and the silversmiths were losing much work because of a curious sect. This sect had nothing to do with idols, and images of Diana of the Ephesians were no longer in demand.

"This sect were followers of a prophet called Christ," continued Dr. Melhorn. "They would meet early in the morning, sing a hymn, and hold their love-feast; then they would return home and start their work. Pliny began to forbid their meetings, but that just meant that the Christions would not meet publicly. At first they met in caves out in the country, and under later emperors, in the burial caves called catacombs.

"Because the 120 followers of Jesus who had received His command on Ascension Day, remained faithful and received the Spirit of Power for their witness-bearing, we have an issue and an explanation to make about the Kingdom of God. Is this Kingdom like the old Jewish theocracy, or like a temporal kingdom?

"We do know that a kingdom involves a king, its citizens, and the very idea of a kingdom. (Just as there is an idea of a democracy, there is an idea of a kingdom). The idea of the Kingdom of God is the predominant one in the Synoptic Gospels according to Dr. Offermann of our Mt. Airy Seminary.

"The idea of God's Kingdom", said Dr. Melhorn, "is one of the present, militant, something that develops our inner life, an idea altogether separate from Mammon. It is this idea that best explains the zealous attempts at the propagation of the Gospel made by the early Church. Today we lack that eagerness.

"After all, God's Kingdom is an unique thing by which God intends to break down the kingdoms of the world and of Satan. Evil thus is broken down and the good set up. As one man has put it, 'The Kingdom of God must colonize the areas formerly occupied by the kingdoms of evil.'

"We ourselves fail to realize the realities of this Kingdom. Some stress the idea of the invisible Church so queerly that we would think that the Church and Kingdom were not one. The proof of their unity and its tangibleness is explained by Jesus Himself as He talks with Nicodemus. 'The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest the voice thereof, but knowest not whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.' A similar natural phenomenon today is the radio wave, music may be all around us but special instruments are needed to hear it.

"In conclusion, I say that the Church realizes the Kingdom of God. The Christian Church exists as an incident of the Kingdom. If you are loyal to the Kingdom, you are loyal to the Church; and vice versa." Dr. Melhorn urged us that we "be loyal to the Kingdom and then you will be a good citizen."

The offertory of Dr. Marks was "Vesper Hymn" by Truette. The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Barnby's, "Sweet is Thy Mercy, Lord." The postlude which Dr. Marks played was Dubois' "Hosanna". The Chaplain, Reverend H. C. Cressman, and Reverend R. W. Stine read the Vesper service.

The preacher next Sunday will be the Reverend A. Charles R. Keiter, pastor of Salem Lutheran Church, Lebanon, Pa.

DR. JACOBS CONCLUDES SERIES OF SERMONS

ed his purposes parallel to those of God, and he was crucified by those who had cross purposes with God. Christianity without the cross is just as inconceivable as it is without the Christ. The salvation we have, is one of faith. Dr. Jacobs drew four conclusions from salvation,—1. Salvation has come thru Christ to us; 2. Salvation is ours when we have faith, or a practical trust in God; 3. Salvation is not complete until sin has no more power over us, and its consequences are nullified; 4. Salvation cannot be a social process. It is more than the progress of social righteousness. It is a life, in faith, thru Jesus Christ, in which we have salvation.

Phi Epsilon Fraternity Is Formally Enrolled In Ranks Of Large National

Becomes Fiftieth Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu

Phi Epsilon, a local fraternity which has played a distinguished part in Muhlenberg College campus affairs ever since its inception, officially became, on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, December 12th, the fiftieth chapter of Theta Kappa Nu, one of the youngest but most powerful national fraternities, and was formally installed as Pennsylvania Epsilon Chapter at the Hotel Allen.

Leroy A. Wilson, Grand Archon, of the organization, in conjunction with degree teams from Gettysburg College and Brooklyn Polytechnic School, presided at the installation 2:30 Saturday afternoon, December 12th, and initiated the members of the local group as well as many of the alumni into the ranks of the national organization. The local chapter formally received its charter at midnight, in accordance with the custom of the fraternity.

Following the initiation the group and its guests enjoyed a formal banquet at the Hotel Allen at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, head of the educational department of Muhlenberg College and a former national president of Phi Kappa Tau, was the main speaker of the evening. His address centered on the values of fraternities on a college campus.

Fred W. Diefenderfer, '27, vice president of the Home Association of the former Phi Epsilon Fraternity was the toastmaster. Messrs. Allen M. Hawman, Jr., president of the local branch of Theta Kappa Nu, Woodrow Savacool, president of the Interfraternity Council of Muhlenberg College and Reverend R. A. Beck, '26, of Muhlenberg College presented speeches at the banquet. It was at the banquet also that the Grand Archon Wilson gave the charge to the local chapter.

The installation banquet concluded the affairs preparatory to the inception of the Phi Epsilon Fraternity into the national organization. The first of these affairs was the dissolution of the local fraternity on Friday evening, December 11th, after which an evening of entertainment for the members, alumni, and guests was given. The program continued with a luncheon at the home on Saturday, December 12th at noon, concluding with the raising of the fraternity banner, Sunday morning.

The history of Phi Epsilon Fraternity is as follows: It was originally organized as the Azetcs Club, upon petition to the faculty, March 2, 1920,

ARRANGEMENTS MADE I. O. U. CONTEST TO BE HELD JANUARY 14

Final arrangements have been made for the annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. The elimination contest for Muhlenberg will be held on January 14, in the Science Auditorium at eleven o'clock. Entrants for this contest so far are Kenneth H. Koch, '32; J. Frederick Gehr, '32, and about four Juniors who have been chosen from the public speaking classes.

The judges for this contest will be Prof. Simpson and Instructors Coder and Everitt.

The Pennsylvania finals for this contest will be held at Gettysburg on March 5th.

Muhlenberg has had an enviable record in these contests, placing first eleven times, second five times and third three times.

During the last two years both Muhlenberg entrants have won first place in the State contest.

Donald V. Hock, '32, won first place in 1929, and was second in the all-

SCIENCE CLUB PLANS FOR A CONSTITUTION

The second meeting of the Science Club was held on Tuesday evening at eight thirty, President Reimert presiding. The adoption of a constitution was the main theme of the business, after which, Mr. May and Mr. Mitchell gave a resume of the important scientific happenings of the past month. Following this Mr. Thiede gave an interesting talk on the borax industry.

After a general discussion had taken place, coffee and doughnuts were served.

The Science Club aims to keep its members familiar with the current happenings in the Scientific world, and its membership is open to all upper classmen who present sufficient units in the various sciences.

Christmas Carols And Band Music Are Assembly Features

Dr. Horn Delivers the Christmas Message

A very interesting program of band music and Christmas carols was given amid a Christmas atmosphere, on Thursday morning, December 10, during the regular assembly period. The band opened the program with the overture from "Alda". The selection was rendered with much vigor under the able leadership of Carl Fisher.

At this point, illustrated slides were shown, on which were printed Christmas carols. The first one sung was "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", followed by "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear." The rendition was accompanied both by the band, and by Henry Richards at the piano.

A quartet consisting of a trombone, a tuba, and two cornets rendered the 'Pilgrim's Chorus" from Tannhauser.

The next selection by the band was a medley of old favorites. The band was wildly acclaimed after they had finished playing these numbers. Another carol followed. It was "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

At this point, Dr. Horn was introduced and gave a Christmas message. He told of the birth of Christ, and how it came about thru the order of a census by Augustus Caesar, that He was born of Mary in Bethlehem. He pointed out that Jesus was born during a period of bellicose activity in Rome. Dr. Horn emphasized Milton's poem which tells of the peace of the world that Christ was born. He then proceeded to read a message from Luke, the substance of which was "Glory to God in the Highest, on earth, peace among men of good will.

Another carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night", was sung, and the program concluded with the "March of the Mules" by the band.

REV. CHARLES KEITER PREACHER AT VESPER SERVICES ON SUNDAY

The public Vesper Service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, December 13, 1931, at four o'clock. The guest preacher was the Reverend A. Charles R. Keiter, Pastor of Salem Lutheran Church, Lebanon, Pa. His sermon was entitled "In Praise of Discontent."

"Love Christ and be discontented with your present inner state, so that you will strive on", Rev. Keiter exhorted. "My text is found in that writing of Paul's in which we read 'For I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content.' (Phil. 4:11). This thought is often interpretetd as an admonition to

Muhlenberg Now Has Official Greeting Cards And Calendars

Profit of Sales Goes To The Student Aid Fund

For the first time in its history Muhlenberg College is sponsoring an official Christmas greeting card and calendar for the use of the students, alumni and faculty of the college. The proceeds of the sale of these cards and calendars will be applied toward the Student Loan Fund recently established on the local campus.

The cards are gray with a picture of the new Egner-Hartzel Memorial Chapel is on the left side. An engraved seal of the college in cardinal ink is in the upper center of the card with an appropriate wording on the right side of the card. The calendar is of cardinal color with a picture of the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel in the center and a calendar immediately below the picture. Both the cards and the calendars present a neat, attractive appearance and have met with a splendid reception by the students and faculty.

The custom of sending official college greeting cards has been established on many college campuses. In adopting this idea Muhlenberg is merely taking another step in the direction of a "Greater Muhlenberg." The committee in charge of the Student Loan Fund is actively in back of the idea and it is hoped that a large sum of money wil be realized.

"EL TROVADOR" TOPIC FOR PHI SIGMA IOTA

The meeting of the Phi Sigma Iota fraternity was held on Thursday, Dec. tenth at the A. T. O. house. Prof. Seaman read the story "El Trovador" which was written by Garcia Gutierrez (1837) and from which the opera "Il Trovatore" by Verdi was taken. After the reading a discussion hour was held. Many interesting questions on Romantic Drama were brought up and discussed.

At the conclusion of this very enlightening discussion the members of the A. T. O. fraternity served appetizing refreshments which were appreciated by the Iotans.

Improved Recording System Invented By Registrar Benfer

Shows Scholastic Record of Each Student At A Glance

Registrar "Haps" Benfer has recently put into use in his office a new, improved card index system of his own invention, for keeping individual records of a student's scholastic standing. This file has as its main advantage a reduction in size from the former large, bulky cards, to smaller, more compact ones. It also includes many features which are destined to save much routine work.

Under the old system a new card was used each year for every student. These old cards were very large, the venient form for easy reference. Because of the frequent requests by fraternities, parents, students and the administration for the scholastic rating of some individual, Mr. Benfer decided to make a more convenient filing card. After much hard work he has produced a card file which is a valuable improvement over the former system.

Now, on one card, there are recorded for each semester of the four years, the following data in ruled columns: Number of semester hours of any grade, the number of quality points gained, total number of hours and points per semester, the class average, the class rank, and the sum total for each year and for four years. Desired information can be seen at a glance. Any student may see his card on request.

Mr. Benfer has his new file registered at the Eastern Registrar's Association, and is receiving much praise for his idea.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA TO HOLD FORMAL DANCE

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will have their Christmas formal Wednesday nite, December 16. The house is beautifully decorated and the Casa Loma Orchestra will furnish syncopation for the dancers. Quite a number of the alumni will be back for this dance and a splendid time is anticipated. The success of this dance will be due to George Majercik and his committee consisting of Bill Wilkinson, Bud Sailor, Sam Shimer and Bud Straub.

Brilliant Decorations and Versatile Orchestra Make Senior Ball Success

Casa Loma Orchestra Furnished Music For Affair Held In Americus Hotel

Over one hundred and fifty couples danced to the syncopation of the famous Casa Loma Orchestra at the annual Senior Ball last evening.

The Rainbow Ball Room of the Americus Hotel furnished a brilliant background for the occasion.

The Senior Ball has been accepted as one of the highlights of the Muhlenberg Social Season and the sparkling affair last evening only added to this reputation.

The Casa Loma Orchestra not only delighted the audience with its melodies and smooth flowing rhythms, but kept them constantly in an uproar with their many entertaining novelty numbers. It has been a long time since such a versatile organization played at a Muhlenberg College function, and it will be a long time before any dance meets with the approval that was awarded the Senior Ball.

The programs were of brilliant cardinal colored leather with an embossed seal on the front. A gray and cardinal tassel and cord with a gray pencil completed the color scheme of cardinal and gray.

The committee in charge of this dance was George Majercik, chairman; Donald B. Hoffman, Franklin Giltner, Charles Saul, Richard Thiede, Morris Efron and Ferdinand Palladino.

Chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. I. M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benfer, Dr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Keller, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hesse Reichard, Mr. and Mrs. William Coder, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hartman.

Since Alonzo Stagg assumed the coaching destinies at Chicago his teams have won 250 games, lost 98 and tied 26.

Cedar Crest Defeated 2-1 By Muhlenberg Team

Hock, Mancke and Hoffman Composed Victorious Muhlenberg Team

Hard Fought Debate Marks Initial Clash Between The Two Colleges

A veteran Muhlenberg debate team overcame a stubbornly fighting Cedar Crest debate team in a debate held at Cedar Crest, Monday evening. The decision was 2-1 in favor of Muhlenberg.

This debate marked the first debate between the two colleges. Negotiations had been going on for some time before final arrangements could be made.

The question for debate was: "Resolved, That Capitalism as an Economic System is Unsound in Principle." Muhlenberg upheld the affirmative with Cedar Crest defending Capitalism.

The Muhlenberg team was composed of Donald V. Hock, '32; captain; Donald B. Mancke, '32 and Donald B. Hoffman, '32, speaking in the order named. The Cedar Crest team was composed of Marion Hoats, captain; Elda Bower and Anne Sadyka speaking in the order named. Henry M. M. Richards, '32, was the alternate for the Muhlenberg team.

Miss Margaret Bucheit of the Cedar Crest Debate Squad officiated as chairman of the debate which was held in Dietz Hall.

The judges for this debate were Prof. Loch of Lehigh University; Mr. Solon J. Fegley, principal of the Raub Junior High School, Allentown and Miss Mabel Mulloch, head of the English Department of Allentown High School.

The managers who made the arrangements for the 'Berg-Cedar Crest debate were Miss Katherine Sherril of Cedar Crest and Ray Mansch of Muhlenberg.

The Muhlenberg team, exhibiting a powerful offensive in their main speeches and a slashing attack in their rebuttal advanced the following arguments in opposing capitalism:

Donald V. Hock, as first speaker, showed that capitalism fails to enhance the welfare of the individual by failing to provide for the just distribution of wealth; by failing to protect and encourage initiative and finally that it fails to provide for the greatest good for the greatest number.

Donald B. Mancke, as second speaker, continued the affirmative case by showing that capitalism fails to insure economic progress and stability because it provides no effective control of the agencies of production; because capitalism gives preference to the protection of invested capital rather than to the development of improved methods of production, and finally because capitalism creates a constant conflict between capital and labor.

Donald B. Hoffman in concluding the affirmative case showed that capitalism interferes with the best functions of the government, as laws are passed in the interest of capital rather than the people and that the protection of private capital in foreign lands breeds international ill-will and discontent.

Cedar Crest placed on the defensive from the start developed the following case:

Miss Marion Hoats, as first speaker, showed that capitalism was not unsound, because under a system of capitalism free enterprise, free competition and profits were developed and the right to private property was maintained.

Miss Elda Bower as second speaker, showed that capitalism provides for an equality of individuals and class to the benefit of all concerned. And,

PHI ALPHA THETA IS TOLD OF CONVENTION

The regular meeting of the Phi Alpha Theta fraternity was held on Monday, December 7th, at the home of Dr. Mueller. Mr. Hoffman the Vice President who had within the last week returned from the national convention, where he was honored with the office of national treasurer, was welcomed by his fellow fraternity brothers. He gave a brief but concise and interesting report of the convention.

Mr. Hawman gave a very interesting talk on the Sino-Japanese question. Two pledges were presented for membership, namely; Mr. Geiger and Mr. H. M. M. Richards.

The next meeting will be held on the eleventh of January at the home of Professor Jackson.

Dr. Haas Concludes His Lecture Series On The Commandments

Explains The Ideas Behind Ninth and Tenth "Words"

Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College, concluded his series of lectures on the Ten Commandments, with an enlightening and impressive talk on the ninth and tenth "Words", in the chapel service, Wednesday, December 9th.

"These commandments," said Dr. Haas, "may be summed up into a declaration concerning man's wife and property. They indicate the agricultural period when the commandments were given. Practical and fundamental things lie back of them.

"Thou shalt not covet," is not a legal restriction, because law concerns itself with acts. In the ninth and tenth commandments the act is not forbidden but the source in the mind of the human being is.

"The ideas which these commandments warn against are the sources of all sin!" exclaimed the President. Jesus applied these to the six and seventh commandments. "Whatever we do is not done thoughtlessly. Back of it is a desire."

However, Dr. Haas, carefully pointed out, "Wanting a thing which does not interfere with our neighbors is not sinful. Covet means to desire something we should not desire." He convincingly showed that the imagination of man at work leads to the urge and then to the act. The important thing for us is to control our desires.

In applying the thoughts to modern life the President mentioned the eternal triangle. He regretted the fact that the modern novelists try to absolve humans from covetousness. He decried the modern sex irregularities and urged the students to keep up the moral standards. He explained the need for religion in keeping up the moral standards.

"If we could stop covetousness, we would stop stealing! As long as man is unequal in the things of life, that long there will be economic difficulty," concluded the President.

DR. ETTINGER SPEAKS TO DEUTSCHE VEREIN

The regular meeting of the German Club, held in the Commons on the evening of Monday, December 7, 1931, was devoted to the singing of songs—a great factor in club interest. The program was further enhanced by the presence of Dr. George T. Ettinger, Dean Emeritus of the College, who gave a short talk interspersed with Pennsylvania German stories.

Each member of the club has assumed the name of some prominent German to be used at the meetings. Some very interesting stories are connected with the selections of these

A Football Review

The football season has come to a close this last week-end. Practically all the post-season charity games have been played and altho the annual Tournament of Roses game still remains to be played the intercollegiate football season of 1931 has officially come to a close.

We have small interest in the ranking of the teams, in the selection of members of so-called all-American teams, but we do have a profound interest in the attitude of the undergraduate bodies toward the greatest of college sports.

Some years back the New York Tribune as well as some other newspapers, questioned the policy which university authorities were following so far as football was concerned. At that time it was suggested that possibly the authorities held a weak grip on the tail of the football bull. It was suggested that they were permitting a fine sport to become a high-powered business spectacle. Various changes in the rules because they were departures from the fundamentals, because, under the guise of protecting the players, some of them really amounted to appeals on the part of the box-offices, were criticized by the Tribune. The game became the victim a period of artificiality of bunk, of downright commercialism.

But now something has happened. Large crowds have attended the games all over the country. Sometimes have made excellent competitive records; others have had what the experts call poor seasons. Just as it is next to impossible to put one's finger on the exact point where a government makes a change in its international relations so is it impossible to define exactly what has happened in the intercollegiate football world.

Our guess is that the college authorities and the students themselves have revolted from the mercantilism of the past few football seasons to a purely amateur basis for the game. Many of the leading colleges of the country have abolished entirely their former "paid" football players and have substituted high scholarship instead.

That it is still possible to have a good football team under these conditions is vouched for by the records of several colleges in the nearby vicinity of Muhlenberg that have abolished athletic scholarships as such.

We sincerely hope that this move begun this last year or so will grow until it reaches the point where there will be no more professionalism in any type of college athletics but pure amateurism.

The Editor has heard a great deal lately concerning the fact that a certain professor is having his English class rewrite the various articles printed in the "Muhlenberg Weekly." Of course the Editor realizes that being merely a Senior and only having mere Juniors and underclassmen as aids instead of professors many mistakes occur in the "Weekly" which would otherwise not be there.

But the Editor does have one good friend on the campus—Sam Bortel, who came to the aid of the much harassed Editor with the following article which the Editor respectfully submits to the scrutiny of the freshman English class—plus, of course, the instructor, with the hope that it will meet with the approval of said personages and will not have to be re-written.

The article is as follows:

In promulgating your esoteric cognitations, or articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable, philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibleness, coalescent consistency and a concatenated agency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affectations. Let our extemporaneous descantings and unpremedidated expatiations have intelligibility and verasious vivacity, without rodomontade or thrasonical bombast.. Seduously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, psittaceous vacuity, ventriloquil verbosity and voniloquent vapidity. Shun double entendres, prurlient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscurant or apparent.

In other words, talk plainly, briefly, naturally, sensibly, truthfully, purely. Keep from "slang"; don't put on airs; say what you mean; mean what you say, and don't use big words.

The story of an Alaskan who traveled seventeen hundred miles from Sitka in a sixteen-foot dory in order to attend school at the University of Oregon, rather puts to shame the tales of our grand-fathers who boasted of traveling miles for an education in the good ole days.

The regular Chapel service for Jewish students, held under the auspices of the Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity was held on Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the Assembly room. Bernard Frank spoke on the subject, The Jewish Student on the Campus.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

We understood that the Weekly is being taken "for a ride" by certain individuals on the campus—and we don't mean students.

Of course we appreciate this interest but would much rather the criticism was made direct to us rather than the way it is.

By the way, did you see where the Athletic Association gave a big vote of confidence for George Holstrom? They did, and George sure deserves it. No coach could have worked harder during the past football season than did George.

The basketball team is rounding into shape and according to all reports 'Berg is all set for a successful season.

ONLY two weeks vacation at Christmas. Imagine trying to make up a whole semester's work in only two weeks. Well, looks as if it would have to be done, so—good luck!

At least one snappy editorial published by the Weekly brought results.

Judging from some of the editorials turned in to ye editor one would think the Weekly was the "Daily Mirror". Incidentally no editorial of that type will be published.

Within another month several students (?) will no longer be seen roaming around the Muhlenberg campus. Reason—mid-year exams.

We overheard some professors the other day and at this advance date they have already decided what questions will make up the mid-year garden party. However, upon being interviewed upon the subject they refused to make any statement for publication. Oh well, such is life!

And now we have an official Christmas card and calendar.

Too bad the Senior Ball lasted only one night. As far as we noticed everybody was having one grand and glorious time. Of course we can judge only from the time at the dance, but according to recent reports most everybody enjoyed themselves after the dance as well, and how.

If we survive the Christmas vacation we'll see you next year.

McGill University argued the following topic in a formal debate held last week, "Resolved, that it is better to be drunk than to be in love." Incidently the affirmative side won.

What will you Earn?

William Atherton Dupy, executive assistant in the United States Department of the Interior, has found that a college graduate may expect his life earnings to total $175,000; the high school student, $110,000; and the boy who leaves school in the elementary grades, only $60,000.

From statistics obtained in a questionnaire at Hunter college it was discovered that only one of 750 freshman intended to marry after graduation.

The longest run made in football this year was executed by Edmund Burke, University of Mississippi back, who caught the kickoff nine yards behind his own goal and ran for a touchdown in the game with Alabama.

All of the coaches of major sports at the University of Pennsylvania have been given professional rank. The physical education department at Penn is a distinct department within the university having its own dean and faculty composed of the coaches of the major sports.

FACULTY NOTES

Rev. Charles B. Bowman spoke on present day foreign missions to the Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church at Macungie last week. Dr. Bowman emphasized the need of more of such work at the present time.

Dr. John A. W. Haas was in Philadelphia on Saturday, December 12, to attend the Faculty Conference of Pennsylvania Colleges at Temple University. Dr. Haas was elected a member of the committee in charge of the convention.

On Sunday, December 13, Dr. Haas preached at the vesper services of St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Bethlehem.

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch went as the guest of Mr. W. W. Speck of Bethlehem to the banquet of the Lutheran Social Service League in Philadelphia on Friday, December 11, and stayed in Philadelphia for the Faculty Conference at Temple University on Saturday.

Dr. Fritsch expects to go to New York on December 29 and 30 for the sessions of the Association of Teachers of Bible of Eastern Colleges and Universities, held at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Dr. Isaac M. Wright presided as toastmaster at the annual Athletic Banquet of Allentown High School, held in the main dining room of the Americus Hotel on Wednesday evening, December 9.

Rev. Russell W. Stine is to address the Ladies' Auxiliary at Christ Lutheran Church, Allentown, on Tuesday, December 29. Dr. Stine will choose some Christmas subject for his topic.

Dr. Shankweiler spoke on "Health" at the Allentown Prep School on Friday, December 11. This talk was to have been given the preceding week, but had been postponed.

Dr. Shankweiler attended the Faculty Conference at Temple University on Saturday, December 12.

Dr. Wright was in Harrisburg on December 5 for a football conference of high schools in this state.

REV. CHARLES KEITER PREACHER AT VESPER SERVICES ON SUNDAY

Christians to be content, but the context seems to point to another meaning.

"Paul's friends at Philippi had sent him a gift and desired to know how he had received it. He thanked them but adds this extra idea about being content. But are we always to be content? Was Paul a quiet man? No, this content of which we have read is evidently referring to what a Christian should have toward his environment. Paul himself indicates that by his life, he endured all hardships but he restlessly strove to spread the good news everywhere.

"Did even the experience of the Damascus road affect the disposition of the great evangelist? All that happened to Paul was a change in objective for afterwards he hungered to bring souls to Jesus. It's not normal to be satisfied with your talents, those that are satisfied are standing still and don't know how illusory their happiness is.

"But there is a discontent," continued Rev. Keiter, "which is selfish, and materialistic. Some say that this is the fundamental cause of the present depression. But the discontent that I mean is a radical change from that, it is a desire to progress, grow, unfold, and the father of all knowledge and the seeking after knowledge. It begets success, gives us executives, captains of industry, benefactors, and it lends zest to labor. In short, it is the mark of our western civilization.

"You students need it, else instead of college being a definite means to a definite goal, it will be an amazing interlude. This will grant you ambition, vision, philanthropy; therefore colleges should stimulate the spirit of discontent of this sort. In the measure that they do, just in that measure can we determine the efficiency of the instruction.

"In reality, this good spirit of discontent is truly Christian. Christ opposed the whole religious system of His time, all that the Pharisees revered, and that the priests exalted. He associated with the sinner and the sick of body, with all else He was divinely discontented. He had many chances to compromise, make temporary changes, and half-way measures, but He wanted to give salvation to all. Therefore the Cross! that alone could make the big change.

"Christ becomes greater as the years go by", Rev. Keiter said, "so our respect for Him should increase. He will not be content with our day until all men learn to know His Father. How is it with us today, do we satisfy Him? We should want to grow like Him and not be content with our spiritual stature.

"The great danger to-day is not atheism or economic effects, but self-complacency. No real Christian is satisfied with himself, with his conduct, ways of life, or with the world," stated Rev. Keiter in concluding his sermon.

Dr. Harold K. Marks, organist of the chapel, played "The First Noel" by James as the prelude; the offertory was "Gesu Bambino" by Yon, and as a postlude Dr. Marks played Lemmens' "Christmas Offertory".

The chapel choir sang "Lo How a Rose Eer Bloomin" by Praetorius as the Anthem.

Rev. Stine and Rev. Cressman had charge of the opening and closing exercises.

The next chapel service will be on January 10th when Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, D.D., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, will deliver the sermon. The time of these vesper services has been changed from 4 o'clock to 3:30.

Seventy candidates turned out for football manager of the frosh squad at Notre Dame.

All Opponent Team Picked By Holstrum

Lafayette Places Four, and Western Maryland Three

Following his annual custom Coach George Holstrom of Muhlenberg College has picked an All-Opponent team from the teams that Muhlenberg played during the year. On this team Western Maryland places three men, Lafayette places four, Lehigh two and Lebanon Valley, and Franklin and Marshall one each.

When he picked this team Coach Holstrom said "You might just as well list the entire Western Maryland team, as they were the best that we hit this season. We never were tackled harder, or the line was never hit as hard as in that game. Then too, the Lafayette squad was an excellent team and would give any team its size a run for their money."

Many Letters To Be Awarded At Banquet

Twenty Seven Varsity "M" Letters To Be Given To Football Men

A total of 27 varsity "M" letters will be given to members of this year's varsity football team at Muhlenberg College at the forthcoming football banquet. Because of the small size of the squad and the injury jinx that pursued the team for the entire season, practically every player on the squad had a fine chance to earn his varsity letter.

Among the seven seniors who will get their last "M" for football are: Majercik, Carney, Palladino, Giltner, Thomas, Bortel and Godschall. Of these seven men, Majercik, Carney, Giltner and Palladino will receive the three year award for being on the varsity team three years.

A total of ten juniors earned their letters. Matuska, May, Wilkinson, Horine, Symons, Evanosky, Morrison, Cooperman, Miller, Oberg were the juniors to receive the varsity letter. This marks the second football letter earned by Joe Matuska, center; Charlie Evanosky, fullback; Sam Cooperman, end; Luke Miller, tackle. The other juniors earned their first varsity letter.

A promising crew of nine sophomores earned a varsity "M". Rosenberg, Eisenhardt, Klotz, Carter, Gramley, Wiener, Nehf, Van Buren and Wiener composed the sophomore members of the team.

Luke Miller, husky tackle, played in all but one quarter of the games. He missed one quarter in the Ursinus game and thus played in 39 quarters. Dank Giltner, senior, and one of the best ends ever developed at Muhlenberg, played in 37 quarters, missing three of the quarters of the F. & M. game. Charlie Evanosky played in 30 quarters. Those players who participated in more than twenty quarters were: Joe Matuska, Stan Carney, Bill Wilkinson, Jimmy Morrison, Sam Cooperman, Charlie Carter, Russ Nehf and Van Buren.

The manager of the team this past season was John Greenawald of Allentown.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE I. O. U. CONTEST TO BE HELD JANUARY 14

Eastern contest held at Upsilanti, Michigan. Donald B. Mancke, '32, won first place in 1930 and was third in the all-Eastern contest held at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky.

The annual Constitutional Contest sponsored by the All-America organization of Los Angeles will be held at Muhlenberg some time in February. At present both Donald B. Mancke and Donald V. Hock are entered. Any other person desiring to enter this contest should see Dr. Brown as soon as possible.

18,006 Help Choose All-American Eleven

Results Of First Ballot Conducted by Radio Name Schwartz First Player

An All-American football eleven, the first ever chosen by a large section of the American public and the first ever chosen through the medium of radio, was announced today.

Eighteen thousand and six voters, who began to make their choices immediatey following the Hart, Schaffner and Marx Trumpeter broadcast November 19, in which regular weekly program the poll was announced gave Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame back, first place in the matter of popularity. Schwartz received 16,887 votes. The three judges, Ted Husing, ace sports announcer of C. B. S., Sol Metzger and Warren Brown, both nationally known football authorities, in each case approved the popular choices, which, in almost every case coincide with prominent all-American elevens picked by football writers and experts in various sections of the country.

The Hart, Schaffner and Marx All-American team follows:

Dallas Marvil, Northwestern
Left Guard,
Clarence Munn, Minnesota
Center ..Tommy Yarr, Notre Dame
Right Guard,
John Baker, Southern California
Right Tackle,
Jim McMurdo, Pittsburgh
Right End ..Vernon Smith, Georgia
Quarterback ..Barry Wood, Harvard
Left Halfback,
Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame
Right Halfback,
Ernest Pinckert, Southern California
Full back,
Ernest Rentner, Northwestern

Tommy Yarr, believed to be one of the two most important pivot men on national gridirons this year, placed second in the popular vote, 14,003 of the 18,000 voters naming him on their teams. Vernon "Catfish" Smith, Georgia end, with 12,727, Jerry Dalrymple, Tulane with 12,506 and Ernest Rentner of Northwestern with 12,384 took the next places in number of ballots reecived.

One of the unusual features of the poll, a matter in which all three judges concurred, was selection by the voters of Barry Wood of Harvard for quarterback, with 12,157 votes. Husing, the C. B. S. announcer, who was barred during the season from any further broadcasts at Harvard, because of his description of a play in which Wood figured, had no hesitancy in approving the voters' choice of Wood on the Trumpeters All-American. It was in the controversial broadcast that Husing referred to a play in which Wood participated as "putrid."

North, south, east and middlewest voters participated in the poll. Those who won first places with their selections and the reasons they gave for their choices are: A. E. Berry, Colorado Springs; M. E. Chapman, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Clarence W. Gray, New Orleans, La.; Frank Eugene Kock, Warsaw, Ill.; C. B. Prescott, New Orleans; C. D. Ruth, Buffalo, N. Y.; John F. McEvoy, Trenton, N. J.; Bryce Bullington, Atlanta, Ga.; Cecil White, Pascagula, Miss.; Bert W. Anderson, Charleston, W. Va.

Each of the first ten listed will receive full winter wardrobes from Hart, Schaffner and Marx while the next 50 also will receive a free suit or overcoat.

REV. CAROLUS HARRY TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Elimination Contest To Be Held in Science Auditorium

At a meeting to be held on Wednesday evening, December 16th, on the mezzanine floor of the Library Building, an attempt will be made to organize on the Muhlenberg campus a Lutheran Students' Association..

At this meeting it will be debated whether or not the present minor clubs on the campus will be subordinated under this association or not.

Rev. Carolus P. Harry, D.D., student secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America will be present and address those interested. His subject will be "The Aims and Purposes of the Lutheran Students' Association." He will help in the organization of the local association and give advice if necessary.

The C-Y Club has postponed their meeting in order that every Muhlenberg student will be able to attend the organization meeting of this association.

The North Atlantic Conference of Lutheran Students will be held on this campus February 19, 20, 21 of next year.

Professor William D. Coder addressed the Fortnightly Club of Allentown, Tuesday, December 8, on the significance of Eugene O'Neill's play "Mourning becomes Electra."

Sport Rambles

Things we never knew before . . . "Every college in the U. S. has subsidized athletics" . . . as recently remarked by Dean Gauss of Princeton . . . Did you know that Roger Rohn scored all the touch-downs made by the Freshman team? . . . Headlines in the "Brown and White" . . . "Lehigh represented at Sing Sing game" . . . no doubt . . . that's to illustrate the saying that wherever you go you will find a Lehigh man . . . What a team the Mules were—on paper . . . Muhlenberg defeated Juniata, 19-7 . . . Juniata walloped Waynesburg, 25-6 . . . the latter defeated Penn State, 7-0 . . . Penn State drubbed Lehigh, 33-0 . . . which makes us 71 points better than Lehigh . . . Oh Yeah! . . . Penn State also defeated Lebanon Valley, 19-7 . . . which rates the Mules 50 points better than Lebanon Valley . . . Juniata also defeated Gettysburg, 6-0 . . . this makes us 18 points better than Gettysburg . . . Gettysburg tied Ursinus, 6-6 . . therefore we rate 18 points over Ursinus . . . Ursinus's defeat of F. and M, 7-6 puts us 19 points stronger than F. and M. . . . the latter licked Dickinson, 28-7 . . . which gives us a 38 point record better than D-Son . . . Boy, what a way of figuring games . . . Here is another trip to Dreamland . . . Since we are 71 points stronger than Lehigh, and Lehigh defeated Princeton, 19-7 . . . we are 83 digits the master of the Tiger . . . The latter lost to Yale, 51-14 . . . according to my figuring Yale is 36 points worse than we are . . . Yale's tie with Army, 6-6, keeps our score the same over Army . . . the Latter walloped Notre Dame, 12-0 . . . therefore we end the season 8 touchdowns better than Notre Dame . . . A little more effort would make me prove we're 46 points better than U. S. California and only 40 points better than St. Mary's . . . but it's time to stop. . I hear the canaries calling . . . Seen in the Syracuse "Orange" . . . "Fifty-five percent of the students have paid their tuition; forty percent deferred it, and five percent are football players", the latter never pay . . . Again we say . . . "Dar's cripples on dat dar team." . . . There is a rumor that Austey Tate at Lehigh is out . . . and that Chick Meehan or Lud Wray is to take over the helm . . . Remember the days of Borelli, Muhlenberg's greatest football player . . . We would like to inform the editors of the Muhlenberg Handbook that Corp Reinartz, '22, set the record for the javelin on May 13, 1922, not on May 6, 1916 . . . Mistakes will happen . . . The cheerleaders were taken for a ride in a recent issue of the "Weekly" . . . in the "Muhlenberg Mirrored" column . . . The trouble is not with the cheerleaders . . . it's with the students, who yell with pep only when the team is winning . . . Although the column enumerated many things the cheerleaders can do . . . they are not miracle workers . . .All you hear is—poor material . . . Rockne couldn't do better . . . Pop Warner would give up in despair . . . Maybe . . . but remember that up until the Lehigh game . . . you thought the team was good . . . Juniata, conqueror of the Bullets, was defeated by the score of 19-7 . . . Lafayette, one of the strongest teams in the East, was held to a 26-0 score . . . Lebanon Valley fell on a blocked punt behind our line to score their only touchdown . . . 7-6 . . . bad breaks, you'll admit that . . . the Mules scored 14 first downs to Lebanon Valley's five . . . Ursinus defeated us 7-0 . . . those who saw the game . . . say that we should have won . . . Remember the Ursinus team won the Conference . . . after this game the aspect changes . . . on paper we were rated equal to Lehigh . . . you know what the score was? . . . Why was Muhlenberg considered a good team up until the Lehigh game? . . . Because they were good . . . What happened after that? . . . Don't ask me . . . a mechanical defense . . . "Muhlenberg didn't have a good team all season" . . . poor material . . . What could you expect?" . . . Cripples are a possible excuse . . . and lack of reserve material . . . but don't say the material from the start of the season was nihil . . . In holding Western Maryland to a 34-0 defeat, the Mules must be commended . . . considering that Johns Hopkins met their first de-

Muhlenberg Mirrored

Ruth Bernheim suggests that this week we talk about the weather. Weather is a rather peculiar thing. One day it's hot and the next day it's cold. Today the trees may blossom and tomorrow their buds may be nipped by frost. The sun may shine at noon, and the heavens may pour out their tears by dusk. There's one consolation, that is, the farmers really do need rain.

—— M ——

By the time you come back for the holidays all of Allentown's speakeasies will be closed. Believe it or not, Mayor-elect Fred E. Lewis, has issued an ultimatum in which he declares sixty-three of those interesting places will cease to exist when he takes office on January fourth. If you've never looked at the inside of one, and we rather believe no Muhlenberg student has, take an hour off and visit one before they vanish. Come around and visit us and we'll go with you—never having seen one ourself.

—— M ——

And then there's a story about the college student out in Wichita, Kansas who thinks that Helen Wills Moody is the founder of the Moody Bible Institute, and that John J. Raskob is a republican congressman. There's also a student on the Muhlenberg campus who says that Andrew Carnegie is the man who wrote the Carnegie tests, and that Charles Curtis invented the airplane. He was rather cautious in saying that Robert Lamont and William Howard Taft were both politicians.

—— M ——

All of which proves that there's more to a college education than Greek, Latin and Mathematics. There should be a good course in current events which would be compulsory for four years. It might benefit the average student every bit as much as a course in physical education. Probably even a bit more. Bill Ritter, who is well posted in all the topics of the day, would undoubtedy make a fine instructor.

—— M ——

Then there's talk about town in regards to establishing a school and a home for delinquent children. Get the point?

—— M ——

It's aso rumored that on, or about December twenty-fifth Santa Claus will put in his appearance. Can you picture "Haps" Benfer dressed up to represent Old Nick? "Haps" with long white whiskers, a little red cap, a fur trimmed suit and high black boots, driving a team of four prancing reindeer, or mules, as the case might be? There's one thing about it though, his glowing red cheeks and his "pouch, which shakes like a bowl full of jelly" would just fit the traditional picture of the old gentleman.

In fact there's just one thing against "Haps" playing the part. If he'd ever attempt to come down through the modern chimney all the unemployed bricklayers would be given a year's employment to repair the damage he has done. "Haps" has some figure, and when we say some figure we mean just that. He has enough of the warmth giving material in him to keep him comfortable in his little workshop at the North Pole. Then too, in visiting good little children on Christmas eve he could leave a catalogue of Muhlenberg in each child's stocking and probably he could talk to an older brother about enrolling here next fall.

Well, here's luck to you "Haps" and don't get stuck in any chimneys.

—— M ——

What a genuine thrill there is when you hear the old time Christmas carols ring out just at this time of the year. A picture of a blazing log fire in your own particular home, a holly wreath at the window, your mother and father sitting there with you recalling tales of your past semester at college all come back to you, and it's just a few more hours until we'll all be enjoying those scenes.

Will we have a family gathering like that? Will we have even one like it during the entire seventeen days of vacation? Or will the Christmas vacation be a continual round of social activities, dates, parties, dances, balls, orgies? Will it be Christmas with THE ONE AND ONLY GIRL IN THE WORLD? If it is, we can't blame you. That would be a lovely Christmas—LOVEly, LOVEly, LOVEly.

—— M ——

May we suggest that if you have an hour to spare during the holidays you read Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man". Really, about the most beautiful Christmas story ever written.

——M——

Well, "A Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year" and let's not start the new year with any hard feelings. Don't eat too much, or drink too much cider. And then for the grind until mid-years.

with its first president Paul R. Rouge. In January, 1922, upon petition to the faculty, the Azetes Club was established as a local Greek letter fraternity, from which time it has exercised a marked influence in college affairs.

The enrollment of the Pennsylvania Epsilon Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu is as follows:

Officers: Allen M. Hawman, Jr., archon; Paul Stoneback, scribe; Otto Saafeld, Jr., treasurer, and Carl Beck, oracle.

Members are: Carl S. Beck, Angelo Bianco, Carl G. Clayton, Francis L. Corbeau, Franklin E. Giltner, Walbert S. Grasely, John W. Greenawald. Allen M. Hawman, Jr., William C. Horine, Robert R. King, Harold F. Miller, Luther S. Miller, John W. Mitchell, Allen A. Ritter, Otto A. Saafeld, Jr., John D. Staples, Jr., Paul M. Stoneback, Vincent Takacs, Jr., Pierre C. Thomas, John A. Turtzo, Ray F. Wahl, and Ben A. Watson.

SANCTION GIVEN TO SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

To Sponsor Interest in Current Events

The official sanction of the faculty has been granted to the recently organized Social Science Club. On Friday, November 13, about ten Freshmen assembled to form this club, which as its formal report reads, has as its purpose, "To sponsor and to further a growing interest in sociology, current events, and the progress of civilization, and maintain an open forum for discussion of these subjects and matters pertaining thereto." The membership is limited to Freshmen taking history and maintaining a grade of C or above, in that course. Henry B. Grove conceived the idea of having this club at Muhlenberg, and has been very active in its formation.

Dean Horn is scheduled to talk to the club on Tuesday, January 5, on ancient Greek culture, and its influence on the present day world. Other faculty members will be asked to address the organization at future meetings.

The charter members of the Social Science Club are: President, H. B. Grove; Vice-president, R. L. Krapf; Secretary, R. Kosteril and, B. Frank, W. H. Henshaw, J. J. Kish, D. K. Miller, F. J. Schlick, and M. Warshaw. Faculty Advisors are: Doctor J. E. Swain, and Professor J. S. Jeckson.

Who's Who on the Campus

Richard C. Thiede
Theta Upsilon Omega

Ever since his Freshman year Dick has been treasurer of the class of '32, a fact which should give one a fair idea of what his class thinks of him, and the respect they hold for him. Dick's abilities are varied, but we feel certain that his scholastic attainments will do more than anything else in helping him to reach his ultimate goal—surgery. Besides maintaining one of the best records scholastically of anyone in his class, Dick is president of the Science Club, and of Alpha Kappa Alpha, honorary philosophy fraternity. He has also been a member of the German Club since his Sophomore year. Dick was a member of the "Ciarla" staff and of the Junior Prom Committee.

Socially, Dick is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega. All in all, this man has been an outstanding individual during his college career, and the record he has made and maintained is one of which everyone could be nothing but proud. For these reasons his friends and fellow students predict a bright future for him and offer him best wishes for success in his chosen field.

CEDAR CREST DEFEATED BY MUHLENBERG TEAM

Miss Anne Sadyka, in concluding the case for Cedar Crest, showed that the faults prevalent today and which the affirmative was stressing were faults rather in the working of the principle of capitalism but not in the principle or theory itself.

A fairly good sized audience attended the debate. About as many representatives of Muhlenberg were present as from Cedar Crest and in addition quite a few town people attended the debate.

The Muhlenberg debate season this year has so far resulted in two victories and one loss for the 'Berg teams. The opening debate of the season was the dual with Villanova held on December 3, in which the Muhlenberg affirmative dropped the decision 3-2 and the Muhlenberg negative won, at home, 3-0. With this win the affirmative over Cedar Crest 2-1 the 'Berg squad has captured a total of 8 judges decisions out of a possible 11.

The next debate will be held during the latter part of January. Debates have been arranged with Temple, Dickinson, Haverford, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Albright and Ursinus.

During the past three years, the 'Berg squad has compiled the enviable record of 23 victories while losing but 8. These figures do not include this year's debates.

The squad is composed of five veteran debaters in Donald V. Hock, Donald B. Mancke, Kenneth H. Koch, Donald B. Hoffman and Henry M. M. Richards and two new men, who have proved their ability, Ray K. Heist, Jr. and Morris Silverman. In addition several members of the freshman squad show promise of becoming excellent debaters within a very short time.

Since its institution as a recognized activity five years ago, the coach has been Arthur T. Gillespie, local attorney. A great deal of credit must necessarily be given to Attorney Gillespie for his splendid work as coach of the Muhlenberg teams.

Date with Home

WHAT'S THE USE of making a team—winning the election—passing a test—if Mother and Dad don't hear of it? Half the fun of college success is sharing it with home.

Here's where the telephone plays its part linking campus and home together!

Make it a habit to call up home each week. Mother and Dad will be thrilled to hear your voice—to share your news—to know all's well! Each week they'll be waiting with family news, cheery greetings, sound advice.

They're a lasting pleasure—these Telephone Dates with Home—inexpensive and easy to make.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than the more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Buddy Rader's Orchestra To Furnish Syncopation

FRIDAY, JAN. 15TH DATE FOR ANNUAL AFFAIR

The Annual Dance of the Freshman Class will be be held this year on Friday evening, January 15. It has been decided to give the dance, always one of the high points of the social calendar, in Mealey's Auditorium on Hamilton Street. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 o'clock, the music being furnished by one of the most popular dance orchestras of Allentown—namely, Buddy Rader's. The admission price per couple or stag, $1.75, has been put at the lowest rate possible so as to induce everyone to come. This dance is the last of the social functions of the first semester and promises to be very worthwhile attending. Members of the Faculty who will act as chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benfer, Mr. and Mrs. William Coder, Prof. and Mrs. Albert Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. John Keller, Dr. and Mrs. John Shankweiler and Dr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Wright.

The Freshman Dance Committee is composed of Henry Held, chairman, John Danner, Rudolf Koster, Norman Miles, and Benjamin Watson. Tickets may be bought from any of the above and also from Bernard Frank, Robert Heimbach, Robert Houghey, and Luther Ziegler.

Seventy-five mothers and sons, many from distant towns, on Friday December 18, 1931 enjoyed the annual mothers' day observance and Christmas party of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, in the fraternity house at Leh and Liberty streets, with Kenneth Koch, president of the fraternity, in charge, and Mrs. Charles B. Bowman, president of Mu chapter of Phi Eta. the Mothers' sorority of Phi Kappa Tau, as the principal speaker at the dinner.

Guests were the men recently pledged by the fraternity and their mothers, who it is expected will soon be affiliated with Mu chapter of Phi Eta, the national organization of mothers of Phi Kappa Tau men. Mothers of pledges to the Muhlenberg chapter of the fraternity, who were guests of honor that evening, included:

Mrs. Robert Haughey, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Henry Bremer, of Springfield Garden, N. Y.; Mrs. H. E. Hilbert, of Reading; Mrs. John Yerger, also of Reading; Mrs. Armon Williams and Mrs. Harry Underwood, both of Bangor; Mrs. Mervin Frantz, of Coplay; Mrs. Myron Eichner, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Stephen Fisher, of Kutztown. Other guests were Miss Bachman, of Bethlehem, and Misses Helen and Margaret Hood, of Reading.

The Christmas dinner party was given by the fraternity men for their Social Science Club Addressed By Dr. Horn

A very educational and interesting meeting of the Social Science Club took place on Tuesday evening, January 5, at six thirty o'clock. Dr. Horn, who is well acquainted with Greek life, habits, and customs delivered an interesting sketch of the Athenians.

It seems that during their time they lived in very simple, and small houses which had no windows but admitted light and air through the peristyle. The women of the house were considered as back numbers, for they were not given very much freedom out of the house and spent most of their time in spinning and weaving.

While at home, the men wore a loin cloth and a garment which either covered the dimples on his knees, or was a little shorter, while on leaving his domicile he donned a long cloak. If he merely took a walk he went barefooted for Athlete's Foot wasn't common at that time, but on a long journey he wore sandals.

Night made the crooked, dirty, winding, and dark streets, a haven for the wicked, for unless the Athenian's slave carried a torch, his way might be blocked.

The Athenians believed in education and the children were sent to open air schools where they studied Homer, the Dead, the Olyssey, a little mathematics, and Hesseod.

Physical fitness was a password, for youths vied with each other in javelin throwing, hurling the discus and racing.

The Athenians believed in eating to live, for their diet was very restricted, consisting of a roll and some wine for breakfast; eggs, salad, and wine for luncheon; and at a late dinner in the afternoon a well restricted amount of food, consisting of grain, goat's milk, and a small amount of fish, for they were not at all meat-eaters. Prohibition was as yet not in favor for wine was their favorite refreshment.

Personal hygiene to the Athenians was very important for they anointed themselves before and after exercising, shaved, and took frequent baths.

Before the time of Hypocrates charms, for the cures of sickness, were abolished.

At the conclusion of Dr. Horn's speech the meeting was adjourned. Membership to this newly organized group is open to all students interested in History.

Dr. Barba Host To Annual German Club Christmas Party

Popular Campus Organization Royally Entertained

On the 16th of December, Wednesday evening, the annual Christmas party of Der Deutsche Verein was held at the home of Dr. Barba. The air of expectation, before the festivities began, led one to expect something out of the ordinary, as far as the Verein meetings have gone. Before a rather short business meeting, different small groups explored the many treasures, some modern, some antique, of the store of treasures of German folk lore, accumulated by the cosmopolitan Dr. Barba. Following the shortened business meeting, came the anticipated program. The acme of Christmas spirit prevailed as the different features on the program were presented. Then, the big moment came when Knecht Ruprecht arrived, played by Dr. Barba, attired in the real make-up, whiskers and all. He carried his bag of gifts, which made him the more welcome. Among those to receive these remembrances were Dr. Haas, and Mrs. Haas, Dr. and Mrs. Reichard, Dr. and Mrs. Marks, Dr. Ettinger, Dr. Brown, and Dr. Corbiere.

The height of the merriment was climaxed by Dr. Haas' display of his knowledge of playing the drum, and the venerable Dr. Ettinger's attempts to crack Brazil nuts on a piece of fire-log. Individual discussions among small groups arose, and the most anticipated part of the program was announced,—the refreshments. Mrs. Barba proved to be a very charming hostess, and the lunch served was quite delightful. From then on informal discussions prevailed until Dr. Barba bade the members a Merry Christmas, as they left. The campus has gained much by the well-directed activity of the Verein, and hopes to continue in the new Year, where it has left off in the old.

Dr. Haas Begins New Series Of Addresses

Modern Problems To Be Discussed by Muhlenberg President

Dr. John A. W. Haas delivered his first talk of the season to a large assembly of Muhlenberg students in the chapel session of Wednesday morning, January 6th. His topic dealt with the economic problems of the world to-day.

Dr. Haas attributed the unfavorable economic situation in the world to-day to the lack of a fundamental morality which both society and the individual need. He stressed that nations should judge one another not by arms and resources, but by world brotherhood and good will.

In regard to the United States collecting the debts due since the World War the Doctor warned that the United States would lose its present enviable position in the hearts of the nations. However, world brotherhood can only be achieved if racial hatred and nationalism are overcome.

In conclusion, Dr. Haas declared that the law of love must be substituted for the evil that brings war if we want to overcome our present national difficulties.

Muhlenberg Student Wins Prize In International Contest

Willard M. Hausman '32 Wins High Honors

Willard M. Hausman, '32, has received a high honor during the vacation period with an award in the international contest sponsored by Lempco Products Inc.

This firm—an automotive manufacturing concern, sponsored a contest to introduce their new grooved axle.

Mr. Hausman was one of the two winners in this contest from Pennsylvania. Altogether there were 40 prize winners in the entire world. In addition to people in the United States some of the prizes were awarded to contestants in these places, Porto Rico; Madras, India; Santa Clara, Cuba; and Colombo, Ceylon.

The winning of a prize in this large international contest speaks highly of Mr. Hausman and also reflects a great deal of credit upon his Alma Mater.

Win At Home 2-1

Thursday evening the Muhlenberg Freshman debate team composed of Russel Krapf, Ralph Keeport and John Brockhof with John Yerger as alternate defeated the Catasauqua High School team composed of Miss Laura Roth, Miss Ethel Ross and John Hess, with Francis Hess as alternate. The decision was 2-1.

Muhlenberg upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That Co-Education Above the Ninth Grade Is Desirable."

Judges for this debate were Rev. Heckman, Mr. D. E. Woodring and Mrs. Harold Hoffman of Coplay.

Donald B. Hoffman '32, acted as chairman. Donald V. Hock '32, coached the freshman team.

Lose At Catasauqua 3-0

Traveling to Catasauqua High School, Friday afternoon the Muhlenberg team upholding the negative side of the same question was defeated by the Catasauqua team 3-0.

The Muhlenberg team was composed of Robert Laubach, Ray Brennan, Alton Clauser with Bernard Frank acting as alternate.

The Catasauqua team was composed of Francis Peacock, Margaret Peiffer, Ruth Rutman with William Walker as alternate and final rebuttal speaker.

Judges were Rev. James Lambert, Catasauqua, Mr. John Timken, debate coach at Northampton and Mrs. John Newhard of Northampton.

Annual Muhlenberg Oratorical Contest To Be Held Thursday Jan. 14 In Science Auditorium

KOCH, GEHR, GARNET & HORN TO PARTICIPATE

Winner To Represent 'Berg in State Finals

SIMPSON, CODER AND EVERETT TO BE JUDGES

The annual Muhlenberg College Oratorical Contest will be held this Thursday in the Science Auditorium from 11 to 12 o'clock.

This contest will decide the person to represent Muhlenberg in the all-state contest to be held at Gettysburg on Saturday, March 5th. Judges will be Prof. Simpson, Mr. Coder, and Mr. Everett.

There are two Seniors and two Juniors entered in this contest. J. Frederick Gehr, the second place winner, in the Junior Oratorical contest last spring, and Kenneth H. Koch, a memmember of the varsity debate squad are the Seniors. Richard F. Garnet and Robert C. Horn, Jr., are the Juniors entered.

Richard F. Garnet, speaking first wil use as his topic, "America's Present Obligation to the World." "Our Social Heritage" will be the topic of J. Frederick Gehr. Kenneth H. Koch will speak on the topic, "Wither World" and Robert C. Horn, Jr., will speak on "Thomas A. Edison—a Eulogy."

The winner of the all-state contest will represent Pennsylvania in the all-Eastern contest to be held at the seat of the winning college in West Virginia. Representatives from Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana will also enter this all-Eastern contest.

Muhlenberg has been exceptionally strong in these all-state contests placing first eleven times, second four and third, three times.

Last year Donald B. Mancke '32 representing Muhlenberg and Pennsylvania at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky, placed a close third while the year before Donald V. Hock, '32 placed second in the all-Eastern contest held at Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The interest of the students in this contest has been very fine the last two years and a good turnout of students for this contest is expected.

Cedar Crest and 'Berg Hold Combined Chapel Program, Dec. 16th

Egner-Hartzell Chapel Crowded With Students of Both Colleges

The first joint chapel service comprising Cedar Crest College and Muhlenberg College was held on Tuesday, December 16, 1931, at 11 o'clock, in the Chapel, in commemoration of the approaching Christmas holidays. Both the Muhlenberg Choir and that of Cedar Crest were present, and the singing produced commendable harmonious effects, with Dr. Marks presiding at the organ. During the course of the worship, several Christmas carols were sung by both choirs. Dr. Bowman read the lesson from the Gospel of St. Luke, the second Chapter, verses one to twenty-two. Dr. Curtis, of Cedar Crest College took the pulpit, and formally thanked Dr. Haas on behalf of the college for the invitation to participate in the services with Muhlenberg.

In his Christmas message, he urged everyone to "go even unto Bethlehem and see this thing which the Lord hath made known to us." He went on to relate how the seven shepherds heard the celestial singing from Heaven, announcing the birth of the Christ. An unknown poet has described the manger, in the stable, and other sights that will humble the belief of man. Dr. Curtis spoke of Jesus as a Lord of Love and Beauty, as a Lord of Life and Death. As a finale to the service, the Cedar Crest Choir sang a selection composed by Miss Elizabeth Curtis, daughter of President Curtis, and set to music by a member of the Music Department.

The students, numbering approximately nine hundred, filled the chapel almost to its capacity. The walls reverberated the rendition of the carols with a grandeur only exceeded by that of the mighty tones of the organ. The visiting choir, attired in their black, solemn gowns, trimmed with chaste, white collars, lent a little more dignified air to the whole. It is to be hoped that the success of this venture may prove to be its reiteration in the near future.

"Strength For The New Year" Topic Of First Vesper Service

Rev. W. C. Schaeffer of Allentown, Speaker

The first public Vesper Service of the new year was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, January 10, 1932, at three-thirty o'clock. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend W. C. Schaeffer, Jr., D.D., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, Pa. The subject of his sermon was, "Strength for the New Year."

"We ought to be able to make something out of our new year," began Dr. Schaeffer. "No two days are the same." We are constantly learnign new things.

We must have strength to carry on our work in the new year and we must have means of obtaining this strength. There are several places where we may be able to obtain this strength. In the first place, we may turn our eyes into the past and converse with the souls of past ages through the medium of books. In books, a man's thoughts may live

ALUMNI NOTE

Rev. Joseph L. Weisley, '02 recently celebrated his 25th year as pastor of the Forty Fort Presbyterian Church.

After graduating from Muhlenberg, Rev. Weisley went to Prniceton where he graduated in 1904 with an M. A. degree.

Rev. Weisley served in France as the Chaplain of the 330th Infantry. He also has served as Chaplain of the Black Diamond Post, American Legion for several years. Last year he was Senior Vice Commander and chairman of the membership committee.

Since 1922 he has been Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of Lackawanna. He also represents Lackawanna Presbytery on the General Council of the Synod of Pennsylvania.

At a reception given by the officers and members of the Church, Rev. Weisley was presented with a beautiful desk by the Church and a gorgeous basket of chrysanthemums by the American Legion.

Rev. Weisley came from Catasauqua. At present his mother is living in Allentown. While attending Muhlenberg College, Rev. Weisley was also a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity.

In these days of short pastorates Rev. Weisley is to be congratulated on his excellent work.

Issued Weekly for thirty weeks during the school year excepting the following holiday periods: Thanksgiving recess, Christmas vacation, Mid-year recess and Easter vacation.

Allentown, Pa., January 12, 1932

A short time ago the following letter was received by the Editor. Because of the type of letter which it was and on the advice of the Administration it is herewith printed plus a few editorial remarks.

To the Editor of the Muhlenberg:

For obvious reasons this must be an anonymous communication.

I received my son's report with several F's and all the blame was placed on him. To me it is a case of poor workmanship on the part of the teacher. With such a number of E's and F's as indicated in your recent issue of THE MUHLENBERG WEEKLY it is plain to anyone who comes in daily contact with all classes that the teaching must be at fault.

Another point might also be noted at this time. If physical education is so important for the student I consider it equally so for the faculty. Several hours a week for them under the physical director would work wonders.

AN AMUSED FATHER.

This letter aroused a great deal of interest among the faculty. In the first place there is no teacher or group of teachers on the Muhlenberg faculty able to so dull a student's initiative and interest as to produce the above results. Of course if there was nothing to start with the above results would be only natural.

Incidently the "Weekly" NEVER published a list of the delinquents.

The "amused father" presents a rather novel but altogether correct idea concerning physical education. Unfortunately Muhlenberg does not boast of an adequate gymnasium and equipment as yet. However the college is open to all gifts towards this and would appreciate hearing from the "amused father" with a donation.

However after all is said and done the son of "an amused father" was in all probability a misfit in college and so could not be expected to get higher marks than F plus or an E.

From time to time various emergencies arise which demand the attention of all intelligent people. According to all reports the present time is one of these emergencies.

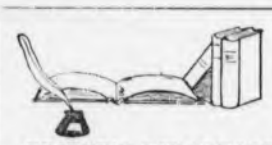
Our actions in some matters which under ordinary conditions are perfectly in order may under different conditions be entirely out of order.

In view of this fact the President of the College has prepared a list of three questions for the purpose of stimulating intelligent thought among the student body. These questions are printed here. Think them over and then draw your conclusions.

QUESTIONS:

1. Is it morally defensible to spend large sums for social events and dances while many people are in want?
2. Is it right to spend much money for our own pleasure and gratification if we have not and do not help the destitute and poor?
3. Can we justly spend money on ourselves and our pleasure while we are drawing upon the charity of others, and receiving personal help either from individuals, or from the Church or from the College?

JOHN A. W. HAAS.



EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Back again. And did we have a vacation period? The only trouble was there weren't enough nights per week.

Our school work was in the same condition before the vacation period as it was afterward—NOT DONE.

After all with only a two week vacation period it would have been impossible to catch up.

Some of the students at this late date haven't recovered from their "hard" work during the Christmas vacation.

Ever notice how many of the faculty (don't) go to chapel. Didja?

After all Dr. Haas is still the best speaker during the chapel programs. Here's hoping we hear him more often.

And now we have a Freshman debate team. Well, well. Lot's o' luck boys.

Now that basketball season's going full force we have an excuse to leave some of our lessons slide.

The boys sure are playing a bang-up game this season. We're right behind you every minute so keep on going team!!

So that the students won't forget about the mid-year Exam period this issue of the Weekly contains a complete schedule. We aim to please.

First it's the "M" Club dance, then the Senior Ball and now the Frosh have pushed their dance up to January. With the Junior Prom coming in the first week of February, we predict a great rush for the Student Loan Committee.

See you in the line for aid.

Another Muhlenberg student brought some honor to the "old school" when Willard Hausman copped one of the forty prizes in the Lempco contest. Good work, Bill.

We even heard some students express the opinion the other day that they expected to "finish Muhlenberg" in four years. That's a noble ambition if only Muhlenberg doesn't "finish" them sooner.

Which reminds me that we will be looking for a job within a few months. Such is life.

Better sign off as we really must study some (not saying how much or what). See you at the Frosh Hop.

To Whom It May Concern,

Let me say "Well Done," to those responsible for the Christmas Card and Calendar put out by 'Berg this season. I have known of nothing which has earned such fine words of praise, in such a short period of time, for the beauty and cheer which they gave.

This became known to me as I traveled among alumni and friends during my Christmas vacation.

PHI KAPPA TAU HOLDS ANNUAL YULETIDE PARTY

mothers and the committee in charge of arrangements included: Ray Heist, chairman; Henry Lubsen, J. Stanley Smith and Stephen Fisher, and the following mothers, who assisted the boys: Mrs. Ray Kressler, Mrs. Henry Pierce and Mrs. Harry Glick.

Kenneth Koch, president of the fraternity, presided as toastmaster and brought cordial greetings to the mothers from the organization he heads. Mrs. Charles B. Bowman, president of Mu chapter of Phi Eta since its inception two years ago, brought an inspiring message, outlining the history and purposes of Phi Eta and also speaking of the fine relationship that can exist between mother and son.

The Yuletide entertainment program included selections by the Muhlenberg college brass quartet composed of Charles Fritch, John Miller, Stephen Fisher and Woodrow Savacool, the latter two members of Phi Kappa Tau; and selections by an octet of fraternity members, including Henry Lubsen, Edward Barndt, John Hollenbach, Ray Heist, John Goszstony, Woodrow Savacool, Charles Saul and Edward Beemer. Henry Richards provided piano accompaniment and also entertained with several piano solos.

Announcement was made that the first meeting in the new year of Mu chapter of Phi Eta will be held on Friday evening, January 8, at 7:30 o'clock in the fraternity house, Mrs. Bowman, president, in charge.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Charles B. Bowman, with some members of his family, went by auto to Chicago after Christmas, passing en route through Pittsburgh, a trip of over two thousand miles. The return trip was also made by car.

Dr. Robert C. Horn was present at the meeting of the American Philological Association at Richmond, Virginia, during the recent vacation. He also attended the sessions of the Archaeological and Philological Institution of America and delivered a paper on the "Identification of a Papyrus Fragment." This paper will be published soon in one of the society's periodicals.

Dean Horn reports that the material for next year's Muhlenberg Catalogue is in the hands of the printer and is expected to be published much earlier than ever before. Because of the large demand for this year's catalogue the new book will contain new and varied information, will be better bound, have larger print, and will be altogether more attractive and desirable than any previous edition.

Sport Rambles

Did you know that there is a real honest-to-goodness World's Champion on the campus . . . I refer to Joe Rodgers, a member of the freshmen team, who has twice won the Intermediate Free-Throw Championship of the World—with 59 out of 60 foul shots—and that's something—if you don't believe me—try it . . . Chick Halstead was elected 1932 football captain at Lehigh . . . At Lafayette, Adam Cirillo will lead the team next grid Season . . . The junior high students of Lancaster in voting on their "Favorite American", ranked Bill Britton of the F. and M. team fourteenth. A few others who received votes were A. Smith, Paderwiski, Rudy Vallee, Lindbergh. You can readily see Bill was in good company. . . . In the selection of an All-Eastern Conference team conducted by the F. and M. paper in a poll of the various coaches . . . George Majercik, L. H. B., and Luke Miller, L. T., were placed on the second team . . . Wilkinson, a back, and Giltner, end, were given honorable mention . . . Personally I think that the Muhlenberg men were under-rated in these selections . . . However Coach Holman of F. and M., who did not vote in the above poll . . . because he considered himself . . . too strange to the Conference and the players . . . picks an All-opponent team . . . and places Majercik on the first team . . . and has to say concerning George . . "George Majercik, ten second man from Muhlenberg, showed more real football ability than any other opponent, but because he was hampered by injuries he did not show up so well. But he's a great player, don't mistake that; he just wasn't able to hit his stride this year" . . . The rest of his team is composed of players from Pennsylvania, Gettysburg, Ursinus, and Geneva . . . Here's a man who knows something . . . Yes sir . . . C. Murphy, Fordham player, who was fatally injured in the Bucknell game was posthumously honored as the 1932 captain. His number "Thirty-Two" will be perpetuated . . . Sidelight . . . Dean Ettinger, an interested spectator, at the Allentown-Hazleton basketbal game . . . Which reminds me, that several years ago when Bethlehem High defeated Allentown on the gridiron . . . the Allentown cohorts said that their opponents had substituted the Lehigh football team . . . But let me tell you, with the teams Lehigh produce now. . Well, such things aren't said anymore.

It will soon be time for the intramural games—and then watch for the budding basketbal luminaries . . .The newly formed Eastern Conference Basketball League is a fast circuit . . Albright, Ursinus, Drexel, and Franklin and Marshall think they'll cop the championship . . . Well, we'll see. We'll see . . . Drexel, if the basketball Conference suits her, will also join the football conference. . . Fairy tale No. 345,657 . . . "Our institution would rather have a "pure" team than an undefeated team." . . . Who said basketball in these parts is slow? . . . Oh yeah? . . . What about the torrid, rip-roaring games played by the gym classes . . . you know . . . 25 on a side . . . one center, 5 guards, 6 forwards, 10 sucker shooters, and 3 catch-as-catch-can wrestlers . . . If all the freshmen stars who flunked were to march past a given spot . . . they'd still never pass . . . After the Sport Rambler went to the trouble of figuring a system whereby Muhlenberg can claim it's richly deserved honors of being the best team in the country, the sport editor of the Allentown Chronicle & News remarked in his column . . . "Maybe it's so, but I doubt it" . . . referring to the statistics, which he calls a "mess of figuring" . . . thereby adding insult to injury . . . It shows that you can't prove a thing to some people . . .After further computations Tulane is found to rate 55 points below Muhlenberg . . . since we were 46 points better than Southern Calfornia . . . Daily Doubt . . . Chick Meehan on his resignation from N. Y. U. said . . . "I'm through with big gates, high pressure, terrific schedules . . . Someday I may coach again, but it will be for the fun of the thing . . . somewhere where football is not a business.

I'll have the boys around me, living with me, playing with me in a small school somewhere . . . We'll have minstrel shows and rallies and spirit . . . And we'll have real times without pressure and worry over gate receipts" . . . This was followed by the announcement that he would be head coach at Manhattan College . . . with an enrollment of 1000 . . . And the announcement that negotiations were under way to rent the Polo Grounds for their games . . . When for years they've used any lot they could find for their games . . . Did I hear anything about gate receipts . . . Tra la la . . . Ten years ago when 'Berg was playing Yale . . . the Eli men were out to wallop the Mules—they had movable baskets made . . . and when a Mule attempted a shot . . . the basket would be manipulated in such a manner that the Cardinal and Gray player would be sure to miss . . . And when a Yale man shot, the basket would be moved, so that the ball would pass through for the two need-

Basketball Season Opened By Mules With Victory And Defeat

DEFEAT FIGHTING MT. AIRY TEAM 30-27

Rally in Last Half Wins for Muhlenberg

HORINE AND CARNEY HIGH SCORERS

The Cardinal and Grey quintet swung into action for the first time this season in defeating a hard fighting Mt. Airy Seminary team by the score of 30 to 27 on the local Y. M. C. A. court last Wednesday evening. The Holstromites were pushed hard thruout the game by the visitors who displayed unexpected offensive strength.

At half time the score stood at 15 to 14 in favor of the Theologians, and late in the final period the teams were deadlocked at 25 to 25. At this time, Judt sank one from the charity mark, Horine took a long pass from Nixon and tossed the ball through the meshes for a twin-pointer, and soon afterwards Carney followed with another field goal for the last Muhlenberg score of the evening. Empie, of the visitors made a shot from under the basket just a few seconds before the game ended.

Horine was the high scorer for 'Berg, and played a brilliant floor game as well, many times breaking up the Mt. Airy attack under the basket. Martin, and Weber were the big guns in the visitors' offensive.

Although hampered by a driving rain, there was a large delegation of students on hand to see the 'Berg cagemen in action for the first time this season, and also to renew acquaintances with the Muhlenberg alumni on the Mt. Airy team. Three former Muhlenberg cagemen were included in the lineup of the Seminaries: "Gil" Martin, Paul Empie, and Weber.

Bill Horine opened the Muhlenberg attack by intercepting a long pass at mid-court and dribbling down under the basket to drop the ball thru the meshes. Coach Holstrom sent in his reserve squad to finish the first half, but altho they fought hard, they were unable to keep the visitors submerged. Martin of Mt. Airy tossed the ball thru the hoop for a field goal as the period ended with 'Berg on the short end of 15-14 score.

LOST TO STRONG F. & M. QUINTET 26 TO 23

'Berg Ahead Until Last Few Minutes of Game

OPENING GAME IN NEW CONFERENCE

The Muhlenberg courtmen were unable to maintain an early lead, and dropped their opening game of the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League to a strong Franklin and Marshall team by the score of 26 to 23 on the local Y. M. C. A. floor on Saturday night. The 'Berg team showed brilliant form in the early minutes of the game, and tallied four field goals and two fouls to lead by a 10 to 0 score before Haller of the visitors broke thru with a field goal to place his team in the scoring column.

Nixon, Muhlenberg star of the evening, made the first field goal almost in the opening moments of the game. A few minutes later a fine weaving, passing, offense sent the ball to Nixon, who made a second goal from under the basket. Horine sank a foul, Matuska broke thru the visitors' defense, and made a twin pointer, Nixon intercepted a pass from Brubaker, and dribbled the length of the floor for a field goal. Matuska added a single pointer. The Blue and White was unable to break up the 'Berg offensive drive.

At this point "Glenny" Horst broke loose, and displayed the dribbling and passing ability for which he is noted. He gained possession of the ball under the 'Berg basket, dribbled in and out thru the Holstromites to the corner of the floor, and passed the ball backward, and with one hand, to Haller who made the first F. and M. score from under the basket. "Red" Smoker made two foul shots, and Horst tallied a field goal from the side of the floor. O'Brien followed with a twin pointer for Muhlenberg. Haller made a foul, and "Glenny" Horst sent one thru the meshes with a spectacular shot from far back to the side of the court. Nixon made an almost identical shot for Muhlenberg from the opposite side of the court as the half ended with 'Berg on the comfortable side of a 14-11 score.

The second period opened with Muhlenberg rooters deriving great pleasure from Carney's field goal and the foul shot he made a few seconds later. Brubaker sank a foul for the visitors. Then Halley, the speedy, bright eyed, visiting guard broke loose to score three field goals in rapid succession to place F. & M. in the lead, 18 to 17. Carney, however, sent the ball thru the meshes in a beautiful shot from mid-court, and 'Berg led by one point. O'Brien followed with a sensational one-handed shot, and local rooters breathed easier for the moment.

Brubaker, and Freidenburg each tallied a field goal for the Nevonians, and sent them again in the lead. Judt sank a foul shot to knot the score at 22 to 22. O'Brien made another foul shot, but Brubaker took one off the back-board and tossed it in for a field goal. Judt missed a foul which would have tied the score. "Red" Smoker made a field goal for the visitors, as the game ended with Franklin and Marshall on the long end of a 26 to 23 score.

Horine continued his fine brand of floor work,and Nixon showed evidences of his shooting ability. The large crowd of spectators was thrilled thruout the entire second half, as first one team, then the other went into the lead. Haller, Horst, and Brubaker played together on the Lancaster High School team of 1927-28.

Lineup and summary:

Frosh Basketeers Lose To Classy F. & M. Quintet

Lepore and Brown Divide Scoring Honors

Final Score 33-26

Coach Paul Weber's Muhlenberg College Freshman quintet dropped their opening game of the present basketball season last Saturday evening on the Y. M. C. A. floor to a more clever Franklin and Marshall team by the score of 33-26. The game was played preliminary to the Muhlenberg Varsity-F. & M. Varsity contest.

The "Possum" yearlings started off with a bang and never were headed by the 'Berg Frosh. Coach Weber used several combinations against the visiting cagemen but none were capable of overtaking them.

Brown found the home-team's defense suited to his scoring style and tabbed 13 points, finding the basket for six field goals and a foul. Lepore was the most consistent scorer for the Muhlenberg hopsters. Johnny Dietrich, former Reading High School star, thrilled the large audience by sinking the ball thru the meshes from beyound mid-floor.

forever. Thus we acquire strength by reading the greatest minds of all ages.

"We must have a vision," continued Dr. Schaeffer, "and this outlook is the Word of Jesus Christ." "Lo, I am with you alway." Is this not strength for the new year?

We are nourished by our work. Every task honestly performed gives us strength. George Whitfield tired himself out in his work but rest could not recoup him. The only way he could find rest was by going back to work. Human contacts will recoup a man more than rest. Jesus Christ was always nourished by his work. "My meat is to do the will of my Father."

"The great source of strength," said Dr. Schaeffer, "is Jesus Christ our Lord. If you are weak, or poor, or weary; the great Vine, who knows all of our sorrows, will nourish you with comfort and courage. This is the secret of strength for the new year."

The offertory played by Dr. Marks was "Aria" by Bach. The Chapel Choir sang an anthem "An Evening Song" by Pratheroe. The postlude, "Postlude in E flat" by Faulkes concluded the service.

The preacher next Sunday will be Reverend Corson C. Snyder, President of the Allentown Conference.

This individual, who hails from Blooming Glen, Pennsylvania ever since his first day at College has been an asset to his Alma Mater notwithstanding the fact that he does come from a small town.

During his sophomore year this impressive looking individual was Secretary of his class, a member of the "Ciarla" Staff his third year, and a representative on the Interfraternity Council his Junior and Senior years.

Our subject also toots a saxophone. What would the Cardinals or band have been without Leroy? Take it from us Moyer blows a mean sax.

As a student Leroy ranks with the best. His pleasing personality coupled with all his activities have made him a man worth knowing and worthy to be called a friend.

Socially, he is a member of the Philos Club and when he enters the medical profession we feel sure that he will undoubtedly be successful.

PRE-MED GROUP HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The bi-weekly meeting of the Pre-Medical Society was held on Thursday evening, December 17, 1931, in the biology lecture room of the Science Building. A short business meeting was held, at the conclusion of which, Dr. Shankweiler continued his interesting lectures on Heredity, in the field of genetics. The physician who addressed the society, an obstetrician of rapidly increasing reputation, was Dr. Haas. He presented and read a paper that he had prepared on his special field of endeavor, namely, Obstetrics. At the conclusion of the main discussion, an open forum was held, and Dr. Haas answered all questions concerning the subject. The next meeting of the society will be held in the second week of January, 1932.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

SUPPOSE you "dropped in" on Mother and Dad tonight . . . just walked right in with a hearty "Hello, folks!" Wouldn't they be surprised and thrilled? Wouldn't it be fun?

Then get to a telephone this evening and give your home number to the Operator. (It will be "Hello, folks," in a few seconds.) Tell them the latest campus news . . . find out what the family is doing. Next to being there in person, a "voice visit" with home is best.

Try it once . . . if you've never tried it before. You'll soon have the habit of calling home each week for a regular Telephone Date.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Local Chapter Of Sigma Lambda Pi To Join Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity

Resolution Adopted at Milwaukee Convention

Will Become Alpha Nu Chapter

At the recent convention of the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity, one of the largest Jewish national fraternities in the country, held on December 29-31, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, a bill was introduced for the assimilation of the Gamma Chapter of the Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity, upon the latter's dissolution. A detailed report was given by Mr. Maurice Jacobs, Head of the National Farm School, on the activities, the character of men and accomplishment on the campus, and the stability of the local chapter. The fact that the bill was passed without a dissenting vote indicates the relative superiority of the men comprising this chapter. The Muhlenberg office voluntarily offered its recommendation to Philip, of the boys of S. L. P. on their achievements, scholastically, athletically, and socially. This is, without doubt, a great tribute to their efforts, in their superlative endeavors to maintain a Jewish fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus, with the very few fellows who enroll each year. Because of this, the pull has been long and hard, since, at times, there have been but a mere handful to prolong the life of the fraternity and keep up a fraternity house, it has been successful to such a great degree that at last, a reward is in sight. It is a well deserved reward from all angles. Nothing but a true brotherhood could have accomplished this, and it is because of the sparsity of members that it has been such a really true fraternity. Congratulations in all forms have been pouring in from the country over, on the splendid showing made by the future Alpha Nu Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi. At present there are but nine active fraters in the chapter, and nine pledgees. However, indications hold a bright future for the chapter, since the majority are sophomores, and the new national affiliation will prove a big aid for the growth and development of Phi Ep at Muhlenberg College.

Phi Epsilon Pi was founded at the College of the city of New York on November 23, 1904, by Max Shlivek, Alvin Lock, Adolph Hamburger, Siegfried Hartman, Arthur Hirschberg, William Hannivy, and Abraham E. Horn. Until 1912, there was no central form of administration, but, during that year, through the efforts of a few alumni, a national council was formed, consisting of five officers, and one delegate from each active chapter. This body assumed complete jurisdiction over the chapters, adopted a revised national constitution, stand-

Dr. John A. W. Haas Makes Second Address On Modern Problems

Discusses Influence Of Religion On World Peace

What is the Influence of Religion on the pursuit of World Peace?, was the subject of an inspiring lecture delivered in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial chapter by Dr. John A. W. Haas during the chapel period on Tuesday morning, January 12th.

Opening his address on the subject Dr. Haas stated that the ideas of religion of all types were necessary to obtain a viewpoint on the problem. The Koran seems to be the only religion which sanctions warfare. Brahmanism and Buddahism say nothing, about war. In India for example Brahmanism is applied in passive resistance in order that life shall be preserved.

Carefully delineating that although Judaism does not teach war, he said that war was necessary due to circumstances in the history of the Jewish race.

Here the President emphasized the attitude of Jesus in preaching about having the right kind of heart and that since through Jesus we are to be brethren we should not fight one another in war, for brothers do not fight one another.

The speaker admitted that organized Christianity blessed war for the state and state pressure, but that as the rule war is not endorsed.

The Federal Council of Churches was cited as a progressive step toward world peace and brotherhood.

The question before us Christians in war is "Shall the claim of patriotism divert us toward War if we are convinced in our heart that we should have peace?" The question was turned over to the individual to decide for himself, but should the individual have for his answer "No"! going to prison for defense of peace should not be subjected to criticism.

"Religion has an influence," declared Dr. Haas in conclusion, and he urged the younger generation to take up and apply religion of love towards one another.

FACULTY NOTE

Dr. Harry H. Reichard is to be the speaker at the Salem Reformed Church in Allentown on Thursday, January 21. He will read "The Kutztown Mail", a very well known short story written in the Pennsylvania-German dialect by Charles C. More, famous dialect writer.

Dr. George T. Ettinger Speaks To German Club

Members Present Amusing Playlet

Following its usual custom of attempting to provide programs of interest for its members, the German Club of Muhlenberg College entertained its members at an educational and recreational meeting on the evening of Monday, January 11, 1932.

A short business meeting which included the nominations for the offices to be held in the second semester was presided over by Paul Doepper, the present president of the organization. The nominations were as follows: President, Ralph Dinger, John Keener; Vice President, Daniel Latshaw; Secretary, Mervin Frantz, Wilson Hartzell; Treasurer, John Hollenbach, Arthur Hottel.

The elections will be held at the next meeting which will be on February 8, 1932.

The guest of honor for the evening was Dr. George T. Ettinger, Dean Emeritus of the College, who read an instructive paper on the history of the Pennsylvania Germans, their reasons for coming to America, and their influence on the development and settlement of Pennsylvania.

In discussing the forefathers of this group he showed how they were driven by persecution and war from the beautiful region of the Rheinsh Palatinate—the garden of Germany—to seek refuge in the attractive province of William Penn in the new world.

He went on to discuss various Pennsylvania German settlements and leaders, concluding by saying that "Truly the character, the keen conscience and the innate ability of our German ancestors, when transplanted into the free air and virgin soil of the new world, have blossomed into the finest fruitage of American citizenship. For, there is not a single chapter in our American History, not a single element in our American life, that has not felt the vivifying touch of our German forefathers."

Dr. Ettinger's speech was followed by a very amusing playette entitled,

Pre-Medical Society To Go To Philadelphia

Petralagar Pictures Shown At Meeting

The first meeting in the new year, of the Pre-medical society was held on January 14, 1932, at 7:30 o'clock in the Zoology lecture room of the Science building. The main procedure was the definite establishment of the ways and means of transporting the members of the society to the Hahnaman Medical School in Philadelphia on February 3, 1932. The purpose of this trip is for the general inspection of the hospital and school, its varied kinds of intricate equipment, the observation of clinical operations, and, in short, to live and breathe the air of a medical atmosphere, before the present pre-medical group become embryo doctors. In making this journey, the Pre-medical Society is fully living up to its original purpose—that of getting the pre-medical student acclimated to the methods of medicine as much as possible without actually taking any courses. The lectures of Dr. Shankweiler, on Heredity, and the bi-weekly lectures of different physicians in Allentown all tend to acquaint the future physicians to a limited extent in the various fields of medicine.

Upon the adjournment of the business meeting, a short recess was held before a series of motion pictures were shown, illustrating the peristalsis of the Alimentary tract of the dog, the cat, and the rabbit. The pictures were produced by the University of Chicago, and, Northwestern University, and also by the Petralagar Company. The pictures were quite interesting, and were even more so because those filmed were of live animals, opened, while under the influence of an anaesthesia. The extreme motility was produced by the introduction of the drug, Vagus. The movements produced by the respiration organs were clearly visible, as the digestive machinery went on with the process of assimilation and elimination. After these films had been shown, another, illustrating the muscle tissues of the torso of the human cadavera was put on the screen.

'Berg Oratorical Contest Won By Kenneth H. Koch '32 Garnet '33 Places Second

KENNETH H. KOCH

Koch To Represent 'Berg In All State Contest

SIMPSON, EVERETT AND CRESSMAN, JUDGES

The Oratorical Contest held in the Science Auditorium to determine Muhlenberg's representative in the state competition at Gettysburg on March 5th resulted in the selection of Kenneth Koch '32 as representative and Richard Garnet '33 as alternate.

Both Mr. Koch and Mr. Garnet spoke on the question of the economic depression and both attacked it from the angle of the late war. Mr. Koch, whose talk was entitled, "Whither World," gave a brief explanation of the trend of the modern world. He gave as the cause of the depression the World War. The war, he said had left us a mortgaged future and had destroyed the finest type of American, the youth. He mentioned the fact that in colleges today the curriculum contains a course in ethical principles and a course which has been given the high-sounding name, Reserve Officers' Training Camp. He emphasized the fact that the text used in the history courses of the school room still praise the nationalism, selfishness and stupidity which was in a large measure the cause of the war. He urged his audience to remember the words of Lord Bryce, "If we do not destroy war, war will destroy us."

Mr. Garnet in his speech, "America's Present Obligation to the World," did not lay the cause of the depression to the war itself but rather to the post-war problems of high tariffs and reparations. He emphasized the fact that it was impossible for Germany to pay the vast sum which she is required to pay under the present arrangement. He urged that the war debts be canceled and he emphasized America's key position in cancellation. He also stated that the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was in sympathy with ending the reparations problem. He explained that the world is today economically internationally correlated and that a protective tariff was an absurdity. He concluded by stating that on one hand lies depression and on the other lie new ideas, cancellation of war debts and prosperity.

J. Frederick Gehr, '32 spoke on "Our Social Heritage". He deplored the decline of the position of the family and the home in American life. He showed that today the parent and the child are almost strangers whereas during the past generation the parent and the child were closely connected. He stated that the home formed the basis of civilization and that no society had ever been built

Muhlenberg Freshmen Sponsor Annual Dance At Mealey's Auditorium

Faculty and Students Enjoy Social Event

A small but enthusiastic group of 'Berg students enjoyed the annual Frosh Hop held on Friday evening from 9 to 1 in Mealey's auditorium.

Buddy Rader and his popular orchestra furnished the syncopation for the dance—the last social event of the first semester.

Chaperones for the dance were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benfer, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Coder, Prof. and Mrs. Albert Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. John Keller, Dr. and Mrs. John Shankweiler, and Dr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Wright.

The committee in charge of the dance was composed of Henry Held, chairman, John Danner, Rudolf Koster, Norman Miles and Benjamin Watson, Bernard Frank, Robert Heimbach, Robert Houghey and Luther Ziegler.

Joe Matuska Elected Football Captain By Varsity "M" Club

Annual Banquet Featured By Addresses and Presentation of Awards

Resuming their former policy of electing a captain for the entire season, rather than having one appointed by the coach prior to each game, as was the case last season, the football lettermen elected "Joe" Matuska, varsity linesman for the past two seasons, as captain of Muhlenberg's 1932 varsity football team. The voting was done by secret ballot at the Varsity "M" Club banquet held last Wednesday evening, January 13, 1932 at the Commons. All members of the present Junior Class who had earned their varsity letter in football were eligible for the office of captain.

Coach George R. Holstrom, director of all Muhlenberg College athletics for the past three years served as toastmaster. He lauded "Scotty" Renwick, 'Berg trainer, for the inestimable services that he has rendered not only on the gridiron but in every line of sport.

Dr. Chester Dryer, Allentown physician and graduate of Toronto University, Canada, was the main speaker of the evening. He compared Canadian rugby to American football and told of his many vivid experiences as a player at Toronto University. Throughout his speech, he stressed the value of good sportsmanship. He explained that in Canada, no matter how long a person may play rugby, he will never receive more than one letter.

Extensive Preparations Made For Dramatic Activity On Muhlenberg Campus

One-Act Play Contest And Competitive Play Contests Will Feature Second Semester

Five Plays Selected for One-Act Play Writing Contest

Five plays have been selected by Mr. Coder, instructor in Play Production for the competition play writing contest. These plays will be presented in a competitive contest some evening during February. The response to the announcement of the play writing contest was very fine as a large number of plays were presented.

The five plays selected for the final competition are: "A Night of Study", by John Greenwald '32; "Intermission", by Warren Smith '33; "Greek Letters", by Donald V. Hock, '32; "A Wise Freshman and the Law of Relativity", by Bernard Frank, '35; and "King of the Campus" by Charles H. Preston, '33.

Greenwald and Preston will direct their own productions while John Eisenhard, John Hollenbach and Paul Scholl will direct the others.

Every phase of college life but athletics was dealt with in these productions. Fraternity politics and office holding by a few are subjects of several of the plays.

Further details of this contest will be published in a forthcoming issue or the "Weekly".

'Berg to Enter Little Theatre and P. I. A. Play Contest

Muhlenberg will again enter the Allentown Civic Little Theatre Dramatic Contest to be held this year on March 16, 17 and 18. Last year Muhlenberg won first place in this contest, much to the surprise of most of the other contestants.

The contest this year will be judged the same as last year—45% for presentation, 25% for acting, 15% for setting and 15% for casting.

The contest will be held in the Civic Little Theatre building, Madison and Chew streets.

The cast to present Muhlenberg has not as yet been scheduled.

During the latter part of April the newly formed Inter-Collegiate Dramatic Alliance will sponsor its second competitive play contest. Last year in the first contest Muhlenberg won second place. Lafayette won first.

Colleges composing this organization are: Lafayette, Temple, St. Joseph, Mt. St. Joseph, Drexel and the Zelosophic, Philomatheon and Dramatic Clubs of the University of Pennsylvania, and Muhlenberg. Several other colleges in the surrounding district are also expected to join the Alliance.

Junior Class To Feature Tal Henry And His Orchestra At Prom

The peak of the social season will be reached on Friday, February fifth when the Junior Prom will be held at the Americus Hotel from ten to three.

The committee has been hard at work for the past few weeks in order that this affair may truly come up to expectations. A suitable program souvenir has been selected which should please all and should act as an incentive for all those who can possibly be there to want to attend.

Tal Henry and his North Carolinians, who last year completed a season's engagement at the Hotel New Yorker, has been secured for the occasion. Tal Henry will direct his band personally and how he can lead them is a well-known fact to all radio lovers. With his orchestra is a ballad singer who has the reputation of having one of the best voices for this type of singing and should capture the heart of every listener. Their interpretations of all the modern dance tunes are really great and anyone is bound to receive a great deal of enjoyment whether he dances or not.

The subscription price this year has been set at $4.50 per couple. This is a decrease of 10 per cent in price over last year and the committee feels it is offering the students and friends of Muhlenberg College a great deal more than ever before.

Tickets will be on sale next week at which time every man will be asked to buy a ticket and to make this Prom one which will be remembered by everyone.

The committee is composed of Samuel Shimer, chairman, Michael Henry, Charles Cooper, Donald Carpenter, Rudolph Novak, Wellington Walters, Otto Saalfeld, and Ray Bachman. Tickets may be had from any of these men.

Fine Set Of Official Documents Given By French Gov. To 'Berg

Forms Valuable Addition To Local Archives of World War Material

Through the courtesy of the French government a fine set of eight volumes of "Documents Diplomatiques Francais" covering the years 1871-1914 has been given to the History Department. These volumes were primarily secured through the efforts of Donald B. Hoffman, a member of the "World War" class at Muhlenberg.

These volumes form a valuable addition to the World War material which has been gathered at the local institution.

Managing Editor, this issue, EDWARD G. DIEHL

Allentown, Pa., January 19, 1932

Within the last few days a set of eight volumes of the official French diplomatic documents from 1871-1914 have been added to our library. These volumes are of great value to any student interested in the period from 1871-1914 with special emphasis on the period just preceding the world war.

Together with some of the British government documents, some of the German documents and a wealth of American propaganda material these materials form a valuable set of documents concerning the world war.

No better way of arriving at a true open minded decision concerning the events of the World War than by a perusal of these documents.

Muhlenberg has an exceptionally fine amount of the documents dealing with the World War and thus they should be taken care of accordingly.

More material of this type will be added to the Library shortly and it is hoped that the Administration will take steps to provide an adequate archive space for this valuable material.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Another Frosh Hop has passed. Too bad there wasn't a larger crowd but everybody present had a swell time.

Notice how many students have begun to study recently. Reason—mid-year examinations are on the way.

And if you don't believe us, just look at the exam schedule published again this week for the benefit of the students.

Two new stained-glass windows have been placed in the chapel. It is hoped to complete these windows in the near future.

Another basketball trip has ended disastrously for the 'Berg team. But at that the team played excellently against far superior teams.

'Berg sure seems to be going into dramatics in a BIG way. Just look at the list of contests to be held this Spring.

"Ken" Koch deserves a great deal of credit for his win in the Oratorical Contest. So does "Dick" Garnet.

'Berg should certainly win the all-State contest again this year.

One bright sun is on the horizon for Muhlenberg students the next two weeks, the Junior Prom will provide a fitting relaxation after the mid-year period.

With these mid-year "tea parties" staring us in the face we had better sign off and commence to view for the first time some of the material we should have reviewed some months ago.

JOE MATUSKA ELECTED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN BY VARSITY "M" CLUB

Line Coach "Bill" Springsteen told of his many experiences as a professional football player with the Frankford Yellow Jackets, the Chicago Cardinals, and a strong professional team at Shenandoah, Pennsylvania. Incidentally he said that in his first professional experience he played opposite "Gus" Sonnenberg, now world famous professional wrestler.

"Haps" Benfer, registrar of Muhlenberg College and loyal backer of the "M" Club stated that victories do not mean everything in football. "Haps" explained that love of the game is the chief factor and that football also develops men to withstand reverses. In concluding "Haps" urged the members of the Varsity "M" Club to set up high standards so that the on-coming Freshmen will have something to look forward to.

Sixteen new football lettermen were initiated into the Varsity "M" Club at the meeting last Wednesday. They are: Weiner, Klotz, Oberg, Van Buren, Rosenberg, Gramley, Bortel, Godshall, Morrison, Wavrek, Nehf, Carter, May and Eisenhard besides managers Greenwald and Kunkel.

Seven Seniors received their last "M" for football. They are Majercik, Carney, Palladino, Giltner, Thomas, Bortel and Godshall. Of these seven Seniors, four received an award for playing three years of varsity football, namely—Majercik, Carney, Palladino and Giltner.

Ten Juniors were presented with a letter. They are: Matuska, May, Wilkinson, Symons, Horine, Morrison, Cooperman, Miller, Oberg and Evanosky. It was the second football letter received by Matuska, Cooperman, Miller and Evanosky.

At the business meeting presided over by Ferdinand E. Palladino, Franklin Giltner reported that baseball will be continued at Muhlenberg but the schedule will be cut from sixteen games to twelve games.

A motion was also passed prohibiting band members from wearing their sweaters except when they are on band duty.

A "rabbit dinner" was served under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. "Haps" Benfer at the Commons prior to the business meeting.

"Christian Obedience" Subject Of Sunday Vesper Sermon

Rev. Corson C. Snyder, Slatington, Guest Speaker

The public Vesper service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, January 17, 1932, at three-thirty o'clock. The guest preacher was the Reverend C. C. Snyder, President of the Allentown Conference, his theme "Christian Obedience."

"What the world needs today", Rev. Snyder explained, "is the spirit of Christian obedience. We Christians are being tested daily so that our obedience to the Father is either shown or despised. Never think that these times are any different in their essence than the centuries long ago.

"I can well illustrate the fruits of obedience to God by two extracts from the Bible, both about men called Saul. My text is found in Acts 26:19, 'Whereupon, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heaven vision', and it gives us the brave words of Saul of Tarsus.

"Saul, the son of Kish, and the first king of the tribes of Israel, is the second man of interest to us now. By examining each Saul's life at its beginning, testing and ending, we will find a striking contrast. The Saul of the Old Testament who was made the first king was a humble man before God and man, although of the highest stature in Israel, together a quite promising man.

"On the other hand Saul of the New Testament," continued Rev. Snyder, "was outstanding for his learning and love of the law and its observance, a Pharisee of the Pharisees. The beginning of his life was at Damascus after his blinding experience just outside of the city. Now he was a chosen one, one who had seen God face to face.

"Turning again to the first king of Israel, Saul, we see his testing at the hand of God when he fought the Amalekites. Jehovah, through Samuel, had instructed him to slay all the enemy and utterly destroy all their possessions, but Saul was prevailed upon by his people to save of the choicest goods of the conquered Amalekites. So God rejected him as king, what a loss!

"But Saul of Tarsus spoke the words of our text at his testing time, thereby consciously condemning himself and losing his hope of release from bondage. King Agrippa after his episode sent him to Rome, and more chains. Yet Saul of the New Testament, or as we knew him, the Apostle Paul, was 'not disobedient unto the heavenly vision'.

"How woeful was the King of Israel's end, a bitter suicide on the field of battle. Such was the fruit of his disobedience. But was the end of the Apostle Saul any different? He died in a damp dungeon, with one arm chained to a soldier and the other writing to his successor, Timothy.

"It is the imprisoned Christian's testimony", Rev. Snyder said, "which proves that he was the Saul that had succeeded. He wrote, 'I have fought the good fight . . . henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness.' This Saul saw the vision, stood the test, and was bravely and expectantly awaiting his eternity with Jesus.

"My friends, which Saul would you choose to be. Jesus is the same today, yesterday, and forever. Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart. 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.' Therefore, although the trial is severe, Christian obedience will assure you peace eternal with Jesus." Thus Rev. Snyder gave his message.

The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Roberts's, "Peace I Leave With You"; Dr. Harold K. Marks, the organist and choir director of the chapel, played two numbers as a prelude, "Reverie" by Marks, and Chant Celeste" by Friml. His offertory was Purcell's "Bell Symphony", and his postlude, "Allegro Assai" (Fourth Sonata by Guilmant).

The chaplain, Rev. Cressman, and Rev. Stine read the Vesper service. The preacher of next Sunday will be the Rev. Franklin Gehr, D.D., Pastor of Salem Lutheran Church, Bethlehem, Pa.

DR. BARBA HEARS FROM HEIDELBERG STUDENT

JOHN RITTER DOING WELL

Dr. Preston A. Barba, head of Muhlenberg's German Department, has received a letter from John Ritter of Heidelberg, Germany, which is of interest to every college man.

Mr. Ritter acquired a scholarship to Heidelberg University from the Institute of International Education and he is registered in the following courses at this famous European seat of learning.

(a) History of German Literature in the Classical Period.
(b) Old High German.
(c) Goethe's Italian Journey.
(d) The Nibelungen Epic.
(e) Goethe's Philosophy of Life.
(f) Practical Exercises in the Drama of the Storm and Stress Period.
(g) The German Lyric.
(h) Germanic Linguistics.
(i) Systems of Philosophy.
(j) Painting in the Age of Rubens and Rembrandt.
(k) Main Problems in Ethics.
(l) Logic.
(m) History of Philosophy in the Eighteenth Century.

He says that he finds life in this old University city very intriguing and that he is finding it intellectually and spiritually very stimulating.

John Ritter is a graduate of Muhlenberg of the class of 1931 and we of the college can feel justly proud to have an alumnus of our institution succeed to such high intellectual attainments.

He sends greetings to the German Club and offers his services for any possible research, etc., which the club might want him to do in Germany. He also greets all those men who have not yet forgotten him and Muhlenberg, through the Weekly, desires, in turn, to wish him all success possible in his future work.

His address, for the convenience of those who wish to write to him is—

John Ritter,
Heidelberg, Germany,
Wergasse 7.

SCIENCE CLUB MEETS

The Science Club of Muhlenberg College held its third regular meeting Friday, Jan 8, at 8:30 P. M. in the physics lecture room. After a short business meeting Paul Shover gave the club an interesting report on the "Science News Letter" magazine for the month of December. Lawrence Blank then gave an illustrated explanation of the modern motion picture machine with sound attachments. A general discussion and social hour followed during which refreshments were served by the program committee.

The Science Club wishes to extend an invitation to anyone particularly interested in science to come to its next meeting to be held Thursday evening, February 4, at 8:30 in the physics lecture room.

Librarian Of Brown University Lauds Work Of Dean Horn

Dr. Henry B. Van Hoesen, librarian of Brown University, in a recently published article on "The Study of Papyri in America", makes mention of Professor Horn's doctor's thesis "The Use of the Subjunctive and Optative Moods in the Non-Literary Papyri", and remarks that Professor Horn is the most active American scholar in the study of the grammar of the Papyri.

Mules Drop Three Games In Disastrous Road Trip

Injuries To Squad Responsible For Loss of Two Games

CARNEY AND HORINE HIGH SCORERS ON TRIP

LONG ISLAND GAME

Coach Holstrom's quintet bowed in defeat before a strong Long Island University team, 44-26, last Thursday evening.

Muhlenberg, playing a fast type of ball, held a 7-5 yead after the first ten minutes of play, but failed to keep this advantage, as the powerful New York team's offensive began to click. The score at half time was 19-7.

PRATT GAME

Muhlenberg dropped its second basketball game in as many days, when they bowed to the Prat Institute quintet in New York City last night, by the count of 22 to 15.

Muhlenberg made plenty of trouble in the first half, which ended in Pratt's favor, 12-11. In the second half, however, the Mules fell behind, scoring only four points against 10 for the Pratters. Carney and Horine starred for 'Berg. Lineups:

MONTCLAIR GAME

The Muhlenberg cage squad put the finishing touches on its disastrous road trip by dropping a one sided game to the Montclair A. C. by the score of 34-14. The game was played in the Montclair Club house at Montclair, N. J., last Saturday night.

The Holstromites never had a chance against the overwhelming offense presented by the ex-collegiate stars included in the ranks of the Montclair team. Carney was the high scorer for 'Berg, and Carey for the New Jersey delegation.

Mule Yearlings Lose To Lehigh Frosh 52-28

'Berg Frosh Completely Outclassed by Brown and White Team

Imitating the Muhlenberg varsity's method of playing a bang-up game during the first half and falling down considerably during the latter part of the game, the Muhlenberg Freshmen were completely overcome by a strong Lehigh Freshman basket-ball team in a game played last Saturday evening, in Taylor gymnasium the score being 52 to 28.

Coach Paul Weber's basketeers held their opponents to a single point lead at the end of the first half, but in the second half the defense of the Cardinal and Gray yearlings crumbled and the Lehigh Frosh went on to score an impressive victory.

Coach Weber tried several combinations but the most impressive one comprised Johnny Dietrich, Goodman, Naratil, Vaccaro and Rodgers. The stars for Lehigh were Goodrich, Pharo and Rowe. The lineups:

Sport Rambles

Now that the wrestling and boxing season is here Pennsylvania schools are up in arms against the state law permitting the administration of collegiate wrestling by the State Athletic Commission . . . The features of this law are . . . boys under 16 years are not allowed to attend such meets . . . nor can boys under 18 compete . . . (which certainly places the high schools in a precarious position) . . . a tax of 5% of the receipts is charged . . . and the state sends officials to officiate . . . who must be paid fancy prices . . . So far Bethlehem High has delayed its season . . . Lehigh has decided to play their home games away . . . or cancel them . . . Temple canceled its first meet . . . Lafayette moved the scene of its wrestling encounters to Phillipsburg High . . . in New Jersey . . . Recently a Frosh football player asked the rambler where Princeton was . . . when he was told Princeton, N. J., he didn't believe it . . . he always thought it was in New York State . . . another Frosh basketball player . . . seeking material in the library on the life of the Patriarch Abraham . . . looked for 15 minutes . . . then walked over to another fellow and asked . . . "What was Abraham's first name? There's so many in this book" . . . indicating a Bible Dictionary . . . Saturday's basketball game is a fine opportunity to bring "de goil friend" . . . The F. and M. game was especially interesting because of the many couples present . . Gettysburg's defeat of Albright might indicate that the former is the class of the league . . . Individually the Frosh basketball team is good, but together . . . Ugh! . . . The varsity had a tough time on their New York road trip . . . but what's the difference . . ? They had some classy competition . . . especially in that Montclair A. C. game . . . last year's Princeton captain played with Montclair . . . also stars from Northwestern, Yale and Cornell.

All papers on the sermons by Dr. Jacobs on "Christian Evidences" are to be turned in to Dr. Haas sometime before the first week of the second term.

DR. KELLER SPEAKS AT PHILOS PARENT NIGHT

Muhlenberg Fraternity Host to 30 Mothers and Dads

Dr. John C. Keller, professor of chemistry at Muhlenberg college, was the speaker at the second annual parents night of the Philos club, a social fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus, held on Wednesday evening at the fraternity's home at 525 North Twenty-first street.

Dr. Keller, in an interesting address showed the value of college fraternities and emphasized their importance and necessity as an integral part on every campus.

Russell C. Struble, a member of the faculty of Coplay high school, spoke to the thirty parents present on the alumni association of the fraternity. Other entertainment was furnished by Eddie Keenly, an accomplished banjo artist.

"I play safe by sticking to LUCKIES"

OH, WHAT A GAL IS MARY!

She's one of the genuine beauties that even the camera cannot flatter. Sorrow and professional bad luck followed her for years. Now she's a bride...the studios clamor for her ...the public loves her...and the Hollywood sun is shining. Her new RADIO PICTURE is "MEN OF CHANCE"...Here's to you, Mary Astor! We're glad you smoke LUCKIES and we're grateful for that statement you gave us without a cent of payment.

"I can't afford to take chances with my voice. So I play safe by sticking to LUCKIES—they're always kind to my throat. And I'm doubly grateful for your improved Cellophane wrapper which opens so easily with that clever little tab."

CLASSICAL CLUB DISCUSS POISONS OF ROMANS

Muhlenberg's Classical Club, with 100% attendance, including four faculty members, met for its first session of 1932 at the home of Rev. Russel Stine on the evening of Thursday, January the fourteenth.

During the business meeting Dr. Robert C. Horn reported that successful negotiations with Eta Sigma Phi were under way.

The feature of the evening was the presentation of a paper entitled "Poisons and Poisoning Among the Romans" by Professor Kauffman of Lafayette's Latin Department.

A list of poisons and their effects was cited—also the manner of their administration. The paper was very well given and members of the club joined in the discussion of it.

At the conclusion of the program a pleasing refreshment was served by Rev. and Mrs. Stine with Mr. Alfred Mattes acting as official taster for the group. (The evening's subject was the occasion for such action.)

Those present were: Doctors Kauffman, Horn, Fritsch, and Reichard, Rev. Stine and Messrs. Richard Klick, Charles Fritsch, Frederick Gehr, Alfred Mattes, Rudolf Novak, Wilmer Wolf, Herbert Frankfort, Harry Dunlap and Martin Ruoss.

upon personal rights. Finally he predicted the decline of civilization unless the home regained its former prestige as our social heritage.

Robert C. Horn, Jr., the last speaker, delivered a eulogy on Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Horn stated that civilization had lost its greatest benefactor when it lost Thomas Edison. His long list of inventions were invaluable to the progress of the world, and although he is dead, his spirit lives on in electricity, sound and light.

The judges who awarded the decision were: Professor Simpson, Rev. Cressman and Mr. Everitt. Dr. Brown served as chairman.

Who's Who on the Campus

George O'Brien
Delta Theta

One of the most prominent and best liked men on the campus is pictured above. George O'Brien came to 'Berg from Allentown High in 1928 and immediately won a place for himself in the hearts of all those who came to know him. In his Sophomore year he was elected vice-president of his class and as a Junior he was on the advertising staff of the Ciarla. This year, as a Senior, a signal honor has been conferred on him by his brothers of Delta Theta—he was elected president of the house.

Scholastically, O'Brien has always been rated a fine student and is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, national professional educational fraternity.

As for sports, every one knows of his great work on the basketball team these last three years. Although "Pogie" did not go out for any other sports, he made up for it by hard and good playing as forward for 'Berg in every game.

O'Brien intends to take up teaching when he leaves 'Berg this year, and we know that he will be a success. Here's luck, "Pogie".

ardized the local constitutions and conducted the general business of the fraternity. This form of government was soon outgrown, and, in 1917 the constitution was amended to allow for the present governing bodies. A grand council, consisting of seven officers chosen annually at the general convention, was formed to which was given complete judicial and legislative powers between conventions. In 1921 the constitution was still further amended, creating the office of executive secretary, and establishing a central office, at present located in Philadelphia. The general convention is the supreme legislative and judicial body of the fraternity. Conventions are held annually, in which each active chapter and each alumni association is privileged to have representation.

The fraternity, whose popular name is Phiep, admits both associate and honorary members. Alumni associations exist in fifteen of the large cities, Phi Epsilon Pi Day is celebrated the first Saturday in August. Founders' Day is November 23. The fraternity magazine, the Phi Epsilon Pi Quarterly, was established in 1915. A silver loving cup is awarded each year to the chapters making the best record in scholarship, literary achievements, and athletics. The fraternity has also endowed a scholarship which provides for the annual expenses of a young man interested in agriculture, at the National Farm School, at Doylestown, Pennsylvania. The colors of the fraternity are purple and gold, and the flag displays the Greek letters in gold running diagonally across a purple field from the upper left to the lower right hand corner.

There are thirty-three chapters, nineteen of which own houses, and the majority of the others have leased homes. The other chapters located in Pennsylvania are at the University of Pennsylvania, Penn State, University of Pittsburgh and Dickinson College. Other large chapters are located at Harvard, Cornell, Northwestern, Johns Hopkins, and Michigan. Chapters extend as far north as Connecticut and Massachusetts, as far south at Miami, and as far west as Iowa. It is continuing to grow, and much will be expected of the Alpha Nu Chapter, as an integral part of the fraternity. Chapters of Sigma Lambda Pi at Boston University and Ohio State are also being taken in. A definite date for the final initiation ceremonies has not been set, but will be published in the near future.

"Die Bretzel Dreher" ("The Pretzel Twisters") which was the result of a free translation of a Luther League Convention stunt by John Keener, a member of the Verein.

The plot, as such, dealt with the mock initiation of Doctors Barba and Ettinger and Messrs. Doepper, Fritsch, Rex, Latshaw, Baer, Gerhard, and Hollenbach into the Royal Order of Pretzel Twisters. After being duly initiated, each candidate was presented with a symbol of the Order, namely, a well-baked pretzel, and the two professors received an extra-large and an extra-small one respectively. The members of the Order as a special privilege will hereafter be permitted to "dunk" as far as their elbows.

Celestial music by "kazukes" accompanied the presentation, and Messrs. John Keener, Ralph and Wilson Hartzell, John Bennetch, Joseph Friedman and Russel Kistler assisted in the ceremonies.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

NOW MORE THAN EVER . . . with the college year ending . . . Mother and Dad are eager to hear from you. What of your exams . . . when do they start? There are countless details they're anxious to know.

Busy? Of course you are. There's little time for letter-writing! Then reach them by telephone . . . pay them a "voice visit." It's the quickest way home with the satisfaction of a face-to-face chat.

And here's a tip . . . file it for ready reference. There's nothing to equal a regular Telephone Date with Home each week. Start the habit this evening! The thrill will last all week!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

"The Great Problem Of Liberty" Subject Of Dr. Haas' Address To Large Y. M. C. A. Assembly

President Comments Very Vigorously On Social And Economic Problems

"In this nervous machine age I doubt if Christ would turn water into wine if He returned to this earth," said Rev. Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College, in speaking on "The Great Problem of Liberty" at the First Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Reading.

Dr. Haas, with much zeal and vigor, denounced foes of prohibition and scored the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for his wet stand, while the company opposes the use of liquor by its employees.

"They make much about results in Finland," said Dr. Haas, "to which I reply, God pity those people."

Dr. Haas deplored lack of leadership in this age and the failure of men to take a stand. "We must look at these important questions in the light of the problems of society," he said. "Liberty is social and everything breaks down when we fail to respect the laws. If you love your neighbor as yourself you will not put a stumbling block in his way in the form of drink."

Pointing out the great number of people who are breaking the laws, Dr. Haas stated that eventually "the laws will break them."

Headed for Destruction

"Society will break itself if it continues," he declared.

Dr. Haas based his sermon on the texts, James 2:12, and John 8:32 and 36, "The Law of Liberty," he discussed from the text taken from epistle of James and the question of liberty as a social and religious problem from the verses in St. John's gospel.

"The intellectuals claim that man is enclosed in a cruel universe," said Dr. Haas. "There are some men that have not learned that there is liberty. The freedom of man has wrought great havoc in the sphere of nature. Some declare we are the flotsam and jetsam of the great economic forces of supply and demand, inflation and deflation and what not."

"Man has been the instrument for bringing about these evil days," continued Dr. Haas. "Man's greed, his wild efforts at war and his reckless spirit in the era of prosperity created a bad economic situation. We are paying the price for this liberty today.

"Is there liberty if we reject God? The average man or woman who does as he or she pleases fails to conceive of liberty as law. They are a restless and hopeless lot. Liberty is within God. No person is apart from the law of God. We have liberty set forth as law in the Ten Commandments. Civil liberty demands on law. What freedom would there be if killing were free and life would not be safe? What liberty would there be if we could play fast and loose with the rights of others. Take any one of the commandments it shows liberty as law.

Family Needs Redemption

"The American people are going down to destruction unless the family is redeemed. Is life free where the marriage bond is not respected? Every problem of life is covered by the law of God. The day of old standards is not past and people cannot follow their own immediate desires and give way to what arises in their imagination, whether it be right or wrong. Liberty for the individual or society develops as we live within the Commandments.

"When we want liberty alone, the liberty of some other person is shortened. We all must have liberty. The greatest liberty to the greatest number produces the greatest happiness. Some people think that quarantine for a contagious disease is a terrible oppression, but to allow those who come in contact with one who is ill only impedes the freedom of other people by spreading the disease.

"Many intelligent persons claim that the evasion of or obedience to the Eighteenth amendment, is a matter of individual liberty," he said. "They do not view it in the light of society; its effect on the mass of mankind. In this nervous machine age there is no place for the man who is addicted to a habit leading to the debasing of the mind and the endangering of the lives of others. What would be the result on the public highways, if drunks were allowed protection under the law?"

"The prohibition question is a matter of individual liberty. It is the gratification of individual taste. It is shocking to me the statements that are made by some college men, despite the fact that there is less drinking among student bodies, and the reports of the Salvation Army show marked improvement of conditions among those who formerly spent their money for liquor. Would we have liberty on the highways if prohibition was abolished?"

Liberty in God's Word

In closing Dr. Haas dwelt on religion as liberty. "We cannot have love without the inspiration of Christ," he said. "Lawlessness is selfishness. There are some men whose business relations are not in keeping with what they profess on Sundays. They buy the cheapest, sell at the highest price and pay the lowest wages. They know no love. There is a moral order in the world that cannot be broken. The Word of God will prevail. Our liberty is to be found in God's Word."

"Safety in the Public Schools" Topic of John Rupp

John Rupp, president of the Lehigh Valley Motor Club, spoke to members of the Muhlenberg Business Association on the subject of "Safety in the Public Schools."

A sense of security, he stated, has been greatly fostered by the Lehigh Valley club among the children. The modern child is more safety minded than those of the past, he continued. He told of the decreased accidents due to the efforts of the Lehigh Valley Safety Patrols at intersections near which schools are located.

After the meeting, refreshments were served. Twenty persons attended. A regular business session preceded the address. Dr. Charles Bowman and Mr. Roland Hartman, members of the faculty, attended.

DR. HAAS ADDRESSES LUTHERAN SESSION

Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg, addressed the National Lutheran Educational Conference on Wednesday, January 20th, on the subject of "The Type of Preaching For the Age". This is the nineteenth annual conference of the Lutheran Educational Bureau and is being held at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Among other leaders to speak at this conference were E. W. Gullixson, president of the Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul; C. G. Erickson, President of Upsala College, and John F. Kramer, former National Prohibition Director.

All papers on the sermons by Dr. Jacobs on "Christian Evidences" are to be turned in to Dr. Haas sometime before the first week of the second term.

Vesper Services For Semester Announced

Will Feature Nationally Prominent Speakers

A series of special sermons by outstanding ministers will feature the Sunday Vesper Services to be held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel from now until June 5th.

Rev. Peter Wohlsen of Stroudsburg will be the guest speaker this coming Sunday. Dr. E. E. Fisher of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, will deliver the address on February 7th. The minister in charge on February 14th will be Rev. C. C. Hine, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Catasauqua.

Dr. Otto Nolde, Professor of Education, Mt. Airy Seminary, will deliver the address on February 21st. Rev. Allen Benner, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Lancaster, will be the guest speaker on February 28th.

The President of the Pittsburgh Synod—Rev. H. H. Bagger, will deliver the sermon on March 6th. Dr. C. T. Benze, Professor of Old Testament at Mt. Airy, will preach on March 13th. Judge Claude T. Reno will be the guest speaker on March 20th.

Dr. H. Delk, of Philadelphia, will speak on April 3rd. Rev. Harvey Snyder, of Nazareth, will have charge of the services on April 10th. Dr. F. F. Fry, Superintendent of American Lutheran Missions, New York City, will deliver the sermon on April 17th. Rev. K. P. Otten, of Bethlehem, will be the speaker on April 24th.

The May services include sermons by Rev. I. S. Fritz, of Philadelphia, on May 1st; Rev. G. Bechtold, superintendent of missions, Philadelphia, on May 7th; and services on May 15th to be conducted by the German Conference.

The Baccalaureate Sermon will be held on June 5th. The speaker for this service has not been selected as yet.

Dr. Fritsch Addresses Students In Chapel

"God's Relation To Man, and Man's Relation To God" Topic

"Man's Relationship to God and God's Relationship to Man" was the keynote of the talk delivered in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial chapel on Wednesday morning chapel services of January 20th by Reverend Robert Fritsch, of the Religious Department of Muhlenberg College.

The speaker pointed out that civilization and religion have a great deal to do with one another. Man has need of God, for little could ever be accomplished without the hand of God being made manifest. The three most important things in the Bible, according to the Reverend are the revelation of God, Man and Sin.

Sin has brought about very tragic conditions in the world. It darkens the intelligence, deadens the emotions and destroys the world. Man only responds to pleasures, he being very selfish. At this point the Reverend presented to the students the etymology of the word. He stated that the word means a "binding to God". In the opinion of the speaker the binding to God is more important than the binding of Man to Nature. Atonement in the opinion of the speaker signified "at one with God and Man."

Christianity is the one basis when Man and God are restored. Quotations from the Bible were brought in to prove it.

It was interesting to note that in the Ten Commandments the first five tablets deal with man's relationship to God and the next five with God's relationship to Man. There should be Love to God and Love to Man. Ruskin in his ten commandments satir-

Rev. G. Franklin Gehr Gives Sunday Address

Bethlehem Divine Delivers Instructive Vesper Sermon

The public Vesper service of Muhlenberg College was held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, Sunday, January 24, 1932, at three-thirty o'clock. The Reverend G. Franklin Gehr, D.D., pastor of Salem Lutheran Church, Bethlehem, preached on "Giving the Living Waters."

"All of us Christians should be giving the Living Water", said Rev. Gehr. "My text is found in Isaiah 58:11 and John 4:14, 15. Jesus was the One who came to this world of sinners. Everywhere He went He was offering salvation, the water of eternal life; e.g. recall His discourses with Nicodemus, Zaccheus, Nathaniel, Mary and Martha after the death of Lazarus, and Peter when He asked that one if he loved his master.

"The discourse with this woman of Samaria was one of his individual discourses. The setting of the story will afford us a good background for our study of it and its relation to our theme. Early that morning Jesus in company with His disciples had left Judea, the land of His birth, for Galilee. He left it because of the trouble the Pharisees were making for Him.

"At about mid-day Jesus arrived at this historic spot where Jacob's well was situated Himself all footsore from His long journey. The disciples had all gone to a city nearby to purchase food for their comfort and strengthening, leaving Jesus by the well thirsty for water and weary.

"Soon a woman came in sight" continued Rev. Gehr, "bearing a large water jar whom Jesus recognized as a woman of Samaria, and probably of Sychar. These Samaritans were 'dogs' to the Jews because of their mixed blood, part Jew and part Gentile, and their mixed religion, part Jew and part Gentile. They had even built a temple of their own to Jehovah. So great was their hatred of each other that a Jew never spoke to a Samaritan.

"But could we expect Jesus to overlook one lost soul? When Jesus faced her, as ever, He was on the alert to fulfill His mission in life. For the time He laid aside His cares, the perversion of His teachings, His rivals—false Christs, and such burdens, He even stopped His thoughts on His new undertaking, the evangelization of Galilee. Here was a woman who needed a Saviour badly.

"This woman was a paramour and a Samaritan so that she was embarrassed at meeting a Jew at the well. Probably she had few friends for sinners never are really loved. She must have felt often the way Cain did when he told the Lord: 'My punishment is greater than I can bear.'

"There are none too far for Jesus to reclaim, He always sees a way.

ROMANCE LANGUAGE FRATERNITY MEETS

The Muhlenberg chapter of Phi Sigma Iota held its monthly meeting at the home of Professor Seaman on Thursday evening, January 14th with all members present.

Mr. Charles Eisenhard, presented a well-developed paper on the life of François Villon, the distinguished French poet, giving a story of the poet's life in all its realistic details sparing no sordid ones which are usually omitted. Following the presentation of the paper the members of the fraternity discussed the poet, his works and topics of world wide interest in their relation to French, Spanish and Italian literature.

The affairs of the evening concluded with refreshments served by Miss Seaman, which were very heartily enjoyed.

The next meeting of the fraternity will be held on Thursday evening, February 11th.

Tal Henry And His North Carolinians To Play For Junior Prom, February 5th

Rainbow Ballroom Of Americus Hotel To Be Scene Of Festivities From 10 To 3

The music of Tal Henry and his North Carolinians will be featured Friday evening, February 5th, from ten to three, when the class of 1933 will stage the annual Junior Prom in the Rainbow ball room of the Americus hotel.

Final arrangements for the orchestra, the program-favors, and the ballroom have been made and it remains only to await the date for all to have a most enjoyable evening.

The chaperones for the occasion are: Dr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain, Professor and Mrs. William D. Coder, Professor and Mrs. Albert C. Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Miles Wright, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Keller, Professor and Mrs. Trueman Koehler, and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hartman.

The price of a bid to the Prom will be $4.50. This is a depression reduction on last year's dance and, because of the value of the dance itself, the committee hopes that it will be well attended.

The committee is composed of Samuel Shimer, chairman, Michael Henry, Donald Carpenter, Ray Bachman, Charles Cooper, Wellington Walters, Rudolph Novak, and Otto Saalfeld.

Tickets may be had any time this week from any member of the committee. The committee is dependent upon the full co-operation of both the members of the Junior Class and the student body in order to make this Prom equally as gala an affair as the Proms of the past.

Freshman Debaters Plan Two Meets

Will Engage S. W. H. S. And Albright Varsity

The Freshman debate squad of Muhlenberg is planning a very active schedule for the coming semester. Thus far there have been two debates scheduled within a very short time of each other. The first of these will be a dual debate with South Whitehall High School, which is to take place on February 25th, Thursday afternoon at the South Whitehall assembly. On Friday evening, February 26th, the South Whitehall township debaters will meet here to engage with the Muhlenberg Frosh.

The question for debate is "Resolved: That the state of Pennsylvania Enact Legislation Providing for Unemployment Insurance."

Mr. Frederick Meckley of the class of '30 of Muhlenberg College, will coach the township debaters, while Donald V. Hock, the Freshman debate coach will have charge of the 'Berg men.

On Thursday evening of March 10th the Albright Varsity debate squad will journey here to meet with the Freshman debaters.

The question for debate is "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization Is Unsound in Principle."

Muhlenberg will have the negative side.

The Freshman Squad is made up of the following: Russel L. Krapf, Ralph Keeport, John R. Brokhoff, John Yerger, Bernard Frank, Alton L. Clauser, Robert A. Laubach, Ray R. Brenman, and Robert Kerstetter.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Harry Reichard of the German department of Muhlenberg College delivered a humorous story entitled "Die Kutzdaun Mail" before a very large audience in the auditorium of Salem Reformed Church on Thursday evening of January 21st, in conjunction with the play entitled "The Neighbors", presented by the Parents' class of that congregation. The reading met with the heartiest approval of the audience.

Professor Albert C. Fasig will be in Philadelphia on Tuesday, January 26, to attend the meetings of the Alumni Association of Muhlenberg, which will be held at the University Club of the University of Pennsylvania. Professor Fasig is Field Secretary of the organization.

Professor W. D. Coder gave a talk to a woman's club of Bethlehem last week on Paul Green's play "The House of Connelly."

Assembly Program List Disclosed

Familiar Faces To Return In Performances

A splendid list of assembly programs for the rest of the term has been compiled by the administration. The following is the list of Thursday assembly programs until graduation:

A reglar student body meeting will open the second semester on February 4th. The following Thursday, Dr. Henry H. Mueller, of the history department, will give a lecture on "George Washington" in the Science Audtiorium.

Dr. Tait McKenzie, M.D., LL.D., and professor of Physical Education at the University of Pennsylvania will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Athlete in Sculpture" on February 18th. Dr. J. Mattes of Scranton will talk on "Bugenhagen" on February 25th. This program will be held in the chapel.

Dr. M. M. "Mike" Dorizas, Ph.D., of the University of Pennsylvania, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Java, Bali and Sumatra" on March 3rd in the Science Auditorium.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Richards, pastor of St. Luke Church, Philadelphia will talk on "Muhlenberg Friend" on March 10th in the chapel. The following Thursday, a speaker that will be on the campus for the Christian World Education Conference will deliver a short talk. The person for this talk has not as yet been selected.

Mrs. Harry A. Benfer will give another of her popular song recitals in the Science Auditorium on March 31st.

Mme. Ione Pickhard, pianist and composer, who was so well received a few years ago, will be the feature of the program for April 7th. She will use as her subject "Gaelic Music and How I Use It in My Opera 'Moria' ". The Science Auditorium will be the scene of this program.

Dr. R. Z. Brotemarkel, Ph.D., Personnel Officer of the Univeristy of Pennsylvania will deliver a lecture on "Student Problems" on April 14th. A band concert on April 21st will close the programs in the Science Auditorium. Student Body meetings on May 4th and 11th will officially bring to a close the school year.

Editorial Comments

Well, these Mid-years are here again. Wonder if the faculty couldn't declare a moratorium on them. What say?

Speaking about depression there sure is none as far as the studying till the wee hours of the morning are concerned.

Wonder if someone couldn't invent a royal road to learning?

Just a few more days and the "truth will out" as somebody or other said at some time or other.

Sure is a fine idea that the college had when it scheduled those organ recitals. There may yet be some truth in that statement that "music doth soothe the savage beast." Well, anyway we don't blame the beast for getting savage at a time like this.

Our idea of the milennium would be for some prof to say to us "No exams for us boys. I don't feel like correcting papers anyway". Small chance for that to happen, eh what?

Don't forget the Junior "Prom". Just a few days off. And boy what a time you'll have!

Incidentally better make the date for the 5th and 6th mostly 6th.

Judging by some of the exams handed out the faculty must want to do a lot of reading.

Personally we could think of lots more pleasant and even enlightening things to read than quiz books—some full and some not so full.

Now that Penn State will be added to the schedule for 1933 we can see several good reasons for losing more games than we win. But then if Penn State keeps going the way it is we can see another victory for the Mules. Wait and see.

But then with the Villanova Wildcats jumping on the Mules we can still lose another game.

However a Penn State-Muhlenberg and a Villanova-Muhlenberg game should prove good drawing cards and that's something.

This is the time of the year when men are men and the professors are ????? It just depends on the results.

Looking The Campus O'er

About this time the "For Rent" signs are beginning to appear in several dormitory rooms. The only reason we can think of is that the students may have transferred to some other college. Of course there is the possibility that they might not have survived the mid-year social period (examinations) which has just been such a delightful interlude in our lives.

And now the same old injury jinx that played such havoc with our football team has perched along side of the basketball team. Nixon, Carney and Horine have 'bum' ankles and Joe Matuska wrenched his shoulder the other day. And even with these injuries the team is certainly putting up a fine battle every game. At any rate the students and friends who attend the games are getting a real thrill for the price of admission.

Really by the number of couples (married and otherwise) that attend these Muhlenberg basketball games one would surmise that the local institution is co-ed. Maybe it is but evidently most of the classes are in the extension division sometime during the night. Oh well, it's a great life if you don't weaken.

After an experiment with the football captaincy being appointed just prior to each game the team has returned to the old system whereby a captain was elected for the entire year. We can think of no player better fitted for the position as captain than 'Beeg' Joe Matuska, husky, plunging lineman who was honored by his teammates with this position. The team is assured of a leader who will be in there plugging away every minute of the game. Only an injured wrist kept Joe from a number of games this year and with that fixed up, the team can depend upon his services. Here's wishing you the best o' luck, Joe, old boy.

Wonder what the track is going to look like within a few weeks when the star students in Physical Education begin to work off their over cuts. If only some of them could be transferred to the track team.

REV. G. FRANKLIN GEHR GIVES SUNDAY ADDRESS

Our hearts were made in God's image, under a sordid exterior one can find a spark of the divine, there is a physical and a spiritual meaning in all souls. And this woman was weak, like her sex, despairing, ever consoling herself with the thought that a Messiah would sometime come. She could have said like the Prodigal Son, 'I have sinned against Heaven and before thee,' and 'Leave me not neither forsake me.'

"Jesus arose from her silent confusion", Rev. Gehr explained, "with the living water, and His methods were well adapted to the case as usual. Like a good teacher He Himself took the initiative. (We love Him because He first loved us.) And Jesus said: 'Give me to drink.' This was His point of content and a clever piece of psychology it was.

"We Christians must also take the first step in helping people. One day quite a few years ago when automobiles were still a new thing, I stopped to help another automobilist who had been detained by motor trouble, this was the custom then. Just as a result of my kindness and his subsequent discovery that I was a clergyman, that man started to go to church. In a short time he became an ardent churchman.

"Next Jesus aroused the woman's spiritual interest totally ignoring the racial question which she had promptly brought up. He said: 'If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of Him, and He would have given thee living water.' Thus Jesus gave her high spiritual values as he had also given to Nicodemus. By His simple request for drink of her, He touched her. If such spirituality should be ours, we would be evangelizing everywhere.

"Jesus also leads her to a confession and true repentance. But He never did it by denouncing her as a harlot, for that would have repulsed her. Yet He did ask her, 'Go, call thy husband.' The very word husband made this woman pause, here reaction to it was a lie to Jesus. Thus she added a lie to her immorality. However nothing deterred the Master, and He so addressed her that she was forced to confess, 'Sir, I perceive that thou art a prophet.'

"Now was the time for this woman's great decision for the prophet and the living water and her sins. But she herself did not realize this fact clearly, for she had only the feeling of being caught in a trap," Rev. Gehr continued. "She tried to escape by bringing up religion, saying 'Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.'

"This retort reminds us of the marriages today in which two persons with membership in different churches are united. Such a question of worship would be before them. We try to substitute doctrines, indifferences, religious antipathies, and racial prejudices for the one true religion.

"Jesus answered the Samaritan's evasion with plain words fraught with meaning", said Rev. Gehr, "'Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father. But the hour cometh and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth. God is a spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

"The poor woman had no answer but she tried to comfort herself again with the thought, "I know that the Messiah cometh, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.' Jesus quickly pressed on His advantage by saying, 'I that speak unto thee am He.' For Him the woman left all, she is turned from a harlot into a missionary, she was saved to serve just as we are saved, too.

"How does this long Bible narrative affect us, what meaning does it have for you and me? First of all it shows us that religion belongs in the daily life, we must ever be ready for service. It is only Jesus who satisfies, makes great souls, who anoints us; let us lift Him up. 'For there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.'

Secondly, we can now realize that we need a spiritual-filled life to save others. Besides the baptism and confirmation and the rest of important things, real worship is needed too.

"In the third place, Jesus was accepted. The woman had said, 'Come, see a man, which told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?' He has given me the living, pure water. 'So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.' This act which we described Jesus called Joy, He said to His disciples, 'I have meat to eat that ye know not of.'

"Thus He explained the experience for them and said, 'Lift up your eyes, look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest.' Jesus wanted them to learn soon that soul-saving is the greatest joy here on earth. In short, this is the message to us: some of us may be ministers or some kind of full time workers for Jesus, but all of us must become evangelists. Go tell all people of the words of this day!" concluded Rev. Gehr.

Dr. Harold K. Marks played "The Deluge" of Saint Saens' for a prelude, "Cantilene" by Guilmant for an offertory and Bach's "Prelude in G Major" for a postlude. The Chapel Choir, under his direction, sang an anthem of DeKoven's, "Recessional."

Dr. Haas, Rev. H. C. Cressman and Rev. Stine took part in the service. The Preacher on January 31 will be the Rev. Peter N. Wohlsen, Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, Pa.

ized very nicely the predominant actions of Man with Man.

Love is the antidote to all the troubles that beset man in his relationship to Man. It influences life and influences the relationships between the family and the nations. There would be no social problems if there would be Love in the hearts of men and Death would hold no terrors to the man who abided in LOVE.

FACULTY NOTES

On Saturday morning, January 9, a son was born to Professor and Mrs. Ira F. Zartman at the Allentown Hospital. Mrs. Zartman and her son, who will be named Ira William Zartman, are both very well.

Rev. H. P. C. Cressman conducted the services on Sunday, January 10, in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Bethlehem. The discourses were appropriate for the Epiphany season.

ALUMNI NOTES

Among 'Berg Alumni who visited Doctors Barba and Reichard during the Christmas holidays were:

Professor Russel Gilbert of the class of '27, who assisted as instructor in German at Muhlenberg during Dr. Barba's absence two years ago, is now head of the Department of German at Susquehanna University.

Solon Philips, class of '31, who is a student at the Union Theological Seminary, at which he holds a scholarship won by competitive examination;

Paul Fatzinger, class of '31, now taking post-graduate work and doing part-time teaching at Indiana University; and Charles Nehf, class of '31, who is attending the International Y. M. C. A. Training College at Springfield College.

FRESHMAN LITERARY GUILD FORMED

On Friday, January 8, at 9 P. M. the Freshman Literary Guild was formed. Three other freshmen met at the home of Morris Parmet on 6th Street. Professor Everett was also present. Beginning February 5, this group will meet every other Friday night, at the home of one of the freshmen residing in town, thus making these sessions pleasing and informal.

It was decided that the club members will discuss modern trends in literature and subjects were assigned for future meetings. There followed a stimulating "bull session" on John Cowper Powyss' "Meaning of Culture", during which those present smoked and partook of refreshments. (J. C. Powyss lectured at Muhlenberg College two years ago.)

The next meeting will be held at David Ruhe's home. Grove will speak on the writings of Gilbert K. Chesterton and a general discussion will follow. Students will attend these meetings by invitation and the group will remain small in number.

'Berg Drop Games To Lehigh And Lafayette

BROWN AND WHITE COP GAME 36-30

Two Extra Five Minute Periods Necessary

HORINE AND NIXON HIGH SCORERS

Lehigh defeated Muhlenberg by a 36 to 30 score in a thrilling basketball game played on the local Y. M. C. A. court last Wednesday night. Two extra five-minute periods were required to decide the winner, since the score was tied at 26 to 26 at the end of the regulation game, and at 27 to 27 after the first extra period.

The game was closely contested throughout and the lead switched from one side to the other during the course of the fray. Nixon with five field goals and two fouls led the Muhlenberg scoring while Best, Ruth, and Bray played a bang-up game for the visitors.

At half time the score was knotted at 15 to 15. With only three minutes to go Muhlenberg was on the long side of a 25 to 21 score, but Horine and Nixon were taken from the game on fouls and Lehigh sank their shots from the charity mark to even up the score as the game ended the regulation game.

O'Brien was next to leave on fouls. Steckel made first tally with a field goal, but Bray took one off the back board and sent it thru the meshes to knot the score at 27 all.

The 'Berg sub team could not hold the Bethlehemites in the last extra period as the Brown and White collegians sent thru four field goals and a foul, while limiting the Holstromites to one field and one foul goal.

Allen Ware, captain of Lehigh's football, basketball, and baseball teams, was carried from the floor in the second half with a badly sprained and swollen right ankle.

LEOPARDS DEFEAT MULES 26 - 20 IN GOOD GAME

Poor Foul Shooting of Mules Cost Game

NIXON AND CARNEY HIGH SCORERS FOR 'BERG

A rally in the second half fell short of overcoming the visitors' lead and Muhlenberg was defeated 26 to 20 by a smooth working Lafayette court squad in a torrid game played at the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night.

The Lafayette team started things in a big way, piling up a 12 to 0 lead before the Holstromites could break up the powerful Leapard offense. Nixon started the 'Berg drive with a field goal after dribbling the length of the floor to sink a shot from under the basket. Nixon was the star performer of the evening, running up a total of eleven points with sensational shots from far back-court. Thomas was the ace for the visitors with four field goals and two fouls.

Horine played a brilliant floor game for the Cardinal and Grey squad, time and again breaking up scoring threats under the basket, and bringing the crowd to its feet with a perfect field goal from the center box in the last half.

The Mules were seldom able to bring the ball to a shooting position near the basket and were compelled to tally with long shots. Carney scored two field goals from far back court, and was greatly responsible for breaking up the scoring play by which the Leopards gained their early lead.

Muhlenberg lost the game largely thru its notable weakness in shooting from the charity stripe. Of nine chances, the Holstromites tallied only two foul goals, while the Lafayette team made good eight shots of ten.

The Muhlenberg squad showed marked improvement in stamina, and it is likely to be an entirely different story when they start their Eastern Conference campaign again this week with a return game against Franklin and Marshall.

VASSAR COLLEGE

Of the 171 Vassar freshmen, 155 admit copying each others notes, or used notes and papers of former years, on a thesis on sanitary conditions in the college. The revelation was made as a result of a questionnaire sent to the members of the freshmen class. Members of the class explained their action by saying it was the only way they could get the work done and that the amount of work was unfair. They said that there was no conspiracy.

We always forgive a fellow who gives us a sharp answer. We figure he has an edge on.

STUDENT DOG-WASHER

Yale college has a sophomore who is paying much of his way through college by washing dogs. He says there is an art in cleansing these frisky creatures, and he likes dogs. That fellow is original, as his line of work is one that few would have thought of. When he gets out in the business world, he will never have any trouble in finding things to do.

It is complained that many college graduates are too proud to take off their coats and learn business from the beginning. But the sophomore dog washer is evidently willing to do whatever the world wants done. A young man with that spirit will be popular in business concerns.

'Berg To Play Penn State In Football

Arrangements Made For Game In 1933

Likelihood of Villanova Returning on 'Berg Schedule

The Muhlenberg football team will play Penn State in the 1933 season, Guerney E. Afflerbach, graduate manager of athletics announced last week.

The game will be played at State College on October 14, 1933, Mr. Afflerbach announced, adding that contracts for the game had been signed by both institutions.

At the same time, Mr. Afflerbach added that there was a strong possibility that Villanova college would be back on the Cardinal and Grey schedule for the 1933 season, but that nothing definite had as yet been closed in this respect. It will be recalled that Muhlenberg last fall sought to have the Wildcats placed on the 1932 Muhlenberg schedule, but that at that time Villanova had arranged its 1932 schedule.

Villanova, it is understood, is to cut down its intersectional schedule of games for the past few seasons with the start of the 1933 campaign, and that Muhlenberg will be one of several Pennsylvania colleges to be placed on the Wildcat schedule.

Lutheran Bulletin Contains Report On Hist. Of Ed. Course

Receives Favorable Comment By Lutheran Board of Education

The Educational News Bulletin, from the Board of Education of the United Lutheran Church in America, for February 1, contains the following interesting item concerning the new History of Education course being offered this year by Dr. Carl W. Boyer.

"Prof. Carl W. Boyer of Muhlenberg College has devised what is called 'A Two-Level Plan of Instruction' in the History of Education. It is offered to teachers and students of this subject as a modification of the 'Dalton' plan of instruction. It aims to increase efficiency by adjusting the subject matter to the abilities of the individual student.

"'A Two-Level Plan of Instruction in the History of Education' is composed of a series of Contracts. Each contract is composed of a series of Study Units. The questions in each Study Unit are to serve as stimuli for thought before the student reads the assignment. Definiteness is thus attained. When the student has read the list of questions he may procure the desired references. While reading, notes should be taken. Written answers to questions should be made after each Study Unit. Each Contract contains a 'Summary Review.' This outline should be kept for further Review. The Study Unit called 'Supplementary Discussion' should be used as a basis for Group Discussion. At least one such Group Discussion should accompany each Contract.

When a student has completed a Contract it is submitted to the instructor for examination and grading. A brief examination may be given to cover the Contract. A student may proceed to the next Contract, only after he has satisfactorily completed the conditions of the preceding one.

"Each Contract contains an 'Optional Unit'. Extra credit may be given to students who satisfactorily complete these Units.

"It will be noticed that Contracts 12, 13 and 14 are not as detailed as the others. Materials here are so inclusive that they require extra time and extra courses.

"The course has been designed to cover four semester hours work. It may easily be adjusted to a three semester hour course, by judiciously choosing certain questions.

"Study is done during the class period. A basic library consists of a minimum of twelve of each of the following references:

Graves—History of Education (3 vols.)

Cubberley—History of Education.

Boyer—History of Education.

2 sets of Monroe Cyclopedia of Education.

"This year Dr. Boyer is revising and checking on the Contracts and also devising objective tests. He hopes to have the material in readiness for publication for use next year.

Who's Who on the Campus

Raymond M. Munsch
Alpha Tau Omega

Ray came to Muhlenberg from way up in the New England states four years ago and since that time has established a reputation which should be the envy of every college man. His scholastic and extra-curricular activities rank among the first in his class.

Ray is head cheerleader and it was mainly through his efforts that such a decided improvement was made this year in student body cheering. He is also President of the Muhlenberg Business Association and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary extra-curricular fraternity. Besides all this, Ray still found time during his first three years in college to represent 'Berg on the relay team.

Recently, it has been noted, Ray has been giving quite a little time to still another activity. We'll let you guess what we mean when we say that he has been seen prowling around Cedar Crest campus quite a bit.

In addition Ray is ably managing the varsity debate team for this year.

Socially, Ray is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and his brothers and many friends join in wishing him success in whatever he undertakes.

Dorm Fire

"Oh save those girls!" hysterically screamed a feminine bystander.

"Lady" said one of the smoke eaters, drawing himself up with dignity, "we're firemen, not evangelists."

O'Brien—Oi can say wan thing—Oi'm a self-made man.

Casey—Is it boastin' ye are, or apologisin'?

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH PRESIDENT BLAMED

The University of Utah co-eds are indignant. They blame their president for this condition; he recently issued a proclamation that students should economize during the depression and among unnecessary extravagances he listed flowers and taxis for dates. Street cars and imitation flowers have not met with the approval of the so-called weaker sex and a tendency to stay at home and read good books seems to be prevalent in the ranks of the co-eds.

Cambridge, Mass.—A course in European history from the fall of the Roman Empire to modern times is the most popular at Harvard College this year, with an enrollment of 749 students.

Judge: "What is the verdict of the jury?"

Foreman: "The jury are all of one mind—temporarily insane, your Honor."

Professor: "If I have talked too long, it's because I haven't my watch with me, and there is no clock in this room.

Student: "There's a calendar behind you."

Hotel Page: "Telegram for Mr. Niedspondiavanzi, paging Mr. Niedspondiavanzi!"

Mr. Niedspondiavanzi: "What initial please?"

Koch: "Say Ed, when is your girl going to let you marry her?"

Barndt: "It's very uncertain. Some fool gave her a big box of letter paper with her name printed on it. She won't get married until it's used up—and she writes very few letters on account of the postage."

How About It

"What was Eve made of?"

"God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and then he took out his backbone and made woman."

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

SET THE DAY and hour and . . . throughout the college year . . . pay Mother and Dad a regular weekly "voice visit" by telephone.

They'll be thrilled to hear the latest campus news . . . to share the fun . . . to know you're well. It's a safe bet you'll enjoy it, too! Make it a habit . . . as much as your weekly letter!

The cost is low . . . particularly at night. Just look at these figures! After 8.30 P. M., points a hundred miles away can be reached for 35c . . . nearly two hundred miles away for 60c! And, of course (Dad will O. K. this), you can always reverse the charge!

Now for the call . . .

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.) Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than the more expensive Person to Person call.

Pre-Med. Group Guests Of Hahnemann Medical School and Hospital

First Field Trip of Newly Formed Organization Big Success

On Wednesday morning, February 3, the Pre-medical society of Muhlenberg College left the Administration Building to go on its first annual trip, one dealing with an inspection of Hahnemann Medical School and Hospital, located in Philadelphia. Upon the arrival of the caravan of machines at the school, the members were very cordially received by Dr. Pearson, Dean of the Medical School. For the remainder of the morning, they embarked upon a tour of inspection, visiting the physiological and pharmacological laboratory rooms, and examining the different apparatus employed in making tests and experiments. Of especial interest was the intrictae electro-cardiograph designed to record heart action, and acting like a barometer, to warn of approaching danger in the body. The group then visited the zoo, where animals such as the dog, cat, rabbit, frog, and guinea pig were kept for experimental purposes. The next department was the chemistry rooms where a class of students were conducting their experiments. From there the group was taken to the anatomy rooms where the remains of dissected cadaveras were shown. It was explained that both sophomores and freshmen were allowed to dissect bodies, with the sophomores doing actual dissection and freshmen merely becoming acquainted with the work by taking out the dissected parts and replacing them, as an auto mechanic. Following this the professor of Therapeutics, addressed the assembly, informally for a few minutes on his subject of study, explaining that it was the administration of drugs with a curative end in view, and the study of the actions of various drugs on the body. The members of the society were then the guests of Dr. Pearson, president of the Rotary Club of Philadelphia at luncheon, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. It was a regular meeting of the Club and the speaker was Leonard Dreyfuss, president of the United Advertising Corporation, on the subject "What About Tomorrow's Business." Upon the conclusion of the program the society once more repaired to the School, to finish its inspection and then attend the clinic.

One-Act Play Contest To Be Held Week Of February Fifteenth

Five Plays To Be Presented In Science Auditorium

The first one-act play writing contest to be held at Muhlenberg will be given one evening during the week of February 15th in the Science Auditorium. The exact date will be announced shortly.

The five plays selected for this contest are as follows: "A Night of Study", by John Greenawald, '32; "Intermission," by Warren Smith, '33; "Greek Letters," by Donald V. Hock, '32; "A Wise Freshman and the Law of Relativity," by Bernard Frank, '35; and "King of the Campus," by Charles H. Preston, '33.

Greenawald and Preston will direct their own productions while Charles Eisenhart, John Hollenbach, and Paul Scholl will direct the others.

Every phase of college life but athletics was dealt with in these productions. Fraternity politics and office holding by a few are subjects of several of the plays.

Have you heard the Billiard song? What, you haven't heard the Billiard song? "Ooooh, That Kiss."

Dr. Haas Continues Series of Addresses

"If Jesus Were To Come And Look On Life Today" —Topic

"If Jesus were to come and look on life today" was the topic which the President of Muhlenberg College discussed at the chapel service in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel during the chapel service on Wednesday morning of February 3rd.

If Jesus were to come and look on life today he would rejoice in the increased faith of the people in their God, in the spread of the gospel and the Good Samaritan type of mercy that has come into our life today. But his heart would be saddened by the mechanical aspect of our civilization as it would present itself to him today. He would be saddened at the great number of the people that give themselves to selfish pleasure. There is in the hearts of many people today the lack of the necessity of God, and there is too much time devoted to the pursuit of wealth. Today there is needed a moral reformation and not an economic reformation.

The Doctor especially aimed his remarks at those people in the city who are not practising the Christian principles. The question that faces the people of today is "Is religion due for a fall due to the lack of salt of religion?"

Another of the topics that the speaker treated was the defective conception of truth. This type of religion neglects Christianity. "It is sad when men come to Church schools and do not attend Church for the development of the spirit," deplored the president.

What we need is the thing that is often passed by and that is the mystery of religion. It is the truth in times of peril that is the Truth. Christ came as the Prince of Peace and men were destroying civilization. Are we the same way? The Doctor pointed there is something radically wrong when in the world of resources there is want.

The fault of this he attributed to the lack of a well defined instead of the blind leadership that we have today. He urged that we love our enemies instead of causing them to hate us as we do today, in order that we have the "peace which passeth all understanding."

Rev. E. E. Fischer, D.D. Is Vesper Speaker

Rev. E. E. Fischer, D.D., a faculty member of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, was the guest speaker at the public Vesper service on February 7, 1932. His topic was "The Message of the Cross."

"Are we Christians guilty of narrowing the Message of the Cross?" Rev. Fischer asked. "My text for this subject is found in the prophecy of Isaiah 57:15, 'For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.'

"Here we read the great paradox of the Christian religion, 'the high and lofty One with him of a contrite and humble spirit'. There is nothing not comprehensible about fellowship because we of the world have much in common with one another. But how is it that God should be able or even care to associate with sinners as we are? One of eternity with one of dust.

"Yet in reality we can be nearer to God than to our best friends, we tell him all although we hesitate to confide much with any one else. God reciprocates and reveals His innermost thoughts to us thus encouraging us to trust in Him.

"No other religion," said Rev.

Four Seniors Tapped By O. D. K. Fraternity

Mancke, Hock, Carney and Palladino Are Honored

At a short meeting of the Student Body on February 4, Thursday, in the science auditorium, the Omicron Delta Kappa inducted four new members, with the official tapping ceremony. The new members are Donald B. Mancke, a varsity debater for three years, and winner of the I. O. U. State Contest, speaking on "The Challengee of the Machine Age", and a member of the Que and Quill Club; Donald V. Hock, of Catasauqua, a member of the Que and Quill Club, a varsity debater, I. O. U. State winner, class secretary, and Ciarla Staff; Stanley F. Carney, Easton, Penna., football, basketball, and baseball; and Ferdinand E. Palladino, Allentown, Penna., football and baseball.

A short meeting was held previously, called to order by President Koch. The minutes were read and approved as read. A re-vote on the latest Constitutional Amendment permitting each fraternity recognized by the Inter-fraternity Council, one vote in Student Council, was necessary, as the faculty approbation on the former action had not been secured. Under new business, a motion was made to appropriate charms to the senior members of the debating squad. It was passed. As there was no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Annual Junior Prom Brilliant Affair

Tal Henry and "His North Carolinians" Furnish Syncopation

Close to one hundred and forty couples danced to the music of Tal Henry and his North Carolinians at the annual Junior Prom, Friday, February fifth in the Rainbow Ball Room of the Americus Hotel.

Beyond a doubt the Junior Prom was a fitting climax to one of the most successful social seasons Muhlenberg has ever had. Tal Henry not only pleased the dancers with his wonderful syncopation and arrangements but kept the audience satisfied with several well chosen novelties.

The favors were a combination program-favor in dark blue with the college seal and Muhlenberg Junior Prom on the cover. A red and blue cord and tassel, the class colors, completed the scheme. The article was so made that the paper insert might be discarded and the favor used as a coin purse and card case.

The committee in charge of the Prom was Samuel Shimer, chairman; Charles Cooper, Michael Henry, Otto Saalfeld, Donald Carpenter, Rudolph Novak, Wellington Walters, and Ray Bachman.

Chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. I. M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer, Dr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. H. Fasig, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. Roland F. Hartman, and Mr. and Mrs. William Coder.

Dr. James E. Swain was the main speaker at the meeting of the Nazareth Rotary Club, Monday, January 25; his topic was, "America in International Affairs."

Muhlenberg Chapter of Sigma Lambda Pi, Installed As Alpha Nu Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi on February Sixth

PHI EPSILON PI

Nine Members of Local Chapter Inducted As Charter Members

DR. I. M. WRIGHT, Pd.D. MAIN SPEAKER AT INSTALLATION BANQUET

Alpha Nu

On Saturday, February 6, another big step in the progress of fraternity life on the Muhlenberg campus was realized with the induction of the Alpha Nu chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity, at the Hotel Allen. This event was the culmination of several months untiring effort on the part of the men concerned, in their earnest endeavors to locate a chapter of this, one of the outstanding fraternities in the country, on the Muhlenberg campus. The affair, a brilliant one in itself, was the more outstanding for the presence of the heads of the national headquarters located in Philadelphia. The officers are the Grand Superior, Louis Tushan, Jesse Acker, Grand Vice Superior, Emanuel Wirkman, Grand Treasurer, Charles Fleischman, Grand Secretary, and Maurice Jacobs, Executive Traveling Secretary. Hyman Rockmaker, alumnus of the Dickinson Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi, and a local attorney, presided as toastmaster. Dr. I. M. Wright, Pd.D., head of the Muhlenberg School of Education, was the principal speaker of the evening, at the banquet. He based his remarks on an analogy of the Temple of David in connection with the building of fraternities, stressing the point that the building materials, namely the fraters, must be strong in order to evolve a worthy fraternity.

The guest of honor was Judge Ethan Allen Gearhart. Kenneth H. Koch, president of the Student Body, was present, and addressed his few remarks in a well-aimed manner to the necessity of building strongly, and concluded by wishing the Alpha Nu Chapter a happy and healthy growth. George Feldman, '21, Executive Head of the local Jewish Community Center, who also became a member of Alpha Nu Chapter, also addressed the assemblage with several pertinent remarks. In addition to these men, representatives of the various fraternities on the campus were present as guests of Alpha Nu Chapter. During the course of the evening the individual shingles were presented to the fraters, indicative of their entrance into Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity. The chapter was further charged by the grand officers to make Alpha Nu, one more link of a strong chain of chapters. The officers of the local chapter are Lewis Wilker, Superior, Morris Efron, Vice Superior, Leon Rosenberg, Treasurer, Charles Cooper, Secretary, and Arthur Simensky, Chaplain. The members received into Phi Epsilon Pi are George Feldman, Morris Efron, Albert Greenberg, Lewis Wilker, Charles Cooper, Morton Silverman, Leon Rosenberg, Arthur Simensky, Samuel Henken, and Albert Weiner.

It was at the recent convention of the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity, held on December 29-31, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, that a bill pertaining to the assimilation of the Gamma chapter of Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity was introduced, as the latter organization was being dissolved. At this convention, Maurice Jacobs, Executive Secretary of the fraternity delivered a very detailed report on the character of the men comprising this chapter, their activities and progress on the college campus, and their ability to remain stable. The relative superiority of the men under survey was established beyond a doubt, as the bill was passed without a dissenting vote. The Muhlenberg office vol-

Dr. Henry R. Mueller Largely Responsible For Success of Idea

The experiment conducted this year with the selling of official Muhlenberg Christmas Greeting cards and calendars was a financial success according to the report of Dr. Henry R. Mueller who was responsible for the idea.

A total of $21.84 was turned over as profit to the Muhlenberg Student Loan Fund for which purpose the sale had been conducted. As the cards and calendars were not put on sale until well into the Christmas season and because only a small number were printed the results are highly satisfactory.

Dr. Mueller, conceived the idea of printing and selling these official Greeting Cards and Calendars several years ago but it was not until this year that he was able to have the idea carried out. As the results were highly satisfactory, Dr. Mueller, announced that the cards and calendars would be printed again next year. A larger supply of both will be made and they will be placed on sale much earlier than this year.

Richard C. Thiedee was the student salesman this year and Mrs. Keller had charge of the office sales.

The idea started by Dr. Mueller received widespread publicity in several large newpapers particularly the New York World-Telegram and the Lutheran Educational News Bulletin also commented favorably upon this idea.

'Berg To Be Scene Of Annual L. S. A. Conference

The Thirteenth Annual Conference in the North Atlantic Region of The Lutheran Student Association of America will be held on February 19, 20, 21, 1932 in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel on the Muhlenberg College campus.

The goal of the Conference will be "Achieving the Best" and the four routes to be used are: "(1) Right Choices; (2) Sources of Power; (3) Unity of Front; and (4) Excellency of Knowledge."

The guides of the Conference are to be the following prominent Lutherans; Dr. Samuel Trexler, President of the United Synod of New York; Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College; Dr. William C. Schaeffer, Jr., Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, Pa.;

Phi Epsilon Pi Is Powerful National

Has Established 33 Chapters and 11 Alumni Groups

Phi Epsilon Pi was founded at the College of the City of New York on November 23, 1904, by Max Shlivek, Alvin Lock, Adolph Hamburger, Siegfried Hartman, Arthur Hirschberg, William Hannivy, and Abraham E. Horn. Until 1912, there was no central form of administration, but, during that year, through the efforts of a few alumni, a national council was formed, consisting of five officers, and one delegate from each active chapter. This body assumed complete jurisdiction over the chapters, adopted a revised national constitution, standardized the local constitutions and conducted the general business of the fraternity. This form of government was soon outgrown, and, in 1917 the constitution was amended to allow for the present governing bodies. A grand council, consisting of seven officers chosen annually at the general convention, was formed to which was given complete judicial and legislative powers between conventions. In 1921 the constitution was still further amended, creating the office of executive secretary, and establishing a central office, at present located in Philadelphia. The general convention is the supreme legislative and judicial body of the fraternity. Conventions are held annually, in which each active chapter and each alumni association is privileged to have representation.

The fraternity, whose popular name is Phiep, admits both associate and honorary members. Alumni associations exist in fifteen of the large cities. Phi Epsilon Pi Day is celebrated the first Saturday in August. Founders' Day is November 23. The fraternity magazine, the Phi Epsilon Pi Quarterly, was established in 1915. A silver loving cup is awarded each year to the chapters making the best record in scholarship, literary achievements, and athletics. The fraternity has also endowed a scholarship which provides for the annual expenses of a young man interested in agriculture, at the National Farm School, at Doylestown, Pennsylvania. The colors of the fraternity are purple and gold, and the flag displays the Greek letters in gold running diagonally across a purple field from the upper left to the lower right hand corner.

There are thirty-three chapters, nineteen of which own houses, and the majority of the others have leased homes. The other chapters located in Pennsylvania are at the University of Pennsylvania, Penn State, Univer-

"With malice toward none, with charity toward all."—Lincoln.

With the advent of the birthday of one of the greatest of Americans we are reminded of many of his great sayings. To-day with our government in diplomatic negotiations—which may break at any moment—with the Japanese government over conditions in the Near East, and feeling against the Japanese is running high, we are reminded of the famous pronunciation of Abraham Lincoln—"With malice toward none, with charity toward all."

It is indeed fortunate that Muhlenberg has a student from Japan among its students—Massa Hero Himeno, a Junior. The following editorial written by him exemplifies the spirit of internationalism or an adaptation of Lincoln's expression.

At the time when we are troubling our friends all over the world with the unfortunate incidents in Manchuria and again in Shanghai, I feel rather awkward to write about peace and friendship between the nations. But the Sino-Japanese conflict is only a temporary question, while what I want to say has longer duration.

United States is the richest and perhaps the most powerful nation in the world at present. Every country, near and far, must be either jealous of or afraid of her more or less, even though she may behave in the most friendly spirit toward them.

In the present state of civilization, no nation can have a true and permanent friend. If it is weak, it is despised; if it is strong it is feared. Hence all kinds of armaments, alliances and double-dealings.

Japan was much poorer and weaker at the end of the last century. Though she might have been despised by them in their hearts, still she was made much of in America, admired by China, and courted by both Russia and Britain, which resulted in the Anglo-Japanese alliance. She never stood in a better position than at that time, internationally.

Now that she has made some progress in industries and armaments, she has no true friend as a nation. The United States of America wants to defend Hawaii and the Philippines; England has built a naval base at Singapore to defend India or Australia. But to defend against whom, if not against Japan? Such is the fate of a nation! If you blame us for being militaristic, I can remind you that it was you, the Occidental nations, who made us militaristic.

While Japan was very peaceful with herself, composing poems, studying licese burning; in a word, when she was addicted to things artistic and beautiful, she was not given a place even among third-rate powers. It is only after she adopted the English method of training men for the navy, and the German system for the army, and had won two wars against the two big nations of the world that you Americans and the Europeans accepted her on an even footing. this is only to tell you the truth, and not meant for criticism at all.

All empires or nations are founded on might, instead of right. Unless this fundamental condition of the existence of nations is reformed, the unfriendly spirit toward each other cannot be eradicated. Let us try to make all the nations of the world stand on a moral basis by accepting the International Court of Justice and by changing the educational system from a narrow nationalism. All nations ought to stand on the basis of friendship and good-will instead of jealousy and enmity. Peace and security can only be obtained through friendship. But as long as human beings are brought up with the doctrine of narrow nationalism instead of internationalism, the sentiment or true friendship can never grow satisfactorily. Even the most upright and the kindest people become quite selfish and unreasonable when they are governed by a national sentiment. This fact was amply proven by Christian dignitaries who prayed only for the victory of their own nation during the world war.

Nationalism was very useful in an old world, as feudalism was useful in a still older world, but now that the world has become so small the narrow nationalism is out of date. It must be fundamentally improved, though not abolished altogether, like feudalism. True friendship can only be cultivated through internationalism.

M. H. Himeno, '33.

Big Green Holds Jinx

New Haven, Conn.—If Yale is reputed to have some kind of a jinx on Dartmouth when it comes to football, certainly the Big Green basketball quintet have turned the tables on old Eli as far as the court game is concerned. In the last three hoop contests between the two, Dartmouth has outscored Yale by four points, winning all three encounters. The scores were 29-27, 18-17 and 21-20.

REV. E. E. FISCHER, D.D. IS VESPER SPEAKER

Fischer, "exalts the Holiness of their god as we do, nor does any other faith so emphasize man's sinfulness, as Christianity does. Besides our religion shows the opportunity for reconciliation between God and man more than any other. Thus we bring Grace into our discussion, the mystery of Grace, the Grace in the Cross of Jesus Christ explains this compatibility between God and man.

"Paul's well known theological term for Grace is 'the reconciling power of the cross'. Let us consider then the Cross' power as a reconciler between God and man, and the comprehensiveness of the purpose of reconciliation by grace. Think of it, the Holy of Holies is accessible for sinful man.

"One of simple mind can understand the cross, it is no mystery to him. First of all it speaks of love, even the world can see this. But what is more, this is a selfish love and devotion which God is manifesting to us. Without His royal power He emptied Himself of all except His devotion for us, Love streamed from the Cross.

"We see a purifying devotion also", continued Rev. Fischer, "in the meaning of the Cross. The mystery of the Atonement will always be locked in the heart of God, but yet we know that His devotion is a kind which condemns and saves at the same time, cuts but also heals immediately.

"A paragon repels the ordinary man, our sin is black when we stand at the side of the Cross. But Jesus we welcome there, we are drawn to Him who knew no sin, we sinners. How does it happen? Grace streams from the Cross.

"More than this purifying devotion found in the Cross, we also find a transforming devotion, a power to make our communion with God clear. Such power changes our way of thinking and of acting, we even feel somehow like God Himself did when He sent His Son into the world. The 'charity' which Paul earnestly exhorts us to acquire in his letter to the Corinthians (I Cor. 13;) is the very charity which God had so that He sent His Son (the word used in both instances in the original is the same).

"The secret of our communion with God", Rev. Fischer showed, "is that we do have one common thing with God, charity, love. Thus is the great gulf between God and man bridged, our whole life energized by God.

"And now let us think of the comprehensiveness of the purpose of reconciliation by Grace. We are saved by Grace, we conclude our services with the familiar benediction of Paul's, 'The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. . . ' But we have made too much of a theological formula out of Paul's 'saved by Grace'. We observe it as a piece of magic and thus lose the idea of the power in this Grace.

" 'O Love that will not let me go', neither death nor life can separate me from the love of God. I may be on a sick bed, penitent, upheld by a Love that will not cast me out, that Love which gave its all. We are really caught up into His love and afterwards never more feel utterly forsaken.

"My Friends, you may know that such is the case," said Rev. Fischer, "if Grace has saved you, this transformed life by Grace.' If you read the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians again, you can see a picture of a love of God as it ought to pour forth from a saved man.

"We Christians ought to stress today our belief in Salvation by Grace because of the wide-spread shallow thinking, a thinking which neglects our Salvation for better things, (as they think). Indeed there is more opposition now for Salvation by Grace than ever before. I exhort you brethren, let us arise and claim our communion with God and fulfill the one task which God has given us: the salvation of man."

Dr. Harold K. Marks conducted the music of the service, playing for a prelude, "Sunset's Ebbing Glow" by Dunn, and offertory, "Romance" by Richmond, and a postlude, "Allegro" from the Second Sonata by Borowski; the Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Tour's, "In Thee, O Lord". Dr. Haas, Rev. Cressman and Rev. Stine conducted the service itself.

The speaker on February 14 will be the Rev. C. C. Hine, D.D., Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Catasauqua.

GREEK COURSE PRAISED BY "THE LUTHERAN"

The Administration and Dean Robert C. Horn, Ph.D., in particular, have been complimented on the course which is being offered this year in Greek Papyri. "The Lutheran" in its issue of January 7, 1932 states that Muhlenberg College is probably the only institution giving an undergraduate course in the reading of papyrus letters and documents. This course is an elective and is proving helpful to ministerial students, in particular, who will take the course in Greek New Testament next year.

sity of Pittsburgh and Dickinson College. Other large chapters are located at Harvard, Cornell, Northwestern, Johns Hopkins, and Michigan. Chapters extend as far north as Connecticut and Massachusetts, as far south as Miami, and as far west as Iowa.

The chapters issue papers and news letters dealing with active and alumni matters, scholastic and personal doings, which are distributed to chapters and alumni.

The first catalogue was issued in 1920. This was followed in 1921 by a more elaborate volume giving the complete roll, and containing a history of the fraternity. A new directory was issued in 1927.

The badge is an oblong shield with concave sides and the four corners cut on the diagonal. Pearls are set in gold along the concave sides, the center displaying the letters in gold on a black enamel background the letters running from the upper left hand corner diagonally across the field to the lower right hand corner.

Mule Basketeers Drop Two More League Contests

F. and M. Wins In Rough and Tumble Match

NIXON HIGH SCORER

In a rough game, Franklin and Marshall College nosed out Muhlenberg last Wednesday night by a 27 to 24 margin. The going was ragged from start to finish, neither team showing much form. Fouls were frequent and slowed up the play. Muhlenberg was charged with twenty-two personals, while F. and M. was chalked up with twelve.

Nixon and Horine were forced from the game by the foul route late in the second half. Smoker, F. and M. forward, followed shortly afterwards. The locals held a 12 to 9 lead at the halfway mark.

In the preliminary, the F. and M. Frosh scored a 45 to 32 victory over the Mule yearlings.

L. V. Played Hard Fast Game To Defeat Mules

NIXON AND JUDT SHARE HONORS

Lebanon Valley defeated Muhlenberg by an 18 to 11 score in an exceedingly fast and at times a rough Eastern Intercollegiate contest on the local Y. M. C. A. court last Saturday night.

The Lebanon Valley aggregation started the scoring with a quick field goal by Heller in the opening minutes of the game after which neither team was able to hold the ball long enough to score. After taking a tap, Stewart scored again for the visitors. Shortly afterward 'Berg broke into the scoring column when Judt converted one of two tries from the charity stripe. At half time the visitors held a 7-6 lead over the Holstromites but neither team had held any monopoly on the ball.

With the start of the second half, the Annville boys set to work at once and before 'Beerg had found themselves, Lebanon Valley had run the score up to 13-6. The Mules were seldom able to bring the ball to a shooting position near the basket and were compelled to attempt long shots. However this proved fruitless as the ball fell clear of the back-board.

Nixon, with two field goals and one foul goal for a total of five points was high scorer for the evening. Heller and Stewart, leading scorers of the Eastern Intercollegiate loop, proved to be the main point getters for the visitors. Rosenberg and Steckel showed up very well for Muhlenberg, playing a fast and accurate game.

The line-up:

Lebanon Valley	Fd.	Fl.	Pts.
Stewart, F.	2	0	4
Sprenkle, F.	1	1	3
Heler, C.	2	0	4
S. Light, G.	0	0	0

Referee—Biblcheimer. Umpire—Long.

Playing the Trinity Reformed quintet the Frosh basketeers finally found themselves and swept through to a 60-22 victory.

This was the first victory of the season for the Frosh and was marked by improved team work, passing and shooting.

Lineup:

Pos.	Trinity	'Berg Frosh
F.	Graul	Lepore
F.	Guth	Vacarro
C.	Moyer	Rohn
G.	Hoffman	Saul
G.	Semmel	Deitrich

Subs: Trinity, Swartz, Fahringer, Bloss. Frosh, Blank, Zaintes, Watson, Ursin, Marquette.

Score—Field Goals: Swartz 3, Hoffman 2, Guth 1, Moyer 1, Fahringer 1, Blank 6, Saul 6, Lepore 5, Zaintes 5, Deitrich 5, Rohn 1, Watson 1, Marquette 1, Foul Goals: Swartz 2, Hoffman 2, Moyer 2, Vacarro 1, Rohn 1, Watson 1.

Referee: Carney; Umpire: Nixon; Timekeeper, Bertolet.

Basketeer Injured

New York—Lou Bender, captain and brilliant forward of the Columbia university's eastern intercollegiate basketball championship five, tore a ligament in his knee during the game with Princeton recently. Physicians advised an operation, but finally consented to let Bender play out the eastern intercollegiate basketball season. The bandages he will be required to wear will considerably hamper his movements, however. Bender has been high scorer in the eastern league the last two years. His crippling comes as a blow to Columbia's hopes to win the league title for the third consecutive year.

untarily offered its recommendations to Phiep, of the boys of the Sigma Lambda Pi, on their achievements, scholastically, socially, and athletically. Without doubt, this is a great tribute to their efforts in maintaining a Jewish fraternity on the campus of Muhlenberg College, with the small number of Jewish students who enroll each year. Due to this fact, it has been hard at times to make both ends meet, in supporting a fraternity house, with this very handful of men, but they have succeeded and in so doing, have been duly rewarded. It is perhaps due to the fact that there are so few men that such a true brotherhood could exist and flourish. Congratulatory telegrams have been pouring in by the scores from all parts of the United States, on the wonderful showing made by the Alpha Nu Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi. At present, altho there are but nine active fraters in this chapter, and seven pledgees, it is with a feeling of complete assurance that this entrance into Phiep will increase their numbers in the near future. Indications are bright for the future, as the majority of these men are sophomores and freshmen.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Wright and Dr. Haas were present at the conferences of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg on Friday, January 29. On Saturday Dr. Wright attended the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Liberal Arts Colleges, which was in session for the purpose of organizing proposed changes in the requirements for the training of teachers in Pennsylvania.

Dr. I. M. Wright gave an address on the value of project work for boy clubs at the monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Volunteer Leaders council held last week.

Dr. John A. W. Haas delivered a stirring talk on disarmament to the members of the Northampton Rotary Club at their meeting in the Allen House, Tuesday evening, February 2. Dr. Haas stressed the point that until great nations change their minds disarmament cannot become a reality.

'BERG TO BE SCENE OF ANNUAL L. S. A. CONFERENCE

Dr. John Raker, Director of The Good Shepherd Home, Allentown, Pa.; Dr. Edward Houseknecht, Professor of Music, State Teachers' College, West Chester, Pa.; Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman, Chaplain of Muhlenberg College; Miss Mildred Winston, Secretary, Board of Education, United Lutheran Church; and Dr. Carolus P. Harry, Secretary, Board of Education, United Lutheran Church.

The Conference will open on Friday evening, February 19, at 6:00 o'clock when supper will be served in the Commons. Sessions will continue all day Saturday and Sunday morning. Holy Communion, installation of officers and the climax sermon by Dr. Samuel Trexler will take place on Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The unique opportunities offered by this conference are: (a) Study the great piece of Inner Mission Work being done at the Good Shepherd Home; (b) See the unusual use of opportunities in Christian Education in St. John's Lutheran Parish House; (c) View the wonderful architecture of the Muhlenberg Chapel; (d) Learn a deeper appreciation of the Church's liturgy; (e) Discuss campus problems; and (f) Share in new methods of Bible Study.

Mr. John H. K. Miller, '32 is the conference registrar.

Yale Books Stolen

New Haven, Conn.—Investigation by Yale university librarians recently showed that 250 of the 9,000 new volumes acquired last September are missing. As a result those using the library's open shelves must check their coats and personally owned books when they enter the building. Library inspectors are attempting to curb the book smuggling.

Who's Who on the Campus

Sam Bortel, Jr.
Non-Fraternity

Behold the austere countenance of the President of the Freshman Tribunal—"Judge" Bortel.

Sam came to Muhlenberg from Central High School in West Philadelphia, Penna. From his career on the gridiron, originated Sam's social success as a mixer, a go-getter and a student. To the readers of the bulletin board his name has been given more attention than any other.

The following are his achievements: Treasurer of the Kappa Phi Kappa, educational fraternity; Vice President of the Student Council; Chairman of the Junior Prom; Chairman of the Vigilance Committee; Chairman of the Freshman Tribunal; member of the Cue and Quill Club; Assistant business manager of The Ciarla; varsity football 2-3-4; "M" Club 4; class monitor 4 years.

When Sam enters the teaching field a new mark will be set for Muhlenberg for his never ceasing activities are sure to bring fame to his Alma Mater. His many friends wish him great success in his entrance into the world.

Booth Receives Greetings

New Haven, Conn.—Albie Booth was prevented by illness from playing in the East-West charity game, but he has received his "letter" just the same. Andy Kerr, coach of Colgate, and mentor of the all-East aggregation, recently sent Booth a white coat sweater and a letter signed by coach and squad and expressing best wishes for his early and complete recovery.

Teacher: "Rastus, can you give me a sentence with the word 'exam' in it?"

Rastus: "Sho teachuh, exam very good, speshully fried."

Ah, but you haven't got us yet. And then there was the playful prisoner who asked the judge to give him a sentence with the word Tangiers. "Sure," said the obliging judge, "I sentence you to Tangiers at hard labor."

PRE-MED. GROUP GUESTS OF HAHNEMANN MEDICAL SCHOOL AND HOSPITAL

Among the many interesting oddities shown was an actual dissection of a body exhibtiing the entire nerve system of the human. It is the only one of its kind in existence, and took seven months of continual hard work to complete. The work was done by Dr. Rufus Benjamin Weaver. It has been exhibited both in Chicago and London, taking prizes at both places.

Before attending the clinic, the students inspected the Hospital and its varied equipment. At three o'clock, the clinic was opened and approximately a hundred and fifty students were present to witness it. There were various operations performed, among which were, the removing of a tumor of the breast, and the removing of a carbuncle of a lip. The surgeon in charge also explained the work as he went along and supplemented his remarks by making diagnoses of several other cases. At five o'clock, the clinic was over and the members departed for home.

At the next meeting of the society, on Thursday evening, Dr. Pearson will be present to deliver a lecture on a subject that will be of interest to everyone present.

Wrestler Jokes

Minneapolis, Minn.—A very amusing sight took place at the University of Minnesota in a boxing meet, when a 195 pound wrestler came up against Kroll, 225 pound grappler. In the middle of the battle Kroll sat up, started picking his teeth, and grinned at the coach.

Urged To Banish Worry

Philadelphia, Pa.—Dr. Temple Fay, of the neuro-surgery department in the school of medicine of Temple university recently urged the students to banish worries. He branded anxiety an "enemy to health," declaring that they were due to ignorance of forces and circumstances which we do not fully comprehend.

Dr. Haas Discusses Commandments' Place In Modern Business

"Business Has No Right To Regard Men As Machines"

Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College, delivered the second of his series of four noonday lectures, before an attentive group of men in the Y. M. C. A., when he took as his subject. "The Ten Commandments and American Business Men."

Dr. Haas probed deeply into modern industrialism, and presented telling truths in regard to the relation of the Commandments to the success of business.

John Stermer was song leader, with Prof. H. R. Stermer, as pianist, Miss Ruth Wetzel gave a delightful alto solo. The invocation was offered by Rev. Leroy Fegley, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. William Katz, L. G. Heilman, presided.

Dr. Haas said:

"There is one high principle underneath all Commandments. It is the principle of love to God and to our fellow-men. On the basis of this law all life and every occupation is to be regulated. Now what is the relation of business to life? As far as business employs human beings it has no right to use them as machines and as a mere means of making money without regard to their health and their sound life.

"It is a wrong action when men, who employ large groups of laboring men, look at them purely from the angle of their earning power. When men cannot produce there are employers who think and act as though their obligation to their workmen had ceased. Apparently there is no genuine human interest present.

"It is not only in our contacts with others that the problems of the regard for the right of life must be considered, but the question also arises as to what we do with our own life in business. Has anyone endowed with the great gift of bodily life any right to commit slow suicide through the worries and burdens of hectic business? Men in our day and age become so engrossed in business, and they suffer themselves to be enslaved by speed and push, to the disregard of all laws of health.

"But life is not only bodily existence, for it is a larger thing than that. We must add to a real life the life of the mind. The question arises whether business and industry are encroaching upon the lives of men upon the rights of all men to such a growth of their minds as they are capable of. When men are employed week in and week out in handling some minute part of a machine what will be the result? There is a deadening effect upon any human being condemned to such a single operation for at least eight hours every day. Unless there are counter-acting opportunities of good leisure the end will be the degradation of the mind," Dr. Haas concluded.

Rev. Hine Is Speaker At Vesper Services

"Accumulated Faith" Is His Topic

Rev. C. C. Hine, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Catasauqua,, Pa., preached the sermon at the public Vesper service, February 7, 1932. The theme of his meditation was "Accumulative Faith."

"There is a difference between a faith which is merely a belief in the doctrines of your denomination, and a faith which is resourceful, efficient, and practical", said Rev. Hine. "For my text I have chosen the seventy-eighth Psalm, especially the twentieth verse, 'Behold, he smote the rock, so that waters gushed out, and streams overflowed; can he give bread also? Will he provide flesh for his people?'

"The Jews of Old and New Testament times were an extraordinary people, intellectual, eminently cultured for their advantages, sensitive to true culture, and possessed with a

Lutheran Students To Meet On College Campus This Week

Prominent Lutherans To Be Present

The Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel of Muhlenberg College has been selected as the meeting of the North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America to be held on February 19-21, 1932.

The goal for the convention has been set as "Achieving the Best." Discussion will center on Right Choices, Sources of Power, Unity of Front and Excellency of Knowledge.

Supper at 6:00 P. M., Friday, 19th will open the activities of the Conference. The affairs of the conference will continue over Saturday to be climaxed by the Holy Communion and installation of officers on Sunday morning. Dr. Samuel Trexler will preach the closing service at 10:00 A. M. Sunday morning.

Among the prominent people who will have charge of the convention are Dr. Samuel Trexler, President of the United Synod of New York; Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg College; Dr. William C. Schaeffer, Jr., Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, Pa.; Dr. John Raker, Director of the Good Shepherd Home, Allentown, Pa.; Dr. Edward Houseknecht, Professor of Music, State Teacher's College, West Chester, Pa.; Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman, Chaplain of Muhlenberg College; Miss Mildred Winston, Secretary Board of Education United Lutheran Church and Dr. Carol Harry, Secretary, Board of Education United Lutheran Church.

Insurance Is Topic At M. B. A. Meeting

New Officers Are Elected

The Muhlenberg Business Association held its regular meeting at the A. T. O. house on Monday evening, February 8th.

An election was held for new officers for the second semester. The following men were unanimously selected as new officers: President, Raymond Munsch; Vice President, Henry Lubsen; Secretary, Charles Evanosky; Treasurer, Howard Kaiser. Ray Munsch and Howard Kaiser were re-elected to their respective offices, while Lubsen succeeded Efron and Evanosky relieved Drach.

It was decided at this meeting that names of men eligible for membership would be placed in the hands of the Faculty and Membership Committee. Prospective Sophomores would now have a chance to become members providing they showed the desire and approached a certain standard which the Faculty and Membership Committee saw fit to set up.

Dr. Bowman extended to the organization an invitation by Mr. Koch of the Allen Laundry to visit the plant on Wednesday, February 17th. Outsiders to be invited by M. B. A. members.

Mr. Hartman mentioned the fact that he had secured the services of Captain Curtis of the Morning Call to speak at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Sallioch, who was the chief speaker of the meeting, gave an interesting and helpful talk on Life Insurance. He spoke on four outstanding types of insurance, which are:—Loss of job or Business Reverse, Credit, Old Age Emergency, and Emergency at time of death. He explained in detail just how policies were secured and under what conditions. Mr. Sallioch pointed out that the insurance was a safer form of investment than bonds.

After Mr. Sallioch's speech refreshments were served by Mr. Quick's aides.

Annual Mid-Term Initiation Held By Phi Alpha Theta

Geiger, Fetter, Garnet and Morrison Honored by History Fraternity

Charles Fetter, '32, Robert Geiger, '32, Richard Garnet, '33, and James Morrison, '33, were initiated into the Muhlenberg Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, Monday evening, at Hotel Shankweiler.

The ceremonies were performed immediately preceding the annual banquet of the fraternity.

Requirements for membership in Phi Alpha Theta are an average of "B plus" in History and an average of "B" in at least two-thirds of the remaining subjects carried by the students.

Officers of the local group are Howard Kaiser, President; Donald B. Hoffman, Vice President; and Alan Hawman, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer.

Faculty sponsors of the group are Dr Henry R. Mueller, Ph.D.; Dr. J. Edgar Swain, Ph.D. and Prof. Joseph Jackson, A.M.

Kappa Phi Kappa Initiates Ten At Formal Ceremonies

Leonard Utz, '19, Initiated As Alumni Member; Speaker At Banquet

The Muhlenberg chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa held its annual mid-term initiation Friday afternoon and evening in the Education rooms in the Administration Building. A banquet in the Commons followed the initiation ceremonies.

Students initiated were Paul Shover, 32, George Repp, '32, Harry Hersker, '32, Jerome Baer, '33, Ray K. Heist, Jr., '33, Mervin Frantz, '33, George Brong, '33, Edward Diehl, '33.

Leonard Utz, '19, was initiated as an alumni member. Mr. Utz also delivered the address of the evening using as his topic "New Modes of Education", in which he explained many of the new methods used in leading schools of the country.

Officers of the local group are Edward Barndt, President; Paul W. Doepper, Vice President; John C. Detweiler, Secretary and Sam Bortel, Jr., Treasurer.

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, Pd.D., and Dr. Carl W. Boyer, Ph.D. are the faculty sponsors of the Muhlenberg chapter.

First 'Berg-Bowdoin Debate Held Feb. 10

Heist, Richards, and Hock Represented Muhlenberg

For the first time a team representing Muhlenberg College participated in a debate with representatives from Bowdoin College, Maine. The debate held in the Assembly room of the college was non-decision contest.

The question used for debate was "Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle." Muhlenberg upheld the negative side.

The Bowdoin team was composed of John Smith, E. J. Tarbell and H. A. Davis. The regular Muhlenberg negative team composed of Ray K. Heist, Jr., '33, Henry M. M. Richards, '32 and Donald V. Hock, '32, represented 'Berg. Mr. Davis and Mr. Hock handled the rebuttals for their respective teams.

Ray Munsch, varsity debate manager, was chairman of the debate.

The next varsity contest will be held on February 26, when the Muhlenberg teams debate with Gettysburg in a dual contest. The Muhlenberg affirmative will be at home.

Washington Is Subject of Lecture Given By Dr. Mueller In Assembly

"Washington Was a Man, Not a Demi-God"

At the regular Thursday Assembly, on February 11, 1932, in the Science Auditorium, Dr. Henry M. Mueller, Ph.D., of the history department, delivered an address on George Washington. This address revealed many new and interesting sidelights on this figure, who is fast becoming legendary. Dr. Mueller pointed out that early views of Washington as expressed in biographies of his time, necessarily conflict with ours, as the method of writing biographies changes. Thus far some four hundred works have been written on the 'Father of Our Country,' with many views, both good and bad, both laudative and destructive. According to the majority, George Washington was a leader of men and a determiner of events. He must be measured by standards of his age and not ours.

He owned slaves because it was the custom, not merely his pleasure. In fact, Washington was a humitarian. Altho he attended horse races, cock fights, and bought lottery tickets, this does not detract from the man who conquered the English by an indomitable will in the face of severe, criticism. He even indulged in liquor, being what was termed a "one-bottle man". Slanderous, unaccepted scandal would place him on the list of the sexually irregular. He is not a demi-god, not to be understood, and he is not a moron, to be psychoanalized. He was a human, normal man, simply having the elements of greatness in him. We remember him, not for what he has thought, but for what he has done. He was, in other words, a doer, and not an evolver of ideas.

That luck was present in success can not de denied. But it was not purely luck. Chance presented an opportunity, and Washington had the ability to accept it. He was not a military genius, but showed flashes of brilliance at Trenton and at Yorktown. The Revolutionary war was won not by activity on the field of battle, but by the strengthening of the general morale of the people. Purity of patriotism, grim determination, and popular confidence swept him on to victory. If we were to remove Washington from the war, it would have been a fiasco. He was a leading figure at the Constitutional Convention, and it was a foregone conclusion that he would be the first President of the new republic.

In character, George Washington was a man of good intellectual ability; he came to a conclusion slowly, but once sure of being correct, could not be swerved. He exemplified unselfishness, and personified devoted courtesy. His purity of purpose filled his enemies with dismay and his friends with confidence. No country can boast of a national hero loftier in ideals than George Washington.

German Club Honors Lessig At Meeting

New Officers Are Elected

The regular bi-weekly meeting of Der Deutsche Verein, held on Monday evening, February 8, 1932 at 7:30 o'clock in the Commons, was designated as a Lessig program, in honor of the greatest German novelist, dramatist, and poet. A short business meeting preceding, saw the inauguration of a new set of officers. Those elected for the following semester are: President, John Keener; Vice President, Daniel Latshaw; Secretary, Wilson Hartzell; and, Treasurer, John Hollenbach.

During the course of the meeting, Dr. Barba, faculty adviser to the society, announced that he hoped to be able to present a group of sixty slides on the life of Goethe, through the courtesy of the German Tourist Information Office. The slides will deal with the life and work of the great lyricist and creator of the immortal Faust. The slides are to be shown at the next meeting which is to be held on February 29, Monday evening. The society extends a cordial welcome that is free of all monetary obligations to the students and faculty at large. The program will be not only interesting, but informative as well.

The business meeting was adjourned and the program of the evening was in order. Different Mitglieder elucidated on various phases of Lessig's existence, both real, and spiritual. Daniel Latshaw, Ralph Hartzell, Richard Klick, Richard Garnet, Wilson Hartzell, Jerome Baer, and Alton Rex took up the life, works and theology of Lessig.

An interesting discussion on the limits of sculpture and poetry arose when the Ladcoon group was introduced. Lessig's greatest works have been Nathan the Wise, and Minna von Barnhelm. The meeting was interspersed with the singing of favorite German songs. Upon the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served.

Pre-Med Organization Hears Dean Pearson

Hahnemann Medical School Head Delivers Interesting Lecture

The bi-weekly meeting of the Pre-Medical Society of Muhlenberg College, held on Thursday evening, February 11, at 7 o'clock, in the Science Building, was especially featured by the presence of Dr. Pearson, Dean of Hahneman Medical School, at which school the society was so courteously received in a recent visit. After a brief business meeting which was primarily concerned with the re-election of all officers, and the decision on a key as a designation of the Society, Dr. Pearson was presented as the speaker of the evening.

In an informal talk, the Dean elaborated upon the requirements, not only scholastically, but also spiritual, and monetary, needed to complete a medical education, saying that one should be qualified 100% in ability, and 100% in intangible attributes. There are three integral pre-requisites in obtaining a medical education : (1) Time, which is usually four years; (2) Ability, or both actual ability and its intangible accompaniment; (3) Money, which, altho the least important, still remains as a factor to be dealt with. As the average span of practice for a physician is nineteen and one-fifth years, he should have at least a thousand patients to pay for an education which is worth about $30,000.

First In Peace

I hope I shall possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, the character of an "honest man."—Washington.

It is popularly believed that George Washington, looking far into the future of the nation which he, by being "first in war," had started on its way, prescribed for it a lonely course. It should keep to itself, he is said to have said, and avoid having any part in the making or eating of any foreign pie, the kinds listed under the heading "entangling alliances" being particularly prescribed as indigestible. Washington was right for his day and age; but it was two hundred years ago this month that he was born, and he has been dead more than 130 years. When he said farewell, he could not foresee the day when time would be taken out of distance, and men ten thousand miles apart would converse as easily as across a room. Nor could he know that the miles between Mt. Vernon and Jefferson's home at Monticello were longer than a Lindbergh would find the way to Paris.

So we can't let Washington speak for us today; at least, not in those matters that involve the welfare of mankind. He spoke wisely when he warned against "entangling" alliances; our nation would do well to avoid all such. But there are other alliances—alliances that have as their sole object the enhancement of the good of man, adding to the sum of human happiness and security—and we believe that our first great leaders would approve of this. "First in peace," they say of him, which must mean that, great general though he was, he believed in peace and strove mightily for it. Indeed his recommendation of aloofness was that we might live in peace, and had not the world become so inextricably bound together that a tremor in any part shakes it everywhere—but no nation can possibly live to itself—this plan might still be followed. But we are in the world, a part of it. The strongest nation of them all, we can not refuse to play our part—though we must decide what our part is to be.

Just now we think all will agree that a big brother role would be very becoming for us. The family is very nearly bankrupt. Quarreling among themselves, its various units have piled up for themselves unbelievable aggregates of bitterness and hate, blood and tears, doubts and fears. They don't know how to level these things down, how to wipe out the suspicion that goes with hate, the revengefulness that feeds on sorrow, the paralysis that is bred by uncertainty. And then there are the mountains of actual debts—owed by the government, theoretically, but actually charged to you and me and men and women like us everywhere.

Peoples of the world family are conscious of all these things, and they are trying to find some way to reduce their present indebtedness and assure themselves that such a mess will never have to be liquidated again. we share—and share—the burden and the sorrow. Now we share the responsibility of finding a way to peace that all can follow—one that will become broader and safer as the world finds that investments in peace are more profitable than those in war. Our representatives at Geneva certainly know that we want peace, that we want to be relieved not only of the burdens but of the danger of war, that we want them to lead the world in advocating whatever means will assure these ends. If rapidly progressive disarmament is indicated as the cure for the ills of war—and many wise physicians are recommending it—let us have it prescribed immediately. By being willing to take the biggest dose of it, we may win for ourselves the encomium our first president's memory bears so proudly—First in Peace.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Officers of the Freshman Social Science Club for the second semester were elected at a meeting of the club held last Tuesday evening, February 9, 1932 in Room 104 of the administration building. Russel L. Krapf was elected president; William H. Henshaw, vice-president; and Rudolf Koster, secretary.

At the next meeting of the club on Tuesday evening, February 16, 1932 at 7 o'clock, the present draft of the constitution will be discussed. Plans will be formulated as to the means of enlarging the club and also the type of discussions desired. Dr. James E. Swain, faculty advisor of the club, has consented to give an address on the present Sino-Japanese situation sometime in the near future.

UNDERLYING FACTORS

When a Japanese army crosses Manchuria or when a Japanese fleet bombards Shanghai's forts, activity in the Foreign Office demonstrates once more the World's interests in the fat of China. What are the factors in that international interests?

On more than one occasion within the memory of the present generation the weakness of China has caused international complications of the most serious kind. One major war has been fought and others have threatened because of China's inability either to resist foreign pressure or to put her own house in order. When the Manchurian dynasty fell and the republic was proclaimed at the beginning of 1912, all the great powers felt that there was hope for better things. Far reaching reforms were inaugurated, and the leaders of the new China assured the world that they were going to make their country like other nations. She was to have a constitution, laws, courts, a national wide system of rail communications, a central authority effective in the provinces—every change, in short, that would be needed to render extraterritoriality and special privileges and leaseholds obsolete.

Twenty years have passed, during which the necessity of a stable and prosperous China has been more apparent than ever before. But the Chinese have spent those two decades fighting one another. Except in Manchuria, where the Japanese and Russians have tolerated the extension of the civil wars to their railway zones, China is on the verge of utter ruin. More than 2,000,000 are enrolled in armies whose only excuse for existence is the personal ambition and greed of rival war lords.

These armies receive nine-tenths of the country's revenue, and exact tribute in addition. They have disrupted the economic life of one of the world's greatest markets, and have made worthless pre-war foreign investments that should have been sound. The railroads are a striking illustration. Twice Japan has been impelled to intervene, in 1928 in Shantung and in 1931 in Manchuria, because of the operations of Chinese soldiers outside the control of the supposedly "central government."

At the beginning of 1932 one-fifth of the world's inhabitants live in untold misery and confusion because of these internecine struggles. The anarchy in China is a danger to the peace of the world that grows more real each year. And yet the chancelleries of Europe and America persist in upholding the fiction of a united China, under the control of a government at Nanking. They allow this government to speak in the name of the Chinese people, and profess to hold it responsible for events happening in a region over which it has never established administrative control.

Recently at Geneva, for instance, Japan and China were regarded as being two nations, members of the League, who had had a falling out with which the machinery and procedure of the League of Nations was competent to deal. Russia's opinion and co-operation were not sought in solving a problem in which her interest were more vital than those of the United States, Great Britain, France, or Germany. However, M. Briand was right in declaring that troubles in China were everybody's business. Europeans and Americans may well pay serious attention to the bearing which China's weakness and unrest have upon these four important problems in international affairs:

First, Russia's challenge to the existing social order.

Second, Japan's need of finding subsistence for her rapidly growing population.

Third, the hold of France, Great Britain, the United States and Holland upon their Far Eastern possessions.

Fourth, the world's economic recovery.

(Of these, the second will be treated in a separate paper).

I. China and Russia.

Nothing was more natural than Lenin's plan to strike at 'Occidental capitalism' through Russia's Asiatic neighbours, who were easy of access when propaganda elsewhere was difficult because of the world's hostility to the new Soviet regime. China especially had grievances, economic and social, as well as political, against the enemies of Russia. And the leaders of the Chinese Nationalist revolution were already preparing an economic approach to their offensive against the Occident before the rise of the Third International and bolshevism. What a promising field for Bolshevist propagandists to till! Dr. Sun Yat-Sen's appeal to Russia, the response of Moscow, the effectiveness of Russian aid in enabling the Canton revolutionaries to conquer Central China, is too notorious to tell. Two years after Sun's death the alliance with Russian Communists was broken. But both methods and objectives remained; and then there were the testament and writings of the founder, who, at Borodin's suggestion, had been defied by the Nationalists. Communists were killed or driven into exile, but the Moscow propaganda remained, pillorying the foreigners as the cause and holding up nationalism triumphant as the cure for the economic ills of China. And the Kuomingtan party remained, with its local, provincial and national councils after the Russian models. There remained also, the anti-religious bias of the Nationalist movement, and passion for mass education in pseudo-political economy.

III. Chinese Abroad

Many of the politicians and merchants of China, and certainly all the Chinese who emigrate, come from Kwantung Province, of which Canton is the capital. The Cantonese, who speak a language totally different from Mandarin, occupy a place whose importance is far beyond their numbers, in Indo-China, the Philippines, British Borneo, the Dutch East Indies, the Strait Settlement, and the Malay States. Chinese are a notable element in the population of Indo-China and they have their own city larger than her capital, Saigon. Chinese in the Philippines control the price of rice. In Dutch East Indies Chinese are more in evidence than in Malay in the business sections. They form one-third of the total population of British Malaya, where Singapore, Malacca and Penang might almost be called Chinese cities. It must be remembered that with all these countries China has had uninterrupted commercial relations since the Middle Ages, and those on the Asiatic mainland were vassals of the Celestial Empire for many hundreds of years.

From coolie to millionaire, the Cantonese living abroad are fanatically attached to their ancient culture and homeland. Since the rise of nationalism they have become the type of perverted patriots that are so often found among exiles. They supported Sun Yat-Sen through thick and thin, and to his three Principles they are devoted. It is easy to see how the existence of this alien element, rich and numerous in British, French, Dutch and American possessions, is a factor of unrest. They are working for the termination of European and American overlordship, and the elimination of Japanese and Occidental commerce by the building up of native industries and by trading with India.

Nervousness over the possible trend of events pre-occupies British colonial administrators. The disturbances in Buruma in 1930, renewed on a large scale in 1931, reflect more the unrest in the neighboring Chinese provinces of Szechwan and Yunan than the Indian independence agitation. In Malaya the stringent measures enacted against the Chinese Nationalist party, or Kuomingtang, during its early Canton days were revived in the Spring of 1930, despite the fact that the Kuomingtang had since become the administrative party of the Chinese Government recognized by Great Britain.

Chinese living abroad have full faith in the statement of Nationalists leaders who declare that China does not make better progress toward unification and tranquility because of foreign interference. The pressure of Japan and Russia in Manchuria, the International Settlement and French Concession at Shanghai, the foreign troops at Tientisin and the legation guards at Peiping, the warships of the powers in Chinese territorial waters, foreign factories, the jurisdiction of foreign course—these are the causes given by the Nationalists for Chinese weakness. And Chinese abroad do not see and feel the abuse of militarism and squabbles of politicians. They look at the flag waving over the country in which they are living and do not realize that it is a precious guarantee for them that their brethren in the Chinese Republic do not enjoy; the British, French, Dutch, American and Japanese flags are symbols of oppression in their eyes, and they see red.

IV. Economical Recovery

We may have been more interested in politics than economics in times past, but not now. The people of the United States are engaged in putting their house in order, after the rudest jolt in their experience, and they are thinking along lines their minds never followed before. You have become aware of the world's interdependence, and now you accept a thesis repugnant to your instincts a few years ago; that the United States cannot stand alone and prosper when the rest of the world is full of trouble. Will it? Well, look abroad for signs. To Europe—yes, and to Asia.

The Far Eastern market has interested you since the days of your Yankee clipper ships. New England used to have more to do with the Chinese than Europe did. The rapid development of your Pacific Coast, your transcontinental railways, and the Panama Canal brought China closer to you than to Europe. But until recently the expansion within your own border kept consuming capacity a little ahead of producing capacity, and absorbed your surplus capital. Now that has changed; you have agricultural products as well as manufactured articles and minerals and oil to sell in the world markets. It matters a lot to you how things are going with other nations than yourselves, and especially with China.

British and Japanese have suffered greatly by the disorganization of China since the establishment of the republic, and particularly since the

DEPTH SOUNDERS FOR AIRCRAFT

WITH the application of electricity to aircraft instruments, another chapter was written in the annals of air transportation. To-day's ship is not only swifter but safer and more dependable. Modern depth-sounding devices indicate instantly the height of the ship above the ground surface. A unique feature of General Electric's recently purchased monoplane is the almost completely electrified instrument panel.

The most recently developed instrument is the sonic altimeter, which provides a quick means of indicating changes in height above ground. Sound from an intermittently operated air whistle is directed downward. The echo is picked up in a receiving megaphone, and the sound is heard through a stethoscope. The elapsed time between the sound and the echo determines the height. Tests show that water, buildings, woods, etc., produce echoes that are different and characteristic.

Besides developing a complete system of aircraft instruments, college-trained General Electric engineers have pioneered in every electrical field—on land, on sea, and in the air.

Muhlenberg Basketball Team Continues Its Losing Streak

Defeated By Lafayette, Gettysburg And Albright

NIXON AND CARNEY HIGH SCORERS

The Lafayette College cage squad returning to action after a two weeks lay off defeated Muhlenberg in an up-hill battle by the score of 31 to 25. The game which was close and exciting, thrilled the large crowd of spectators who gathered in the Memorial gymnasium on the Lafayette campus in Easton, last Wednesday evening.

Coach Holstrom's boys took over a big lead at the start of the game when they surprised the audience by employing a fast passing attack up the side of the court. But when the Mules had a lead of 8 to 1 over their traditional rivals, the Leopards went to work. Thomas and Wermuth led the attack for Coach Lorenz' passers and the Leopards soon cut deeply into Muhlenberg's lead. Just before the period ended Anewalt tied the count at 14-all by sinking a field goal thru the meshes.

In the beginning of the second half both teams put up a fast battle and it was almost three minutes before Sullivan, of Lafayette, was able to break thru 'Berg's defense with the initial score of the period. Joe Matuska came right back with a foul, but Sullivan slipped thru with another field goal. Carney and Nixon both scored two-pointers for the Mules and 'Berg led at that time by the score of 19-18. Lafayette took time out, and when play was resumed, the Maroon and White spurted to take over a big lead which it retained to the end of the game.

Muhlenberg showed considerable improvement from the foul line. This was encouraging as the inablity of the Mules to make good on their free tries was the cause of several of their set-backs earlier in the season. Nixon and Sullivan were the leading scorers on their respective teams, each sinking in three field goals and three fouls.

Muhlenberg was disgracefully defeated by Albright College by the overwhelming score of 47 to 19 in a game played on the Reading Y. M. C. A. court last Saturday night before a large group of spectators who had assembled in the gym expecting a close, exciting game.

The Holstromites were in absolutely the worst form they have ever been so far in this most unfortunate season. They were lethargic in their floor work and wild in their shooting. At half time the 'Berg team left the floor with a 21 to 6 score against them.

Coach Holstrom's starting team was: Rosenberg, Weiner, O'Brien, Steckel, and Weiner. The Albright squad piled up an eight point lead with three field goals and four fouls, while Weiner sank a single field goal for the locals. The 'Berg varsity was sent in at this time, one man at a time at one minute intervals, but they were powerless to stop the speedy Albright attack, and unable to penetrate deeply enough into the Readingites' territory for accurate shooting.

The Muhlenberg varsity had no opportunity to practice shooting before the game, and showed it clearly in the manner in which they missed their shots from the charity stripe. Captain Haines, and Oslislo were the aces for the Albright squad, while Carney scored five of the seven Muhlenberg field goals.

Gettysburg Game

The Gettysburg Bullets shot out a 42-27 decision over the fading Muhlenberg five on Friday evening.

'Berg, as usual, started with a bang, scoring two field goals and a foul before the Bullets started firing. At half time, Holstrum's Basketeers players led, 12-10.

Amazed by such a lead, the Muhls faded away and were trailing at the end of the game by 15 points.

Nixon starred with 7 field goals and 2 fouls for a total of 16 points.

TWO OHIO COLLEGES SHOW GREATEST 10-YEAR GROWTH

Cincinnati, O.—Enrollment figures of 444 American institutions, compiled by Dean Raymond Walters, of Swarthmore College, revealed that of the three "fastest growing" large universities in the United States, two were Ohio institutions.

Dean Walters' survey, completed as of November 1, showed that in the last decade the University of Cincinnati, Western Reserve University of Cleveland, and the University of Minnesota had surpassed all other major universities in growth.

In grand total enrollment Western Reserve has increased slightly more than 200 per cent in the 10-year period, Minnesota 185 per cent, and Cincinnati nearly 150 per cent.

CALIFORNIA CO-EDS FIND "PERFECT MAN" IN TEXAS

Berkeley, Cal.—The "perfect man"—whose expenses University of California co-eds are willing to pay for the privilege of dating—has been found.

He is Edward N. Jones, of San Antonio, Tex., a sophomore in the Texas A. & M. College, according to information received by the girls here recently.

Jones, in a letter to university with the nom-de-plume "Charley C.," described himself as follows:

"I am not conceited. I have been told I am a very good dancer, because I seem to be musically inclined. I haven't a moustache, don't wear spats, and don't smoke. On the varsity swimming team. My hair is dark brown and waves as if it had a permanent in it; eyes a pretty brown, as I have been told."

Jones' real name was divulged through telegraphic communication, of "thrilled" Berkeley girls with co-eds at the Texas school.

Freshman Team Wins Two Games On Court

Yearlings Defeat Lafayette and Albright Frosh

Show Marked Improvement

In a game preliminary to the Muhlenberg-Lafayette Varsity tilt, last Wednesday evening in Easton, the Muhlenberg Freshman eked out a 28-27 victory over the Lafayette yearlings in an extra five minute period game.

The "Little Mules" got away to a good start in the first period and led at half-time, but the Maroon and White Frosh came back strong in the second half to tie the count at the end of the game, 26 to 26. George Saul, former Reading High school star, dropped a field goal thru the meshes about midway in the extra period and sewed up the game for the 'Berg yearlings, as all Lafayette could do was score one foul goal. When the final gun barked, the score was 28 to 27, in favor of the Cardinal and Gray, coached by Paul Weber.

Saul was the leading scorer of the evening, sinking in three field goals and three fouls for a total of nine points. Steinhardt was the best scorer for the Leopards.

Muhlenberg Frosh Game

The Muhlenberg Freshman squad earned a hard fought victory over the Albright Frosh by the score of 37 to 33 in a game played in the Reading Y. M. C. A. gym before the Albright-Muhlenberg varsity tussle last Saturday night.

Naratil was the star of the evening, going into the 'Berg lineup just after the start of the second quarter and piling up a total of six field goals. Lyson's aggressive play was also a feature. The Albright Frosh put on a spurt near the end of the game, but were unable to mow down the lead set up by Coach Weber's proteges.

Nationalist Army started out on its famous march northward a few years ago. Communication upset, the interior demoralized by civil war and brigandage, boycotts in the treaty ports—these factors in the Chinese markets have hurt British and Japanese traders more than they are willing to acknowledge.

And yourselves? Ask any American business man resident in China, or doing business with China. "This is a wonderful market," he will assure you, "and there is enough business for us all, which should go on multiplying. An industrious and teeming population to clothe and feed and furnish. But under present conditions the outlook is hopeless. China must have peace."

Every little bit helps, and when we consider that an untroubled China would be capable of absorbing a great deal of what we need to sell, the relation of the pacification and strengthening of China to the restoration of world-wide prosperity is evident. The establishment of a stable and peaceful China, which may prove hopeless if the theory of centralization is persisted in, would be a contructive task, beneficial alike to China and the rest of the world, especially to Japan.

George Washington

An Inspiration to American Youth

ADDRESS BEFORE THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

By Lt. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Associate Director, George Washington Bicentennial Commission
Columbus, Ohio, July 2, 1930

February 22, 1932, will be the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, who is associated in all our minds with the Act of Congress declaring him to have been "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." He stands forth, not only in his official life but in his personal character as a citizen, the outstanding international as well as national figure of his time, and an example for posterity. As a soldier he achieved victory for the cause of independence against great odds and in spite of innumerable and most discouraging difficulties and obstacles. Without his personal leadership and determination, independence could hardly have been achieved.

After the successful termination of the Revolution, he returned to private life and there continued his active career as a leading citizen, a successful and progressive farmer, and a property owner and man of business interested in all sorts of commercial enterprises, even interstate commerce. He soon realized the ineffectiveness and difficulties of the weak government established by the articles of confederation, and helped to bring together the Constitutional Convention in 1787. As President of this Convention he guided the various conflicting interests there represented to a compromise, which was given permanent form in the American Constitution and has been accepted as a model for popular governments ever since. It has been interesting to note that the same questions and differences of opinion arose in that Convention between the thirteen sovereign states which had just achieved their independence, as have since

Only three more games lost during the past week. The team just can't seem to "click".

The initiation period is in full swing (?) at the present time. (Classes should be postponed for the time being).

Wonder if we will get another bill for grass seed this year or for fire extinguishers?

Well, at least Washington did the students one good deed—Monday will be a holiday! Believe it or not.

Just a few more weeks and then the track season (physical education department in full charge) will open up. Judging from the number of cuts some students (?) have about fifty or more miles to run.

Almost two weeks has passed but we're still dreaming about that Junior Prom. Wonder why?

Judging by the actions of about 90% of the students attending the dance most of them are still living on the results of that night.

Even the faculty members present had a good (?) time.

Now that Sigma Lambda Pi has "went" and is henceforth to be known as Phi Epsilon Pi we must revise our fraternity slang. Formerly Phi Eps referred to the group that is now Theta Kappa Nu. But from now on Phi Eps means the group that was formerly Sigma Lambda Pi but is now Phi Epsilon Pi. Figure it our for yourself.

Did you hear the 'Berg-Bowdoin debate? If you didn't you missed one of the best debates of the season.

That boy Davis from Bowdoin sure was the prize speaker of the evening. The Muhlenberg debaters however were all tied for second place.

Too bad it wasn't a decision debate.

Well since no more dances at 'Berg are booked for a week or so maybe (?) (?) (?) the students will do some studying and maybe they won't. Right?

At least we're going to do some—not saying what tho. So long and don't study too hard!

Organize Water Polo Team

Minneopalis, Minn.—Water polo, the latest sport organized at the University of Minnesota, is fast becoming a popular sport. The spectators gaping wide-eyed at the new sport ventured too close to the pool and were promptly splashed. Despite the damp clothes, the game was accepted with acclaim and promises to be popular with those who are lucky enough to find room around the pool.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Wright entertained the seniors of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at their annual party given at Dr. Wright's home on Thursday evening, February 11.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Boyer recently moved from 2127 Liberty Street to a new home at 331 North Arch Street.

Rev. Robert R. Fritsch spoke at the Pre-Lenten Retreat of Lutheran Pastors of the Altoona Conference at Juniata, Tuesday, February 9.

Dr. Fritsch will be the speaker at the Lenten Services in the Church of the Redeemer on North 19th St., Thursday, February 18.

Dr. Harry H. Reichard, Dean Robert C. Horn, and Dr. George T. Ettinger accompanied the Classical Club to Lehigh University on Thursday, the 11th, where they were the guests of the Lehigh Classical Club.

Dean Robert C. Horn wrote a review in the "Lutheran" of January 28 on Ernest Cadman Colwell's "The Greek of the Fourth Gospel."

Dean Horn, as member of the Boy Scout Executive Committee, attended the Court of Honor Services in the Allentown High auditorium on Friday, February 12, at which Dr. Horn's son Edwin was advanced to the rank of Eagle Scout.

The results of the research work on molecular rays which Dr. Zartman completed sometime ago were published in a book recently published at Cambridge, England, by Frazer; they appeared also in the General Electric Review and the Review of Modern Physics.

Dr. and Mrs. Zartman have moved from 2343 Liberty Street to 325 North Arch Street.

Professor Stephen G. Simpson addressed the Junior Woman's Club of Catasauqua on "The Modern Novel" at the club rooms on Bridge Street, Tuesday, February 9.

Dr. Charles B. Bowman has been appointed for a term of four years to serve as a member of the Civil Service Board in connection with the Fire Department and the Health Inspection Department of Allentown.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA HAS REGULAR MEETING

Alpha chapter of A. K. A. met on Wednesday evening, January 27, at the T. U. O. fraternity house as the guests of Bros. Knauss, Thiede, Hock, Fetter, and Kriebel. During a brief business meeting, Prof. Stine acquainted the members with the fact that on Thursday evening, February 18, the Philosophical Society of the Lehigh Valley would meet in the seminar room of the library. The papers to be read are:

Prof. Stine—The Historical Basis of Oswald Spengler's "Decline of the West".

Prof. Hughes of Lehigh University, "The Cultural Law" of the same.

Prof. Prentiss of Lafayette College, "The Philosophical Implications" of the same.

Dr. Haas will be chairman. All the members of A. K. A. are cordially invited to attend.

The new edition of the "Philosoph", the fraternity's annual issue, was shown to those present. A copy will shortly be sent to each of the members of the various chapters.

Mr. Donald Steinhauer then led the group in the discussion of "The Nature of Knowledge," as set forth in the "Fundamentals of Philosophy." After a delightful luncheon was served by the hosts, the meeting adjourned.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, February 10, at the home of Bro. Stine.

GILTNER ELECTED LIFE PRES. OF SENIOR CLASS

At a meeting of the class of '32 held in the Assembly Room of the Administration Building, the life officers of the senior class were elected. The new officers, who took office immediately, were: President, Franklin Giltner; Vice-President, Charles A. Fetter; Secretary, Paul W. Doepper; and Treasurer, Richard Thiede.

The remainder of the meeting was concerned with the problem of caps and gowns and commencement invitations. A report was also given by the Senior Ball Committee. There will be another meeting called in the near future to settle all of the final matters concerning senior activities.

REV. HINE IS SPEAKER AT VESPER SERVICES

capacity for the spiritual and divine. But an unprejudiced inquiry shows us that these Jews had spiritual infirmities, too.

"Psalm 78 emphasizes their weakness, a lack of faith. The Jews had some faith, believing in the true God, the God of Israel, but they were extremely human and so were influenced by their environment. What they lacked in faith, were the practical, vital, and reservationless elements.

"This Psalm admits that God had been gracious but now there was a crisis, a famine. The Jews feel anxious and uncertain, saying, 'Can He help us, will He help us,' Indeed one might be angry and severe with the Jews if one didn't know himself and others as well as he does, how they and yourself are just as evil and in the same way," Rev. Hine stated.

"The Wisdom and Resourcefulness of God has preserved us so far, yet we are uncertain now. Some even say, 'We have been lucky in the past, what will happen now?' The fundamental failure of ours is that we haven't seen the Lord God's hand in our past success.

"Our belief which we have had was a vague, shallow faith so that although we have come through to the present successfully by faith, and thanking God, the next time we are in straits, less serious in nature too, we are more fearful than before. We must accumulate faith, gathering it from our past trials, always adding to our past store.

"For the past few months an idea about the economic depression has been deepening in my heart; preachers know just about as much about the causes and the probable termination of it as the experts do. Today men are more agitated than I think ever before, many great men even fear for our civilization. But I tell you these are not times worse than the Dark Ages, and the various, bloody Revolutionary periods.

"We came through the worst of situations in the past," Rev. Hine continued, "because of the domination of God's Will, Power, and Mind. If I had to rely today on selfish, bungling men, I also would tremble even for the whole world. But just as you find in your own life God's Control, so you can see that Control in the destinies of nations.

"The Church is on fire today. Is its power waning? Many members fear that such is the case, and every charge made against the Church is relatively true. Yet there is nothing new or revolutionary in the various attacks today. Christ's Church always gave power, however, to those who were susceptible to its influences. All because God is its security and salvation.

"Hell shall not prevail against the Church. And to help the world, the church, and the individual, I plead with you," concluded Rev. Hine, "that you acquire an accumulative faith."

The organ numbers by Dr. Marks were "Lento" by Diggle, "Priere a Notre-Dame" by Boellman, and "Scherzo in G Minor" by Blum. The Chapel Choir sang Gounod's "Praise Ye the Father". Dr. Haas, Rev. Stine, and Rev. Cressman helped in reading the service. The Preacher next Sunday will be the Rev. Otto F. Nolde, Ph.D., Professor of Religious Education in the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

DEVOTIONAL STUDIES CONTINUED

The Series of Devotional studies in the New Testament was continued last Thursday evening, Feb. 11, 1932 in the Bible Seminar room in the Library. Dr. Robert R. Fritsch very interestingly interpreted the first chapter of Saint Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians.

These discussions are proving to be of general interest to the Student Body, and especially to the Ministerial students since Dr. Fritsch makes many valuable and practicable suggestions as to the way the Bible may be read and also as to sermon themes. He will continue his interpretation of the Epistle to the Ephesians this Thursday evening, February 18, 1932. The meeting will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock. An added feature of these meetings is the question and answer period, in which Dr. Fritsch answers any Religious question which may be brought before him.

An Inspiration to American Youth

arisen at other council board where less successful efforts have been made at international confederation. We can but feel sure it was largely his personal influence and the high respect commanded by his views that made possible the happy solution found in 1787.

After the adoption of the Constitution he was again called to supreme command, this time to be installed as the first President of the United States. Here his political leadership was exerted so successfully and effectively that he was able to utilize the talents and political wisdom of men as mutually at variance and hostile as Alexander Hamilton, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, and to bring order out of chaos, organizing a new government on a sound political basis which has been able to endure the stress of circumstances and to prove adequate for a country which has increased from three and one-half million to one hundred and twenty million inhabitants and from a narrow fringe of struggling colonies along the Atlantic Coast to the richest and most successful Nation in the world.

After two terms as President, he insisted upon giving up the Chief Magistracy of the Country and returning to private life, the most respected citizen of the world, thus setting the example to his successors of unselfish public service and the administration of chief executive power without interest in its retention for personal aggrandizement.

His example has been an inspiration to patriots and to the friends of liberty and equality of political opportunity throughout the world. The forthcoming bicentennial of his birth gives us in America an opportunity to show whether we, too, have cherished the tradition of his achievements and have retained the respect for his high type of citizenship without which we cannot expect our democracy to continue the kind of a country he intended it should be.

This opportunity is one which must not be lost or passed by. If there are doubts as to our form of Government, and if there be any reason to the claim that our institutions today are out of sympathy with the tradition and principles of the Government he established, let us by a search of his writing and the expression of his thought determine whether this be so or not. Of course, with the very much more complicated inter-relation between individuals in society today and the enormous growth of population, much more complicated government administration and legal restrictions are necessary to solve our present problems than sufficed a century and a third ago, but we can well stop and look and listen with a view to determining whether political leadership today is inspired by the same wisdom and toleration and patriotism as made possible the compromises in the Constitution of the United States between bitterly conflicting interests.

No better way of dispelling discontent, of meeting the various ingenious but unsound political panaceas that are daily offered as cure-alls for our troubles, or of counteracting paid propaganda for the subversion of our Government, can be found than to fill our hearts and minds with the inspiration that may be derived from the political principles and practice of George Washington and the few other great men who collaborated with him in his great work. It is therefore with the firm conviction that this coming bicentennial year offers a special and rarely recurring occasion for the education of our Nation in the sound political and civic principles which will lift it to a higher moral plane and set it on its road safely for another two centuries, that I come to you on behalf of the United States Commission for the Celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington to ask your cooperation in making this celebration mean the most possible to the American people, and particularly to give it the full educational value it can have for our young citizens now being educated in the schools and colleges of the country.

While Congress has contributed generously to the commemoration of certain localities and events in Washington's life, by adopting the restoration of his birthplace at Wakefield as a national monument, by constructing a great memorial highway from his home at Mount Vernon to the National Capital City which he founded and which bears his name, and by entering upon a project for a great memorial park along the banks of the Potomac where he spent so much of his unoffcial life; the keynote of the educational and spiritual character of the celebration has been sounded by Congress's adopting as one of its chief features the publication of the complete works and writings of George Washington. This will make it possible to have in every library throughout the country and in every university the complete record of his wisdom and opinions for the help of all Americans in the future who will want to profit by what he learned in the school of hard experience.

With the desire to be helpful to the various state commissions and to the committees that will undoubtedly be established in all the cities and towns of our country to do honor to George Washington in 1932, the National Commission is assembling a great amount of information which it will be ready to issue soon. It is even going to the extent of arranging for the making of a moving picture of George Washington's Life, which may be used to tell his story and teach his example throughout the country. It is preparing a pamphlet containing interesting sidelights and significant facts about him, which, supplemental to the short histories readily available everywhere, will supply material for speeches and courses on his life. An atlas is being prepared, not only to reproduce many of the maps which he himself made when a young surveyor practicing his profession, but also to include maps showing places he visited and the scenes of his almost inconceivably

Looking The Campus O'er

It has been suggested by some Freshman that Muhlenberg secure, buy or steal, an Alma Mater song. Now we were under the impression that Muhlenberg already had a fine Alma Mater song. When informing the "Frosh" of this fact we were greeted with the answer that it was too dead. The college is open to any new songs and song writers for the dubious honor of a new Alma Mater. Maybe something of the type of the St. James Alma Mater—"St. James Infirmary Blues" would suit said Frosh.

Once again we have noticed several sleight-of-hand artists around the college. Every now and then something is found to be "lost, strayed or stolen." One of the funniest episodes in this occurred the other day in the locker room when a Sophomore reported to the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds that his locker had been rifled, whereupon the distinguished Super offered to sell the unfortunate student a "good" lock for only $2.00 . After a short argument the price was lowered to $1.50 but nothing was said about trying to recover the "lost, strayed or stolen" property.

Evidently the students at Muhlenberg are becoming more intelligent and industrious each year. Reason for this assertion—this year even with a very high, strict, marking system fewer Freshmen flunked and fewer upper classmen were placed on probation.

Muhlenberg may see the installation of a new honorary fraternity on its campus very soon. According to all reports the Muhlenberg Classical Club has petitioned Eta Sigma Pi, a large and powerful honorary classical fraternity. Their petition is actively supported by the Lehigh chapter.

Rumors having been flying thick and fast lately concerning a new campaign to be conducted by the College. This time the goal is an up to date gymnasium. The sooner this is brought about, the better.

But what many students overlook is the fact that as each new building is added a definite amount should be added to the endowment fund to cover the cost of the upkeep of these buildings.

The best faculty attendance the entire year at an assembly program was noticed this last Thursday when Dr. Mueller gave his interesting lecture. Fourteen of the faculty were present, which just goes to prove the students old contention that if the program is interesting (as was the last one) the faculty will attend but if it is not interesting or deeply educational the faculty does not attend. Therefore for the benefit of the faculty the College should provide interesting assembly programs.

Of course the students always attend the educational programs as well as the interesting ones. This is only because of their sincere desire and eagerness for knowledge and not because a compulsory chapel attendance rule is in effect.

Incidentally the average faculty attendance is about .250 while the average student attendance is about .310. These statistics are the result of a monumental piece of work being done by those in charge of the chapel and assembly programs.

Traffic Regulations

Madison, Wis.—Faculty members comparable in numbers to student violators, have been reported for violations in the new strict enforcement program of the university traffic rules, according to Albert F. Gallistel, superintendent of the department of buildings and grounds of Wisconsin State university.

the "Immutable Laws of Human Relationships."

The explanations which have been clearly, concisely, yet instructively presented by Dr. Haas appear in three successive installments of "The Lutheran." The installment comprising the first three commandments in which the "Duties to God" are considered appeared in "The Lutheran" of January 7, 1932. The fourth, fifth and sixth commandments in which the "Duties to Man" are considered appeared in the January 14, 1932 issue of "The Lutheran" while the last four commandments, also considering the "Duties to Man", are printed in the January 21, 1932 issue of the official church paper.

PRE-MED ORGANIZATION HEARS DEAN PEARSON

Dr. Pearson next delved into a few of the many well known phenomena of chemistry. First, however, the Dean, who is head of the Hahnemann Chemistry Department, stated that chemistry is the basis of our present medical knowledge. He introduced the fact that our bodies, computed in their worth purely from a chemical standpoint, are worth 98 cents a piece. This was, however, before the depression. Another idea was one introducing a contradiction to the accepted cell theory of Schleiden and Swan, that all structures are not dependent actually upon the single cell, but upon the protein molecule present in that cell. He next touched on human circulation and haemoglobin. Here he pointed out that one cubic centimeter contains one thousand cubic millimeters, and elucidated on the millions of erythrocytes, or red blood corpuscles present in the blood, and that 12,000,000 of these are produced every second in the body.

After the address, all the members presents and the other gests, among whom were Dr. Brandes, Dr. Keller, Professor Miller, Dr. Haas, a physician who previously addressed the club on Obstetrics, Dr. Zartman, and Dr. Klopp, head of the State Hospital, repaired to the Commons to enjoy a splendid repast.

GERMAN CLUB HONORS LESSIG AT MEETING

Mr. Jerome Baer, who was in charge of the program, gave a synopsis of "Nathan der weise" and introduced the following speakers: Daniel Latshaw, sketch of Lessig's life; Richard Klick, short synopsis of "The Laocoon"; Ralph Hartzell, Lessig's views on theology; Wilson Hartzell, synopsis of Lessig's Wolfenbuttel period.

Advantages derived from the disability type of safety were amply illustrated by specific examples, disabled people receiving income for the rest of their lives.

That more people are investing their money in these companies because of the financial stability, of the same, was clearly shown by facts and figures.

Most interesting of the cases exhibited, concerning the use of insurance money, was that of two students, who for lack of funds, were for a time deprived of their education. That is, until a certain business man bought insurance for them, with the agreement that at their death he would be the beneficiary. In the meantime he advanced a sum which met their needs.

At the conclusion of the engaging talk, an open forum was held, the speaker answering all questions.

MUHLENBERG CLASSICAL CLUB VISITS LEHIGH

The Classical Club visited the Eta Sigma Phi of Lehigh University in a joint meeting on Thursday evening, February 11, 1932. The meeting was held at the home of Dr. Minget of the Lehigh University faculty.

The evening was very entertaining as Dr. Holland, head of the Fine Arts department of Lehigh gave a lecture with slides on the question "Is Classic Painting really Classic?" The question was not answered, but justified from all angles, the members deciding ing for themselves.

From the Muhlenberg Club the following members were present: Faculty: Dr. Ettinger, Dr. Horn, Dr. Reichard. Members: Richard Klick, Franklin Gehr, Wilmer Wolf, Rudolf Novak, Harry Dunlap, Alfred Mattes, Martin Ruoss.

Refreshments were served in keeping with the season.

Scholar's Duty Outlined

Columbus, Ohio—"Unless a scholar can search and tell the world what he discovers, it would be well that the university perish from the earth," was the statement made by Professor Miller, who was removed from the sociology department of Ohio State university last year because he attacked military drill and upheld several liberal causes.

"I was afraid Grandfather would be Shocked ..

"HE'S rather a bossy old darling, and I didn't know how he'd like the idea of my smoking.

"The first time I lit a Chesterfield in front of him, he sniffed like an old war-horse...and I braced myself for trouble. But all he said was, 'That's good tobacco, Chickabiddy.'

"You know Grandfather raised tobacco in his younger days, so he knows what's what. I don't, of course —but I do know that Chesterfields are milder. It's wonderful to be able to smoke whenever you want, with no fear you'll smoke too many.

"And it doesn't take a tobacco expert to prove that Chesterfield tobaccos are better. They taste better... that's proof enough. Never too sweet. No matter when I smoke them... or how many I smoke... they always taste exactly right.

"They must be absolutely pure... even to the paper which doesn't taste at all. In fact... as the ads say... 'They Satisfy!'"

Who's Who on the Campus

Charles T. Fritsch
Non-Fraternity

"Charlie" is one of the few non-fraternity men to make a name for himself on the Muhlenberg campus.

Coming to 'Berg from Allentown High School with a high honor rating, Charlie piled into the strenuous A.B. course and began to prove that once in awhile certain professors actually handed out "A" grades.

In his Junior year "Chas." was manager of the first Muhlenberg tennis team ever to win a match. That year the team won three and lost three.

At present Charlie is secretary of the Classical Club and Secretary of Alpha Kappa Alpha, national honorary philosophical fraternity.

In addition he guards the finances of the German Club and harmonizes on the Chapel Choir and tooted the French horn in the Band.

In all probability the "angel farm" will claim "Charlie" and the best wishes of his classmates and many friends at Muhlenberg will go with him.

varied activities. The Associate Directors are engaged in an effort to produce the text and full instructions for a pageant which can be used, wholly or in part, in any city or town or school in which such a visualization of Washington's deeds and time will help to impress his personality upon the American public and help our citizens of today to do honor to the Father of Our Country.

It has been definitely decided that the character of this celebration should be educational and spiritual, that it should be participated in by all the people of the country in their own home suroundings and by their own efforts. It is not considered an appropriate occasion for an exposition showing the progress in inventions, industries and commerce, nor for any other concentrated effort in any one place or which has commercial significance. It is rather the occasion for an appreciation of what George Washington did, and what he tried to do, and of the greatness of heart and greatness of mind which enabled him to do so much, and for deriving from these the inspiration and courage which we need to carry on our daily tasks which equal steadiness of purpose.

For the children and young people there must be particular interest and hope in the ability of a man to rise by sheer strength of character, civic virtue, consideration for the needs and views of others, and good common sense to the leadership of his country and an exalted international recognition; and it would appear to me that there can be no better way of persuading the citizens of tomorrow of the general soundness of our institutions and of the possibilities before them for a useful life full of satisfactory achievement, than to place clearly before them and bring them to visualize the full life and great personality of George Washington, in all its phases, so that they may profit by a sense of companionship with him and instictively emulate his character and methods.

Evidently this purpose cannot be achieved except through the collaboration and active support of the schools and universities throughout the country. To do this we must humanize him. We must think of him as the very human person illustrated by the few portraits made in early manhood and before false teeth had stretched his upper lip in rigidity and artifically given his mouth that unsympathetic look of inflexibility which we have come to know from the pictures in general circulation. A man of strong oassions held under control by stronger mental powers, interested in all sorts of outdoor activities and in sympathy with the problems of his neighbors and community, he had a keen sense of humor and generous affections, while always studying to be just to all and open minded to every suggestion. Such he was and remained at heart, even after the reticence and dignity requisite of one in high office forced him to restrain his natural impetuosity and enthusiasms.

It is hard to feel on familiar terms with a demi-god or to think of the Washington in the Stuart paintings as a human being beset with the same impulses and difficulties which constitute our personal problems today. Only by appreciating the daily obstacles he had to over come, the venomous and treacherous personal attacks made on him, the chaotic political conditions amid which he had to find and formulate a sound basis for orderly government, the private interests which demanded and always received his careful thought and attention, that we can realize how great a man he really was and draw hope and inspiration for ourselves. By humanizing him I do not mean to drag in the disproven scandals as certain of our recent fiction writers have done when they undertook to write history. Careful research shows how untrue these accusations are. The truth does honor to the great and the brighter light that shines on his record the greater he appears.

Teach your pupils to know and admire George Washington, to carry his example and companionship in their hearts, and the country's destinies will be safe in the hands of the next generation.

FOOTBALL SUCCESS AMAZING

Knoxville, Tenn.—A part of the four year success of the undefeated University of Tennessee Vols was brought out strikingly in four of its games this year, during which time only 15 yards in penalties were assessed against them, five each for offside in three games, and in the fourth, none at all.

Keep a Regular
TELEPHONE
Date with Home

HERE'S A TIP for Freshman! Now you're at college, you can always "go home by telephone." Regularly, or whenever you like, give Mother and Dad a call.

Tonight, for instance, pay them a "voice visit." Tell them how you're settling down. What a thrill they'll have to hear your voice—and maybe you won't enjoy it, too!

But, best of all, arrange to call home each week. That's a joy they'll look forward to as much as you.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, the charges can be reversed!

Student Body Hears Eminent Sculptor And Lecturer On Thursday Morning

Dr. R. Tait McKenzie Discusses "The Athlete in Sculptor"

On Thursday morning, February 17, during the regular assembly period, Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, M.D., LL.D., eminent sculptor and lecturer on sculpture was introduced, giving as the topic of his lecture, "The Athlete in Sculpture." A few introductory remarks were made by Dr. Haas, and then Dr. McKenzie took the platform, speaking for a few minutes before slides were thrown on the wall, illustrating his further remarks. He said, during his discourse, that interest in athletics is greater at present than at any other time during the world's history, and that the athlete has always been an inspiration to sculptors. Dr. McKenzie went on to describe wall paintings of ancient Egypt which show wrestling and games of ball in 3000 B. C. He stressed the athletic art of Greece, and then brought to light modern contributions to athletic art, for instance, the crouching start, and hurdling, which is quite modern in its origin. The slides illustrated such graceful arts as the throwing of the discus, both ancient and modern, the hammer throw, boxing, wrestling, and skating. Among the numerous slides were many of Dr. McKenzie's own creations of art, among which was the ultra-modern presentation of a football team in action, as depicted in a very fine frieze.

Radio Debate With U. of P. Scheduled

Hock and Hoffman To Represent Muhlenberg in First Radio Contest

A feature radio debate between Muhlenberg and the University of Pennsylvania will be held Friday, March 11th, from 3:30 to 4:00 o'clock over WCAU, Philadelphia.

Donald V. Hock '32 and Donald B. Hoffman '32, will represent Muhlenberg in this debate.

The question will be "Resolved: That This House Favors a System of Free Trade Between Nations." Muhlenberg will uphold the negative side.

The fact that Muhlenberg has been placed on the debate schedule of the University of Pennsylvania indicates the splendid record of the college during the past three years.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY LEADS DISCUSSION HOUR

Second in Series of Open Forum Hours

John H. Diefenderfer, District Attorney of Lehigh County, led the second in the series of open forum discussions sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau on Wednesday, February seventeenth. Mr. Diefenderfer gave a short talk on "Criminal Court Procedure" in which he outlined the steps from the committment of a crime to the jury verdict. He pointed out how the defendant in all cases has every possible chance to affirm his innocence and how there must be conclusive proof as the part of the prosecution before a verdict of guilty will be returned. The speaker also presented some of the sociological aspects of juvenile delinquency.

After Mr. Diefenderfer's presentation a period was devoted to an open discussion on current legal questions.

This was the second in the series entitled "Modern Day Problems."

Dr. Henry R. Mueller was the speaker at the February meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Muhlenberg College held last Tuesday afternoon, February 23, in St. John's Lutheran Church school auditorium.

Pre-Med Society Plans Worth-While Programs

Lecturer and Moving Pictures Booked by Group

Muhlenberg's Pre-medical Society—one of the newest and most progressive organizations on the campus will, in keeping with its plans to prepare its members for their future professions, present as a speaker on Thursday, Feb. 25th, Dr. Fred Haas, of Allentown, who will lecture on "Homeopathy".

On March 10th, the showing of a moving picture will be sponsored by the group and the student body will be invited to attend. The picture will be entitled "Deferred Payment" and will deal with the modern treatment of social diseases—one of the great problems of the day. It will be of value to every college man and the Pred-med Society is to be commended for its efforts.

The officers of this progressive group are: President, Richard C. Thiede; Vice President, Charles P. Sell; Secretary, J. Woodrow Savacool; Treasurer, LeRoy M. Moyer.

Frosh Debate Squad To Meet H. S. Group

'Berg Alumnus Coach At South Whitehal

The Muhlenberg Freshman Debate Squad will hold a dual debate with South Whitehall Township High School on Thursday, Feb. 25th. The negative 'Berg team composed of Robert Kerstetter, Ralph Keeport, Brokhoff, with Ray Brennan as alternate will journey to the S. W. T. High School in the afternoon, and debate in the assembly at that place.

The S. W. H. S. Coach, is Mr. Frederick S. Meckley, Muhlenberg alumnus of the class of '30. The judge of the contest will be Miss Ethel Kramer, Teacher of elocution.

At 8:00 P. M. on the same day the Muhlenberg affirmative team will compete against the S. W. H. S. negative team in the Assembly Room of the "Ad" Building.

The members composing this team are John Yerger, Bernard Frank, Russel Krapf, and Robert Laubach, alternate.

The question for debate is Resolved: "That Pennsylvania Enact Legislation Providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance".

The Muhlenberg Team is coached by Donald V. Hock, Freshman Debate coach.

DR. BARBA TO GIVE LECTURE ON GOETHE

Deutscher Verein Invites Student Body

The first of a series of events to be presented by Muhlenberg's German Club in commemoration of the two-hundredth anniversary of the death of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe will occur on the evening of February 29, 1932, when Dr. Preston A. Barba will give an illustrated lecture on the life of Goethe.

The student body is cordially invited to attend this lecture which will be interspersed with the showing of slides dealing with the happenings in the life of this great German writer.

All members of the Verein are especially urged to be present because of the values to be derived from the program and the fact that the latter part of the evening will be given over to club meeting.

At a later date a motion picture concerning the romantic life of Goethe will be be shown.

Interesting Sermon Given By Dr. Haas In Wednesday Series

Enlightening Answers To Student Problems

"Why can An Educated Man Still Believe There is a Devil?" was the topic of the assembly sermon given by Dr. J. A. W. Haas on Wednesday, February 17th.

This question was another of those submitted by the students for discussion:

Dr. Haas opened his lecture with the statement that the belief of the devil has been cast aside ofttimes because it does not seem to fit in with the change of ideas. The idea of a devil goes hand in hand with people's idea of sin. Evil in the speaker's opinion is increasing fast.

To prove the existence of a devil Dr. Haas explained that just as there is an attitude of goodness in the good man and that just as there is an intimate personality in which goodness must dwell, just so there is an ultimate personality in which the evil proceeding in mankind must be existent.

"To do evil man must deliberately set himself against God and to deny the devil is to deny one to own salvation," said Dr. Haas. To further substantiate the statements, Christ was referred to as dealing with the devil as a personality.

The argument in favor of the evil one's existence was, that since suggestions of good come to us and suggestions of evil come to us, there must be an ultimate personality directing them. A very convincing argument in favor of religion is that if evil is superhuman we need superhuman protection.

John H. K. Miller, '32 Elected President Of Lutheran Conference

High Honor Confered on Muhlenberg Student

Opening on Saturday morning, February 20th, the representatives of the North Atlantic region of the Lutheran Students Association held a fitting inaugural service in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel under the guidance of Mr. Charles Cooper, a student of Mt. Airy Theological Seminary.

Following the service Dr. Trexler, president of the United Synod of New York, addressed the assembly on "Sources of Power" which he said were derived from nature, musical inspiration, study of the old masters, and especially from Biblical literature.

As a result of the business session John Miller '32 won wide recognition and distinction by his election to the office of president. Other officers elected include Carl Bredenberg, University of Buffalo, vice-president; Helen Pfatteicher, University of Pennsylvania, secretary, and Isabell Runk, Lebanon Valley, treasurer.

The affairs of the day concluded with preparatory services for the Holy Communion in the memorial chapel in charge of Rev. Robert Gerhart, D.D., and Dr. Samuel Trexler, delivered the sermon, "Units of Front" which elicited the approval of the audience.

The climax of the conference occurred Sunday morning, when after a question-box round table discussion and business session, Communion was held and the elected officers installed. The concluding sermon of the conference was preached by Dr. Samuel Trexler, on "The Excelling of Knowledge."

Dr. Harry H. Reichard gave a reading, "The Kutztown Mail," last Saturday evening, February 20th, in the Reformed Church at Fogelsville. It preceded the play "Neighbors" by the Parents' class of Salem Reformed Church, Allentown.

Debate Teams To Meet G'Burg Friday Night

Mancke and Hoffman Debate At Home; Richards and Hock At Gettysburg

This Friday evening, February 26, the Muhlenberg varsity debate squad will resume action when they oppose teams from Gettysburg in a dual contest.

A new system of debating known as the Oregon system will be used. This system calls for a cross-examination of the first speaker of each team by the second speaker of the teams. This system is largely used in the West and is just making its appearance in the East.

The teams to represent Muhlenberg will be Donald B. Mancke '32, and Donald B. Hoffman '32, captain on the affirmative team and Henry M. M. Richards '32 and Donald V. Hock '32, captain on the negative team.

Hoffman and Hock will handle the presentation speeches while Mancke and Richards will do the cross-examining.

The negative team will travel to Gettysburg.

Next week a team representing West Virginia University will debate the Muhlenberg affirmative in the Assembly Room. The 'Berg team will be composed of Morton Silverman '34, Donald B. Mancke '32 and Donald B. Hoffman '32, captain.

Thursday evening a dual debate with Temple University will feature. The Muhlenberg negative team composed of Ray K. Heist, Jr., '33, Henry M. M. Richards '32 and Donald V. Hock '32, captain, will debate at home while the affirmative team will oppose Temple at Philadelphia.

The question to be used in all these debates is, "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle."

Coach Holstrom Approves New Football Rules

Many Valuable Assets in the Changes Made

The new football rules adopted in order to make the game safer for the player, have been closely studied by George R. Holstrom, head mentor of the Muhlenberg College grid squad, and he strongly believes them worthwhile.

"I think it will bring about a radical change in coaching systems," declared Holstrom in an interview after the National Football Rules committee had announced the changes last Tuesday," and I believe the mounting toll of accidents will be greatly reduced."

"Take the elimination of the flying wedge interference on the kickoff. It was this kind of a play that killed Cadet Sheridan, of the Army. Instead of the ball carrier waiting for his wedge to form, it will create faster open field running, and a man to

The election in the Freshman Class resulted in Louis Marquet, President; Alfred F. Smith, Vice President; Norman Miles, Secretary.

Warren S. Smith '33 Wins Annual Play Writing Contest

Bernard Frank And Donald Hock Also Receive Honors

The first of the proposed annual play writing contests was won by the play, "Intermission", written and directed by Warren S. Smith, '33. Second prize was given to Bernard Frank's "A Wise Freshman and a Law of Relativity." "Greek Letters" by Donald V. Hock received honorable mention.

Five plays in all were staged during the contest of Wednesday evening, February 17th, which was held under the direction of the new dramatic society, "Mask and Dagger."

"Intermission" was developed around a scene at a Senior ball which took place at a country club. The action of the play concerned the problem of the eternal triangle in connection with the two most popoular concepts of the features of college life—drink and dances. The leading character, Curley, is an habitual drunkard. Both he and one of his fraternity brothers are in love with the same girl, Georgie, who slightly favors Curley although she is finally led to believe that he is nothing but a despicable "tank" and not the splendid hero who takes to alcohol because of disillusion. As Curley lies in a drunken stupor, he dreams of his departure from the farm to college, and he decides to reform with the help of Georgie. However, he suddenly finds that Georgie has become engaged to his fraternity brother. Once again he returns to his flask and cynically laughs at life.

"A Wise Freshman and a Law of Relativity" depicted the manner in which an erudite freshman patched up a childish quarrel between his room-mate and the latter's cousin, whom the freshman believed he loved immensely.

Mr. Hock's play drew a comparison between the college social lion and the man who came to college to study. The comparison found a number of points to admire in each of the two types.

The acting of John Gosztonyi, as the freshman in Mr. Frank's play and the performance of John Hemmerly as Curley in "Intermission" were easily the best of the contest.

The judges were Mr. John Kohl, Mr. Lantz and Mr. Sotter. The entire contest was under the direction of Mr. William C. Coder, faculty adviser of "Mask and Dagger." The music interludes were supplied by C. Steve Fisher and his orchestra.

LEHIGH VALLEY PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB MEETS AT MUHLENBERG FEB. 18

Members Present From Allentown, Bethlehem, and Easton

The Bible Seminar room of the Muhlenberg College library was the scene of the meeting of the Lehigh Valley Philosophical club last Thursday evening, February 18th, College professors from Muhlenberg, Lehigh and Lafayette were the speakers.

The subject of the meeting was the philosophical import of Oswald Spengler's "The Decline of the West." Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College, presided.

Two original papers were presented to the large gathering of students of philosophy from Bethlehem, Easton and Allentown. The first, "The Factual Basis for Spengler's Seggregation of Historical Data," was offered by Rev. Russell W. Stine, professor of philosophy at Muhlenberg. The second paper was presented by Dr. Percy Hughes, professor of philosophy at Lehigh University, and was based on "The Truth of Spengler's law of Cultural Rise and Decline." Dr. Harold R. Chidsey, of Lafayette College, led the group in an open forum discussion for the two papers and the subject at large.

T. U. O. MOTHER'S CLUB MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Special Program and Dinner Features Celebration

Celebrating their second anniversary the members of the Mothers' Club and their sons gathered together in the T. U. O. fraternity house on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 21st, at a fellowship dinner.

The guests of the occasion were Mrs. Preston A. Barba and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain, both of whom presented interesting talks to the gathering. Mrs. Preston A. Barba spoke on her student days at the University of Berlin and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain spoke on the subject "Have the Mothers Faith in Their Sons?"

Following the dinner members of the various classes welcomed the mothers and offered congratulations for their splendid work in behalf of the members. They were Homer Knauss in behalf of the Senior class, Wilmer Wolf in behalf of the Junior class and Herman Kroos in behalf of the Sophomore class. Mr. Keeport represented the pledge group.

Mr. Donald V. Hock, '32, acted as toastmaster with Ray O. Bachman, '33, in charge of the affair.

Managing Editor, this issue, EDWARD G. DIEHL

Allentown, Pa., February 23, 1932

George Washington, 1732-1932

Two hundred years ago this month occurred the birth of George Washington. Reflection upon his life and character will be a wholesome experience for all Americans. He embodied some qualities that we moderns seriously lack. Among these desirable traits was an inward poise and self-possession sadly needed in these feverish days of confused activity.

Any study of the numerous portraits of Washington leave upon one an impression of profound inward calm. Behind those strong immobile features there was deep repose. On rare occasions and under severe provocations the inner fires of his nature burst into furious flame, but these exceptional outbursts only prove the strength of his usual mastery of himself.

His quiet calm is particularly apparent during the critical period following the Revolution. Had it not been for Washington's firm leadership in welding the new nation together it is quite possible that divisive forces would have triumphed. How truly the best opinion of the country recognized the need of his resourceful personality is evidenced by the unanimity with which he was called to public life.

There followed trying times when foes at home and abroad threatened to wreck the delicate fabric of the new government. Bitter party controversies sprang into existence almost at once. Those who were enthusiasts for democracy and eager to preserve the power of individual state were suspicious of others who wished to centralize authority in the federal government. These two points of view headed up in the two outstanding members of Washington's first cabinet—Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton—both strong men. Their differences and those of their adherents were bridged over in the commanding poise of the first president.

He loomed above all the petty controversy of those troubled years like a lofty summit around which the storms rage ineffectually. His dignity and composure gave a permanent character to the office which he was the first to hold and held in check the passions and prejudices of his countrymen.

Chapel Hill, N. C.—The grades for the mid-term at the University of North Carolina show that nearly a third of the students are dangerously near the failure.

Looking The Campus O'er

"The King is Dead!" "Long Live the King!" The mighty king of the billiard tables located in the "Rec" Hall has at least been dethroned. Bill Nixon, erstwhile king of Muhlenberg billiardists was overthrown the other day, by a sturdy, young, revolutionist by the name of Stan Carney. It is rumored that ex-king Nixon is planning a coup to reinstate himself as the rightful ruler of the billiard tables claiming that Carney caught him when his bodyguard was out for the afternoon.

It has been suggested by myriads of motorists and students that an attempt be made to fix the road leading onto the Muhlenberg campus from Liberty street. No worthier cause could be espoused than a movement to have this stone pile changed into a decent road. For the last three years we have noticed the number of broken springs, flat tires, and other incidental mishaps on this short stretch of road-way. We are almost convinced that the person in charge of this piece of work is in league with the local garage owners to help the "business depression" along by keeping the road in its present terrible condition. Maybe a group of energetic students can convince the authorities that a really desirable piece of improvement on the local campus should be accomplished if this road-way would be improved. Here's hopin'.

The first annual one-act play writing contest which was sponsored this year by the Dramatic organization sure was a roaring success. Everyone was well pleased with the results and only hope that they will be replayed in the near future. With all these budding geniuses on the campus maybe a book entitled "Muhlenberg at Play" or some such title can be produced to be a companion book to the "Muhlenberg Meditations" a first volume of verse. Nothing like going in for the publishing of books to advertise our dear old Alma Mater.

And now the Ladies' Auxiliary of Muhlenberg College has heard of the fine speech made by Dr. Mueller in the Assembly period last Thursday and has secured him as their speaker for their meeting this month. We understand however that the speech has been changed somewhat to meet the new conditions and environment.

We haven't heard the last of our illustrious "Dr." Roth who gave us such a delightful lecture last year on "Alaska". Many of you will remember the interesting, instructive and altogether pleasing lecture which this so-called explorer delivered to a full house. The latest news was that he had been booked to speak before a high school up at Williamsport but that a Muhlenberg graduate who loyally subscribed to the illustrious "Muhlenberg Weekly" remembered the write-up which featured Dr. Roth's address on the local campus last year. After negotiating with "Haps" Benfer a copy of the Weekly for that issue was forwarded to Williamsport with the result that the "Weekly" has won its birth in the Hall of Fame because it was responsible for the cancelling of that lecture. Incidentally the high school authorities ought to be willing to repay the Weekly in some small way for this splendid service.

Did you ever know that Duke University gave an M.D. degree for a course in chiropractic treatments? We didn't either until last year when "Dr." Roth informed us of the fact. How many other pleasant reminiscence do you have of that lecture? We could go on and on but then—oh well come around during office hours and we will be only too glad to oblige you with some of the most hair-raising wonderful tales of Alaska, all of which we picked up from the lecture by Dr. Roth.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. and Mrs. John A. W. Haas had as their guest at a tea last Wednesday afternoon the Baroness Nostitz von Hindenburg, niece of the President of Germany, who was in Allentown to attend the performance of "Aida" in the Lyric Theatre last Wednesday evening. During her visit here she inspected the Muhlenberg College campus.

Dr. Preston A. Barba met the Baroness when she arrived and presided at a dinner in her honor at the Americus Hotel, prior to the opera.

'Berg's Basketeers Defeat Ursinus And Lose To Drexel Institute

High Hopes of Monday Fall With Friday's Defeat

Coach George Holstrom's Muhlenberg College basketeers for the first time this season emerged victorious in an Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League game when they defeated a fighting Ursinus College quintet by a score of 31 to 29 in an up-hill battle on the Raub Junior High School court last Monday evening.

The opponents started off with a rush, sinking in fouls and field goals at will, until they led the Mules 14 to 4. An increased offensive on the part of the Cardinal and Grays, especially from the foul line, just before the half, ended with Ursinus leading only 19 to 12 when the first gun barked.

The Mules gradually crawled ahead, using a more accurate passing attack and following up most of their shots, until they knotted the score at 23 all. Then the Holstrom-coached outfit moved ahead 26 to 23, only to see the Bears again knot the count at 29 to 29, after Horine had sunk a foul and "Reds" Weiner had dropped a field goal through the meshes from about mid-floor. Bill Nixon decided the issue by a beautiful field goal from the side of the court.

'Berg continued its improved work from the foul line and the team worked together beautifully after a weak start. Nixon, with four field goals and five fouls for a total of thirteen points, led Muhlenberg in scoring as well as being high individual scorer for the night. The work of Rosenberg also shone out for Muhlenberg. The speedy Sophomore played his usual fast game and was instrumental in breaking up many of the passes of the opposition.

Last Monday's contest was "Reds" Weiner's first varsity appearance on the home court and he made a very impressive showing. Horine and Carney played their regular steady game. Lodge, Ursinus guard, played the best game for the visitors.

The lineups and summary:

Muhlenberg	F.G.	F.	Pts.

Muhlenberg gained a firmer hold on the cellar championship of the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball League by losing to the Drexel dragons by a 33-29 score in a game played at Philadelphia last Saturday night.

The Mules, who won their first league game from Ursinus earlier in the week, played bang-up ball during the first half, at the conclusion of which they were on the long end of a 17 to 14 score.

As the second half opened, however, Drexel went to work in earnest and soon caught up to and then passed the Mules, to go on to victory.

Nixon, Judt and O'Brien shared the Muhlenberg scoring honors, each of this trio racking up eight points. Nixon with three baskets and two fouls to his credit, and Judt and O'Brien each with four field goals. For Drexel, Rublitz, rangy center, was high scorer with six double-deckers and two fouls for a total of fourteen points.

The lineup:

Muhlenberg	Fd.	Fl.	Pts.

Yale Will Not Send Team To Lake Placid

New Haven, Conn.—Yale's hockey team will not be represented on the American Olympic sextet at Lake Placid, altho three of its members have been offered places on the Olympic squad.

It was learned today that Capt. Johnny Muhlefelde, Dunbar Bostwick and Stewart Inglehart had declined the invitation, presumably because of a warning from university officials that prolonged absence from classes might jeopardize their scholastic standing.

COACH HOLSTROM APPROVES NEW FOOTBALL RULES

man defense instead of crashing through by sheer weight of numbers.

"The abolition of the use of hands, wrists or elbows on the head, face or neck of the opposing player is also a move which has merit. There have been teams guilty of deliberately trying to disfigure the opposing players by smashing them in the face at every opportunity. It will still leave the opponents' shoulder and hip which can be used to turn him back and it will mean that the players will have to spruce up on their work in the line. It will be harder for the lighter linemen, but if they buckle down, they can do effective work.

"The liberalization of the substitute rules should have been done years ago. We can now pull a man out in the first quarter and use him in the second, instead of waiting until the last half. Heretofore, coaches were forced to send in young fellows from the bench who were not properly warmed up, and they proved easy victims to injuries. It means now that the good men, who know how to play the game, will be in there for longer periods than was the case before, and that the less experienced men will not be exposed to danger for such long periods as they used to be.

"The elimination of the flying block and the flying tackle means a revolutionary change in coaching. One system believes in a blocker launching himself at the opponent. Another, like the Notre Dame system, believes in shoulder blocking, or eliminating the opponents for a bare second, until the play goes past him. The flying block and the flying tackle were both mighty dangerous, and caused more injuries than anything else. But it will be hard for the officials to differentiate on this rule, especially in close cases.

"Declaring the ball dead when any part of the carrier's body other than his hands or feet touch the ground is another good rule. This practice of a player crawling when the official is slow on the whistle naturally brings about a piling up. If he won't stop, then the opposing player has a right to stop him, and they usually come down with their knees. Now that piling will be unnecessary, especially if the official keeps his eyes open and puts the ball back to the spot where the carrier's body touched the ground.

"Finally, the change of equipment is satisfactory. It is not necessary to win games by using hard shoulder pads, pointed headguards, and unyielding pads. They can be made of softer substances, be just as effective and eliminate many injuries."

Who's Who on the Campus

Donald B. Mancke
Non-Fraternity

Two years ago Don came to our campus as a transfer from Moravian College in Bethlehem, in which city he makes his home. Although a late arrival in the class of 1932, Don wasted no time in making himself one of its outstanding members and leaders. His scholastic attainments have been quite commendable and his success in extra-curricular activites has recently been climaxed by his pledging to Omicron Delta Kappa, a fraternity which recognizes unusual ability as a leader.

Don's chief accomplishments here at 'Berg have been in the field of oratory. His efforts have been instrumental in producing winning debate teams during the last three years. His ability in this line has been recognized by his election to Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensical society, an honor which few attain. The outstanding accomplishment of Don's college career was the winning of the state Intercollegiate Oratorical Union contest last year.

In addition to these, Don claims membership in the college choir, the Masque and Dagger club, of which he is president, and Alpha Kappa Alpha, the national honorary philosophical fraternity.

Of Don's private affairs we know very little, but from his personality we can imagine that he makes the hearts of many fair Bethlehemites palpitate.

By choice Don is not a member of any social fraternity, but his happy-go-lucky attitude, his cheerful smile, and his inimitable sense of humor make him well liked by everyone on the campus.

Dr. Frederick Haas Is Guest Speaker Of Pre-Med. Group

Speaks on History of Homeopathy in America

The regular scheduled meeting of the Pre-medical Society, held on Thursday evening, February 25, in the Science building, was featured by the presence of Dr. Fred Haas of Allentown, who lectured on Homeopathy. Dr. Haas made his second appearance as a speaker before the society. On his previous visit, he spoke on his specialized work in the medical profession, namely, obstetrics. Dr. Haas gave a very interesting account of the history of Homeopathy, and its basic principles. In connection with the historical detail, he read a clipping from a local newspaper, concerning the founding of the first Homeopathic School of America, in Allentown. That school was located at the place where the present school administration building now stands. The doctor went on to relate the story of its organization by three men, and the culmination of their efforts, in the establishment of the Hahnemann School of Medicine, in Philadelphia. Following this address, an open forum was held, during which Dr. Haas answered whatever questions were asked.

Preceding this was a short business meeting, during which the plans of the society for the remainder of the year, were divulged. This will include visits to both the x-ray department of the Allentown Hospital and, the State Hospital. On March 10, a very interesting motion picture on venereal diseases will be shown. It is called deferred payment, and will be shown in story form. The students are invited to see the presentation of the pictures. Charles Sell, Vice President of the society, took a flashlight picture of the members. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, March 10.

Dr. Michael M. Dorizas Will Be Speaker In Thursday Assembly

"Java, Bali and Sumatra" Topic For Illustrated Lecture

"Java, Bali and Sumatra" will be the topic of the lecture to be delivered by Dr. Michael M. Dorizas on the program for Thursday's assembly.

Dr. Dorizas upon being asked what part of the world impressed him most replied:

"Bali, Isle of the Gods, in the Dutch East Indies, east of Java. It is the only island in the Malay Archipelago where all the people are Hindus. I was impressed by the remarkable physique of the people, their strong bodies and erect carriage."

Dr. Dorizas was born in Constantinople and was graduated from Robert Colege, Constantinople with the degree of A. B. when he was just seventeen. At the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Dorizas obtained his Ph.D. degree. During the Great War he served in the American Army.

Experience is Wide

Dr. Dorizas who is now a professor of geography at the University of Pennsylvania, has been fulfilling this position since the war.

His extensive traveling under all kinds of conditions has hardened and rounded him out with an education such as few persons are fortunate to possess. Dr. Dorizas has been three times around the world and can discuss any country suggested by his audience.

Dr. Dorizas' athletic record is as brilliant as his scholastic. At the age of eighteen he won the world's record

Muhlenberg College To Limit Future Sport Scholarships

Committee Appointed To Revise Present Plans

Muhlenberg college is heartily in accord with the recently published ruling of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary schools which forbids the awarding of athletic scholarships by its members to students at the various colleges.

According to a communication recently received by Dr. John A. W. Haas, President of Muhlenberg, a duplicate of which was sent to all colleges which are members of the association, beginning with September, 1933, any institution which grants athletic scholarships to men merely for playing on their various teams will be dropped from the approved list of colleges.

The board of trustees of the college at its last meeting, appointed a committee to review the whole matter of scholarships and to reduce or eliminate entirely the aid given to athletes. On this committee were Dr. John A. W. Haas, Rev. A. C. R. Keiter and Attorney James Henninger.

In a statement, Dr. Haas said: "It is very gratifying to Muhlenberg college, which contemplated changing aid to athletes, to have such a general rule sent out to all colleges. If such a notice had not been sent Muhlenberg College would nevertheless have gone ahead with the same policy.

"No college has given as much aid to poor students for many years as Muhlenberg College. It not only aided athletes, but many other students who were in want and needed help. It therefore did not discriminate in favor of one group. But now a movement has been begun by members of the faculty and alumni to create a Student Loan Fund. The college found that the giving of aid for which there was no return did not increase the gratitude of those who were helped."

The Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary schools includes all of the leading recognized colleges in the Middle Atlantic States.

FROSH DEBATE TEAM WINS DUAL DEBATE

Easily Defeats South Whitehall High School Squad

The Freshman debating team scored a double victory over the South Whitehall High School squad before the largest audiences which ever witnessed a Muhlenberg debate.

The question debated was: Resolved, That Pennsylvania enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance. Muhlenberg represented the negative side of the question at South Whitehall, but took the opposite viewpoint at Muhlenberg.

The Muhlenberg team at South Whitehall was composed of Ralph Keeport, Robert Kerstetter, and John Brokhoff. Ray Brennan acted as alternate. The South Whitehall team was composed of: Morton Meyer, Paul Haas, and Anna Moyer.

Supporting the negative side of the argument, the Muhlenberg team of John Yerger, Russell Krapf and Bernard Frank easily defeated the South Whitehall team, composed of Myrtle Minnich, Clara Kramer, Douglas Mertz and Charlotte Trexler.

The judges at Muhlenberg were: Mr. Durbin E. Woodring, Miss Laura Bechtel, and Miss Marion Hoats.

Rev. Russell W. Stine recently completed a six weeks' lecture course in the New Testament for the Christian Workers Training School of the local Y. M. C. A.

Dr. John A. W. Haas Speaker At Special Washington Program

"He Lived A Real Religious Life On Basis of Own Conviction"

"George Washington was not influenced. He lived a religious life on the basis of his own convictions!"

Such was the conclusion reached by Dr. John A. W. Haas in an address on the religion of George Washington before the student body on Wednesday morning, February 24th in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

To reach such a conclusion the Dr. obtained the true information from historical sources, since other sources of information ofttimes are fallacious.

In the life of Washington one thing particularly stands out. He was a religious man in an unreligious age. The movement of cynicism and atheism through the influence of Voltaire and Paine had gained a very great foothold upon the people of Washington's age and had even permeated the college life of that day. However, Washington was not influenced by this atmosphere of doubt. He lived a religious life on the basis of his own conviction.

Thereupon the statement was substantiated by reference to several of Washington's letters to his friends. In his farewell address Washington declared that "religion and morality are the supports of Civilization," and he doubted that morality could exist without religion.

As to his denomination Washington was a Protestant-Episcopal, but he was tolerant of other religious sects, as his attending a German religious service at York and Catholic churches elsewhere in the course of his journey indicate. Noteworthy however, is his scrupulous attendance at church in the days when the church was almost an afternoon's journey from his home.

Coupled with tolerance and steadfastness there is yet another quality of Washington's that meets our attention, and that is his faith in Providence in those trying days at Valley Forge. Washington's faith bore him up as only a religious man's would.

In concluding his address Dr. Haas declared that justice, humanity, right and God are the true fundamentals of religion and a country with such qualities stands aligned with God.

"Bugenhagen" Subject Of Talk By Dr. Mattes

First of Series of Lectures on Chapel Windows

On Thursday morning, February 25, Reverend Dr. J. Mattes, of Scranton, Pennsylvania, delivered the first in a series of biographical addresses on the men represented on the windows of the chapel, in the chapel during the regular service. The subject of his address was Bugenhagen, whose likeness is situated on the second window of the chapel.

Johannes Bugenhagen was born at Wallen, on the mouth of the Oder, on June 24, 1495. He was reared in a pious Christian atmosphere, receiving a thorough training in music. He entered the University in 1502, where he acquired his adeptness of linguistic endeavors, and was nicknamed "Grammaticus". Bugenhagen was blessed with a strong physique, tact, and graciousness. The young student was later appointed head of a high school, which flourished very much under his regime. In his time Latin was universally known, enough Greek was known to read Plato and Hebrew enough to translate the Old Testament. In 1508, he became a priest, and was appointed an elector to educate ignorant monks. The next step in his career saw him at Wittenburg where he publicly expounded the Psalms. The great church builder was married on October 13, 1532. Here it was that he carried on a war with Zwingli and his followers. Even tho he lost two sons in two weeks, he accepted a call to Brunswick. Here he provided teachers for instruction, begging was eliminated, hospitals were provided, and instruction in music was given. The origin of the public school system probably was located here during this very, religious reformation of the sixteenth century. The great teacher next went to Hamburg where he united several parties and provided a church order similar to that of Brunswick. After another short period in Brunswick, Bugenhagen was called to regulate the church of Denmark. Here he became a close friend of the king. He refused to accept a Bishopric, only after an intense siege of argument. On February 22, 1546, he had the sad duty of preaching the funeral sermon for his great friend, Martin Luther, the leader of the Protestant Reformation. It was then that the storm broke. The city of Wittenburg was besieged and finally taken without bloodshed by Charles V, who was overawed by the pious belief of these revolting people. At midnight, on the 19th of April, 1558, Johannes Bugenhaben, builder of churches, and leader of religious thought, passed on to his eternal reward.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA HOLDS CREST NIGHT

Prospective Members Take Part in Discussions

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Alpha Chapter of A. K. A. was held Wednesday evening, February 24, at the home of Prof. Stine. The fraternity was glad to welcome nine visitors to the meeting, whose standards in philosophy and kindred subjects have made them eligible for membership in A. K. A. They were: Martin Ruoss, Ray Bachman, Alfred Mattes, John Hedrick, Massa Himeno, Charles Preston, Carl Harper, Herbert Frankfort, Christian Schenk.

Mr. Thiede, the president of the Alpha Chapter, led the group in the discussion of "The Criteria of Knowledge." After the lengthy discussion many of the visitors realized they didn't know as much as they thought they did. However, they were all favorably impressed with the meeting. After delightful refreshments were served, the meeting adjourned.

Varsity Debate Squad Wins Dual Contest With Gettysburg

Both 'Berg Teams Win By Unanimous Decision

Using the Oregon system of cross examination the Muhlenberg varsity debate team completely overwhelmed the Gettysburg teams in a dual contest. Both Muhlenberg teams won by 3-0 decisions.

The Muhlenberg affirmative team composed of Donald B. Hoffman, '32, captain, and Donald B. Mancke, '32, debated at Muhlenberg. They were opposed by Lauri Anderson, captain, and Charles Wolfe from Gettysburg.

Kenneth H. Koch, '32, presided as chairman. The judges were Miss Christine Hoch, Mr. David A. Miller and Mr. Russel Bachman.

The Muhlenberg negative team which traveled to Gettysburg was composed of Donald V. Hock, '32, captain, and Ray K. Heist, Jr., '32. Raymond Munsch, '32, manager, accompanied the team.

The Gettysburg team was composed of Richard Wals and Howard Kline. Professor W. F. Schaefer served as chairman at Gettysburg.

This system of debate calls for a fifteen minute presentation speech by the first speakers of both sides. A ten minute cross examination of the first speakers of both sides by the second speakers follow. Then a five minute summary of the case of both sides concludes the debate.

This dual win by the squad brings its total to four victories and one defeat. The team has also won eleven out of fifteen possible judges decisions.

This week a single debate with West Virginia University and a dual with Temple will feature.

"Not Yours, But You" Vesper Sermon Theme

Rev. Allen Benner, D.D., Guest Speaker At Services

With the theme "Not Yours, But You" Rev. Allen Benner, D.D., Pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Lancaster, preached at the public Vesper service, February 28, 1932. "I repeat from Paul's second letter to the Corinthians, the twelfth chapter and the fourteenth verse, these words," Dr. Benner said, "as my text, 'I seek not yours, but you.'

"There is a vast difference between what is yours and yourself, more than we suspect at first thought. If we ask ourselves who we are, our answer will help us to get this distinction so necessary for our discussion this afternoon.

"You are not your name. It was not so long ago that names meant much more than they do now. There was a type of name which indicated an attitude toward life, perhaps a philosophy of life, e.g. Prudence, Patience. Bible names used to be more familiar than they are, Amos, David, and Moses were once rather common.

"And there was also a class of names which represented one's religious life, like Faith, Hope, Grace, and even a phrase-name like Fight-the-good-fight. But you are not your name, nor are you your ancestry. Admittedly your ancestors through their lives have much to do in influencing your conduct, however, every generation fights its own battle. Character can rise above its sources through the power of God, the second birth.

"Neither are you your surroundings," continued Dr. Benner, "many a Christian can tell a story of a changed life after he left his old environment. Now each one of us has a body, it is the tool of our personality, and we all have a mind, too, but neither our body nor our mind in the final analysis represents us.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS PLAN ORGANIZATION

Will Follow in Paths of Many Colleges

Under the direction of Reverend Stine, Reverend Cressman and Dr. Fritsch, a new Lutheran Students Association has been inaugurated. The new group will frame a constitution under the direction of their faculty advisers and will decide more definitely upon organization at their next meeting.

The first meeting which was held on Wednesday evening accomplished the fundamentals of organization. The meeting was addressed by Dr. C. P. Harry of Norristown, who suggested various methods of organization which other colleges have used.

At a meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, national professional education fraternity, held in the education rooms of the Administration Building on Thursday evening, February 25, 1932, the following men were initiated:

Brent Findon, '32; William Horine, '33; Edward Judt, '33; William Nixon, '33.

This initiation was a sequel to the one held two weeks before, and was conducted by the president of the group, Edward Barndt; faculty sponsors, Wright and Boyer; and alumnus member, Jacks, of Allentown.

Stirring Washington Address Given By Dr. John A. W. Haas

Muhlenberg President Speaker At All-Allentown Celebration on February 22

To one of the largest audiences ever to attend a Washington celebration at the Allentown High School, Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College delivered an address on George Washington, on Monday evening, February 22nd.

Delving into the private life of the great American national hero, Dr. Haas convincingly pointed out that while Washington played cards, drank liquor, and danced he always did so in moderation so that no one could ever cast any reflections upon himself. He led the ordinary social life of his day, as a member of an aristocratic family.

In reference to the love affairs of Washington, the speaker remarked upon Washington's perseverence in capturing a bride, despite several setbacks due to unreciprocated love. Incidentally Washington was said to have a large fortune before he met and married Martha Custis.

Washington also displayed himself as a great man by his attitude toward education. It is a little known fact that Washington educated youths and sent them to American universities and that he contributed a large sum of money to Liberty Academy, which later became Washington and Lee University.

The move made by the Association of College and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland in abolishing athletic scholarships is creating quite a bit of comment.

The move has met with a great deal of approval from the local Administration and Student Body.

The plan as presented does not prohibit scholarships for high grades in the secondary schools, nor alumni aids, student loan funds or the like but is merely designed to abolish the promiscuous handing out of athletic scholarships, primarily to nearly every person available. The advisability of this move cannot and need not be questioned.

Lehigh adopted this plan several years ago and has had satisfactory results. Other colleges will likewise.

This move will eliminate the person of poor scholastic ability and the person who is a detriment to whatever group he is in. In turn a higher and better type of individual will enter the colleges.

The idea is but one of many which are to be utilized to deprofessionalize college football and other sports. Haverford has used this system for years with splendid results. Muhlenberg can and will do likewise.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Three cheers—'Berg won a basketball game. The team sure played a fine brand of ball.

Only two months and a half more of school this year.

Then some more students will join the ranks of the unemployed.

But the profs are sure taking one dandy parting crack at most of the Seniors.

Just ask them how many term papers they have to turn in—then run.

The debate team is still winning its contests.

By the way, the team that travelled to G'burg was termed a group of "vodvil" actors by the coach of the G'burg squad. Still they won.

Only 3 more gym classes—hot dawg.

Looking The Campus O'er

The Senior Class finally proved that there were some few brains in the class when they voted to give $200 to the Student Fund Loan as a class memorial. No better use could be found for the money.

"Haps" Benfer is working on a special advertising booklet for prospective students. At present it sure looks dandy and should prove of great aid in securing new students.

Some time ask "Haps" to read his original drafts of the material for the booklet. If you don't have a good time listening to the flights of oratory indulged by the "Rev." you never will. Try it and be convinced.

After the Lenten Annual College Ball, sponsored by "Haps" Benfer will be held in the Social Room of the Library. The date for this affair has not been set as yet but will be announced shortly.

Everyone had a good (?) time last year at this dance and should have another one this year. We intend to.

And then there is the Annual Student Body Dance to look forward to. Only about three months away but plans are already moving forward for this event.

LITTLE 'BERG SQUAD TO MEET EMAUS HIGH

Will Engage in Dual Contest March 7th

The Muhlenberg Freshman Debate team will meet Emaus High School Debate team on Monday, March 7th in a dual debate. The Muhlenberg negative team composed of Ray Brennan, Alton Clauser, and John Brokhoff, Ralph Keeport and Robert Kerstetter will debate the Emaus affirmative in the Assembly room of the "Ad" Building at 8:00 P. M. The 'Berg affirmative group will engage the Emaus negative team at 2:30 P. M. in the Emaus High assembly room. The affirmative team is composed of John Yerger, Bernard Frank, Russell Krapf, and Robert Laubach.

The question for debate is: Resolved, That Pennsylvania Enact Legislation Providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance.

"NOT YOURS, BUT YOU" VESPER SERMON THEME

"Our bodies are temples of God and therefore should not be abused but rather cared for, piety is not to be connected with a sick body. And the mind is the citadel of efficiency, our schools emphasize both mind and body now. Since the body is the servant of the mind, we aim for a sound mind in a sound body. Schools have this aim and welcome those willing to work for the purpose.

"Dear friends, you are souls. That fact is what counts and makes you different from the rest of God's creation. You were made for two worlds, you are given an extra sense, a spiritual sense which culminates in faith. Therefore, I admonish you to have your spirit dominate your body and mind, keep the body in subjection and take care not to hamper the spirit.

"Jesus called a man a fool", said Dr. Benner, "because he had been extravagant, taken with the world and forgetful of God. The moral quality of a man depends on his faith. The question is, do we love self better than Jesus, or not? There is an army of indifferent people today who are satisfied, but I say, we would be more like Him if we loved our Church more and worshipped faithfully.

"Many young men at college take their four years as a religious holiday, and forget God. Professor William Lyon Phelps said recently, 'Better a religion with a college education, than a college education without religion.' Come in spirit with Jesus to the noble.

"'All things are yours and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's, Paul said, yet the world is full of sorrow and crime. It means that He must be served so that men will glorify Him. Become a living picture of Jesus by welcoming the spirit of Him and becoming like Him.

"The soul needs training to do the right when it is alone," said Dr. Benner, "and a preparation to help his fellowman. Relight our lamps, and as Paul says, 'Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, what soever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.'

"You, my friends, need God and Jesus and Calvary; you have a body and a mind and are a soul, therefore, have a sound mind in a sound body, dominated by a sound soul. Then let the highest things be in mind." Thus Dr. Benner exhorted the congregation.

The organ selections of the afternoon were Mendelssohn's "Sonata, No. 2", the Grave and Adagio; Grey's "Allegretto Pastorale" and Loud's "Dominus Regnavit". The Chapel Choir, which Dr. Marks directed and also accompanied, sang "An Evening" by Protheroe. Dr. Haas, Rev. Cressman, and Rev. Stine read the service. The Preacher on March 6 will be the Rev. Henry H. Bagger, President of the Pittsburgh Synod.

FACULTY NOTES

Outstanding among the recommendations for the raising of the standards for the provisional and permanent teachers requirements is the plan, requiring a year of internship for all teachers before they are granted a provisional certificate. This plank in the platform which was presented to the Association of Liberal Arts colleges in session at Harrisburg last Friday, February 19th, was the contribution of Dr. Isaac Miles Wright, a member of the committee appointed to formulate the new standards requested by Dr. James N. Ruhe, state superintendent of public instruction.

'Berg Loses To Ursinus; Overwhelms Drexel Dragons

LOSE HARD GAME TO BEARS 33-29

Carney, Horine and Judt Are High Scorers

The Muhlenberg basketball squad continued its determined drive for possession of the league cellar-championship by losing to Ursinus by a 33 to 29 score in a game played at Collegeville last Wednesday night.

The score board at half-time showed the Holstromites to be trailing along on the skinny side of a 29 to 16 score. In the second period, however, the Cardinal and Gray team came back with a strong offensive only to be checked when "Polly" Breisch, speedy Ursinus forward, tallied four points to sew up the game for the home team.

Horine, Carney, and Judt turned in the best performances for the Mules, while Breisch and Lodge, each with eleven points to their credit, carried off the scoring honors for the Ursinus Bears.

The lineup:

PLAYED SPECTACULAR GAME AGAINST DREXEL

Carney, and O'Brien Lead Scoring for Mules

The Cardinal and Grey quintet surprised 'Berg followers by taking the measure of Drexel, 32-22, in a league game played on Saturday in the Raub gymnasium.

Led by Nixon, O'Brien, and Carney, the locals led at half time, 15-6. At the start of the second half the Philadelphia collegians spurted and crept up to within four points of the Holstrom five. With the score at 22-18, the 'Berg men put on pressure and built up a comfortable lead which they maintained until the final whistle. O'Brien and Carney scored nine points apiece to lead the locals in scoring, and Bublitz of Drexel scored four field goals and eight fouls to lead the scoring for the evening.

Play description:

After a minute of play Bublitz, Drexel center, opened the scoring for the evening with a double decker. He followed this with a foul shot to place the visitors in a lead of 3-0. After several minutes of play during which neither team was able to score, Nixon sent a beautiful one-handed push shot ripping through the cords to score 'Berg's first points. Horine was fouled by Eckelmeyer, but his try from the foul line fell short. Carney made good one of his two attempts from the charity line to knot the score at 3-3. Horine's foul shot placed 'Berg in a 4-3 lead. O'Brien followed with a beautiful over-head shot from the side of the floor. With the Mules in a 6-3 lead, Drexel took time out to find a suitable offense for 'Berg's bewildering offense. At the resumption of play Nixon fouled Wallace who missed his try for the free point. Horine, former Reading High star, placed the locals in a five point lead with his field goal from the side of the floor. Eckelmeyer, Drexel guard, fouled Judt, who missed his foul shot. Rosenberg, sophomore guard was sent into the game at this stage in Judt's place. Drexel made two substitutions, Reynolds and Cook. Johnson fouled Horine, who annexed the charity shot to place Holstrom's basketeers in a 9-3 advantage. Carney took the ball off the bankboard and sent the leather through the meshes to leave Drexel far behind, 11-3. Nixon sent the score mounting higher by taking a pass from O'Brien to tally. Johnson made good a foul shot to place the score at 13-4. Johnson pushed Horine, who missed his foul try. Crammer was sent into the game for the visitors. Drexel at this stage of the game made numerous substitutions in an effort to stem the rush of the cellar champions. Rosenberg, former DeWitt Clinton star, fouled Reynolds, who made a pitiful attempt to shoot a foul. Bublitz, Drexel star, tallied to cut the Muhlenberg lead to seven points, 13-6. Wiener, the red-headed guard, took O'Brien's place in the game. Nixon, former Easton High star, sent a beautiful shot through the cords to send 'Berg into a 15-6 lead as the half ended.

O'Brien, fouled by Bublitz, made the extra point to start the scoring for the second half. O'Brien sank an over-hand shot to send 'Berg ahead twelve points. O'Brien fouled Bublitz, who converted the two tries, following with a field goal to place the score at 18-10. Johnson fouled Nixon, who made the two attempts from the charity marker. Eckelmeyer followed with a double-decker. Reynolds took his place in the game. Bublitz, one of the leading scorers of the league, sank another foul goal. Eckelmeyer placed Drexel within five points of 'Berg with his field goal. With the score 20-15, the locals took time out. At the resumption of play Horine fouled Flemming, who missed the foul try. In the scrimmage under the basket, Rosenberg pushed Bublitz, who made one of his two tries from the foul line. Carney shot a field goal to send 'Berg ahead, 22-16. Bublitz followed with another field goal, and the score at 22-18. O'Brien sent the 'Berg total to 24-18 with his field goal. At this stage of the game the play was getting faster. In the scrimmage under the basket, Rosie again fouled Bublitz, who made one of his two tries. Horine dribbled the length of the floor to score. With the score at 26-19, Drexel took time out in a vain attempt to solve the Muhlenberg play and stop the onslaught of the stubborn Mules. Bishop fouled Horine, who missed the free attempt and also his follow-up shot. Cook was again in the game. Pogie continued on his scoring spree by sinking a pretty field goal and place 'Berg ahead nine points, 28-19. Rosenberg fouled Cook and was given a one way ticket to leave the game via the personal foul route. Judt took Rosenberg's place in the lineup. Cook missed his foul attempt. Bublitz was fouled by O'Brien, who went out via the same path as Rosenberg. Reds Wiener in the game for Pogie. Bublitz, the spark plug of the visitors, sank another foul goal out of two tries. Carney dribbled the length of the floor to score, 30-21. Carney followed with another double-decker to end the 'Berg scoring for the evening at thirty-two points. Matuska, Dunlap, and Steckel, entered the game. Wiener fouled Cook who surprised by converting the point. With the score at 32-22 the whistle blew ending the game.

Gettysburg gained possession of first place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball League by defeating Ursinus 30 to 19, while Albright turned in a surprising victory over F. and M. by the score of 46 to 38.

Muhlenberg has a chance to climb from the cellar position, but since it is necessary to defeat Gettysburg and Albright, both of these teams already having handed 'Berg a stiff lacing, the Holstromites are not exactly overconfident.

AMARILLO, TEX. (AP)—You won't find interior decorating and arranging menus in every part of a course in journalism, but in the case of Ray Deiss they point to a diploma.

The 19-year-old University of Texas junior has a rent-free room for two years in exchange for painting the dining room panels in a fraternity house.

The Amarillo boy also arranges the fraternity's menus in exchange for his meals, applying a knowledge of foods gained while selling cooking utensils.

His spending money comes from doing etchings of doorways of Austin fraternity houses—and he has time to act as campus correspondent for his home town newspapers.

Who's Who on the Campus

Carl Beck
Theta Kappa Nu

This quiet unassuming young gentle is none other than Carl Beck, a product of Reading and one whom many of us are proud to call friend.

Carl entered 'Berg in 1928 as a member of the class of '32, the son of a minister and the brother of another minister, naturally he was very bashful and quiet, however he made friends rapidly, for all who know Carl see the realization of the old adage, "Still water runs deep."

In his freshman year Carl pledged to Phi Epsilon fraternity and was initiated. This year when Phi Epsilon became Pennsylvania Epsilon chapter of Theta Kappa Nu, Carl was initiated into that fraternity. As a member of Phi Epsilon, Carl has been largely instrumental in helping that group win the intramural athletic cup two years in succession. He starred in intramural basketball, baseball, and volley ball.

The success of the freshman basketball season this year may be attributed to the capable management of the team by Carl.

The good will of Carl's classmates is shown in the fact that they elected him class secretary during his sophomore and junior years at college. We are sure that this good-will will follow Carl after he graduates and that everyone wishes him the best of luck.

CO-EDS BLAME BOYS FOR "HOT BABY" ATTACK

El Paso, Tex.—Co-eds at the Texas College of Mines here disagree with Dr. William Moulton, Long Island psychology professor, who said present day girls have "hot baby" reputations, have lost their Victorian timidity, and that "no college boy is safe from their attacks."

"Say, if the girls are hot babies, the boys have made them that way," said Mildred Woods, president of the Newman Club. "The world is full of girls who are perfectly timid. They do not appear Victorian because this is 1932."

Libby Cameron, freshman class secretary, and Isabel Abdou, president of the Co-ed Association, said girls had not changed.

Y. M. C. A. Lectures Continued By Muhlenberg President

Concluding the series of addresses on the relationship of modern business to the Ten Commandments, Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College presented an enjoyable talk on "Thou Shalt Not Covet" in the Y. M. C. A., at the Busy Men's Religious Hour on Tuesday noon, February 23.

Speaking on the Tenth Commandment in its relation to the other commandments the Dr. explained it as a desire to overcome the evil in the heart itself, with the added inference that the inner soul of man should interpret all the commandments in a similar manner.

The idea of covetousness, to put it in the speaker's own words, was "to have things that belong to others in a desire that is not lawful".

Contrasting the desire after material things and spiritual things the president deplored the materialistic attitude of the men of to-day in that it led to dissatisfaction and unfulfilled desire.

While material possession of a desired object leads to temporary joy of possession, the newness of the thing diminishes and the objects gained lose their charm. This is not true of spiritual attainments however. For when spiritual things like purity and goodness are attained they are complete and give satisfaction to their possessor, who will not tire of them at all.

In speaking of the desire of business men to attain an equal success with somebody else the speaker attacked the questionable means sometimes used to achieve results. Emanating from an inward desire the wish becomes an obsession, which eventually leads to an un-Christian expression in trickery and deceit.

In parting brotherly love and true brotherhood were urged upon the business men in order that they might practice the true Christian attitude in dealing with their fellow men.

Following the speech Dr. Haas was the recipient of several gifts of appreciation bestowed by the business men.

THETA KAPPA NU HOLDS INITIATION

Messrs. John Greenwald, Ray Wahl, Asher Abel, Alfred Breining and Rodger Rohn were formally initiated into active membership in the Muhlenberg chapter of Theta Kappa Nu fraternity on the evening of Thursday, February 25, 1932.

in the javelin throw, and later took part in three Olympic Games as a member of the Greek Olympic Team.

At the University of Pennsylvania he broke all records in strength testing examinations by scoring 1776 points against the record of 1460. Later he increased it to 2200, a miraculous fete. He broke records in shotputting, discus and javelin throwing.

His favorite sport, however, was wrestling. While a student he won three inter-collegiate championships in wrestling in the astonishing short time of four minutes and twenty seconds, throwing all of his opponents. He also won letters in football,, baseball and track.

He was an outstanding figure in 1912, winning the Olympic Pentathlon. Dr. Dorizas was a dominant figure in introducing the present athletic system at U. of P.

Dr. Dorizas gave a very interesting lecture here last year using as his topic "The Balkan States."

Muhlenberg Wins First Place In State I. O. U. Contest

KENNETH H. KOCH '32 BRINGS HONOR TO 'BERG

"Whither World" Topic of Winning Oration

For the fifth successive year first place in the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Union's contest has gone to Muhlenberg. Kenneth H. Koch '32 is the twelfth victor for Muhlenberg in the past twenty-one years.

Mr. Koch's topic was "Whither World", the same topic which he used in the contest at Muhlenberg. His oration was a maintenance of the fact that the world must have peace at any cost. Mr. James Rupert of Grove City College was awarded second place, which entails t wenty-five dollars in gold. The other colleges represented at this annual contest were: Gettysburg, where this year's contest was held; Albright, Franklin and Marshall, Allegheny, Waynesburg, Ursinus and Juniata. By virtue of his victory Mr. Koch will be the representative of these colleges at West Virginia on April 1.

Under the able direction of Dr. John D. M. Brown of the English department, State Senator Henry Snyder '15, was victorious for Muhlenberg in 1915. Again in 1928 Henry Scheirer '28, was victorious under the coaching of Dr. Brown. In 1929 Stanley Printz '30 was awarded first place. In 1930 Donald V. Hock '32 won the Pennsylvania contest. In that year Hock was awarded second place at the all-Eastern competition at Ypsilanti, Michigan. In 1931 Donald Mancke '32 who had just transferred from Moravian, won the contest held at Muhlenberg. Mr. Mancke placed third in the all-Eastern contest held at Danville, Ky.

Mr. Koch is president of the student body of Muhlenberg. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, National Activity Fraternity; Phi Alpha Theta, Honorary History Fraternity, and Tau Kappa Alpha, National Forensic Fraternity. Mr. Koch has been a member of the Muhlenberg debate squad for the past three years.

Donald V. Hock is manager of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Union on the Muhlenberg campus. He accompanied Mr. Koch to Gettysburg in this capacity. Mr. Richard Garnet, '33 was alternate representative.

For his brilliant work in bringing victory to Muhlenberg once again, Mr. Koch deserves the heartiest congratulations of the student body.

DONATION PLEDGED IN SENIOR CLASS MEETING

The Senior Class meeting, held on Tuesday, resulted in the donation of $200 to the Student Aid Fund as the gift of the class of '32. The motion was made by Richard Thiede, treasurer of the class and was seconded by Donald Hoffman. Other suggestions pertaining to the Senior gift were: that an ornamental light be placed at the entrance to the Library and Science Builidng, that gates be placed at the entrance to the campus and finally that the money be used for the proposed reception room in the dormitories.

The class decided on June 4 as a Class Day. A discussion concerning invitations was also held, although nothing concrete was accomplished in regard to this part of commencement.

Rev. Robert R. Fritsch has accepted an invitation to give two Bible Studies for the student body of Mt. Hermon school, Northfield, Mass., in May.

Dr. Fritsch attended the Faculty Conference of Eastern Pennsylvania Colleges in the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, March 5.

Seventh Year Of Intramural Sports Competition Opens

New Group Will Make Ten Clubs in Competition

What promises to be the most spirited intramural season in the history of the competition began this week with ten teams preparing to struggle for the championship. One new non-fraternity squad, the Grays, has been organized, thus making a total of three non-fraternity groups and seven fraternal squads.

Theta Kappa Nu is now the possessor of the Intramural championship cup which the fraternity, then the local Phi Epsilon, has won for the last two years. The intramural program was started in the term of 1925-26 by Bill Ritter, physical director of the college, with the purpose of stimulating voluntary physical exercise among the students.

In the first year of the competition there were six teams entered and Phi Epsilon fraternity, now Theta Kappa Nu, secured the cup. Delta Theta captured first place in the season of 1926-27, Phi Epsilon again in 1927-28, Phi Kappa Tau in 1928-29, and in the seasons of 1929-30, and 1930-31 the Phi Epsilon again took first honors.

The season opens with Basketball and then follows Volley Ball, Playground Ball, and Tennis. Just before the final examinations begin in the Spring there is a track meet held in which all teams entered take part.

It is interesting to note how teams will start off with a rush in the Basketball part of the program, and then gradually drop back and others take their places as the other sections of the schedule are taken up. Many of the Basketball games played approach varsity standards, and often when the style is mediocre, the spirit

THURSDAY ASSEMBLY SPEAKER MEMBER OF MUHLENBERG FAMILY

Subject of Speech To Be "Muhlenberg Friend"

The weekly assembly period on Thursday, March 10, will be devoted to a speech on "Muhlenberg Friend" by Dr. J. H. Richards, the pastor of St. Luke's Church of Philadelphia.

Dr. Richards has an intimate connection with our College in the fact that he is a descendant of the early renowned Muhlenberg family. His father, Professor Mathias Richards was formerly an instructor of English at Muhlenberg for many years. Dr. Richards has a long experience of many years as public speaker and is welcomed wherever he goes as an entertaining, instructive lecturer. Everyone is assured of a profitable hour well spent by attending his talk on "Muhlenberg Friend."

Illustrated Talk Given By Dr. Michael Dorizas

University Of Pennsylvania Professor Tells Of Travels

On Thursday morning, March 3, Dr. Dorizas, of the University of Pennsylvania, was introduced to a Muhlenberg Assembly for the second time, speaking on Bali, Sumatra, and Java, and illustrating his address with both slides, and movies. He described these islands as being populated to the extent of 61,000,000 people, while Holland, who is in control of these islands, as having but 7,000,000. They are part of the Dutch East Indies, and their area totals about one-fourth of that of the United States. Bali is a Hindu island of Malay people, where Buddhist temples may yet be seen, where the dead are burned, where bats are held as sacred, and cock-fighting is a major diversion and means of profit. The weird fantastic dances of the people were shown in detail, as were also, the peculiarly-constructed houses of the inhabitants. Java, he described as the most wonderful of all the islands, and also the largest. Here is the land of volcanoes, rubber, tea and sugar. The slides and movies, showing the beautiful landscapes, and rice field, also revealed that nudity of life in these sub-tropical and tropical climes.

Dr. Dorizas has made a very extensive study of his material, having personally visited these islands.

Rev. Bagger, Pres. Pittsburgh Synod, Vesper Speaker

"Our Most Slighted Doctrine" Subject of Interesting Talk

Rev. Henry Bagger, President of the Lutheran Synod of Pittsburgh, was the preacher at the public Vesper service, March 6, 1932. The text for his theme, "Our Most Slighted Doctrine", was from Paul's first letter to the Thessalonians, the fourth chapter and portions of the third and seventh verses, "For this is the will of God, even your sanctification; for God has not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness."

"A friend of mine lives in a Chicago suburb", said Rev. Bagger, "and told me of the murders which occurred there during the last few months. Each year Chicago spends 145 millions dollars as tribute to the racketeers, as a result seventy-five to eighty-five per cent of the people are in bondage.

"My friend's suggestion to his parishioners was to have a special day of prayer because of these conditions. I speak reverently when I say that this observance would not be enough, that would simply be tossing everything into God's lap. Prayer should be preceded by confession of sins and followed by consecration and work. But many of us would take prayer as a short cut to what we wish.

Cast Selected For Little Theatre Play Contest, Mar. 16-17

"The Old Man of Edenton" by Paul Green To Be Vehicle

"The Old Man of Edenton" by Paul Green will be the vehicle by which the Mask and Dagger Club of Muhlenberg will attempt to win the Little Theatre Dramatic Tournament.

The cast which has been selected by Mr. Coder is as follows: Joe Jules, reputed witch man, John Hemmerly; Mumbo, his mute African slave, Robert Eisenhard; the town constable of Edenton, John Hollenbach; the Notary of Edenton, Donald V. Hock; a minister of the Church of England, Angelo Bianca; and the Last Character—not yet selected.

The plot of the play is laid in North Carolina about 1750 just at the time the Salem, Mass., witch trials were at their height. The chief town officer is called to the home of Joe Jules to hear his confession of being a witch.

Subsequent events which take place in the eerie atmosphere of the "haunted house" lead up to a thrilling and breath taking climax.

The Muhlenberg production will be staged Wednesday, March 16th, the first night of the contest. Other groups contesting that night will be the Cosmopolitan Club of the Y. W. C. A. and the Dramatic Club of the Jewish Community Center.

Muhlenberg won first place in this contest last year and then placed second in the first contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic Alliance. However Mr. Coder did not express much confidence in the possibility of Muhlenberg winning this year.

Tickets for the play contest for March 16th, can be secured from Mr. Coder any time. The price of admission is merely fifty cents.

O'BRIEN IMPROVING AFTER SEVERE CASE OF BLOOD POISONING

Charles O'Brien, varsity basketball star, is definitely on the road to recovery from a severe case of blood poisoning according to reports at the time this paper goes to press.

A floor burn no larger than a half dollar which "Pogie" received in the Drexel game at Philadelphia, February 19th is believed to have been the immediate cause responsible for this condition. Early last week he lay desperately ill in his bed at the Sacred Heart Hospital, but by Wednesday an improvement was noticeable.

The varsity squad cancelled their regular practice session last Thursday evening and went together with Coach Holstrom to visit their former team mate at the hospital.

Rev. Russell W. Stine conducted a meditation on "Lord, Teach Us To Pray" at a Lenten Service in the Service in the Church of the Redeemer, Thursday, March 3.

Debaters Win Over Temple And West Virginia Teams

Affirmative Team Debates Non Decision With Temple In Philadelphia

HOCK AND HOFFMAN TO SPEAK IN RADIO DEBATE

The varsity debate team continued its success last week when it defeated the crack debate team of the University of West Virginia, last Wednesday evening in the assembly room of the Administration building and on Thursday evening, another group of Muhlenberg debaters defeated Temple University in a debate also held in the Administration building.

In the debate with West Virginia, the Muhlenberg team which was composed of Morton Silverman, Donald Mancke and Donald Hoffman upheld the negative side of the question, Resolved, "That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is unsound in principle." The negative West Virginia team was composed of John Havener, Charles Wise and David Ginsberg.

The judges for the debate were Miss Mabel Muloch and Mr. Earle H. Weinsheimer of the Allentown High School faculty and Mr. E. Duncan Cameron, Chairman of the Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

On Thursday evening the question Resolved was "That Capitalism as a System of economic Organization is unsound in Principle." The local Muhlenberg team defended the negative. The team was composed of Donald V. Hock, captain, Henry M. M. Richards and Ray K. Heist, Jr. The Temple team consisted of: Jules Rotman, Anthony S. Coucea and Harry H. Shusterman.

The judges at Muhlenberg were Mr. Durbin E. Woodring, Mr. W. H. Webster, and Rev. Fred C. Wunder. Conrad Raker, assistant manager, presided.

At Temple the Muhlenberg affirmative team of Donald Hoffman, Morton Silverman and Donald Mancke was pitted against the Temple negative team of Ronald Driscoll, Bernard Somoff, and Matthew Richmond. There was no decision at Temple.

Next Friday Donald V. Hock and Donald Hoffman will match their forensic ability against two debaters from the University of Pennsylvania. The debate will be broadcast over station WCAU and will begin at 3:30 and end at 4:00 o'clock.

Lecture On Goethe Given By Dr. Barba At Deutsche Verein

Goethe Represented As World's Best Lyric Poet

On Monday evening, February 29, Dr. Barba opened a series of commemorative events in honor of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe's one hundredth anniversary of his death, with an illustrated lecture on the life and works of the outstanding lyric poet of German literature, in the Science Auditorium, under the auspices of Der Deutsche Verein.

After a few introductory remarks, in which Dr. Barba described Shakespeare as the world's dramatist, Homer, as the worlds epic poet, and Goethe as the world's lyric poet, he illustrated his further discourse by means of sixty slides sent him thru the courtesy of the German Tourist Information Bureau of New York.

Goethe was born of a family of affluence on August 28, 1749, at Frankfort am Main. His father was a jurist, and an imperial counsellor who married a girl of seventeen, when he was thirty-eight years of age. The first product of the union was Johann Goethe. At the age of sixteen, he entered the University of Leipzig, to follow in the footsteps of his father. Here he acquired his worldly politeness and cosmopolitanism. After an unsuccessful attempt to acclimatize himself to his future, he entered the University of Strassbourg when he was 21. And at twenty-five he had already become famous. He received visits from Klopstock and other luminaries. From here, he went to Weimar for a visit, which lasted fifty years. Goethe had many passionate love affairs, and each left its imprint on his soul and its expression, his works. The most outstanding object of his devotion was Frau von Stein, an intellect herself.

Goethe's interests were not only concerned with his art. He was a keen student of minerology, sketching and other like avocations. In Weimar he conceived a great friendship for Schiller, which became mutual. On March 22, 1832, he died, justly called the most universal of all lyric poets.

The slides illustrated the home and various dwellings of his, their interiors, his study, his loves, and other intimate reminiscences of an extraordinary life. Der Deutsche Verein is planning to present a movie in the near future, depicting the life of Goethe. The movie will be procured through the Carl Shurz Memorial Foundation.

DEAN TO READ ESSAY TO CLASSICAL LEAGUE

Dean Robert C. Horn is to present a paper on "Alexander's Visit to Jerusalem" at the annual spring meeting of the Lehigh Valley Classical League on Saturday, March 12, 2:30 P. M., at Cedar Crest College. Dr. William F. Curtis, President of Cedar Crest, will give the welcoming address, which will be followed by a paper on "A First-Century Polymath" (Pliny the Elder) by David B. Kaufman, professor of Latin at Lafayette, and then by Dr. Horn's address. All students of Muhlenberg who are sincerely interested in a study of the Classics are cordially invited to attend the meeting in the Administration Building.

Dr. John A. W. Haas gave a Lenten sermon at the Episcopal Church of Reading, Wednesday, March 9, at noon.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA TO HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Judge Reno To Be Honored With Testimonial Dinner

On Friday evening, March 18th, at 6:30 P. M., at the new Lehigh Country Club, Alpha Iota Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega will hold its annual banquet in celebration of the founding of the fraternity and the initiation of the new pledges.

A special feature of the banquet this year will be a testimonial dinner in honor of Judge Claude T. Reno. Judge Reno is an alumnus of Muhlenberg College and a member of Alpha Iota chapter. At the 32nd bi-annual congress of the entire fraternity, Judge Reno brought a distinct honor to his own chapter, by being elected to the highest office in the fraternity. It is for this reason that Alpha Iota wishes to honor him.

Alpha Tau Omega was founded at Virginia Military Institute in 1865 by three confederate soldiers, for the purpose of reuniting after the war, the youth of the North and the South. Alpha Iota chapter was founded in 1881 and since that time it has been a custom to hold an annual Founder's Day banquet. This year's banquet will be the 51st to be held. A large turnout of alumni is expected and a good time is hoped for by all.

Managing Editor, this issue, SAMUEL L. BERTOLET

Allentown, Pa., March 8, 1932

Moleskin and footballs and March winds made their appearance on Tuesday afternoon at Lehigh when Coach Austy Tate conducted the first drill in familiarizing the football men with the rules, changes effecting the fundamentals of the game.

The plan of Coach Tate apparently is meeting with every popular approval if the turnout of football men is a criterion. The first drill was scheduled for Monday afternoon but this was set aside in order that uniform and other football contraption might be distributed.

The rules changes which effect blocking, charging, etc., are the ones that will be given attention and by disposing of this routine now the coach is of the opinion that much time which ordinarily would be lost next fall can be used at the time to better advantage.

The practice is different from the heretofore spring drills and will be devoted exclusively to instruction and demonstration in the use of hands, tackling, and blocking, according to the Lehigh mentor. It is expected that the squad will number close to fifty football men.

London—Seated before a roaring fire was Peter Ball when Manchester police captured him. Ball was well dressed—too well dressed. He had on two suits, four shirts, three suits of underwear, three vests, two pairs of socks, three belts and a knitted woolen jacket. He explained that he was too cold.

Bethlehem, March 2—Pointing out that the whole social function at Lehigh University is an extravagant luxury, the student publication "Brown and White" has inaugurated a movement for elimination of house parties.

"Beautiful women, lavish extravagance, and midnight dances combine to make an enjoyable week-end for those participating in them. But hardly anyone would deny that the whole social function is a luxury," the publication said. "In view of the strained financial condition of most students this year, it seems most advisable to dispense with the spring parties, each one of which costs parents and guardians of students $15,000.

New Haven, Conn.—It has been discovered that back in 1884 the football season netted Yale University $3,500. The school used $25 for training expenses for the team that year.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Too bad "Pogie" O'Brien was out of the G'Burg contest. The score might have been just the reverse.

At any rate it was a bang-up game from start to finish.

Just another first place for Muhlenberg in the Oratorical Contests. That makes 12 first, 5 seconds and 3 thirds during a 21 year period. Not bad—eh wot?

Intramurals start again. Wonder who will win this year.

We actually saw one regular cheer leader doing some of his stuff at the G'Burg game. It sure was a big surprise.

Dr. M. M. "Mike" Dorizas certainly had an interesting lecture in the Assembly last Thursday. Even the faculty enjoyed the lecture.

The second of the series of interesting talks on the various chapel windows will be given this Thursday.

"Hasn't the fellow finished yet?" asked the reporter who had fallen asleep while "taking in" a political speech. A man who had been kept awake promptly answered, "Sure, he finished long ago, but he couldn't stop himself."

* * *

"Well, said the dying business man, "you'd better put in a clause about my employees. To each man who has worked for me twenty years I give and bequeath fifty thousand dollars."

"But," said the lawyer, "you haven't been in business twenty years."

"I know it, man; but it's good advertising."

* * *

At a dinner party one of the guests made the old remark that there is nothing new under the sun. A doctor who was present turned to the woman at his side, "I always think that's such a silly phrase."

"I think it's true," said the woman.

"But, take X-rays," said the doctor. "Why, nowadays, you can see right through a man."

"A clever woman could always do that, doctor."

Texas Student Exchanging Odd Job for One

REV. BAGGER, PRES. OF PITTSBURGH SYNOD IS VESPER SPEAKER

"The remedy which I, and yet not I but the Scriptures, sets forth for the world is sanctification, and that particular sort which we would call 'everyday'. Isn't this a good subject for Lenten meditation? The finding of a new degree of holiness is the need of the hour, the lesson of Lent, and the most slighted doctrine.

"Yes, we Christians," continued Rev. Bagger, "believe in sanctification but we don't want to be judged as perfectionists, we forget that we were called to be 'saintists', holy ones. We are short on practice and long in faith; long not in faithfulness, just in doctrine. Withal we are too much like the world, a Christian like the world!

"You may tell me that you know the Bible and accuse me of misusing my text. These Thessalonians were the best Christians of the day but yet yielded to fornication like the rest of the pagan world. Paul here was preaching against this sin which is against the body; but yet there is a social and spiritual meaning to this exhortation, fornication injures the soul, hence the great, broad principle of life involved.

"Are not we also tainted by the world and its paganism, today? Surely this is a text for us. Remember, this is the will of God, not mine, even your sanctification, according to the text.

"I realize how easy it is to criticize but how much harder it is to point the way to the noble", said Rev. Bagger, "but there is a method of three steps which should help us toward our goal of sanctification. First of all we should bring our very best common sense to bear on an investigation into the nature of this growing into holiness. God gave us two things, common sense and a conscience; use these in your endeavor.

"It is not common sense which will prompt you to say 'I'll try anything once', and yet that is a common expression today. You would not think of touching a live wire 'once', neither should you try almost anything because another dares. Even the Germans have a saying like ours, 'Einmal ist keinmal.'

"With the aid of our common sense we can carry on the second step, that of examining the true nature or field of holiness itself, this creative goodness. Then we will see that holiness will not come in a day, or week, or month; and that holiness includes personal purity and social helpfulness.

"Lent does not change us much through the years", said Rev. Bagger, "but shall that discourage us? The solution for our aim is not life in a cell or a desert, but among men. Sin is a matter of stages, we grow into it. Rabbi Zoma gives us an Oriental setting of it: we are outside our neighbor's vineyard and looking in, but we should not look to envy, if we do look we should not enter, if we enter we should not touch the fruit, if we touch the fruit we should not eat it, if we eat, then we are condemned.

"Sanctification is a process, not an acquisition of a moment. We know that as we sow so shall we reap. The world proves that such is the case but many people will not admit it. The older people criticize the wildness of youth but they themselves are much to blame, and they are reaping what they sowed. Yet Kemp tells the story of a hermit who earnestly sought God but never found him till he returned to the world.

"All of us have our craving for adventure in life and the base for it we find to be creative goodness, not sin. Every new sin had its parallel in

Final Period Rally Serves To Defeat Albright Passers

Bill Horine Runs Wild As Team Avenges Former Setback

ALBRIGHT HOLDS LEAD 24-13 AT HALF TIME

Finding the defense of the Albright College basketeers particularly to his liking, Bill Horine, former Reading High School star, led the Muhlenberg cagemen in administering a severe 45 to 39 setback to the Reading collegians last Wednesday evening on the Raub Junior High School court and avenging a 47 to 19 defeat at the hands of the Parsons earlier in the season. The victory was Muhlenberg's third of the season in the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League and followed immediately their surprise victory over Drexel on Saturday, February 27.

Sporting a pair of classy shooters, Haines and Oslislo, the two leading scorers in the League, Albright jumped into the lead by quickly registering four points on two fouls and a field goal. Carney started the point getting for the Holstromites by grabbing a quick pass from Nixon under the basket and dropping the ball thru the net. Albright soon ran up a 10 to 6 lead, but Horine making his first spectacular shot of the night from mid-floor for a field goal; and Nixon, sinking in a two-pointer on a follow up shot, knotted the score at 10 all.

Albright began a dazzling passing attack and soon went into the lead, 16-10. Horine caged two shots from the charity stripe and Rosenberg duplicate with one free shot to end the Muhls' offensive for the first half. The score being 24 to 13 as the first whistle blew.

Muhlenberg opened the second half in a big way, Carney getting the tap to Nixon who quickly passed the ball to Matuska for a field goal. A foul by Matuska and a pretty follow-up shot by Horine for a two-pointer terminated 'Berg's' scoring for awhile. The Reading hoopsters soon increased their lead to 31-18.

The final and most spectacular attack was started by Carney who unpectedly dropped in two field goals from beyond mid-floor. Then with the score 32-24 in favor of Albright, the peppy athlete from Reading, who has played such remarkable ball for Muhlenberg so far this season, began his amazing shooting, which inspired the entire Holstrom-coached outfit. It was not until he had caged five consecutive field goals, each one from beyond the middle of the court that this popular student decided to ease up his pace a little, but he had brought Muhlenberg out from an eight point disadvantage to a 34 to 34 deadlock.

"Stan" Carney put the local outfit in the lead during the remaining part of the game, a lead which they never relinquished by sinking the ball thru the meshes from the charity line. After field goals by Matuska and Carney and an Albright foul, Carney was forced from the game by the foul route, Rosenberg being substituted. In a short time Matuska received the same punishment, Steckel going in. In the remaining few minutes of play the Muhls increased their lead to the pleasure of the large crowd of spectators, so that when the final whistle blew Muhlenberg was victorious 45 to 39.

Horine with eight field goals and two fouls for a total of eighteen points was the outstanding star of the game. He not only excelled in point-getting but his floor-work was spectacular. Carney, Nixon, Rosenberg and Matuska all played commendable basketball. Anderson and Haines were the Albright luminaries with 13 and 11 points respectively.

The lineups and summary:

Muhlenberg	G.	F.	Pts.
Nixon, forward	3	2	6
Rosenberg, forward	0	2	2
Carney, center	4	1	9
Judt, guard	1	0	2
Horine, guard	8	2	18

of the players and the partisanship of the spectators combine to produce a thrilling game.

The Playground Ball games in the spring months give an opportunity for the students to gather around and give helpful criticism and advice to Bill Ritter who acts as umpire in these contests.

The "Weekly" will publish a summary of the contests held each week, together with the "high lights" and the position of the teams.

The following is a summary of the coming intra-mural season.

ALUMNI NOTES

Ye alumni editor found these notes in his letter box:

Harry E. Sowers, '23, is Supervising Principal at Sinking Spring, Pa., with a staff of 17 teachers under him.

Paul Dennis, '26, visited his Alma Mater last Thursday; he is now a representative of the Prentice-Hall Co.

Stanley Kurtz, '25, is teaching German in high school at North Plainfield, N. J.

Myron M. Kistler, '22, is teaching business subjects in senior high school at New Brunswick, N. J.

Leon C. Rex, '22, is teaching science at Red Bank, N. J.

WESLEYAN'S JUNIOR PROM CANCELLED FOR ECONOMY

Middletown, Conn. (AP)—Weslayan university's junior prom, scheduled for March 11, has been cancelled.

President James L. McConnaughy suggested that general economic conditions did not warrant the proposed expenditure of $3,000.

COLLEGIATE 'CARS' ORDERED JUNKED

Eight 'Leaping Lenas' Owned by University Men Sent to Morgue

Eight relics, antiquated automobiles have been ordered off the streets of Bethlehem, by members of the state highway patrol, Bethlehem substation. None of the vehicles will again see service until they pass the rigid inspection of the patrolmen who compelled the operators to remove them to the "morgue."

All of the motor vehicles in question were operated by students attending Lehigh University, and with one exception, licenses for these cars were issued by the authorities of Pennsylvania. These cars are of the lighter type automobile, and while roaming about the streets presented a sorry looking sight. How the operators were able to get the conglomeration of bolts, nuts, mechanical arrangements, a bit of upholstery and some metal to function without a complete collapse, is a puzzle to the officers.

LIGHTS WAY TO SCHOLARSHIP

Northampton, Mass.—In a thrift lesson to Smith College girls recently, President William Allan Neilson said that if they made sure to put out the lights in their rooms, even in leaving for extremely short periods, the saving might provide several scholarships for needy students.

"Have any big men been born in this town?"

"No, only babies."

FACULTY NOTES

"Around the World in Sixty Minutees" was the title of a Travelogue which Dr. Barba gave at the Allentown Hospital Nurses' College on Tuesday, March 1, at nine o'clock.

Dr. Robert C. Horn and Dr. James Edgar Swain are members of the training and leadership committee who are directly sponsoring a course in scoutmaster training by the Lehigh County Council, Boy Scouts of America, in the Jewish Community Center in Allentown. Dr. Horn is chairman of the committee.

At the Faculty meeting held last Thursday, March 3, a formal motion was made and passed that the Faculty express their sincere appreciation of the support given by the Student Body towards the newly created Student Loan Fund. It is the wish of the Faculty to thank in particular the action taken by the "M" Club, the support of the Senior Class, and the aid of Kappa Phi Kappa fraternity.

Dr. G. H. Brandes attended the meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Easton, February 26. The speaker at this meeting, Dr. C. W. Mason Assistant Professor of Chemical Microscopy at Cornell University, was introduced by Dr. Brandes, a former colleague. About 100 chemists from the colleges and industries of the Lehigh Valley enjoyed the lecture and demonstration on the subject "Crystals" under the Microscope."

Light up . . . Convince Yourself that Chesterfields Satisfy

FLIP OPEN a pack of Chesterfields! Help yourself to a cigarette...Light up . . . and let's get the facts.

Mister . . . you're dead right. They're milder!

It's no secret in tobacco circles that Chesterfield buys the finest tobaccos that grow...Turkish and Domestic... sun-ripened, mellow, pure!

Chesterfields are blended first . . . then cross-blended . . . to make them milder . . . and milder still! There's no mistaking that rare balance of flavor built up by Cross-Blending. You enjoy it in every fragrant puff!

Even the cigarette paper is different. Cleaner, whiter, tasteless . . . the purest that money can buy.

Listen, smokers . . . this is straight. You can't put taste in a cigarette . . . unless quality goes in, too.

● Pass your verdict on Chesterfield's Radio Program, too! Nat Shilkret's 35-piece Orchestra with Alex Gray, soloist, are on the Columbia Network every night except Sunday, at 10:30 Eastern Standard Time.

THEY'RE MILDER • • THEY'RE PURE • • THEY TASTE BETTER • • They Satisfy

Who's Who on the Campus

Charles A. Fetter
Theta Upsilon Omega

Behold the product of the "Playground of the World"! Charlie comes to us from Atlantic City where the Fetter family is extensively engaged in the hotel business.

Charlie has always been very quiet and demure, but to anyone who knows him or has talked to him, he's a jolly good fellow. Charlie entered 'Berg in the class of '32, and in the succeeding four years he has continued to distinguish himself, both in scholastics and in campus activities. He claims membership in several of the honorary societies on the Muhlenberg campus, namely: Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary historical fraternity; Alpha Kappa Alpha, national honorary philosophical fraternity; and Der Deutsche Verein, the local group for honor students in German.

Faith in Charlie is shown both by his classmates in that they elected him vice-president of the Senior class, and appointed him chairman of the cap and gown committee and the awards committee, and by his fraternity brothers in that they elected him president of their fraternity.

After graduation from 'Berg Charlie intends to go to law school. With his perseverence and his intellectual capabilities, we are quite sure that he will succeed, and we wish him the best of luck in anything he may try.

the past, but goodness is always to be found in a new form. Who could say that the personal goodness demanded of him is like any one else's?

"But we need more than common sense, and an understanding of the social and creative nature of goodness", continued Rev. Bagger, "we must lay hold of the Holy Spirit and never leave go until He gives us Sanctification. Of course Baptism gives us the Spirit but that rite does not guarantee eternal life if we do not appreciate the gift. Both the motive and the power of a sanctified life are given by the Spirit.

"Three hundred ministers of different denominations and at another time the laymen were asked this question: 'Do our Churches today preach and teach a religion that can influence effectively for good living?' Half of both bodies said, 'No'! That is a harsh indictment of the pulpit, but a still harsher indictment for the pew, because it did not absorb enough of what was taught. Here we see the cause of the world's misery.

"Let us give ourselves to Sanctification, let the Church and people follow the three steps. Just as far as the churchman goes in holiness, that far can the world and church go. In conclusion, let us pray to ourselves the offertory. 'Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me!"

Dr. Marks played three organ selections during the service, "Andante in G" by Batiste, "Angelus" by Massenet, and "Chorale" by Wagner; the service was read by Dr. Haas, Rev. Stine and Chaplain Cressman. The Preacher on March 13 will be the Rev. C. T. Benze, D.D., Professor of Old Testament in the Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

CO-EDS MAKES ALL DATES IN COLLEGE 'MORATORIUM'

Naperville, Ill., (AP)—Co-eds of North Central college here received a grand chance to "speak for themselves" between February 12 and 28.

A "leap year fortnight" was declared for the time between those dates.

Men and women students voted for the scheme, whose provisions include that women were to do all the dating, decide the form of entertaining, call for their gentlemen friends, and spend their own money.

"Give me Lucky Strike every time"

THEY'RE DOTTY ABOUT DOTTY

Dorothy Mackaill's great-great something-or-other was Bobby Burns, the famous Scotch poet, and she's as popular in Hollywood as golf—'nother Scotch import. Her favorite pet is a Brazilian monkey. You see the monk in the new FIRST NATIONAL PICTURE, "SAFE IN HELL." Dorothy has smoked LUCKIES for six years, and not a cent was paid for her statement, so we're making a sweeping bow and saying, "Thanks, Dorothy Mackaill."

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HERE'S ONE FACT proved beyond a doubt! More and more telephone calls from campus to home are being made each month.

The reason's not hard to find!

Try it yourself, just once! Call up Mother and Dad. You'll not forget the thrill of hearing their voices . . . nor their joy in hearing from you in person. Small wonder if you come back for more . . . regularly, each week!

"Voice visits" with home, you'll soon discover, are next best to being there. They cost so little and give so much. That's the reason for their popularity.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Debate Squad Defeats Ursinus, And Has Radio Debate With Pennsylvania

Unanimous Decisions Won By Muhlenberg Teams

RADIO AUDIENCE WILL JUDGE PENN CONTEST

The varsity debating squad completed one of its most successful seasons on Thursday evening when it defeated Ursinus in a dual debate. The question was Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle.

At Muhlenberg the undefeated negative team composed of Captain Donald V. Hock, Henry M. M. Richards and Ray K. Heist, Jr., defeated Bernard Zamestein, James Palm and Alfred C. Alspach of Ursinus by the unanimous decision of the judges, Rev. F. C. Wunder, Attorney Louis Stamberg, and F. B. Stauffer. Conrad Raker, associate debate manager, presided.

At Collegeville the affirmative team was also victorious by the unanimous vote of the judges. The affirmative team consisted of Morton Silverman, Donald B. Mancke and Donald B. Hoffman, captain.

The Ursinus debate was the second last formal debate in which the Senior members of the squad participated. Donald V. Hock, captain of the squad for two years and a member of the squad since his freshman year, will receive his diploma in June. Donald B. Hoffman, Donald Mancke and Henry M. M. Richards will also be lost before the next debating season. However, Coach Gillespie has great faith in the members of the freshman squad and hopes to mould his material into an equally successful squad.

On Friday afternoon at 3:30 Donald V. Hock and Donald B. Hoffman debated Samuel Meistat and Harold Randow of the University of Pennsylvania on the question, Resolved, That This House Favors Agreements Providing for Free Trade. The debate was broadcast over station WCAU, Philadelphia.

The judges for these debates which are a regular feature of WCAU are the various members of the radio audience. The decision on the debate in which Mr. Hock and Mr. Hoffman participated will be announced next Friday afternoon.

The debate was short but brilliant and Mr. Hoffman, who was the first speaker for Muhlenberg, laid the foundation for the negative argument. Mr. Hock concluded the negative side of the question with a speech and rebuttal.

Mr. Hoffman showed that the economic theory of free trade was based on ideal conditions and not the actual present conditions. Mr. Hock showed the relation of the tariff to the present economic conditions in America and what would happen under Free Trade.

COMING EVENTS

Wednesday

Debate—7:00 P. M.—Assembly Room. Final varsity debate for this season. F. and M. will be the opponents. Muhlenberg team will be composed of Donald B. Mancke, '32 and Donald B. Hoffman, '32. Oregon system to be used. Ray K. Heist, Jr., '33 and Henry M. M. Richards, '32 will debate at F. and M.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA PLANS A CONVENTION

Alpha chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha fraternity held its regular meeting at the home of Rev. Stine last Wednesday evening, March 9. The fraternity again had as its guests those members of the Junior Class whose scholastic averages have made them eligible for membership in this honorary philosophical fraternity.

It was decided at the meeting that the national convention of the fraternity, as well as a joint banquet of the chapters will be held on May 20, subject to the consent of the other chapters.

Mr. Reimert led the discussion of the evening on the topic "The Structure of the Material Universe." This discussion proved particularly interesting because of the fact that many of the modern theories were discussed.

After delightful refreshments served by Mrs. Stine, the meeting was adjourned.

M. B. A. Hears Talk On Advertising Work

New Constitution Is Adopted By Club

An interesting meeting of the Muhlenberg Business Association was held at the Phi Kappa Tau house on Monday evening, March 7, 1932. At this time Mr. Saylor presented the new M. B. A. constitution which was accepted as read except for a few minor changes.

President Raymond Munsch re-appointed the same membership committee, consisting of Messrs. Greenberg, Lubsen, and Evanosky and asked them to co-operate with Instructor Hartman in preparing a list of prospective members.

After the adjournment of the business meeting, Captain Curtis of the "Allentown Morning Call" was introduced and gave an instructive speech on "Advertising." He explained just what the men of this department of a newspaper must do to get "ads", and concluded his remarks by saying that advertising is a potent factor in the newspaper game of today and must be treated as a science and in a scientific manner. Captain Curtis included many interesting and informative statistics in his discussion.

Instructor Hartman announced that he would secure a representative of the Royal Typewriter Company to speak at the next meeting of the M. B. A. which will be held some time after Easter.

REV. STINE SPEAKS ON SYMBOLISM OF CROSS

That the Cross, the eternal symbol of the supreme sacrifice has not lost its significance in this modern day was clearly evidenced in "The Message of the Cross" as presented by Reverend Russell Stine, faculty member of Muhlenberg College, during the chapel period of Wednesday morning, March 12th.

In his opening lines the speaker outlined the two creations the beginning of the world which is physical, and the birth of the living Lord which has its spiritual significance.

The real significance of the cross is not to be looked upon as that of anger, but it must be construed as the manifestation of divine love and mercy, toward sinful man, in order that the ugly bonds of sin may be broken forever.

In pursuance of this line of thought Reverend Stine raised the following question, "How can God forgive us without demoralizing both us and his own character and dignity?" Presenting his own view he explained

"Muhlenberg, Friend" Is Topic Of Speech By Dr. J. H. Richards

Many Students Learn About Lutheran Patriarch

An occurrence, unique in the history of the college, took place on Thursday morning, March 10th, when Dr. J. H. Richards, pastor of St. Luke's Church, Philadelphia, and a descendant of Muhlenberg, in whose honor the local college was named, spoke on "Muhlenberg, Friend", to a large assemblage of students in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

The purpose of the speech, to quote the speaker's own words, was that "the honored name should be an inspiration to the youth of our church and country, as they prepare for life and usefulness."

Muhlenberg was revealed as a man of high, unimpeachable character, good education, well rounded as a student in pursuit of his life work. In addition he was a fine pianist and organist.

Life did not come easy to him. Being an orphan he had to work for a livelihood. However, in spite of many obstacles be achieved a college education, graduating from the University of Göttingen, after which he devoted his life to the service of others. He arrived in America in the State of Pennsylvania where he devoted much energy to the sake of education.

He was finally a great executive and he deserves the title of the American Lutheran Patriarch from this. He was the founder of the mother synod of Lutheranism in America, and to it he gave three sons as pastors, and two daughters as pastors' wives. His greatest effort went toward the establishment of an asylum and school at Barren Hill, near Philadelphia, which should become a college and seminary. He was almost jailed for debt, but was saved by the gift of a titled German friend. It was worthwhile that the first Lutheran college of his synod should be named after him.

REV. CRESSMAN TALKS ON WAR EXPERIENCES

Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman, chaplain of Muhlenberg College, gave a very interesting lecture on "The Work of a Chaplain on the Battlefield" at the March meeting of the Ministerial Club held last Monday evening, March 7, 1932 in Room 201 of the Administration Building.

Rev. Cressman illustrated his lecture with materials used and souvenirs picked up on some of the World War battlefields.

The speaker, who was formerly Chaplain of the 311th Infantry, 78th Division of the American Expeditionary Forces related some interesting experiences while leader of the "burying squad." He told of the accurate records that had to be kept and showed maps designed for that purpose.

A luncheon was served prior to the meeting in the college Commons, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benfer.

Phi Kappa Tau Wins Scholarship Trophy For Past Semester

Theta Upsilon Omega Is Close Second

The Scholarship Cup, which is semi-annually awarded to that fraternity having the highest standing in scholarship for the semester by the Pan-Hellenic Council, has been awarded to Phi Kappa Tau for the semester ending February, 1932.

The Scholarship Cup was first awarded in June, 1929 when Theta Upsilon Omega was successful in gaining the cup. In February, 1930 Sigma Lambda Pi, now Phi Epsilon Pi, was awarded the cup. In February, 1931 Theta Upsilon Omega again was awarded first honors in scholarship. The Pan-Hellenic Council, which formerly averaged the marks of the various fraternities, was so negligent in performing this function that "Haps" Benfer was selected as judge of fraternity scholarship. The Pan-Hellenic Council twice failed to average the various marks.

Since its inauguration in 1929 the cup has been three times awarded to Theta Upsilon Omega, once to Phi Epsilon Pi and once to Phi Kappa Tau. In order to have permanent possession of the cup, a fraternity must win it three times in succession or six times at different marking periods.

Fraternity Standing Second Semester, 1931

1	Theta Upsilon Omega	86.60
2	Phi Epsilon	81.91
3	Philos	79.67
4	Alpha Tau Omega	78.59
5	Phi Kappa Tau	78.22
6	Sigma Lambda Pi	76.99
7	Delta Theta	74.47

Standing 1931-1932

1	Phi Kappa Tau	81.69
2	Theta Upsilon Omega	81.34
3	Phi Epsilon Pi	78.79
4	Alpha Tau Omega	78.73
5	Theta Kappa Nu	76.20

JUDGE C. T. RENO TO BE PALM SUNDAY SPEAKER

Judge Claude T. Reno will deliver an address during the regular Chapel service on Palm Sunday. His subject at this service will be "The World Upside Down."

Judge Reno was born at Lyons in Berks County, Pennsylvania, on April 4, 1882. His parents moved to Allentown when he was six months old. He was educated in Allentown public schools; graduated from Allentown High School with the Class of 1900. He also attended Muhlenberg College for two years, and was graduated from Dickinson Law School with highest honors in 1905, receiving the degree of LL.B.

He has been editor of the official journal of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the National historian of that organization. He is at present Worthy Grand Chief of this fraternity.

Christian World Education Conference Speakers Will Be On Campus This Week

Widely Known Lecturers Will Talk on Topics of Current Interest

TO VISIT CLASSROOM AND GIVE INTERVIEWS

On March 17th, and 18th three prominently known men; Profs. Treadwell Smith, Tucker Smith, and Tetsuo Scott Miyakawa will be the guest speakers at the Christian World Education Conference on the Muhlenberg campus.

Professor Treadwell Smith has received his B.A. at Harvard University in Economics and History, his M.A. at Columbia, his B.D. at Union Seminary, and a short time later his Ph.D. at Columbia. He also did research work in Oriental Studies at Oxford University.

He has traveled in all the countries of Europe except Norway, Portugal, and two of the Balkan nations. In the course of his travels he also became familiar with practically all of the far and near-eastern countries. Professor Smith has conducted educational tours in Soviet Russia for several years.

His topics will be: Soviet Russia in 1932. Student Life in Soviet Russia, Focal Points of the Five Year Plan, Religion and the Soviets, New Currents in the Arab World, Jewish and Arab claims in the Holy Land, Tradition and Rebellion in the Near East, Landmarks of Moslem Art and History and The Economic Front of Present Day Russia.

Professor Tucker Smith received his early education at the University of Missouri where he received both his A.B. and M.A. degrees with honors, specializing in Social Sciences. His later experiences have taken him into the fields of business and teaching, from rural schools to college and university classes.

He will speak on the following subjects: The Psychological Side of Why Men Fight, Breaking the War Habit, Education for World Citizenship, Lessons on War and Peace in the Far Eastern Crisis, Disarmament, Social Planning the Road to Prosperity, Militarism in Education, and Lessons on War from Primitive Peoples.

Tetsuo Scott Miyakawa of Japan and a graduate of Cornell University will give some interesting insights on Japanese cultural and political activities. Miyakawa is at present the special secretary with the Student Division of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. and special lecturer with the Foreign Policy Association. He is a keen student of international affairs with special reference to the orient and is connected with several organizations in this capacity. The themes for his various talks are as follows: The Clash of the East, The Manchurian Crisis, Japanese Culture, Japanese Ethics and Religion, Education in Japan, Japanese History, Economic System of Japan and Japanese Diplomacy.

The conference will be conducted in a manner similar to that of last year. The speakers will give discussions in the various classrooms at varying intervals so that the students will be given a chance to hear as many lectures as possible. The schedule on which the speeches will be made will be posted on the bulletin board sometime this week.

PERFECT GRADES WON BY SIX OF STUDENTS

Six men, four Seniors, and two Sophomores gained perfect grades for the first semester of the present term. Richard C. Thiede of Camden, New Jersey, Richard Klick of Kutztown, Charles Fritsch of Allentown, and Paul Doepper of Kew Gardens, New York, are the successful Seniors. John Bennetch of Lebanon, and John Hollenbach of Allentown are the Sophomores to gain the honor.

In addition to excelling in collegiate standing, all the men hold enviable positions in extra curricula activities on the campus and are enrolled in honorary clubs, hold class offices and student body positions.

Half of the men are members of social fraternities. Both Mr. Thiede and Mr. Doepper are members of Theta Upsilon Omega and Mr. Hollenbach is a member of Phi Kappa Tau.

Kappa Phi Kappa Is Host At Its Meeting

Local and Lafayette Chapters Hear Mr. Dieruff

The regular meeting of the Muhlenberg or Psi chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, professional education fraternity, was held on the evening of Thursday, March 10, 1932, at which time the organization entertained members of the Beta chapter of Lafayette College.

The feature of the evening's program was the showing of four reels of motion pictures on the life of George Washington, by Mr. Dieruff, the principal of the Central Junior High School of Allentown. The pictures were furnished through the courtesy of the Allentown School District and were well received by the large assembled group.

Following the showing of the pictures the fraternity members enjoyed a delightful social hour in the College Commons during which time remarks were made by various members of Kappa Phi Kappa and Mr. Dieruff gave an enlightening address on the organization and curriculum of the Central Junior High School.

The program was arranged by Dr. Carl Boyer, faculty advisor of the fraternity, and Edward Barndt, president of the group.

DR. HAAS IS SPEAKER AT READING CHURCH

"The Appeal of the Cross" was the subject of a stirring address given by Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, at the Lenten Community service in Christ Episcopal Church, Reading, last Wednesday evening. An audience described as the largest during the week of daily services gathered to hear his message.

Dr. Haas pointed out that since it was necessary for Christ to hang from the Cross in order to save us from our sin, surely then we must realize what an awful thing sin is, and bow down before the Cross in penitence. "It is necessary," he continued, "to rekindle the love of God in our hearts to save our decadent civilization from such evils as murder, divorce, and greed."

FACULTY NOTES

Among the Bible Conferences at which Dr. Fritsch is to speak during this coming summer is a conference for Presbyterian Young People held at the Williamson Trade School, near Media, Pa.

Dr. James E. Swain spoke on the Sino-Japanese situation in the second of a series of lectures on current events for the Rotary Club of Nazareth on Monday, March 7.

INVITATION COMMITTEE

The Committee on Senior Commencement Invitations has decided to procure two different types of programs for Commencement. There will be leather covered programs and paper programs. The final choice being left completely to the preference of the individual. The orders for these programs must be handed to the chairman of the committee before the Easter Recess, since it is imperative that the manufacturers have the order at this time.

"EVERY TREE IS KNOWN BY FRUIT IT BEARS"

Muhlenberg College received a splendid compliment from "The Allentown Morning Call" in an editorial published in that paper last Friday morning as a comment upon Mr. Koch's success in winning first place in the Intercollegiate Oratorical Union contest held at Gettysburg recently.

A reprint of the editorial follows:

"The winning of the intercollegiate oratorical contest by Muhlenberg College within recent days attracts attention by virtue of the fact that it is the twelfth time in twenty years that such honor has been brought home to the local college by its students, while on six other occasions second place has been attained and only once did the college's entrant fail to place.

A victory or two might be regarded as accidental or as indicative of outstanding student personalities in those years, but when year after year the same institution takes the highest honors then there must be a search for factors additional to those which are brought to such contests by the students themselves in their intellectual makeups. In other words, there must be something in the school and the training that it gives to young men that is outstanding. No other conclusion is possible.

By and large, the average intelligence of young men is pretty much the same in all institutions of learning. No one institution has a corner on brains all the time. It may in some year or group of years have an unusually large number of very gifted and brilliant students, but then it is likely to lapse for a time and satisfy the law of averages.

So an achievement such as Muhlenberg has made in the past twenty years in this contest of intelligence and of training in one of the oldest of the arts is founded in very large measure upon the men who are back of that training; the men who put the fire and the style into their young charges. It is a high tribute to the school. It is one of those achievements that speaks louder than catalogues and that is more convincing than the blatant boasting of proud alumni."

REPRESENTS MUHLENBERG AT FACULTY PARLEY

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, D.D., last Saturday, March 5, represented Muhlenberg college at the sixth annual faculty conference held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the Penn-Harris hotel, Harrisburg. The principal speakers of the conference were President Cutten, of Colgate university; President Hanson, of Gettysburg College, and P. C. Dix, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Spring is just around the corner. Believe it or not.

The reason for this assertion is that equipment is being handed out for the "spring" football practices which will begin to-day.

The "Grays" sure look to be the winners of the basketball part of the intramurals. However the season isn't over yet!

Easter vacation begins next Wednesday. By the good resolutions for study being made we might believe that some would actually be done. But then we remember our good resolutions for the past three years. Oh well—why study—the professors don't even expect it and it wouldn't be right to surprise them. They might not like it.

Which brings up the question of exams. Surely it would be much less work for the professors NOT to give exams. This is being suggested in a friendly spirit of co-operation. I hope it's accepted.

EXCHANGES

Eight Lehigh students have had their chapel credit for the first semester cancelled for dishonesty in connection with chapel attendance as a result of recent action taken by the disciplinary committee. The offenses were largely the turning in of attendance slips for other students and the punishment dealt the offenders was very severe. In one case, a Senior who was due to finish his work in February, has had his graduation postponed until Founders Day.

REV. STINE SPEAKS ON SYMBOLISM OF CROSS

that forgiveness by God is not merely granted, but it is only when the sinner has made definite attempts in his own behalf to atone that it is given.

In concluding the address Reverend Stine declared, "In a sense the crucifixion is the price that is paid for the forgiveness of our sins. It delivers us from our self-centeredness. Let us not be as the Grand Inquisitor of the Middle Ages who when he had heard and seen the Christ was moved, but did not turn from his way."

EASTERN WAR TOPIC FOR SOCIAL SCIENCE

A detailed survey of the present Sino-Japanese situation in the Far East was the occasion for a very interesting meeting of the Sociol Science Club, newly organized, but already outstanding campus association, held on Tuesday, March 1, at the home of the Club's faculty advisor and sponsor, Dr. James E. Swain. All members except one detained by sickness were present at the meeting, which led in its discussions by Dr. Swain, covered on its program the trend of current international politics and the position of each of the great nations in world affairs today.

After the meeting, excellent refreshments, enjoyed by everyone, were served by Mrs. Swain. At the next meeting of the Club on Tuesday, March 8, there is to be a talk on "America and Philippine Freedom", for which the material was gathered by a special representative sent by the Club to Lehigh University last week to hear the address by the Dean of the University of Manila on the same topic.

"That was greedy of you, Tommy, to eat your little sister's share of pie."

"You told me, mother, I was always to take her part," replied Tommy.

Intramural Basketball Season Opens With Several Surprises

Grays, 19; T. K. N., 12

Theta Kappa Nu, intramural champion of last year, was defeated by the Grays, the new non-fraternity team by the score of 19 to 12 in the opening game of the intramural season last Monday.

The former champions led 9 to 3 at the end of the first half, but the Grays came back with a surprising wallop to upset the pre-game dope.

Cuchran, former Bethlehem Catholic High School star, lead the Grays to victory by piling up a total of nine points. Giltner with four points topped the scoring column for the frat men.

Varsity Ends Most Disasterous Season With Defeat On Home And Foreign Courts

Muhlenberg Is Tied With Ursinus For Championship

Gettysburg, 23; Muhlenberg, 19

The Cardinal and Grey five bowed in defeat before Gettysburg, 23-19, in a fast game played on the Raub floor on Saturday night, March 5th. A large crowd attended this game, the final home tilt of the season.

Nixon of the locals and Buohl of the Bullets led their respective team in scoring with four field goals and one foul for a total of nine points.

The score at half time was 14-10, favor the league leaders.

After three minutes of play, Nixon's field goal placed Berg in a temporary lead of 2-0. Buohl, Gettysburg captain, was fouled and made the foul try. The Bullets shot into a 2-3 lead as Jones converted a gussy shot. Buohl took the center tap and dribbled under the basket, scoring his first double-decker. Carney came thru with a field goal to send the locals ahead, 6-5. At this stage the visitors took time out in an attempt to figure out the bewildering offense of the cellar champions. At the resumption of play Nixon took a pass from Horine and placed the locals in a three point lead. Gettysburg did an about face and started a barrage of shots that sent them in front, 8-11. Carney's foul goal cut the downstaters' lead to two points. Buohl sent the ball whistling through the meshes to set the score at 9-13. Jones and Horine both converted single shots from the charity line. The score stood at 10-14 as the half terminated.

Howard, Gettysburg center, commenced the hostilities for the second half with a foul shot. Horine followed with another charity shot. Nixon's field goal placed 'Berg two points in the rear, 13-15. Dracha scored his first double-decker of the evening. With the score at 13-17, 'Berg took time out. Buohl scored again. Carney took a pass form Judt, dribbled under the basket and placed the score at 15-19. Howard scored at ease. Dracha made one of two attempts from the foul line. Rosenberg sent a double-decker thru the cords. Nixon took a pass from Carney and converted a side shot to set the score at 19-23, as the game ended.

Leb. Valley, 42; Muhlenberg, 36

Muhlenberg went into a tie with Ursinus for last place in the Eastern Collegiate Basketball league by losing to Lebanon Valley by a 42 to 36 score in a game played at Lebanon last Wednesday night.

The game was exciting and closely contested throughout, the score being knotted nine times, six in the first half and three times in the last. The Lebanon Valley men, under the leadership of captain Cal Heller who scored nineteen points spurted in the final minutes of the game.

Heller, by his performance Wednesday night, gained the individual scorers' crown of the league. He has a total of 163 points while his nearest competitor is captain Charles Haines of Albright who has 157.

Coach Holstrom used Carney, Steckel, and Matuska alternately in an unsuccessful effort to stop Heller who realized fifteen points in penalties.

Grays, 28; A. T. O., 18

The Grays, a team composed of non-fraternity commuters subdued the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity last Wednesday afternoon on the Allentown Prep. School floor by the score 28 to 18. The victors opened the game with a rush and by half time they had piled up an 11 to 3 lead which the A. T. O.'s were unable to overcome, despite the accurate shooting of Wilkinson.

Joe Skrovanek was the leading scorer for the Grays, caging three field goals and two fouls for a total of eight points. However Bill Wilkinson took the scoring honors of the afternoon by sinking in four field goals and two fouls for a total of ten points. The floor work of Clif Roehrig for the frat men and Joe Rodgers for the Grays was outstanding.

IT'S just what you'd expect. People who enjoy the good things of life... are constantly looking for something better to eat and drink...and smoke.

In cigarettes this better taste can come only from finer ingredients. Chesterfields are more satisfying to the cultivated palate. For one thing, there's never any attempt to skimp on Turkish leaf.

These richly flavored Turkish tobaccos are added with a generous hand.

In fact Chesterfield's new way of mingling tobacco flavors and aromas is really the equivalent of an entirely new kind of tobacco . . . one that combines the best qualities of Turkish and fine Domestic leaf.

Perhaps you've noticed too, that the paper in Chesterfields is whiter...purer. It burns without taste or odor.

Smoke Chesterfields whenever you like...They're mild and pure. They'll never tire you as an over-sweetened cigarette might easily do. Light up and see for yourself. They satisfy!

Non-Frats, 30; Delts, 17

The Non-Fraternity hoopsters defeated the Delta Theta fraternity in an interesting court game on the Allentown Prep. School floor last Thursday evening by the score 30 to 17. The first half was a nip and tuck battle with the Non-Fraternity men ekeing out the advantage as the whistle blew, the score being 13 to 12 in the Non-Frats favor. But the second half was Non-Fraternity throughout, the Delts being able to cage only five points during the latter period.

Gene Lepore copped the scoring honors of the evening, sinking in seven field goals and one foul for a total of fifteen points. Jack Requa was the outstanding player for the Delta Theta aggregation, caging two field goals and one foul for five points

John Detweiler
Philos Club

Behold one of Haps' henchmen! He has his thumb in every bowl of soup which is eaten at the Commons. This is "Johnny" Detweiler from Quakertown, a quiet but handsome and impressive young gentleman.

Few of us know "Johnny," for as is shown by his scholastic ability, he undoubtedly has unlimited potentialities which would make him a campus leader, but he has chosen rather to devote himself to scholastic attainment rather than temporal fame and a survey of his grades will leave no doubt as to his success in those endeavors.

Little is known of "Johnny's" private affairs, but it is rumored that he has some abstract connection with Wilson college. We are sure that the young lady in question can consider herself quite fortunate.

Philos Club is proud to claim "Johnny" as one of its members and after his graduation from 'Berg, we feel sure that the Theological Seminary at Mt. Airy will be just as proud of him. With the feeling that his conscientiousness and perseverence will reflect honor on his Alma Mater, we all join in wishing Johnny the best of luck in all his endeavors.

"PRIEST AND VICTIM" SUBJECT OF SERMON

Rev. C. T. Benze, D.D., Vesper Service Speaker

"Priest and Victim" was the theme of the public Vesper service, March 13th. Rev. C. T. Benze, D.D., of the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia, preached the sermon. His text was taken from Hebrews 13:12.

"This is the second of the last three Sundays in Lent", said Rev. Benze, "and so it always has for its theme the Suffering High Priest. Last Sunday we thought of the Suffering Prophet and next Sunday we will consider the Suffering King. Thereby we see His suffering in all His three offices just before we celebrate His glorious resurrection.

"One of my students at the Seminary, a bright young man, told me the other day, that he thought that the World did not understand anymore the significance of suffering and sacrifice and priesthood and atonement. I believe that he thought truly, for there is nothing in the world today to remind us of these things. Even the Jews secretly feel the change now that they have no Temple or sacrifices, so they too know as little about it as we do.

"Each year we go again", said Rev. Benze, "up to Jerusalem as the pilgrims did of old for the great feasts, we view where Christ became our Victim and then our High Priest. He was a particular kind of sacrifice, the one for atonement for the sins of the nation which the High Priest alone could offer and that but once a year.

"The old sacrifice burned without the gate was accursed, some called Jesus accursed, He suffered as an outcast. But John the Baptist spoke of Him early in his ministry, 'Behold, the Lamb of God, that beareth the sin of the world.'

"Without the camp", continued Rev. Benze, "He cried, 'My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me.' He died with the purpose of sanctifying the people, to put a power into the world which it had never known before. Could Peter have atoned for his denial with his tears or anything else? Could Judas have atoned by his own power? You well know the bitter end of that betrayer.

"Let us carry the blood sprinkled from the cross," exhorted Rev. Benze in conclusion, "and rise with Him. Only if we do this will His suffering bear fruit in our lives." Dr. Marks played three organ selections during the service, "Meditation" by Dethier, "Night" by Jenkins, and "Allein Gott in der Hoehe, Sei Ehr," by Rinck. The Chapel Choir sang Mozart's famous number, "Gloria". Dr. Haas, Rev. Stnie and Rev. Cressman helped to read the service.

The Preacher on March 20 will be the Hon. Claude T. Reno, President Judge of the Lehigh County Courts.

MEDICAL CLUB TO VISIT HOSPITAL

The Pre-medical society of the college will spend Thursday evening in the x-ray department of the Allentown Hospital at which time Dr. William Troxell, head of the department will conduct the group through this important division of the hospital and explain the various phases of x-ray treatment to them.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

SUPPOSE you "dropped in" on Mother and Dad tonight . . . just walked right in with a hearty "Hello, folks!" Wouldn't they be surprised and thrilled? Wouldn't it be fun?

Then get to a telephone this evening and give your home number to the Operator. (It will be "Hello, folks," in a few seconds.) Tell them the latest campus news . . . find out what the family is doing. Next to being there in person, a "voice visit" with home is best.

Try it once . . . if you've never tried it before. You'll soon have the habit of calling home each week for a regular Telephone Date.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Conference Speakers Discuss Russia, Japan And Disarmament

Worth-while Material Presented To Students

On Wednesday, March 16 and Thursday, March 17 three guest speakers of the Christian World Education Conference addressed the student body of Muhlenberg.

Dr. Treadwell Smith, who through his annual student trips to Russia, has obtained a wide knowledge of the various phases of Russian social, economic and religious conditions, addressed the student body during the regular assembly period on Thursday.

Tetsuo Scott Miyakawa as a Japanese apologist: Mr. Miyakawa explained that the various countries in the Near and Far East were undergoing a rapid sociological, political and industrial revolution. He especially stressed the change which is taking place in China and in Turkey. The "Sick Man of Europe" is fast convalescing under the leadership of the dictator, Mustapha Kemal Pasha. In order to fully understand the present crisis in the Far East, we must first have a good knowledge of the various factors involved in the modern progressive East. The success of these changes means either the downfall of Western Civilization or the substitution of a real system of Christian ethics and the downfall of capitalism as a system of economic organization.

The present crisis in China, both Manchuria and Shanghai, is merely the repetition of what European nations have been engaged in for years. Japan is ethically defending her violated interests. The abrogation of certain treaty stipulations and the eviction of Japanese nationals in Manchuria led to the invasion of that most coveted part of China by the Japanese marines. Mr. Miyakawa did not mention that the region of Manchuria is one of the most coveted portions of the two hemispheres, but he maintained that Japan of necessity must grasp some of Manchuria in order to relieve her overpopulated islands." It is interesting to note," said Mr. Miyakawa, "that Japan has always encouraged Chinese migration to Manchuria."

There seems to be, according to Mr. Miyakawa, a great misunderstanding of the situation in Shanghai. It appears that most people naively believe that Japan invaded Chapei because of the ban on Japanese goods. However, this is merely an incidental feature of the question. The main feature is the fact that Japanese nationals have been attacked repeatedly by Chinese citizens of Chapei. In order to make the ban on Japanese goods successful, a frenzy of hatred must be perpetrated against the Japanese by the Chinese. Mr. Miyakawa accused the mayor of Shanghai and other officials of instigating this hatred. In spite of all this, Mr. Miyakawa made it apparent to his audiences that he was not in favor of imperialism.

Of an entirely different order was the talk given by Elliot Johnson on the Disarmament Conference which is now in session at Geneva. Mr. Johnson recalled the promises on the part of the Allied and Associated Powers to disarm down to a point compatible with national security. In this manner the powers had convinced Germany that she must disarm. Apparently the point to which Germany and the Central Powers were disarmed was the point compatible with national security. However, as yet the Allied Powers have not disarmed, but armed.

There are two methods of disarmament, one by budget, the other by direct disarmament. In spite of all the attempts to make one of these methods a reality, nothing has been done. France and Italy cannot agree

Franklin And Marshall Defeats Muhlenberg In Post-Season Debate

Excellent Season Enjoyed By Teams

In a post season debate Franklin and Marshall surprised the Muhlenberg debate squad with a dual victory on the question: "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle."

The debate marked the first defeat of the Muhlenberg negative team, which is composed of Henry M. M. Richards and Ray K. Heist, Jr. Donald V. Hock, captain of the varsity and the usual main speaker of the negative, was unable to accompany the team to F. and M. Mr. Richards was the principle speaker for the negative and Mr. Heist conducted the cross examination. The F. and M. affirmative team was composed of Austin E. MCullough and John E. Dotterer. The judges at Lancaster were: Harris C. Arnold, deputy assistant attorney general of Pennsylvania; Monroe Sloyer of Lancaster High School and William A. Sohl, principal of the West Junior High.

At Muhlenberg, Donald B. Hoffman and Donald Mancke were defeated by F. and M.'s negative team by a vote of two to one. This debate was also conducted under the system of cross examination which was used at Lancaster. The judges at the local debate were: Miss Marion Struthers of Allentown High School, Miss Alice Cary Holmes, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and W. S. Geisinger of Emaus.

The debate season of 1932 was extremely successful. Eight victories and three losses were credited to the team. Twenty-six out of thirty-three judges' decisions were won by the teams.

The season began with the split of a dual debate with Villanova. Gettysburg and Ursinus were defeated in both ends of dual debates. West Virginia was defeated by the affirmative team in a single debate and Temple was defeated by the negative team in a dual debate in which only one decision was awarded. Bowdoin, one of the supposedly strongest debating teams in the East, debated Muhlenberg's negative team in a no-decision contest.

The radio audience of station W. C. A. U., Philadelphia awarded the decision of the debate held on Friday, March 11 to Donald V. Hock and Donald Hoffman over the members of the University of Pennsylvania squad.

In all debates except the radio debate with the University of Pennsylvania, the question debated was: "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle. The question of the radio debate was: "Resolved, That this House Favors Free Trade." Muhlenberg defended the negative.

The formal debate season was concluded on March 22 with a banquet at the Elks Club at which time Ray K. Heist was elected captain of the squad for next year. This marked the last appearance as debaters of Donald V. Hock, Donald B. Hoffman, Donald Mancke, Henry M. M. Richards and Kenneth H. Koch.

PHI SIGMA IOTA

Phi Sigma Iota, Romance Language Fraternity, assembled on Thursday, March 10, 1932, at the home of Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere, faculty sponsor of the group.

During the evening's program James R. Morrison gave an interesting reading on "Moliere and Tartuffe" which was written by a distinguished seventeenth century French dramatist. A discussion hour was followed by the serving of a tasty lunch.

Miss Seaman, sister of Professor Seaman, was a guest of the club for the evening.

Rev. E. H. Delk Speaker At Sunday Service

"At the Wron Fire" Topic of Address

"At the Wron Fire" was the subject of the public Vesper service on Sunday, April 3, 1932. Rev. Edwin Hyl Delk, D.D., of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, preached the sermon, his text being from Luke, 22:55: "And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down among them."

"The night was cold and dark and dismal", began Dr. Delk, "as the soldiers were huddled together in the courtyard of the High Priest's palace. Some one had lighted the brazier in the middle of the court so that they could warm themselves. But this flickering light revealed that one of the cloaked men was evidently out of place, Peter was at the enemy's fire.

"Although the disciple realized the danger here, the spirit which had made him leader of the twelve led him again to the front. He didn't know himself however else he had never shown himself in such company, he of the inner circle, and the one who had cut off the servant's ear in the Garden. He was still perplexed at the Master's meek surrender because he knew of His divine powers.

"But Peter had lost the ardor of his love for Jesus and become cautious, raising his cloak to half hide his face. He had compromised, morally he was failing, regardless of his former physical courage; all compromisers are liable to suffer. After the resurrection Jesus was concerned for Peter as we see in His thrice repeated question, 'Lovest thou Me more than these?'

Judge Claude T. Reno Guest Speaker At Palm Sunday Service

"The World Upside Down" Topic Of Stirring Sermon

Hon. Claude T. Reno, President Judge of Lehigh County Courts, preached the Palm Sunday Sermon on the theme, "The World Upside Down." "An ancient court was in session," began Judge Reno, "the complaining witnesses were addressing the judge and saying, 'These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also.'

"And in Philippi some men witnessed about Paul and his companions again, saying, 'These men do exceedingly trouble our city, teaching bad customs, contrary to us being Romans.' And a big business man of Ephesus complained that Paul was interfering with his business, saying, 'Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our wealth.'

"These charges brought against the early Church reveal its reaction upon its enemies, the terrific impact it made upon the life of the first Century. They called the new doctrine a radical movement, a narrow nationalism, and a detriment to profit. And these charges were true, that was the glory of the believers!

"The Church had little of doctrine and ritular creed, only a program for eternity," continued Judge Reno, "competent to win men by its preaching repentance, forgiveness and redemption and by its rejection of this world in part for the better world. It certainly did turn the world upside down, but any forward movement is radical like that.

"In this religion one saw the sacredness of personality, the common quality of man before God. It challenged business with new ideals, made economic progress subject to moral

New Organization Started On Campus

Opportunity For Men To Become Charter Members

As an outcome of a regional convention of the Lutheran Student Association of America held at Muhlenbrg several weeks ago a group of thirty students has been bending every effort for the past two weeks to establish a chapter of this association on the campus of Muhlenberg. Their efforts have been bearing fruit, for at a meeting held last Wednesday evening, March 9, a constitution was formally adopted. However, the organization cannot be said to be in existence legally until it has been recognized by the faculty committee on student organization. The charter members of this latest addition to Muhlenberg's multitude of activities are anxiously awaiting a favorable verdict from the faculty, and it is believed that this will soon be forthcoming.

This new organization fills a definite need on the campus. The name of the new association may lead one into believing that it is restricted in membership to Lutheran students only. This is not true, for all matriculated Muhlenberg students are eligible for membership. These broad qualifications are written into the constitution. The constitution will be printed in the "Weekly" as soon as it has been accepted by the faculty. It might also be mentioned that this is not purely a ministerial group organization, nor does it deal entirely with spiritual problems, but will endeavor to reach all classes of students on the campus with a program that will cover every phase of student life.

Of course, as its name signifies, the ultimate aim of the Association is to enrich the spiritual life of the student, but it will not aim to do it through a formal, cut and dried go-to-chapel religion, but will endeavor by means of informal discussion groups held in the dorms and fraternity houses to make a man's spiritual convictions active and vital in his conduct.

Inter-Fraternity Dance To Be Gala Social Event

Art Mickley's "Fantasy Eight" Will Furnish Music

On Friday evening, April 8, between the hours of 10 P. M. and 3 A. M. Art Mickley and his well-known dance orchestra will play to the rhythm of dancing feet in Mealey's auditorium to bring to glorious heights the joint fraternal season of Muhlenberg College.

As ever the biggest event on the fraternal calendar, this year's turnout is expected to exceed expectations, irregardless of "Old Man Depression."

Harold Heiter, chairman of the committee in charge of the dance, has been untiring in his efforts to make this year's dance superior to all previous, both in size and success.

Cardinal and Gray programs consisting of a new type of coral celluloid will be used for the occasion. The banners of the seven fraternities will be suspended from the balcony, making an effective splash of color with their respective insignia in contrast to the elaborate decorations. The committee has planned specialties for the entertainment of the guests during intermission.

Invitations have been extended to: Dr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Wright, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Keller, Dr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Swain, Professor and Mrs. Albert C. H. Fasig and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer.

The dance committee consists of Harold Heiter, chairman, Denton Quick, Edward Barndt, Charles O'Brien, Charles Fetter, Allan Ritter, and Lewis Wilker.

Muhlenberg Thespians Win Annual Play Contest

One More Victory Will Secure Cup For 'Berg

On Saturday evening, March 20, 1932, Muhlenberg's actors scored another triumph when they won the annual play contest hld at the Civic Little Theatre in Allentown.

The victory was the result of an elimination process, Muhlenberg besting the cosmopolitan Club's play "Fox Distinguished Service" on Wednesday, March 16, 1932 and then defeating the winners of the Thursday and Friday contests namely: The Carl Hinnerschitz Players' "Dreamy Kid" and the Fantastiks' "Joe," a play by Jane Dransfield.

The Muhlenberg Thespians presented "The Old Man of Edonton" by Paul Green, who was the author of last year's winning play, "Aunt Mahalay's Cabin."

Since Muhlenberg has won the cup twice, only one more conquest is necessary for permanent possession.

The stage manager in charge of the performance in Allentown was Paul Scholl. The lighting was capably supervised by Charles Preston and John Greenawald was property manager.

The Mask and Dagger, as Muhlenberg's dramatic organization is called, will again compete in the Inter-College Dramatic Tournament to be held at Philadelphia. The tournament will cover a period of two days—April 21 and 22. The first group of schools which includes Muhlenberg will compete at Drexel Institute, 32nd and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia on the former date. The second group will compete on the 22nd at St. Joseph's College 18th and Thompson Sts., Phildelphia.

Muhlenberg's dramatic society was successful in winning second place in the tournament last year against major competition. Lafayette College captured first honors with their fine presentation of "Moonshine." Muhlenberg's production, "Aunt Mahalay's Cabin" drew much favorable comment from all sides because of the well developed stage settings, and the brilliant acting of the individual memmembers of the cast.

The competing schools and their presentations are as follows: Muhlenberg, "The Old Man of Edonton"; The Philomathan Society, University of Pennsylvania, "Aria da Capo"; Drexel, "The Giant's Stair"; Temple, "Improper Guardianship"; Lafayette, "Rising of the Moon"; Beaver, "The Wonder Hat"; Mt. St. Joseph, "The Good and The Bad"; St. Joseph, "The Clod"; Immacuata, "Sight of the Blind."

This tournament will be conducted under the exclusive direction of the Inter-Collegiate Dramatic Alliance. The Judges have a stipulated point system upon which they are to base their decisions. The judging of the plays will be based on the quality of the diction, acting, interpretation, presentation and production material.

Although the dramatic society at Muhlenberg is, comparatively speaking, in its infancy, it must be lauded because of the brilliant successes attained up to the present.

The interest in dramatics at Muhlenberg College may be directly attributed to the ability of Professor Coder to direct successful productions. Mr. Coder will have charge of the Muhlenberg players at the coming tournament.

Mr. E. J. Johnson Speaks On World Peace

Is Featured In Wednesday Chapel

"The Challenge of World Peace" in the present day was the theme of the address that Mr. Edwin J. Johnson, one of the three Conference speakers who were on the Muhlenberg campus several weeks ago, delivered to a large group of interested students in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel during the chapel period of Wednesday, March 16th.

Explaining that War is the greatest menace that confronts the world today, Mr. Johnson presented several means whereby the ultimate in peace may be effected. In his opinion there are two groups existing in the world today: the war party who believes in the maintenance of a large army and navy, and the pacifists who have as their ideal the demilitarization of the country. These are subdivided into two groups: those who desire world peace by using public opinion in their behalf and those who would attempt to outlaw war by calling it illegal. There is moreover a third group and these would be the most effective in the event of another war. They are the ones who would refuse to bear arms.

These people would be a challenge to those believing in the necessity of war. They would act in oppostion to those proclaiming the inevitability of armed conflict which they say is merely a diabolic trait of human nature. This group has as its ideal the erasure of propaganda circulated in the behalf of war.

Definite proof that war brings far reaching effects was shown when the speaker proved that the communication time of the various remotely situated nations has been decreased to almost nothing. Proof that this age is an international one is the interdependence of the nations on one another for a market and a source of raw materials. A nation at war destroys the synchronism of concerted movement.

War is an old custom of settling disputes and old customs are passing away. When once the custom of armaments passes war will also pass. If we stand together in the time of crisis there will be no war. That is the challenge of World Peace.

CLASSICAL CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Dean Horn Recommends Many Good Books

The March meeting of the Classical Club, held on Thursday, March 17, 1932, resolved around a very practical and very interesting evening. Dr. Horn as host to the group read and commented on his article used in the Year Book published by the New York Times. The subject was "Greek Literature in Recent Publications ('30-'31)."

It was a very resourceful evening for those interested in securing a well rounded background in the classics. A great number of the books commented on by Dr. Horn are in our Library and well repay the efforts of those who become acquainted with them. Art, Archaelogoy, Literature, Papyri, History, Life, Technical arts and Sciences, Philosophy and Religion are among the various fields reviewed by Dr. Horn.

An informal and interesting round-table talk followed this presentation. The next meeting will be held at the home of the Vice President, Mr. Gehr.

Honorary members Dr. Horn and Dr. Fritsch and Rev. Stine, together with Chas. Fritsch, Wilmer Wolfe, Rudolph Novak, Herbert Frankfort, and Martin Ruoss were present.

A Collegian Does Think—

Some few weeks ago editorial writers and columnists took sides for and against the college student in statements made referring to the unthinking college man. The discussion led to an attack on the average American university man because he does not assert an influence in his country as college students do in other nations throughout the world.

It was stated that collegians have no interest in things going on about them and that in order to prepare themselves for life, when their quadrennium in the university should be concluded, it should be suggested that they interest themselves in world affairs and not be so concerned over the little petty politics within their immediate circle.

However it will not be our purpose to bring back the discussion, which has by now died a natural death, that college men do not think, but we will endeavor to disprove this non-thinking theory by offering a concrete suggestion.

In the civilized world today there are millions starving. Millions of men, women, and children suffer icy winds because of inadequate clothing. Day by day they appear stumbling from home to home begging alms that they may have sustenance until tomorrow when with renewed energy they again apply for position after position and be refused work of any sort.

The very thought of this unfortunate condition is repulsive. We pride ourselves on being highly civilized humans. We pride ourselves on being rational beings composed of body and soul. Rational animals who have been endowed with the God-given faculty of free will, the faculty to be able to think for ourselves. And yet before our very eyes we allow these poor people, who through no fault of their own have been cast upon the sea of life without even a chance to save themselves.

Even while we write, foreign lands are counting their dead who have expired from lack of sufficient food and clothing, and the condition takes no more than a repulsive phase, it is abominable.

If we do grant that there are agencies designated to fight this condition, then we ask ourselves, how will these agencies be able to continue the work unless they have the support of every person not in the position of those whose unfortunate circumstances throws them upon the mercy of the world.

Yes, of course public sentiment is with these poor unfortunates. Of course we don't like to hear the sad tales that reach our ears. The story of this person with a family of ten children whose sick husband has been out of work for over two years. But all the public sentiment in the world, unless backed up by the God-almighty dollar will buy not one loaf of bread, nay, one crumb of bread, for a man dying of starvation.

We have set the dollar up as an idol and have worshipped it for a god. Why? Because it has brought us some little superficial pleasure at a time when we foolishly thought we needed it. Now is the time for us to place ourselves above the curse of the greenback and force it to pay homage to us.

After discussing at length the conditions as they exist, let us now turn to what we, the college men of America can do in our small way to help relieve this abominable state of affairs.

Our suggestion is in line with the method of combating the demon Unemployment, as used in some few cities throughout the United States. In the grocery stores of these cities large barrels have been placed near the door and housewives who purchase goods are asked to buy one extra article and drop it in the barrel. At the close of the day these foodstuffs and goods are taken by a designated agency and distributed to the poor and needy victims of unemployment in that community. The plan has been successfully carried out in most of the towns in which it is used.

And now we come to what we may do in our own puny way to help in destroying the monster, Depression.

In most of the colleges and universities throughout the land there are cafeterias and lunchrooms where the student body partakes of one if not all three meals each day, with the possible exception of Sunday.

We, at Muhlenberg, can readily adopt an idea which has found some excellent success in various places. Many other colleges and even local cafeterias have adopted the idea of a "Mite Box".

This box will be placed at the door of the Commons and the students are requested to deposit one cent for every meal they eat. This will not seriously deplete the students funds and at the same time it will add to the total amount being raised for unemployment relief.

Another "Mite Box" will be placed in the Recreation Hall for the same purpose.

We are appealing to the students at Muhlenberg to aid in this relief work. We are confident that if this is accomplished, we, the college men of the greatest country in the world, will have done our bit in our own small way to help destroy the vampire that is sucking the very life blood of this nation and at the same time prove to the "Doubting Thomases" that in spite of all they may say or write to the contrary, "A Collegian Does Think."

JUDGE CLAUDE T. RENO GUEST SPEAKER AT PALM SUNDAY SERVICE

law, replaced the profit motive with that of pure service, opposed nationalism, deemed all men brethren, bond or free, denounced war and military service, turned against the evil theatre, bloody games, and inhuman practices of the day, the state religions, belief in Caesar's divinity, and sacrifice to gods. Therefore they were persecuted but they won!

"The religion of radiant hope, trusting faith, and redeeming love was too much for the world, then, but is it today? Now is chaos, so great that it can not be painted. In one sentence we might condense much of its significance: the world's ills represent a reversion to pagan philosophy. That is, we follow a materialistic conception of life.

"We follow false leaders," said Judge Reno, "who have robbed man of his inherent value, putting the dollar above the man. Their stupid leadership led us in quest of world markets, the result was the slaughter of ten millions of youths, and the dissipation of 340 billions of dollars. Labor lost those men and that money which was won by sweat, Christian nations were the actors, remember.

"Now the pagan nations are following their example and we protest, yet only polite diplomacy is greeting us. And in business we see the thing which dominates all thought, wealth is supreme, and the chief good, Wall Street has become even beautiful, stock market reports, the truth; Thomas A. Edison set up as an authority on immortality, Henry Ford the most profound moralist, Roger Babson the infallible teacher of ethics, Bruce Barton, the super salesman and eminent teacher, our instructor in religion.

"And the world is in the most tragic, wide-spread depression which it has ever experienced. Factories are idle, the ships are silent in the harbor, the goods are unmoved on the shelves, and firms are failing. In this great land seven million are seeking work, children are crying for bread, and women are weeping in their anxiety.

"The materialists have brought us to this pass," Judge Reno affirmed, "but we still follow and keep refusing to believe what our better sense dictates to us. So we live trying to continue to forget that the spiritual must be on top. We glibly say that Over-production is the cause of our woe, but the true cause is Over-capitalism, the dollar better than the man.

"Why should I speak of such things as these in a Christian pulpit? Probably Christians are interested, and are wondering what the Church will do. When will it rage as a militant organization and be leader of the socially oppressed, industrially depressed, the hungry and the suffering? Stock answers have been given, for instance, they say that the Church is not a law-giver, or a lobbyist in the state or federal capitol, there should be no political parsons, a most dangerous figure.

"Surely no economic program is called for", continued Judge Reno, "we must prevent instead of alleviate. The Church must lose its inferiority complex, it must make men better, new men, and outpour good will. Now as never before must it point towards the Master's social and ethical conduct. That conduct contains more than implications, plain imperatives, the very foundation stones of the New Testament.

"Should the Church tolerate war? Jesus said, 'Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the sons of God.' Should it tolerate child labor? He said again, 'It is not the will of your Father in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.' How can we remain quiet among these victims of the industrial era and not give heed to Jesus' words. What should the Church do about the old age pension, unemployment insurance and other helps for Labor?

"As I read the Gospels, I feel that Jesus deemed one of the major sins of the day to be callous indifference, comfort in the face of suffering. It was this that He utterly condemned in His story of the Rich Man and Lazarus. This rich man was probably good, honest and not dissolute, yet he went to hell. So his sin must have been his love for the comfortable on earth, he fared sumptuously every day in the face of poverty.

The world still loves to ponder about the story of the Good Samaritan. The priest and the Levite were good men in the church and in society and had probably felt the touch of that peace that passeth all understanding when they left the religious service of the Temple, as we do today. But the genius of the Good Samaritan's good character was the fact that he had to serve.

"The same power so wonderful and tremendous which the early Church possessed, that dynamic force the Good Samaritan had before it. There was an ancient court", concluded Judge Reno, "and witnesses complained to the judge, 'These that have turn the world upside down are come hither also'."

The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Watson's entitled "Praise the Lord, O My Soul," Dr. Marks played three organ numbers, Faure's "The Palms", Hollins' "Intermezzo" and Roelman's "Toccata". Dr. Haas, Rev. Stine and Chaplain had charge of the service.

USHERS' ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING AND ELECTION

The Ushers' Association of Muhlenberg College, which so ably takes charge of welcoming the large number of people who attend the Community Vesper services every Sunday in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel, held an organization meeting on Friday afternoon, March 18, 1932, in the Assembly Room of the Administration Building.

In the absence of John H. K. Miller, who previously directed the ushers, Walter R. Harrison presided at the meeting. Byron R. Stauffer, '34 was elected to the office of head usher and will have complete charge of the affairs of the organization. There will be sixteen ushers enrolled, divided into four groups with four members to a group. Each group will officiate at one service during the month.

Justifiably incensed, the irate manager of the business office frothed at the late arrival in the following manner:

"Late again! Have you ever done anything on time in your life?"

The latecomer answered with an air of solemnity. "Well, I bought a car."

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Robert C. Horn read an interesting paper on "Alexander's Visit to Jerusalem" at the spring meeting of the Classical League of the Lehigh Valley held on Saturday afternoon, March 12, 1932, in the recreation room of Curtis Hall on the Cedar Crest college campus. Dr. Horn's paper was a description in the first person, explaining how Alexander-the-Great visited Jerusalem as told by one of his interpreters. The paper explained vividly why the Jews were so friendly to Alexander and why they played so large a part in his colonization endeavors. At the invitation of Dr. Horn the league will meet at Muhlenberg for the meeting next fall. Dr. George T. Ettinger and Dr. R. R. Fritsch were also present at the meeting.

Rev. Charles B. Bowman was a speaker at Lenten tea, given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Good Shepherd Home in the old folks' cottage at Fifth and St. John Streets, Allentown Thursday evening, March 17, 1932. Rev. Bowman gave a beautiful description of the Lord's Supper, comparing that occasion with certain phases of modern existence.

Dr. Robert C. Horn has contributed an article on Greek Literature to the current issue of the American Year Book, a compilation of the advances made during the past year in science, literature, archaeology, the motion picture theatre, religion and other subjects. Dr. Horn's contribution, the fifth that he has been requested to write, is a study of the various books and discoveries in the field of Greek literature during 1931. In it Dr. Horn briefly discusses Greek art and culture in the light of the most recent discoveries and comments on some of the most outstanding books.

Dr. I. M. Wright addressed the Lehighton Rotary Club on Tuesday evening, March 15, 1932. His subject was, "The Essentials of Leadership."

Dr. R. R. Fritsch will give a series of Bible studies for the Montrose Bible Conference during the week of July 11-17, 1932.

Dr. Preston A. Barba gave a demonstration class on the interpretation of pictures for the first grade teachers of the Allentown School District on Wednesday, March 16, 1932.

Dr. I. M. Wright was named a member of the board of directors of the Torch Club of the Lehigh Valley at its monthly meeting held in the Hotel Bethlehem on March 14, 1932.

"Where's that proofreader?" shouted an irate man with blood in each eye.

"He certainly would be right hard to find now," said the editor uneasily. "What's he done this time?"

Cardinals Lead By Narrow Margin In Intramural Basketball Games

Grays Running Close Second At the "Half"

The intramural basketball season has passed the half-way mark. The Cardinals are leading by a margin of five ponts over their nearest competitor, the Grays. The Cardinals, however, have played one more game than the Grays and lost this, while the Grays are undefeated. On a percentage basis the Grays should be in the lead, since the five points majority which the Cardinals hold is the result of a lost game.

Bill Ritter stated that the games this year are cleaner than ever before, the players themselves checking personal fouls without reminders from the referee. This is the result of a desire to play for recreation rather than with a "win at any cost" attitude. Results follow:

Wednesday, March 15

The Cardinals defeated the Philos Club 24 to 17. The Cards were held in check throughout the first half, but swung out in front during the second. Zamites for the Cardinals and Keebler for the Philos were scoring leaders.

The Grays trounced Delta Theta by the score of 32 to 14. Cuchran with twelve points led for the Grays, and Ward with five points was high scorer for the losers.

Thursday, March 17

Alpha Tau Omega decisively defeated Theta Upsilon Omega by the score of 24 to 9. Wilkinson was star of the winners' attack, while Dilcher led his team.

Phi Kappa Tau defeated Phi Epsilon Pi 28 to 11. The winners began scoring with a rush and were never headed off. Hollenbach with a total of nine points led his team, while Cooper and Saul were tied for scoring honors for the losers.

Monday, March 13

The Grays won over Phi Epsilon Pi by the narrow margin of one point, the score being 19 to 18.

Alpha Tau Omega in an overtime game defeated Delta Theta by the score of 21 to 19.

Tuesday, March 14

The Non-Fraternity team rolled up the impressive score of 50 to 14 again Theta Upsilon Omega. Lyson was scoring ace of the game with thirteen field goals.

Theta Kappa Nu trounced Phi Kappa Tau by the score of 37 to 7. Takacs was high scorer of the game.

Friday, March 18

Theta Kappa Nu gave the Philos club a severe lacing by the score of 48 to 19. Takacs with six field goals and one foul led the victors in scoring, while Minnich with two field goals and one foul was high scorer for the losers.

The Non Fraternity team eked out a victory over the Cardinals by the score of 23 to 22. Dietrich and Zamites starred for the losers, while Le Pore and Sheldon led for the winners. The Cardinals missed eight shots from under the basket in the closing minutes of the game.

Monday, March 21

The Philos Club came back into the winning column by defeating Phi Epsilon Pi by a score of 30 to 17. Keebler, Kuntzleman, and Minnich in the order named were the leading scorers for the Philos, and Saul was the big game for the Phi Epsilon Pi team.

The Cardinal Club staged a comeback by defeating Alpha Tau Omega 32 to 19. Zamites and May were high scorers for the winners, while Wilkinson was the outstanding scorer for the losers.

Tuesday, March 22

Delta Theta won over Theta Upsilon Omega in a close game by the score of 18 to 14. The sensation of the game was a field goal for Theta Upsilon Omega by Bianca of Delta Theta.

The newly formed Grays continued in their undefeated stride by overwhelming Phi Kappa Tau 34 to 18. Cuchran and Rogers were scoring aces for the winners, while Hollenbach, center for the losers, led their scoring column with six points.

Thursday, March 31

The Philos Club gave Phi Kappa Tau another defeat by the score 24 to 20. Keebler with five field goals was high scorer for the Philos, while Reinhard and Hollenbach were tied for the losers' scoring honors.

The Cardinals won over Delta Theta by the narrow margin of 25 ot 23. Welsch with six field goals led the Cardinals to victory, while Singer and Henry were high scorers for Delta Theta.

NO SCORE, NO SHOTS NO FOULS IN FIRST HALF

A basketball game at Shenandoah, Iowa, recently, should go down in the records as one of the freak games of all time.

Imagine the first half of a basketball game in which:

1. No points were made.
2. There were no shots at either basket.
3. There were no fouls.
4. There were no technical violations.
5. The ball was never out of bounds.
6. There were no held balls.
7. There was no time out.
8. There were no substitutions.
9. The referee handled the ball only twice and blew his whistle only twice, once at the start of each quarter.

It was this way. Clarinda High and Shenandoah High were the teams involved. At the start of each of the first two quarters, the Clarinda center got the tipoff and tapped the ball back to one of his guards. The guard dribbled to a corner of the court and then stood there with the ball until the time was up. The Shenandoah five-man defense waited, never coming out of its formation.

The same thing happened at the start of the third quarter, but after a couple of minutes the Shenandoah boys came forward and the playing started. The teams were tied at the end of the regulation game, 6 to 6, and Clarinda won in the overtime period, 9 to 7.

The referee said he never heard such continual booing as that from the Shenandoah stands in that unique first half.

Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere, head of the Muhlenberg College department of romance languages and president of the Lehigh Valley chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French, will be the toastmaster at a dinner meeting to be held at the Sun Inn, in Bethlehem, on May 4, 1932, at which time heads of colleges, high schools and preparatory schools, together with their wives will be guests of the organization. The program will consist of informal addresses. Dr. Corbiere presided at the recent meeting of the organization held Saturday afternoon, March 5, 1932 in Easton.

FOOTBALL SQUAD SHOWS IMPROVEMENT DURING SPRING TRAINING

Predicts Success for Next Season

Despite the touch of wintry weather, George R. Holstrom, head mentor of the Muhlenberg College grid squad, sent his charges through their first drill of "spring training" Wednesday afternoon, March 16, 1932. The work was largely in practicing the new football rules announced on February 16, 1932 by the National Football Rules Committee. These new rules have been highly recommended by Coach Holstrom who strongly believes them worthwhile in making the game safer for the player.

An unusually large number of candidates responded to the first call for spring practice. The Cardinal and Grey coach, when interviewed by a Weekly reporter, seemed very enthusiastic concerning the material from which he hopes to mold a smooth-running eleven for next season. "One thing is very encouraging," explained Holstrom, "we have more weight out there this year than in any of the recent seasons. Of course it is much too early to draw any conclusions. We are just trying to place the men in the position best suited for them."

Although the last grid season was anything but impressive for Muhlenberg, Coach Paul Weber, of the Freshman squad, discovered and developed some real stars among the yearlings who loom big as real varsity material. These men will be used to fill up the gap in the ranks which will be caused by the graduation in June of "Sam" Bortel, "Stan" Carney, "Dank" Giltner, "Major" Majercik, "Polly" Palladino, "Pete" Thomas and Leon Godshall.

The spring training will continue indefinitely, and will consist of chalk talks and drills besides the practicing of the new rules under the altered system of coaching, necessitated by the revised rules.

on a direct method and America so far has not approved of the budget method. It seems silly to waste as much on armaments as is now being spent in as much as it would be possible to preserve the same ratio of security by cutting each nation in proportion to its present armament. The necessity of restricting airplane manufacture is also necessary to the preservation of world peace.

Seattle.—The University of Washington has a blind heavy-weight wrestler in Howard (Bill) Dent who rates high among college wrestlers. The 19 year old, 184 pound youth lost the sight of one eye when four and was totally blind at seven. Yet, he is an eagle scoutt and an instructor of swimming at camp besides being a wrestler.

"I get a kick out of wrestling," he explained. "These fellows who tear into you are easy," he added. "Ordinarily they have only one hold. Stop that and you have them.

REV. E. H. DELK SPEAKER AT SUNDAY SERVICE

"Peter's denial", continued Dr. Delk, "was caused in a large part by his fear of ridicule, that greatest of universal fears. Besides, he was fearful lest he too would die if they put Jesus to death. Peter had not yet experienced the fact that if one would find his life, he must first lose it for Jesus' sake.

"The disciple used unnecessary moral strength by standing at the enemy fire, and broke under it. Jesus was conscious of our deep need when he included the petition 'Lead us not into temptation' in His prayer for us. Peter was burned at this fire, and so have we been burned, by our evil desires. Magazines pander to our desire for immoral muck, and questionable plays, and dangerous acquaintanceships; we just say that we want experience to give us an insight into life. Playing with fire is a fool's pastime.

"The prophecy of Peter's denial was fulfilled", said Dr. Delk, "and Peter went out into the night to cry; where else could he have gone? The Supreme Lesson for us is that we should sit at the fire created by His words, He solves the practical problem of our living. We should warm ourselves in the light of His life, with Him who called little children unto Himself, talked to a poor woman at a well, talked kindly to a rich Jew at night. He had sympathy for the poor in spirit and rebuke for the self-exalted.

"Above all", concluded Dr. Delk, "we should warm ourselves at His cross, for there we can fill up the lack in our courage. There we learn to bear a shining morning face regardless of temptations. Like a soldier let us follow, as the great men of the past have set us an example."

Dr. Haas, Dr. Fritsch and Rev. Cressman had charge of the service. The Chapel Choir sang Crone's anthem, "Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing"; Dr. Marks played "Vision", "Jesu Bleibet Meine Freude" by Bach, and "Pastorale" by Bach also.

The Preacher on April 10 will be the Rev. Harry Snyder, Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Nazareth.

Who's Who on the Campus

John H. K. Miller
Philos Club

The blare of a trumpet announces the presence of this amiable soul, "Johnny" Miller. Johnny comes to us from Philadelphia, the son of a minister, entering 'Berg with the intention of following in his father's footsteps but his interest in Y. M. C. A. activities has caused him to change his mind.

John is musically inclined, having been a member of the Muhlenberg Band for four years, for which he provided the bass with his big "tin" horn. He is also quite adept with the trumpet and has been instrumental in organizing the "Cardinals", the college syncopating orchestra. In chapel his clear tenor voice is blended with the others in the college choir.

In his freshman year John became connected with the M. C. A. cabinet and his interest there has led him to be a leader in all other such organizations for student betterment found on the campus. He also claims membership in the C-Y, the ministerial club, and the Students Lutheran Association of which he was recently elected regional president.

John is majoring in business and his excellent grades have made him eligible for admission into M. B. A.

We are sure that Johnny will discharge himself, in his chosen profession, to the extent that his brothers in the Philos Club will be justly proud of him.

T. U. O. FRATERNITY ENTERTAINS FATHERS

Almost fifty persons, representing Theta Upsilon Omega members and their fathers assembled on Saturday, March 12th at 6:00 P. M. in the T. U. O. fraternity house to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the Fathers and Fathers Day, by a banquet.

Following the banquet, Attorney Carl Cassone and Russel Daugherty alumni members delivered addresses to the members and their fathers. The fathers were officially welcomed by the fraternity president, Charles Fetter. The faculty speakers of the evening were Professors Miller and Reichard, members of the fraternity and Dr. Swain delivered the main speech of the evening, taking as his subject the Sino-Japenese situation.

New York City—No football captain will be elected for 1932 at Fordham University out of respect for Cornelius Murphy, tackle, who died as a result of injuries sustained during last season. Murphy was generally conceded to be the choice for next year's captaincy. A field captain will be appointed before each game during the next campaign.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HERE'S ONE FACT proved beyond a doubt! More and more telephone calls from campus to home are being made each month.

The reason's not hard to find!

Try it yourself, just once! Call up Mother and Dad. You'll not forget the thrill of hearing their voices . . . nor their joy in hearing from you in person. Small wonder if you come back for more . . . regularly, each week!

"Voice visits" with home, you'll soon discover, are next best to being there. They cost so little and give so much. That's the reason for their popularity.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Modern Problems Of Paganism Vs. Neopaganism Presented By Dr. Haas

Deplores Tendencies of Modern Art and Literature

Assures Religion As Only Salvation in World Today

"Paganism vs. Neopaganism" or the modern trends was clearly and thoroughly discussed by Dr. John A. W. Haas before a very large audience of Muhlenberg students in the Egner-Hartzell Memoral chapel on Wednesday morning of April 6th.

Introductory remarks by the speaker showed that when one period followed another and the preceding period is larger, attempts are made to bring back the period that has passed. Such is the case with paganism preceding the Christian era, and our neopaganism.

In discussing the neopaganism of today with that of the ancients several points of contrast were convincingly brought forth. The ancients believed, first of all in a material and ideal conception of the universe. Then gradually they turned toward the moral side of things. The naturalism of today is shown to be a comedown from that of long ago, and less noble than the ancient attitude.

In regarding the term success, the ancient world is ahead of ours. The early people considered the honored ones, the thinkers and leaders, and not those who posessed great material wealth. It is to-day however, that wealth determines the importance and honor.

The lecturer remarked upon the dissimilarity of the modern literature with its neo-paganistic style and the noble ancient concepts. He decried modernistic art as the "spineless creation," far below the standard of paganism.

Even in morals the ancient purpose was that of good. Neo-paganism informs us that we are clods of clay tied to nature. We are beasts; we have free love, we have no family life. Just as in morals, the soul has become differently interpreted. The pagan world never denied the solving of present problems with the use of past experiences. But neo-paganism eliminates the soul, it glorifies man and yet we think we are progressing.

In his concldng remarks the Dr. urged "We need investigation. We are spiritually bankrupt in leadership in our world. If we want to continue, we must be touched by religion. We must have a period of examination searching and religion."

SALESMANSHIP TALK GIVEN M. B. A. MEN

The regular meeting of the Muhlenberg Business Association was held at the Phi Epsilon Pi house on the evening of Monday, April 4, 1932 at which time Messrs. Krauss, Mentzer, Metzgar, Nehy, Requa and Wahl were accepted as new members.

Following a few remarks to the new men by President Ray Munsch, the speaker of the evening was introduced to the assemblage.

Mr. Frank J. Haberle of the Royal Typewriter Agency of Allentown gave a very instructive speech on "The Development of the Typewriter" and led from this to a discussion of the qualities of good salesmanship. "Enthusiasm and hard work are the main requisites of salesmanship" said Mr. Haberle and he admonished all men intending to become salesmen to keep those two key-words in mind and actions.

The next meeting of the M. B. A. will be held on May 9, 1932 at which time officers will be elected following a banquet. The evening's program will conclude with a visit to the "Morning Call" plant in Allentown where the members will be initiated into some of the mysteries of newspaper work.

Muhlenberg Fails To Place In Middle-Atlantic Contest

Kenneth H. Koch Represents State in Eastern Finals

The Middle-Atlantic Oratorical contest was held on April 1. The winners of the contest were David Goodman of the College of the City of Detroit and Ernest Harrison of Worcester College, Ohio. Kenneth H. Koch of Muhlenberg represented the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Union. Mr. Koch did not score, there being only two places awarded and no decision being made as to which place is superior.

Mr. Goodman spoke on the subpect, "Sinister Shadows", in which he discussed at some length the significance of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and other similar occurrences in the world today.

Mr. Harrison, who was picked on an equal basis with Mr. Goodman, spoke on the subject of "Educated Spectators".

The subject of Mr. Koch's speech which won him the Muhlenberg contest and also the contest at Gettysburg, was "Whither World." The speech was chiefly concerned with the problem of war.

The finals in the United States Intercollegiate Oratorical Union's Contest will be held at Northwestern University on the twenty-ninth of of this month. Mr. Goodman and Mr. Harrison will be the finalists in this contest to determine a champion.

Mr. Koch was accompanied to West Virginia by Donald V. Hock, manager of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Union at Muhlenberg, and by Mr. Ephraim E. Everitt of the English Department.

Mr. Koch, who has been exceedingly active on the campus during his four years at Muhlenberg, will be graduated in June. From Muhlenberg he intends to go to Dickinson Law School where his oratory and debating will undoubtedly help him greatly.

Annual College Ball To Be Held In Library

Will Take Place On April 22nd From 9 P. M. to 1 A. M.

The Second Annual College Ball will be held on Friday evening, April 22nd. The dance, will be under the sponsorship of "Haps" Benfer, popular Muhlenberg Registrar.

The First Ball last year was such a fine success that Mr. Benfer decided to sponsor the dance as an annual event. The proceeds of the affair this year will be used to furnish a reception room in the Arcade.

As customary the dance will run from 9 until 1, and the Social Hall of the Library will be the scene of the promenade.

More details concerning the orchestra and price of admission will be published in the next issue of the Weekly.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

Wednesday, April 13—Address by Dr. Fritsch.

Friday, April 15th—Morning Suffrages.

Extemporary Piano Recital Is Offered By Ione Pickhardt

Interprets Excerpts from Own Irish Opera

Ione Pickhardt, famous pianist and composer, and especially well-known for her extemporania was presented to a Muhlenberg audience, for the second time in as many years, on Thursday morning, April 7, in the Science auditorium. Madame Pickhardt used selections from her own opera Moira, showing the origin of the simple Celtic tunes, and her development of them. Interspersed with these selections she played several numbers on request, in compliance with the demands of the student body. Madame Pickhardt revealed the origin of the numbers of her opera as dating back as far as the fifth century. She located these original, simple, Irish tunes in the Petri and Morgan collections. The story of the opera concerns the beautiful story of an Irish girl, whose father is a bootlegger, and whose love affairs were not fortunate.

As she played these numbers, she interpreted each one for her audience, and went from the depths of heavy tragedy to the heights of delightful frivolity in this brief revelation of the opera.

Madame Pickhardt, quite adept technically, and excellently skillful in extemporizing, played such numbers as The End of a Perfect Day, Mighty Lak A Rose, Trees, The Rosary, extracts of the Rhapsody in Blue, To an evening Star from Tannhaüser, Sylvia, and Narcissus. She concluded her brilliant program with a rendition of Fair Muhlenberg, and the Alma Mater.

'Berg Men Place High In Psychological Exam

As has been the custom for many years almost all Freshmen entering college must take a psychological examination. Muhlenberg College in accordance with this custom has given such examinations for a rather long period of time.

As a result of tabulations of the 1931, Freshman tests in which 152 colleges comprising 41,000 students took part it was discovered that Muhlenberg Freshmen showed a higher degree of intelligence than the average Frosh at the other colleges and universities. Whereas the median of the other schools is 147.37 Muhlenberg men have obtained the surprising median of 162.50, a difference of over 15 points.

The tests are sponsored by the American Council on Education, a very powerful national educational group. As a result of these tests the Council is almost accurately able to predict the career of a boy in his studies at college.

The local college members who assist in giving these examinations are Dr. I. M. Wright, head of the educational department of Muhlenberg College and Dr. Carl J. Boyer, assistant head of the educational department.

Rev. Harvey Snyder Preaches Inspiring Chapel Vesper Sermon

Exhorts Listeners To Effect Reconciliation in Christ

The theme of the public Vesper service was "A Religion That Satisfies", on Sunday, April 10. The guest preacher was Rev. Harvey C. Snyder, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Nazareth. "My text is found in John 1010, 'I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly'," said Rev. Snyder.

"For Jesus and His disciples religion was a profound thing, something that quickened their every action and gave them a different outlook on the world. Yet He never used the word religion; but to describe the course of His beliefs and acts, He used the words of our text. That is, Religion was a Life to Him.

"There are many people today who mention religion as a part of their life or perhaps as a former part of their life or even as an evil. So they talk but Jesus said plainly that Religion is Life. The loosely-joined disciples are they who drop out of church and say that they are dissatisfied with themselves! for Christianity is blameless, the Church is the Body of our Lord.

"The real Christians who are hard pressed today know that Religion is the one satisfying thing today, for it is their whole life and is not affected by the world. Therefore it is our task, who are thus buoyed up, to share this knowledge with our helpless friends. Today in the time of need perhaps we can show the world Jesus, better than at any other time.

"In the immediate past," continued Rev. Snyder, "we have drifted from the Master's essential beliefs, so that Christianity is now a system of ethics, in the main, a counterpart of some Oriental religion. Is it any wonder that men doubt that the old faith can prevail before the gates of

The reading of a paper on "Pierre Loti and His Novel Désenchanté" by Wilmer J. Wolf was the main feature of a very pleasant evening at the monthly meeting of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary Romance language fraternity, on Thursday, April 7, at the Theta Upsilon Omea fraternity house. Mr. Wolf's address was a very interesting, instructive one, which received many compliments from those present. Following the reading there was a general discussion by all members of Loti's various works, which broadened into a survey of other classic French literature. After the social program the members of Phi Sigma Iota were pleasantly entertained by the T. U. O. fraternity at a delicious buffet supper, for which a rising vote of thanks was offered. It was decided at the business session that the next and last meeting for this year of Phi Sigma Iota will be held on May 5 at the home of Professor Seaman.

Last Minute Flashes

(Complete Stories Next Issue)

Monday, April 11—4:30. In a fight to gain better hold upon first place the Grays and the Cardinals played a torrid game which saw the Grays win by a score of 19-16. Sheehan for the Grays and Welsh for the Cardinals were the leading scorers.

This game places the Cardinals in third place and the Grays still tie for first place with the Non-Fraternity team.

Monday, April 11—6:30 p. m. Keeping pace with the Grays the Non-Fraternity aggregation administered a sound lacing to Phi Epsilon Pi. The score was 45-12. Lepore was high scorer for the Non-Fraternity team while Saul made more than half of the points for the Phi Epsilon Pi quintet.

This defeat clinches the cellar position for the Phi Eps boys.

Annual Inter-Fraternity Ball Is Brilliant Social Function

Large and Colorful Crowd Attends Affair

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN DURING INTERMISSION

The peak of Muhlenberg's social season was reached on Friday night, April 8, in Mealey's auditorium, with the holding of the annual Inter-fraternity dance, one of the most brilliant and colorful functions of the current year. Approximately 250 couples danced to the strains of Art Mickley's Fantasy Orchestra. During the intermission, a varied program of entertainment was offered. It was in charge of Danny O'Donnell who served as master of ceremonies, and included piano selections by Roxy Reiff, tap-dancing by Harold Smith, specialty numbers by Jean Mills, the singing of blues songs by Lena Galansky, and monologues and dialogues by Edwin O'Donnell and several others.

The auditorium was quite plainly but attractively decorated with the banners of the various fraternities. Tables were set for the fraternities beneath their respective banners. The fraternities on the campus are Phi Epsilon Pi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Tau, Theta Kappa Nu, Delta Theta, Philos Club, and Theta Upsilon Omega.

Chaperones at the affair included Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Miles Wright, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Keller, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Benfer, and Professor and Mrs. A. C. Fasig.

The committee in charge of the successful affair consisted of Harold H. Hieter, chairman; Lewis A. Hilker, Edward L. Barndt, Charles A. Fetter, Charles W. O'Brien, Denton J. Quick, and Alan A. Ritter.

Frosh Debate Teams Continue Victorious March With Two Wins

Defeat Quakertown and Newark Preparatory School

On Monday evening, April 4 the Muhlenberg freshman debate team defeated Quakertown High School on the question: "Resolved: That Pennsylvania Enact Legislation Providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance. The decision of the judges, Miss Marian Hoats, Miss Antoinette Palladino and Mr. P. Stanley Moysick, was unanimous in favor of the Muhlenberg squad.

The representatives of Muhlenberg, Mr. John Yerger, Mr. Bernard Frank, Mr. Russel Krapf, and Mr. John Brockhoff, defended the affirmative side of the question. Miss Cora Diehl, Mr. Leonard Edge and Mr. Rollin Lawrence defended the negative for Quakertown. Mr. Sidney Lewis acted as alternate for the negative team.

The Quakertown team is coached by John H. Wagner, '31, who was a fellow debater with the Muhlenberg freshman coach, Donald Hock, for two years prior to his graduation.

On Thursday evening the freshman squad was again successful in supporting the affirmative of the same question against Newark Preparatory School. The team on Thursday evening was composed of: John Brokhoff, Bernard Frank, Russell Krapf and John Yerger. The latter served as alternate. The Newark Prep team was composed of Miss Fritzi Reich, Mr. Culbert Miller, Mr. Jack Weil and Mr. Sol Sommer as alternate.

The decision of the judges, Mr. Edwin O. Breisch, Jr., of Catasauqua, Mr. Durbin E. Woodring of Allentown and Mr. George M. Berg of Northampton, was again unanimous in favor of Muhlenberg. Mr. Henry M. M. Richards of the recently disbanded varsity debate squad acted as chairman.

On Thursday evening, April 14, at 7:30 o'clock the Muhlenberg freshmen will meet the Albright freshman on the question which was selected for college debate by the Intercollegiate Debate Council. The question is: "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economics Organization is Unsound in Principle." This debate is the most important of the year for the freshmen debate squad, since it will be the first time they have debated against another collegiate team. Although the debates with the various high school groups were far from being sinecures, (the freshmen lost two high school debates), yet they never really offered forensic opportunity of a collegiate character. Coach Gillespie is relying upon the freshmen to assume the places which this year's seniors will vacate, and it is important that they be given support in this first collegiate debate.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA INITIATES NEW MEN

On Wednesday evening, April 6, Alpha Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha met at the home of Rev. Stine. The early part of the meeting was taken up in the initiation of Messrs. Ruoss, Himeno, Bachman and Garnet. These Juniors will form the nucleus for next year's membership. During the regular business meeting it was decided to hold a joint banquet of the three chapters on May 20. The place of meeting will be either Wernersville or Hershey.

Mr. Fairclough then led the group in the discussion of "Evolution." After a delightful luncheon was served, the meeting was adjourned by the president, Richard Thiede.

Quakertown Woman's Club Plays Host To Varsity Debaters

Debate Marks Final Appearance of Mancke, Hoffman and Hock

The Varsity debate squad of Muhlenberg was the guest of the Quakertown Woman's Club on Tuesday evening. The teams presented their debate on the question "Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic organization is Unsound in Principle."

The Muhlenberg team used the Oregon system for this debate. Donald B. Mancke '32 and Donald B. Hoffman '32 were on the affirmative. Ray K. Heist '33 and Donald V. Hock '32, upheld the negative.

This debate marked the final appearance of Donald B. Mancke, Donald B. Hoffman and Donald V. Hock.

The Muhlenberg team was chosen for this debate because of their excellent record made not only during the past season but the last four years.

KAPPA PHI KAPPANS TO VISIT LAFAYETTE

At the regular meeting of Kappa Phi Kappa, held on Thursday evening, April 7, 1932, it was decided to accept the invitation of Beta chapter of Lafayette College and attend their smoker on the evening of Friday, April 15, 1932.

The next meeting of the Muhlenberg chapter will be held on May 5, 1932 at which time election and installation of officers for the 1932-33 term will be followed by a social hour.

Managing Editor, this issue, WILMER J. WOLF

Allentown, Pa., April 12, 1932

As the time rapidly approaches when another group of Seniors must leave the refreshing atmosphere of the campus to seek their fortunes elsewhere it becomes pleasurable to sit back and relive some of the many thrilling and trying incidents which go to make up the so-called college career.

Many of us are still first year men at heart, if not in mind and to some the first day when they were accepted as bona fide "Frosh" is as vivid as if they were there now. The many little jokes and pranks which the others were in the habit of playing upon the innocents are recalled with a smile. Nothing lives as certainly in the imagination and memory as a personal experience of this type.

Well do we remember the day we returned as second year men and made ourselves apparent to the new men with that superior attitude of "well, we know what is to be done" or "we know what it is all about, anyhow." How we delighted in asserting our authority and how proud we felt to act the part. All this soon vanished, however, when after the first few weeks the serious study began and the professor took us all down a peg and brought us face to face with grim reality.

In the role of third year men our dignity became apparent and we even began to think seriously at times. This was the occasion when the familiar "bull sessions" were at their height. Many and numerous were these outbursts of philosophical interest indulged in, and always with the same result, that of conclusion reached.

And now the fourth and last year has been reached and it all seems like a dream. No doubt the realism of the thing is enhanced by the many associations we were privileged to make durin our all too short stay here, some with regrets perhaps, but others with a feeling of real friendship and fellowship. Therefore, I can say for myself, and perhaps for the majority of my fellow Seniors, that these memories shall never die.

So I close with the words which are so fitting and of which there is no equal in any other language of the humans "Auf Wiedersehn, es war doch so schön!"

—Paul W. Doepper, '32.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

"Exams are coming" seems to be the watchword on the local campus. But why worry?

Now that the Inter-fraternity Ball is over, the Greeks will hibernate for several weeks until the various Spring Formals come around.

The baseball team has opened its season and almost beat Lafayette. The team showed up very well considering the short practice which it had. Better luck next time.

Everybody should support the "Fire Drill Movement" which is being sponsored by Don Mancke. Study the directions on the fire extinguishers carefully but use only in case of fire.

Hooray, "Haps" will again sponsor the Annual College Ball. Judging from the fine reception given this dance last year and the Hard Luck dance in the fall the dance will be a big success.

Scotty Renwick has a job that nobody wants—track coach. With about four events in which he has no entrants and several others where only one entrant is listed Scotty sure has his worries.

Just can't miss those Mills Brothers so will sign off until next week. In the meantime we want fire drills.

HOBO COLLEGE DEBATERS MEET NORTHWESTERN

Chicago.—Even hobo colleges have their exchange and foreign students and from Porto Rico came Justo F. de Lemons to the Hobo College on West Madison Street.

He came to keep an appointment for Lemons makes up one-half of the "varsity" debating team which faced Northwestern University's duet on the question "Resolved, that the United States government should assume control of the basis industries."

Lemons, who made the 3,000 mile trip on 35 cents entered the fray with a distinct advantage. He speaks seven languages. His English is flawless but was the hardest to learn.

"The majority of persons believe a hobo is a person who does nothing but shirk," said Lemons. "But on the contrary, hoboes are seriously interested in social development. They even believe in an aristocracy, but not one of property or birth."

Looking The Campus O'er

Another new movement has been started on the Muhlenberg campus. This movement is designed to aid in the advancement of the general welfare of the students at Muhlenberg.

The movement is for the establishment of regular fire drills. Many of the students do not know which exit is nearest their room. The fire-drills would eliminate all confusion which might be caused by a fire.

Petitions are being circulated among the students to bring this desirable move on the campus. Donald B. Mancke, always alert in an effort to benefit his fellow students, is actively in charge of this movement.

Full particulars will be given at a later date upon the success of this humanitarian movement.

The other day some sad news was posted on the bulletin board. You've guessed it—the notice about chapel cuts. We have even heard that several students may be suspended because of lack of interest in chapel.

Which reminds us of the fact that several times when we came to chapel about 11:05 the roll takers were no longer there. The result—of course some more cuts.

In addition we wonder how some students can have no cuts against them when they haven't even been to the chapel services. We don't know any reason other than a stenographical error. But we were just wondering.

It seems as if those Carnegie exams just keep on following us for some reason. However if the results will aid in the advancement of education we will gladly be martyrs to the cause.

It hardly seems possible that four years have passed since we entered Muhlenberg. It is almost with a feeling of genuine regret that we are aapproaching the final few days of college. Still the inevitable must come and as life is just one continual change the four year pause at college merely marks another step along the way.

"What Is An Optimist?" Eye Doctor, Student Says

Boston—(AP)—Professors at Boston university, correcting papers for recent mid-year examinations, were confronted with the following contributions of examined students:

"An optimist is an eye doctor.

"In 1658 the Pilgrims crossed the ocean. This is known as Pilgrim's Progress.

"A stereotype is an instrument with two peep holes and a slot between. Look through one hole with one eye and through the other hole with the other eye, you see something.

"Theodore Dreiser is a probable candidate for president and the author of 'Main Street.'

"The death of Socrates was caused by an overdose of wedlock."

CHOICE

"So our engagement is at an end?" said the blond youth.

"It certainly is at an end," replied the fickle brunette.

"I suppose you will return the engagement ring?"

"I certainly will if you call around some night and pick it out."

Sweet Thing (Disgusted): "My boy friend has cold feet."

Fond Auntie: "Shame on you, young lady. In my day we didn't find out those things until we were married."

SO 'TIS

"My wife and I had a great argument last week. She wanted a roadster and I refused to buy it because, as I contend, a closed car is more practical."

"Does she like the new roadster?"

JOBS PLENTIFUL FOR GRADS

Cambridge, Mass.—Despite the depression, graduates of Harvard Business School have experienced little difficulty in securing positions. Of 388 students graduated last June, only 35 are jobless. Banking and manufacturing have proved the most attractive fields.

STUDENTS CRITICIZE PROFESSORS

Chicago—"Mature thinking" students of Central Y. M. C. A. college of liberal arts and sciences have been given the power to criticise professors and the school curriculum. Their first recommendation was to make the school co-educational.

ATHLETES STUDY TAP DANCING

Delaware, O.—Ohio Wesleyan University athletes are taught tap dancing to develop rhythm and co-ordination. The course is compulsory for those who intend to become coaches.

FRAT MASCOT LOSES BRIDGEWORK

Eugene, Ore., Mar.—Loss of three of the prized gold teeth in the mouth of Noble, house mascot at the Sigma Epsilon fraternity, is being mourned by members. Last year the brothers decided that their pet, oldest of all campus mascots, would have some shiny new teeth to replace fangs worn down by fighting and carrying sticks. For a few days the dog proudly displayed his new molars, but came home minus the bridgework after another fight.

Berkeley, Cal.—These hard times are costing the very life of 60 University of California students. Recent infirmary reports showed that that number was working through school by sale of blood for transfusions.

INTIMATE SECRETS OF MEN REVEALED BY CO-ED

Palo Alto, Cal.—The most intimate astonishing secrets of 3,000 men students at Stanford University were made public here recently by Miss Collier Connell, feature editor of the Stanford daily.

For instance

Five per cent of the men students, despite the chilly nights, go to bed "raw," or without anything but bedclothes over them.

Most of the professors wear flannel nightgowns.

The majority of the students wear pajamas, preferably of soft tan or blue shades.

Most of the men do not tuck the coats of their pajamas into their pajama pants.

OUT OF THE KITCHEN

Mistress: "Nora, you were entertaining a man in the kitchen last night, were you not?"

FACULTY NOTES

Dean Robert C. Horn gave an illustrated lecture on "St. Paul in Athens" for the Luther League of one of the churches of Reading, on April 28.

At the Young People's Conference of the Unionville Church of Neffsville, Dr. Harry H. Reichard recently gave a reading of "Die Kutzdown Mail", a humorous piece in Pennsylvania-German.

Eighteen people were confirmed by Dr. R. R. Fritsch during the Easter season as members of St. Joseph's Church of Allentown.

An illustrated lecture on the life and works of Goethe, German poet, was given by Dr. Preston A. Barba for the Ladies' Auxiliary of Muhlenberg on Tuesday, March 29, at St. Lukes' Church, Allentown.

Dr. Isaac M. Wright attended a conference of the State Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg on Friday, April 1, at which was presented a report on the reorganization of the teachers' requirements in Pennsylvania, which Dr. Wright was instrumental in formulating.

"The Perfect Man" was the subject of an address given by Dr. R. R. Fritsch for the Mennonite Conference on Friday, April 8, at the First Mennonite Church of Allentown.

On Friday, April 15, Rev. Fritsch will speak at the regional conference of the League of Evangelical Students in the Y. M. C. A. building of the University of Pennsylvania, to which scores of students from all colleges and seminaries in the east will gather.

Professor E. B. Everett acted as one of the judges at the divisional contest of the Interstate Oratorical Union on Thursday, April 31, at the Universitty of West Virginia. Mr. Everett accompanied Kenneth Koch and Donald Hock on the trip.

Muhlenberg Baseball Team Bows To Lafayette Leopards 6 - 3

Errors By Local Team Lose Game In 6th Inning

The Lafayette College tossers defeated Coach Holstrom's Muhlenberg nine on Wednesday, by the score of 6-3.

Millard, Lafayette pitcher, did not allow 'Berg a hit for the first four innings as the two clubs battled along without a score. In the fifth inning the Mules opened up and on three clean hits scored two runs to take a 2 to 0 lead.

In the sixth inning the Lafayette boys scored four runs on one hit and four Muhlenberg errors. They then went on to win the game, 6-3.

INTRAMURALS

Four teams, three non-fraternity and one fraternity, are tied for first place in the Intramural basketball race, each team having a total of 65 Intramural points. The three non-fraternity groups: the Cardinals, Grays, and non-Fraternity, have each won six games and lost one. The Philos Club, the fraternity included in the ranks of the first place holders, has won five games and lost three.

The Grays received their first reverse of the season at the hands of the Philos Club last Monday by the score of 29 to 17. The Grays were handicapped by the fact that several of their stellar players failed to come out for the game due to sickness.

This week marks the end of the basketball section of the Intramural schedule. On Monday, April 25, the playground ball, tennis, and volleyball contests will begin. The fraternity men are rated with a better chance of success in this part of the program, because it has always been difficult for non-fraternity teams to have their men at hand for all these games due to the loose organization of the non-fraternal groups. Tennis, in particular, is always a stumbling block for many teams due to the large number of points lost through forfeited games.

FRIDAY, APRIL 1

The Grays clamped down on Theta Upsilon Omega to win by a 40 to 22 score. Rogers of the Grays and Kistler of Theta Upsilon Omega tied in making seven field goals each.

Only one foul was called in this game, a technical incurred by Moyer of the Grays when he failed to report before going into the game in the second half.

The Non-Fraternity team defeated Theta Kappa Nu 23 to 16. Giltner was high scorer for the losers, and Lepore for the winners.

MONDAY, APRIL 4

The Philos five crashed through with a 29-17 victory over the non-fraternity Grays to place the latter for the first time in the losing column. Kiebler of the winners led the scoring with five double-deckers in a total of ten points.

The Theta Upsilon Omega quintet bowed in defeat before the fast aggregation representing the Cardinals. Welsh led the scoring for the victors with five field goals. The score at half time was 13-7, in favor of the T. U. O. basketeers.

TUESDAY, APRIL 5

The Non-Fraternity team chalked up a 39 to 16 victory over Phi Kappa Tau. Lepore of the Non-Frats led the scoring with seven twin pointers. The score at half-time was 15 to 7.

Theta Kappa Nu lambasted Delta Theta by the score of 47 to 17. Watson of Theta Kappa Nu was high scorer of the game with six field goals and two fouls.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6

The Alpha Tau Omega basketeers defeated the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity in a game in which not a single foul was caged. The A. T. O.'s had an easy time of it in the first half leading the Phi Eps 16 to 4 when the whistle blew. "Ronnie" Watson, A. T. O., held the high scoring honors with fourteen points but was closely followed by his team-mate "Dick" Gramley who caged ten points. George Saul led the Phi Epsilon Pi scorers with six points to his credit.

THURSDAY, APRIL 7

The Non Fraternity cagemen after trailing the Philos Club 11 to 10 as the first half ended, suddenly showed a marked improvement in both offense and defense and beat out their opponents 34 to 16. Gene Lepore and Jules Seldon were tied for the leading scoring honor with five field goals apiece for a total of ten points. "Russ" Keebler led the Philos shooters with three field goals and one foul for a total of seven points.

The Theta Kappa Nu fratmen easily defeated the Theta Upsilon Omega representatives by the score of 27 to 9, Thursday evening in a basketball game in which the victors used seventeen men. The T. K. N. shooters led at half time by a 14 to 5 score. "Vince" Tackacs was the big luminary of the evening scoring three field goals in the second half and four during the game for a total of eight points. "Lyt" Gernen led the T. U. O. hoopsters with two field goals and one foul totalling five points.

MOVIES AID OHIO GRID AND TRACK MEN TRAIN

Columbus, O.—The use of slow motion pictures in coaching college football and track athletes has gained the approval of the Ohio State University athletics department.

During the last few football seasons, moving pictures have been taken of nearly every play of every game in which Ohio State participated. These pictures, slowed down, have been used to point out mistakes and to illustrate why some plays failed and others succeeded.

In track and field athletics, moving pictures were used to show the proper form of leading athletes.

'Berg Track Prospects Prepare For Meets

"Scotty" Renwick To Be New Track Coach

"Scotty Renwick, newly appointed track coach, has a large number of candidates working out in preparation for the first track meet which is scheduled to be held with Lafayette on the Muhlenberg field April 20.

"Scotty" reports that prospects for the coming season are fairly good. Notable strength as found in the short distance runners; Majercik, Requa, and Schlotter are included in this group. The distance men and relay team will probably comprise: Welsch, Land, Godshall and Munsch, with Metzgar and Marzolf as alternates.

Grollman and Land are chief contenders for the high and low hurdles. Bob Geiger should have a good season with the weights, with Carter as his running mate. Grollman and Requa show strength in the broad jumps.

The chief weakness of the team will be in the pole vault, high jump, and javelin throw.

The Schedule

April 20—Lafayette, at Allentown
April 23—St. Joseph, at Philadelphia.
April 30—Penn Relays, at Philadelphia.
May 4—Lehigh, at Bethlehem.

May 14—Middle Atlantics, at Easton.
May 21—Central Penn. Conference, at Bucknell.
May 28—Drexel, at Philadelphia.

Try to do to others as you would have them do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes.

'Berg Tennis Team To Start Season; Fine Nucleus Left

New Men To Fill Places of Snyder, Fulmer and Weiser

Altho three varsity players will be lost from the tennis squad there will be a nucleus of three men to start the season. Some exceptionally fine players have also signified their intention of coming out for the team.

LeRoi Snyder and Bill Fulmer were lost through graduation while Bud Weiser was unable to return this year.

The three players left from last year's team are Cliff Roehrig, captain; Charlie Fritsch and Charlie Cooper. The other places on the team will probably be filled by some of the new men including Hal Miller, Naratel, Ganwere and John Hollenbach. Robert N. Drach will manage the team.

The complete schedule of six home matches and seven away is as follows:

Apr. 22—Phila. College of Osteo., Away.
Apr. 27—F. & M., Away.
Apr. 28—Elizabethtown, Away.
Apr. 30—Temple, Away.

HEALTHFULNESS OF GERMAN DUELS

German student duels are not in the least dangerous, it is contended, and, what is more, they are really conducive to moral and physical robustness.

This is the claim of the German Surgical Association. It is made, we learn from Berlin dispatches, in a formal protest against a proposal to increase the punishments of University students who engage in duels.

In the manifesto of the German Surgical Association is found a wholehearted and powerful defense of the student duel, writes the Berlin correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.

Yet it leaves proud if unsightly scars on the faces of many University men in Germany, he reminds us, and that is why projected legislation against student duelings won sympathy in some quarters. But in the view of the German Surgical Association, mensur, as the practise is called, is the least dangerous of sports, and this correspondent goes on:

"It should be understood that the combatants in the mensur are protected in all their vital and essential part by goggles, gauntlets of chain mail, broad leather pads, and mattress-like quilted wrappings.

"They face one another in fixt positions, from which they are not permitted to budge, and, as a rule, the arms must be kept extended, and only the wrists may be used in the manipulation of the saber.

"The cheeks and chin are practically the only portions of the body which are both unprotected and within reach of the adversary's weapon. They suffer accordingly.

"In a case in which the mensur had fatal results, the Supreme Court treated it as dueling, and consequently as punishable.

"This decision does not seem to have affected its vogue, and efforts are now being made to have it specifically penalized by the New Criminal Code before the Reichstag committee."

But the manifesto of the surgeons declares, we are further advised by this correspondent, that the sabers with which these contests are fought are not "lethal weapons," if the prescribed precautions are taken. Moreover, the surgeons assert that the mensur is to be regarded not as a "duel" but as "a fighting game" or "a fighting sport."

As reported by this Berlin correspondent, the declaration of the surgeons claims also that—

"The injuries inflicted by the saber, it is said, are much less dangerous than those resulting from the fist in boxing, 'as is clearly shown by a comparison of the numbers of fatalities and permanent injuries in the two fighting games.'

"Moreover, the fatalities of the mensur are almost invariably indirect consequences, caused by blood-poisoning or secondary hemorrhage, whereas deaths in the boxing-ring are caused directly by fractures of the skull or shock.

"Indeed, the surgeons go further than this and maintain that mountaineering, swimming, riding, and football "are undoubtedly all much more dangerous than the mensur.' "—Literary Digest.

Who's Who on the Campus

Henry M. M. Richards
Non-Fraternity

This diminutive bit of life is none other than Henry Melchior Muhlenberg Richards, related in some way, few of us have ever been able to find the exact relationship, to the reverend founder of our college.

Henry came to Muhlenberg with the class of 1931 but left the following year to try his luck in the business world. During his year of absence, Henry felt the call of the ministry and he returned to 'Berg the following year, enrolling as a sophomore in the class of 1932.

Henry's interests here at 'Berg have been quite extensive. He is athletically inclined but his small stature somewhat hinders his success in his endeavors, although he is a tennis player of no mean ability. However, he has attained unusual distinction in music and debating. Henry is quite clever at the piano, having the distinction of playing at the college assemblies, socials, or whatever else may require piano accompaniment. His playing may be heard every Saturday evening at the local Y. W. C. A., where he, as a member of the "College Cardinals," helps to provide the syncopation for the weekup "Y" dance. For two years he has been a member of the debate squad.

In addition to these accomplishments, Henry is an excellent student and in wishing him the best of luck, we all feel sure that his persevering qualities will make him well-fitted for the ministry.

X-RAYS FOR YALE MEN

Yale University has inaugurated a new policy as a protective measure for its students when it has set as a requirement of the university an X-ray examination of all students in all departments. The measure was not an immediate one, it having been conceived over a long period of time.

For those students whose chests indicate trouble several photos will be taken during the year as a further precaution. Even the saving of one person from a nervous breakdown would justify the expense, the report states.

Of all students who submitted to these examinations almost one fifth gave evidence of potential infections, but not of the trouble-raising kind.

Foreign Missions Greet Muhlenberg College Students

Dr. George Drach, D.D., Secretary Represents Mission Board

Greetings from the Foreign Mission Field were extended to the Muhlenberg students by Dr. George Drach, D.D., General Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the United Lutheran Church. Dr. Drach's offices are located in Baltimore, Maryland.

Dr. Drach brought these greetings from the foreign mission field after a long trip through India, China and Japan. Dr. Drach also showed many objects of art and handcraft from these regions.

A NEW AIRPLANE DEVICE

A recent development in air mail service has taken place in Europe and Australia recently when air liners have made use of a searchlight device which will signal and halt express trains for the purpose of handing over both occupants and mail, should the liner be subject to accident or delay. The "Popular Mechanics" (of Chicago) reports:

"Some of these searchlights have half a million candlepower, and are used for observation at night as well as for signaling.

"When the pilot encounters difficulties while following the railroad express lines, he signals to a train that he is about to land and the train stops for the transfer of his load. The plan is intended to assure connections with ocean liners for mail and passengers.

The signal system from plane to train recently averted a serious railroad accident in the country.

YALE BANS PROM FLOWERS

New Haven, Conn. March.—The Yale Prom Committee appended a note to the standard invitation to girls, saying: "The Committee has requested your escort not to give flowers," Ivy, Yale News columnist, thinks it would have been a good idea to carry the idea out to its logical conclusion and add: "On second thought, the Prom Committee has requested your escort not to invite you at all and apply the money to the food bill."

REV. HARVEY SNYDER PREACHES INSPIRING CHAPEL VESPER SERMON

hell! Jesus Himself is attacked today because men do not see Him in the proper light—and whose fault is it?

"Ethics of some sort is the religion of the successful man today. He wants to be independent and therefore chooses something which can do no more for him than he can do for himself. Some day he will wake to find himself in the valley of shadows without a guide!

"What does it mean then to have a satisfying religion? It is more than theology, doctrine, beautiful phrases, pious countenances; it is the living of an abundant life, so rich, full and complete. If we would have inner satisfaction with peace and joy, we must do two things. First, make ourselves aware of the infinite powers of God, and second, learn how to appropriate them to ourselves for use to the honor of God and benefit of mankind.

"God is our all; Christ knew it when He walked on earth, so He lived in communion with His Father, He harmonized His life with God's, and then He shared His joy with others. That was His religion, but He called it Life. If we want such Life too, we must appropriate the infinite, divine powers and use them wisely. Much of the burden of the New Testament is that God is a god of power, and Jesus' word to His disciples, 'God's power is for him who wants it.'

"This was the power that changed a Pharisee of Pharisees into a Christian of Christians, Saul to Paul. Jesus tells the disciples without reserve, 'Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on Me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto My Father.' (John 14.12). And Paul said, 'I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.' (Rom. 1:16).

"I exhort you", said Rev. Snyder, "to reconcile yourselves in Christ to God, fill your emptiness. Then will come great things. All physical, mental, spiritual and material power is the result of a harmonny with God or His plans for the world. We can control Nature only as we make friends with it. Only a few things after all have we really conquered, surely not our enemies. The World War did not end enmity, for only Love can overcome the world.

"Are you dissatisfied with the Christian religion? Perhaps you are at fault, God is not. First of all, Jesus says in the Sermon on the Mount, 'Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.' (Matt. 5:23, 24). And John says, 'If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen? (I John 4:20).

"May He give us grace to use His power for Himself", concluded Rev. Snyder, "and for our fellowmen. Then will be the abundant life, satisfactory time and eternity." Dr. Marks played three organ selections, "Cathedral Shadows" by Mason; "Cantilena" by Marks, and "B Grand Choeur" by Hailing. The Chapel Choir sang Rutenber's "Intercession". Dr. Haas, Rev. Stine, and Rev. Cressman had charge of the service.

The Preacher on April 17 will be the Rev. Franklin F. Fry, DD., of the American Lutheran Missions, New York, N. Y.

"Haps" Benfer and O. D. K. to Sponsor Annual College Ball

Steve Fisher's Cardinals To Provide Music For Dancing

PLAN IS TO CREATE GREATER MUHLENBERG

Next Friday evening, April 22nd, Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity will sponsor the second annual college Ball to be held on the second floor of the library, with Steve Fisher's Cardinals providing the syncopation for the occasion. Dancing will be from nine 'til one.

This dance is being sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity, working in co-operation with "Haps" Benfer. A meager charge of fifty cents per couple will be asked. The proceeds will be used to either create a reception room in the dorms, place signs in and about the outskirts of the city to advertise Muhlenberg, or to sponsor a sub-freshman day at 'Berg.

Attractive programs have been secured by the committee and through the courtesy of "Haps," refreshments will be served. The dance is not closed to outsiders and anyone desiring to bring a guest may do so.

The chaperones of the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. Wright, Professor and Mrs. Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. Boyer, and Dr. and Mrs. Reichard. The committee in charge is "Ray" Munsch, "Don" Mancke and "Haps" Benfer.

The second floor of the library will be beautifully decorated under the supervision of "Fritz" Wavrek, 'Berg football star, who has had extensive experience along this line. He will be assisted by Raymond Weider, John May, Albert Klotz and Paul Marzolf.

The furniture for seating purposes will be provided through the kindness of the various fraternities.

This will be the second dance of its nature during the current school year. The first, having been sponsored for charity, was a great success in every phase and it is the desire of the sponsors to make this the criterion of social functions at Muhlenberg.

Muhlenberg Invited To Join Ball League

Muhlenberg has been invited to send representatives to the meeting of the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Baseball League to be held in the near future at the Penn A. C. with the intention of securing Muhlenberg's consent to join the league. However Coach George R. Holstrom, head of the Muhlenberg College activities, in an interview with a Weekly reporter, stated that he thought such action very unlikely, because of the inability to draw crowds to baseball games held at Muhlenberg and thus the inability to meet financial obligations incurred. It will be necessary according to Holstrom, "to play the majority of our games away in order to meet the financial obligations of the sport."

The Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Baseball League is to be enlarged in 1933, William J. Stevens, graduate maanger of athletics at Drexel Institute and secretary-treasurer of the league, announced on April 9, 1932. The present league members are Drexel, Ursinus, Bucknell, Lebanon Valley and Juniata. Albright College has signified its intention of joining the circuit next spring, Stevens announced, and Muhlenberg it is hoped will consider the same action.

Gettysburg, which won the first title in the basketball league, is also said to be considering making application for the diamond conference.

Stevens annouced the league officials had voted to limit the member-

Rev. Fry Is Vesper Service Speaker

"Jesus' View of Life" Subject of Sermon

"Jesus' View of Life" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. Franklin F. Fry, D.D., of the American Lutheran Missions, New York, N. Y., at the public Vesper service, Sunday, April 17, 1932. "From Jesus' words themselves we shall find His view of life" began Rev. Fry, "as the evangelist Matthew records them in 16:26, 'what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?'

"This is the season which speaks of newness of life, of growing, of a life that cares, shares and dares, life indeed. God is the Father of Life, Jesus the redeemer and judge, the Holy Spirit the Lord and Giver, and the Church the message of Life. But what is life? Some people have more of it than others, and some people have different concepts of it.

"Life is an ocean, men, steamers upon it; it is the sum total of human perfection, a constant puzzle, a loom on which we weave the pattern of the hereafter, an Aeolian harp upon which we play, some well, some not as well; or it is a grindstone which may grind us down or polish us, a vapor which passes away, not like a cloud would disappear but ever rising. It is like a vapor which sets a locomotive in motion, powerful. And we conclude then that Life is the breath of God.

"In Virginia I heard a chorus of negroes singing a song", continued Dr. Fry, "with the theme, 'Who will be living when I am dead?' They sang an answer explaining how the trees, flowers and grass live on. But the climax arrives when the song swelled into an 'I will', when my body is dead. Because He lives, I shall live also. The great moment in our lives is the time when we meet our own souls—God has won the conflict! yield to Him.

"The most sacred thing on earth is man's traffic with God, the Creator and Captain of our souls. It is not to be trifled with, for 'what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?' But thousands still maintain with the author of the Rubaiyat that life is a chess game in which one plays against an inexorable opponent. That one recognizes skill but defeats carelessness. Yet such is not the case, Jesus says the truth when He called Life an exchange, with accounts involving profit and loss.

"The universe bears out this idea of change, everything which we see is changing. The barter element, the give and take, of life itself is fascinating. Therefore choose, but choose carefully for something must be dropped for everything which you choose. Nature is at the seat of customs, relentless, never giving except receiving an equal amount.

"What did Moses exchange for the opportunity of leading the Chosen People into the Promised Land, and of receiving the great Decalogue. He had been a scholar and high court official in the richest land of the world, the darling of the daughter of Pharoah. And he became a shepherd. Civilization came to Europe by way

RADIO DANCE STAGED BY PHI EPSILON PI

As a sequel to the most colorful function of the season, the annual Inter-fraternity dance, Phi Epsilon Pi, on Saturday evening, entertained a bevy of beautiful girls.

The evening was given over to dancing, music being furnished by leading orchestras of the country, via radio.

To appease the groups' appetite the fraternity, in a novel and original manner, served refreshments.

Credit for the delightful affair must be given to the committee, consisting of Albert Greenberg, chairman; Morris Efron and Louis Wilker.

Muhlenberg Dramatic Society To Try For Honors In Annual Intercollegiate Play Contest

"The Old Man Of Edenton" Will Be Presented In Competition With Other Colleges

By virture of their victory in the Civic Little Theatre contest of Allentown, the members of the Muhlenberg Mask and Dagger Club will journey to Philadelphia this Thursday evening, to present their play, "The Old Man of Edenton," in the Inter-Collegiate Dramatic Tournament.

The tournament in Philadelphia will also be in the nature of an elimination tournament and will cover two days, the 21st and 22nd of April. The Muhlenberg play will be presented on the first night at Drexel Institute, 32nd and Chestnut Streets.

The cast of the play consists of John Hemmerly, Robert Eisenhard, John Hollenbach, Angelo Bianca, Donald Hock, and the Unknown. The story deals with a noted African explorer who went to Africa a young, happy and carefree man. When he returns he has aged considerably, becomes morose, and then a hermit and is considered a fanatic by all the townsfolks. The story itself deals with the explanation of his sorry plight. The players are assisted by Paul Scholl as stage manager, Charles Preston as lighting supervisor, and Donald B. Mancke as property manager.

The Muhlenberg Thespians hope to be able to better last year's performance by winning first place instead of second. Lafayette College won first place last year with its presentation of "Moonshine," the Muhlenberg production, "Aunt Mahalay's Cabin," drawing much favorable comment for its uniqueness, taking second honors.

The schools which will compete this year, and their presentations, are as follows: Muhlenberg, "The Old Man of Edenton"; The Philomatheon Society, University of Pennsylvania, "Aria da Capa"; Drexel, "The Giant's Stair;" Temple, "Improper Guardianship"; Lafayette, "Rising of the Moon"; Beaver, "The Wonder Hat;" Mt. St. Joseph, "The Good and Bad;" St. Joseph, "The Clod;" Immaculate, "Sight of the Blind."

This furtherance of interest among college students may be attributed to the efforts of the Inter-Collegiate Dramatic Alliance, which organization is sponsoring this contest and under whose exclusive direction it will be conducted.

In judging the merits of the plays, the judges will take into consideration, diction, acting, interpretation, presentation, production material, and originality of the presentation. They have devised a point system whereby they will grade the various presentations.

T. K. N. Holds Formal Alumni Initiations

Last Saturday evening, April 9th, as a climax to an exciting week-end, ushered in by the gala inter-fraternity ball, the Muhlenberg chapter of Theta Kappa Nu, a new social fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus, entertained a number of alumni at a banquet at 7:00 in the evening, after which twelve alumni, members of the former Phi Epsilon fraternity, which has been absorbed by Theta Kappa Nu, were initiated into Theta Kappa Nu.

After the banquet at 7:00 o'clock, the following men were conducted through the ritual in a formal initiation: Howard D. Miller, David H. Neudorfer, Earl F. Ocksrider, Leroy K. Lauck, C. Daniel Liebensberger, Daniel W. Hamm, Walter S. Berger, Leon Rex, Warren H. Held, Morris S. Greth, R. Elmer Kramer, and George Gardner Sevart.

Of those mentioned, two occupy influential positions of local interest; Daniel W. Hamm is the principal of Allentown High School and Morris S. Greth is professor of religion and philosophy at Albright College in Reading.

Dr. Brotemarkle, Ph. D. Was Speaker During Thursday Assembly

An interesting feature of student life was introduced to the student body on Thursday morning, April 14, in the Science auditorium, when Dr. Brotemarkle, head of the University of Pennsylvania Personnel Department, spoke on Student Problems. He named the student as the most important individual in education, and stated firmly that the problems of the student must be solved efficiently and quickly. The purpose of student personnel work, he maintained was to bring about better understanding between the institution and the students. Its far-reaching inquiries touch every phase of curricular and extra-curricular work. The student must necessarily be dealt with as an individual. The doctor came

Mythical All Intramural Teams Picked

The intramural basketball season has ended with the Non-Fraternity team out in front with a margin of five points over their nearest competitors, the Grays and Theta Kappa Nu.

In one of the most exciting games of the season, the Non-Fraternity squad defeated the Grays by a 15-12 score to gain undisputed possession of first place honors.

Although it is not in keeping with the purpose of the Intramural competition to single out and develop individual stars, there has been a widespread desire for the choice of an all league team. The following has been suggested as perhaps the best choice.

All League Team

F.	LePore	Non-Fraternity
F.	Watson	A. T. O.
C.	Naratil	T. K. N.
G.	Rodgers	Grays
G.	Rohn	T. K. N.

Second Team

F.	Malick	T. K. N.
F.	Skronock	Grays
C.	Cuchran	Grays
G.	Riley	Non-Fraternity
G.	Deitrich	Cardinals

Third Team

F.	Saul	Phi Eps. Pi
F.	Takacs	T. K. N.
C.	Bloom	Non-Frats
G.	Keebler	Philos
G.	Wilkinson	A. T. O.

Pre-Med Society Takes Trip Through State Institution

Another of the highly interesting and instructive trips was taken by the Pre-medical Society when they visited the State Hospital on Wednesday, April 13. Upon their arrival at the hospital Dr. Hoffman, of the staff, took them in charge, and before making a thorough tour of inspection of the buildings comprising the plant, he addressed the groups in a short talk on Psychiatrics, mentioning the fact that diagnosis in this field of medical treatment is not so fully important as in other phases of medicine. He said that each person is treated as an individual and not a diagnosed disease. After finishing his introductory remarks, Dr. Hoffman proceeded with the clinic. This was a review of different pat-

Coach Dislikes New Basketball Rulings

"New Rules Unnecessary" Says Holstrom

Copying the action of the National Football Rules Committee, the Joint Basketball Committee has adopted new rules which will bring about one of the most revolutionary changes the game has seen in years. A new center-line rule to eliminate "stalling" was adopted at the meeting of the committee at New York on Saturday, April 9, 1932.

The committee in a general effort to speed up the action of the game also adopted a regulation to curb the so-called "blocking pivot;" cleared up the definition of blocking in general by terming it anything in which personal contact occurs, and definitely ruled that face guarding is a foul.

Contrary to his reaction to the new football rules, Coach George R. Holstrom, director of athletics at Muhlenberg College, thinks that the new basketball rules were unnecessary since the old rules were all right as they were.

"One of the big faults of football" said Holstrom in an interview with a "Weekly" reporter, "is that there are too many rules, rules that the average spectator understands but vaguely. Now, when the average spectator is beginning to understand basketball, they go and make it far more complicated with a lot of new rules, unnecessary rules."

The new regulation in brief, follows:

A two inch center line is to be drawn laterally across the court, bisecting the center circle. A team securing the ball in its own back court must advanced over the line within ten seconds. If the ball is touched by an opponent, a new play results and the timing begins when the ball is regained.

Once the ball has been worked over the center line, it can not be returned until after a try for a goal or possession of the ball is lost. A team obtaining the ball in its own offensive end of the court may work the ball backwards over the center line but once. The penalty for violation of the rule is loss of the ball by out of bounds. The rule is not in force when teams play on courts less than sixty feet long.

Under the new rule games will be impossible in which the defensive team clusters under its basket while the opponents dawdle with the ball at the other end of the court.

The new rule bearing on the "blocking pivot" forces a player inside the free throw line or circle in possession of the ball and with his back to the basket to get the ball out of the area, within three seconds. This regulation grew out of the practice of a player, with a guard helpless behind him, slowing up the game by unlimited feints and gestures. Penalty is loss of ball.

FILM TO BE SHOWN AT GERMAN CLUB MEETING

The regular bi-weekly meeting of Der Deutsche Verein was held on Monday evening, April 10, in the Commons. Another episode in the commemoration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the death of the world's greatest lyric poet, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, was presented. This meeting dealt entirely with the explanation, clarification, and divulgence of excerpts of newspapers, periodicals, and other literature pertaining to the great master. Different members of the Verein took turns in enlightening their Mitglieder on the many angles of this many-sided man. At the conclusion of this meal, consisting of food for thought, the more tangible refreshments were served, as food for the stomach. The continuation of the celebration will consist of a moving picture which will likely arrive in the near future.

Seniors Honored In O. D. K. Initiations On Monday Evening

Palladino, Carney, Hock and Mancke Receive Honors

NEW MEN OUTSTANDING ATHLETES AND ORATORS

Last Monday evening, April 11th, four seniors received one of the highest honors attainable at Muhlenberg College when they were initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa.

These men are Ferdinand Palladino, Stanley Carney, Donald Mancke and Donald Hock, two of whom are distinguished for their athletic ability and the other two for their forensical ability. Palladino and Carney have both been mainstays on the football team during the past three years, alternating at the position of quarterback. In addition, Carney has sparkled for three seasons on the basketball court and baseball diamond. Socially Palladino is connected with the Delta Theta fraternity and Carney with Alpha Tau Omega. Mancke and Hock have both been mainstays of three successful debate squads at 'Berg and in addition they have each won the Pennsylvania State Intercollegiate Oratorical Union Contest; Hock in his sophomore year and Mancke in his Junior year. Hock is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega while Mancke has no affiliation with any social fraternity.

Those present at the initiation were: George Majercik, president of the local chapter, Kenneth Koch, vice president; Edward Barndt, secretary; Dr. I. M. Wright, treasurer; Robert Drach, Howard Kaiser, Robert Geiger, and Raymond Munsch.

Omicron Delta Kappa has been on the Muhlenberg campus for only three years, but the organization has already taken extensive steps to that goal for which we are all striving, a "Greater Muhlenberg." It is regarded as one of the foremost national honorary fraternities in the country

Alpha Tau Omega Is Host At Card Party

Pennsylvania Alpha Iota chapter of Alpha Tau Omega entertained the faculty of Muhlenberg College and their wives at a bridge party, held at the chapter house, last Thursday evening, April 14th.

The members of the fraternity joined their guests in six rounds of bridge at twenty tables. After cards a luncheon of coffee, fruit salad, sandwiches, celery and cake was served.

There were six prizes given, three to the ladies and three to gentlemen. The women's first prize, a beautiful copper pitcher, was won by Mrs. Horn. The second prize for the women, a brazen candelabra, went to Mrs. Keller. The women's booby prize, a set of embossed bridge cards, was won by Mrs. Simpson. Professor Deck won the gentlemen's first prize which was a handsome electric clock. The second prize, a set of handkerchiefs, was won by Dr. Swain. Dr. Merkle won the booby which was a brush.

Those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Swain, Mr. Bernheim and his daughter, Ruth, Dr. and Mrs. Keller, Dr. and Mrs. Merkle, Professor Deck, Professor and Mrs. Koehler, Professor and Mrs. Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. Corbiere, Miss Schwartz, Dr. and Mrs. Shankweiler, Professor and Mrs. Everitt, Dr. and Mrs. Marks, Dr. and Mrs. Mueller, Professor Jackson and his mother, Professor Seaman and his sister, Mrs. Wright, Professor and Mrs. Coder, Dr. Brandes, Professor and Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Stine, Miss Richards, Dr. Reichard, Dr. and Mrs. Horn, Professor and Mrs. Simpson.

Managing Editor, this issue, SAMUEL L. BERTOLET

Allentown, Pa., April 19, 1932

Within a few weeks the members of the Senior class will be asked to co-operate with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The co-operation will take the form of several examinations.

The present members of the Senior class in many instances took these examinations during the last few weeks of their Senior year at High School. Again during the latter part of the Sophomore year the present Senior class took another series of Carnegie examinations.

The examinations which will be given on May 3-4-5 will conclude this research. The results of these three examinations will prove highly beneficial in the shaping of high school and college courses to eliminate the big step between high school and the freshman year at college.

All the colleges co-operating in these examinations are given a rating by the Carnegie Foundation. In order to establish a high average for Muhlenberg and to aid in the work which has been undertaken by the Carnegie Foundation, the Seniors are urged to give their best co-operation in this matter and not to take the affair in a light manner.

FACULTY NOTES

Rev. Charles B. Bowman delivered a brilliant and scholarly address on "The Unknown God of the Orient" last Thursday evening, April 14, 1932 before a large audience in the chapel of Christ Lutheran Church, Allentown. He used as the basis of his address his studies of temples and religions of the Far East made while visiting the Orient several years ago.

At the Faculty Meeting held last Thursday it was resolved that Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, will be a school holiday. At the same time it was settled that the under-class final examinations are to open on Tuesday, May 31, and continue on Wednesday and Thursday, June 1 and 2, then to be resumed on Tuesday, June 7, to run as far as necessary in that week up to Friday, June 10. The under-class examination schedule will be published soon.

Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman is a member of the camp committee which supervises the work of Camp Dent, the Allentown Y. M. C. A. summer camp in the Poconos.

Dr. James Edgar Swain delivered a very informative address on the present Chinese and Japanese situation at the April meeting of the Social Workers' Club last Tuesday evening, April 12, 1932 in the Allentown Free Library.

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch was re-elected chaplain of the Allentown Rotary Club at a meeting held last Friday, April 9, 1932.

Dr. John A. W. Haas will preach the Communion sermon at the seventy-seventh semi-annual convention of the Allentown Conference of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania on Monday, April 25, 1932 at the Jerusalem Lutheran congregataion at West Salisbury.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Hooray, the baseball team has hit its stride. The way they 'murdered' that Haverford aggregation was a sight for sore eyes. Keep it up gang.

"Haps" should have a nice sum collected to put to use in the "Reception Room" after this dance, Friday night. Judging from advance reports the whole college will be there.

Have you signed the fire-drill petition as yet? If not WHY not? See Don Mancke immediately.

Just for your information the "big noises" in the Mask and Dagger play are Paul Scholl and Don Mancke. Oh no they don't act—they merely operate the sound or noise machinery off stage.

Just four weeks more and they even have the exam schedule posted.

Friends will start shortly—meaning—Student Body elections. Oh well, everybody has a good time (if they win).

Chapel bells are ringing and so—being over-cut—it behooves yours truly to attend these services. We truly wish that compulsory chapel was in force for all groups, not excused on certain scrupes, and not merely on a few. Get the idea!

SOME PATCHING

A little girl hurried into a drug store and said, "I want some liniment and cement."

The druggist was puzzled by the unique order.

"Liniment and cement," he queried. "Are you going to use them both at the same time?"

"Yes, sir," replied the little girl. "Ma hit Pa with a big crock jar."

Looking The Campus O'er

Saturday night, Muhlenberg held a dance at Hotel Bethlehem under the auspices of the Sophomore class of Cedar Crest. About two-thirds of the gentlemen present were from Muhlenberg. The other male attendants originated at some other college, or Lehigh.

Spring is here. Absolute proof is found in the large number of so-called golfers on the Muhlenberg campus.

No wonder the Student Body is taxed fifty dollars ($50.00) for grass seed. Even Himeno has fallen prey to this simple pasttime, and a certain fraternity has laid away its Yo-Yo games and are busily engaged in trying to bat or drive a harmless (unless it hits you) little sphere, called a golf ball, around the campus.

No wonder the baseball team is beginning to hit. We understand that Stan Carney, Vince Takacs, Bill Nixon, and Albie Klotz, have a standing bet with Mr. Peters down at the Rosemark, that for each hit per game the players (meaning here Carney, Takacs, Nixon and Klotz) made, Mr. Peters would donate a free sundae. On the other hand for each hitless games the above mentioned play they will donate to Mr. Peters the total cost of two sundaes. This then is the reason for the burst of hitting on the part of the Mules.

Latest news from the "Fire-Drill" organization is that student opinion is swinging to the side of the "Fire-Drillers". Even one or two of the faculty members have been informed of the state of unrest among the common students. Needless to say, it is hoped that within a few weeks the Administration will have found out about this work and will then act accordingly.

The University of Heidelberg held the first college dance in the history of the school a few days ago. Until recently the policy was "No dancing and no card playing." Now the students may attend four dances a year (with their parents' permission) and may play cards as much as they want to.

A college bugle corps which plays taps every night has been formed at New Jersey College for Women.

Purdue University sorority pledges are required to have a B average before they can be initiated.

Experiments conducted at Cornell University showed that plants become drunk on alcohol and anaesthetized by ether just like human beings.

A survey made by the Industrial Research Department of the Wharton School of Finance revealed that men between the ages of 36 and 45 have a better chance of procuring jobs than those of younger or older age.

"The ideal student is always in revolt. A conforming student never learns anything new and never forgets anything old," said William Allen White in an interview with a daily Kansas reporter.

University of Syracuse surveys show that chaperones are a great help to the freshman women at Syracuse. Some of the problems which chaperones have tried to help freshmen women meet are sickness, being in love, boy craziness, and terrible tempers contributing to emotional upsets.

to the conclusion that there were two general conditions influencing the success of the student.

The first was mental development. Under this Dr. Brotemarkle explained the general background of mental development as consisting of fundamental abilities, which were, really, biological factors, inherent in the individual pre-natally. These abilities are noticeable up to about twelve years of age. After this age of mental development come the complex mental processes whose use depends largely upon the individual. These capacities must be used to facilitate success to the greatest degree.

The second phase in successful student life is the solution of those problems that do occur, at once. This is fully as important as the solution of the problems themselves.

LAFAYETTE WILL INAUGURATE NOVEL SYSTEM FOR FOOTBALL

The Lafayette college physical education department is going to inaugurate a new system of football for its students who are not on the varsity team. To take the place of the Intramural League the department will place on the field next fall a junior varsity and a football team made up of men who weigh 150 pounds or less. This plan will give men who cannot make the varsity a chance to participate in organized games. It also gives the smaller men opportunity to compete equally against men of their own size.

It is planned that each team will have a three game schedule. At the present time the 150-pound team has arranged games with Princeton and Villanova and the junior varsity has a game scheduled with Villanova. Negotiations are being made with Pennsylvania Military college and Stroudsburg State Teachers college for games. Lehigh may be added to the schedule if it puts similar teams on the field.

ALUMNI NOTES

Paul C. Empie, '29 and Carlton L. Heckman, '29, members of the senior class of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Mount Airy, have accepted calls to serve as pastors of missions in Philadelphia. Mr. Empie will go to the newly established Prince of Peace Mission, now at 514 Deveraux Street, and Mr. Heckman has been called to the Hope Lutheran Church, Ditman and Benner Streets. The men will be ordained at the meeting of the Synod in Lancaster early in June.

Rev. Claude E. Schick, '27 has assumed charge of his new pastorate, the Lutheran Church of St. Paul 22nd Street, near Columbia Ave., in Philadelphia. Rev. Schick formerly was pastor of the Church of Our Saviour, Haddonfield, N. J.

Intramural Basketball Closes With Non-Frat Team In Lead

Grays and Theta Kappa Nu Deadlocked for Second Place

FRIDAY

The Alpha Tau Omega five defeated Phi Kappa Tau on Friday by the score of 25-13. For the victors, Brewer, Marquet, and Watson scored three double deckers. Underwood, former Bangor star, topped the scoring for the defeated with three field goals and one foul. The score at half-time was 12-2, with the A. T. O. men ahead.

MONDAY

The Grays edged out a 19-16 victory over the Cardinal quintet. Sheehan of the Grays topped the scoring with four field goals and one foul. Zamites and Welsh both scored three field goals for the Cardinals. The Grays led at half-time, 13-8.

The Non-Fraternity basketeers lambasted the Phi Epsilon Pi team to the tune of 45-12. Lepore led the scoring for the winners with eight field goals and three fouls in a total of 19 points. Saul, former Reading High star scored three double deckers and one foul for a total of seven points. At half-time, the Non-Fraternity quintet was in front, 21-2.

TUESDAY

The Phi Kappa Tau five scored a 22-15 victory over the Delta Theta team. The score at half-time was 11-10 in favor of the Delts. Close guarding by the P. K. T. players held the Delta Theta men to 4 points in the second half, while they scored 12 points.

The Theta Kappa Nu quintet eked out a 28-25 victory over the A. T. O. fraternity. Watson of the losers, scored eleven points. Takacs of the T. K. N, five scored nine points for his team. The score at half-time was 13-12.

WEDNESDAY

In the deciding game of the basketball Intramurals, Non-Fraternity five smashed thru with a hard fought victory over the Grays, a strong non-frat commuting aggregation, by the score of 15 to 12, last Wednesday afternoon. The Non-Frats started off with a rush and led at half-time 8 points to 4. Joe Rodgers aided the Grays considerably in the second half by sinking in three field goals. He was the leading scorer for the losers, accounting for seven ponts. Gene Lepore, Non-Frat star, continued his outstanding performances by copping the scoring honors of the afternoon with a total of nine ponts to his credit.

The Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity easily subdued Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity in a game played last Wednesday evening by the score of 28 to 16. The first half ended with the Phi Eps leading 16 to 9. George Saul, Phi Eps' star, led the scorers of the evening with four field goals and four fouls for a total of twelve points. He was closely followed, however, by his teammate, "Charlie" Cooper, who caged five field goals, netting ten points for his team Lytton Kernan was the leading point-getter for the T. U. O. basketeers sinking in four field goals, accounting for eight points.

THURSDAY

The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity set back the Philos Club last Thursday afternoon by the score 38 to 26 and ended the winning streak of the Philos boys, which had proved very disastrous to the championship hopes of several of the leading teams. The first half ended with the A. T. O.'s only leading by the score of 13 to 11, but the second half saw a decided improvement on both teams, hence more action and more scoring. "Bill" Wilkinson, who has been the luminary of many an A. T. O. victory this season, continued his phenomenl play by caging six field goals and one foul for a total of thirteen points. "Russ" Keebler, "Sheriff" Altemose, and Harold Hieter were all tie for leading Philos scorer with three field goals apiece, netting each six points in the totals column.

The Cardinals, who have been among the leaders all season, tasted another defeat at the hands of the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity last Thursday evening by the score 26 to 37. The victors were trailing the Cardinals 10 to 15 when the first half ended but the T. K. N.'s put up a decidedly improved offensive in the second half and not only overcame their disadvantage but piled up enough points for a victory. "Vince" Takacs continued his spectacular playing by caging five field goals and one foul for a total of eleven points. Earl Schaeffer, Frosh star, led the Cardinal shooters with four field goals netting him a total of eight points.

'Berg Blasts Big Baseball Battle From Haverford

Home Runs by Nixon and Giltner Plus Air-Tight Pitching of Takacs Feature

Baseball interest at Muhlenberg mounted greatly over the week-end with the dazzling victory of the Holstromites over Haverford College by the score of 16 to 4 in a game played at Haverford last Saturday afternoon.

Takacs held the losers to four hits while Muhlenberg, with the aid of three home runs, converted twelve hits into sixteen runs. Nixon scored two of the home runs and Giltner one. Takacs made a three base hit in the third inning.

Dank Giltner received a big hand from the crowd in the sixth inning when he came in from center field to catch a short fly, tripped, and caught the ball while lying on the ground.

The game was called in the seventh inning by mutual consent.

In requiring "personal contact" for a blocking foul, which is impeding the progress of an opponent without the ball, the committee eliminated a situation which created a constant series of arguments during the past season. The so-called "screen" play in which an opponent is cut off but not touched is now legal without question.

Face guarding, which hitherto has come under the general head of blocking, goes into the rules book definitely a foul. This is the type of defense in which a guard shadows his man without regard to the position of the ball.

SUNDAY DRIVERS

Lot's wife had nothing on some of the lady drivers of today, thinks Chief Silver. The former looked back and turned into a pillar of salt. The latter looked back and turned into a telegraph pole.

SERVICE

Modern competition seems to be forcing some of our public utility corporations to proffer unusual services to their customers. To call attention to these special services, telegraph companies often use little stickers on the corners of their delivered messages.

The story is current that a father, nervously waiting at his office for the news that both worries and thrills, received the following message: CHARLOTTE GAVE BIRTH TO BABY GIRL THIS MORNING STOP BABY AND MOTHER BOTH WELL AND HAPPY.

On the corner of the envelope containing the message was this label: "When you want a boy, ring Western Union."

MUHLENBERG INVITED TO JOIN BALL LEAGUE

ship of the league to nine colleges. When that number is admitted, he said, each member will play one league game with every other member, enabling the member colleges to engage in a similar number of contests with non-league colleges.

The town of Hanover, New Hampshire, requires all eligible Dartmouth students to vote in order that the town may collect a poll tax from them. In retaliation, the students introduced and passed two bills which proposed the construction of a city hall one foot wide and a mile high and a wall around the town eight miles high. Hanoverians had to take the affair to Washington to get out of building the two structures.

REV. FRY IS VESPER SERVICE SPEAKER

of Paul, says one great authority", said Dr. Fry, "but he was persecuted as Moses had been. Both had seen the Invisible and obeyed. Paul was the sanest and happiest man in the Roman Empire, but he was killed.

"We live in a complex civilization, and are not happy but hungry. Modern civilization in spite of great inventions and discoveries needs redemption. Jesus tells us that we need right relationship, first with God, then with our fellow man and ourselves. I was distinctly impressed with the recent Student Volunteer Convention at Buffalo where Chinese and Japanese students mingled. They arose early in the morning and prayed together for an hour, later studied the Word together, and broke bread together. So the Divine Presence joined them, as their respective nations were carnaging.

"There was One who did live the life, but He never wrote about it or fought with armies for it; they killed Him, and trod upon Him. But their senseless efforts never erased His memory from men these two thousand years. Do you live as He lived, and prayer? (I mean the believing prayer which is work, and really works, is effectual, and leads to work; not at all a holiday, for anything that God can do, we can through prayer.) Dear brother", concluded Dr. Fry, "we were made for both worlds, our souls span between the two. 'Lead on, O King Eternal', 'Jesus, still lead on'."

The Chapel Choir sang Beethoven's "Hymn to Night", and Dr. Marks played three organ selections, Guilmant's "Pastorale", Mattheson's "Air", and Loret's "Marche Nuptiale". Rev. Stine and Chaplain Cressman took charge of the service.

The Preacher on April 24 will be the Rev. K. P. Otten, S. T. M., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Melrose Park, Philadelphia.

Who's Who on the Campus

J. Frederick Gehr
Theta Upsilon Omega

J. Frederick Gehr came to us from our neighboring city of Bethlehem, way back in 1928, and although quiet and conservative, he has succeeded in distinguishing himself as one of the outstanding members of the class of '32.

"Fritz" has been a credit to this institution, both scholastically and as a man. He can be serious and generally is, but he has a keen wit which always serves to enlighten the atmosphere. His father is the pastor of one of the leading churches in Bethlehem and it is probably from him that "Fritz" gets his tireless ambition.

Among his accomplishments Fritz claims membership in Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary historical fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus, an honor attained by few of 'Berg's students; membership in the glee club during his second and third years, and the college choir during his third and fourth; president of the Junior class during his third year; member and vice-president of the classical club; and member of the Lutheran Student Association. All in all his record at 'Berg has been quite commendable and makes us all proud and envious of him.

When he entered Muhlenberg, Fritz planned to enter the teaching profession but he has since turned his inclinations toward the bar (law, not saloon). Knowing his sterling qualities we all join his fraternity brothers in Theta Upsilon Omega in wishing "Fritz" the best of luck in all his undertakings.

Because he fumbled the ball in practice and games a football halfback at Kentucky University had to carry the pigskin to class and everywhere he went as a cure for his bad habit.

ients, with their illnesses explained.

Dr. Hoffman then conducted a tour through the different departments of the institution. There were weaving rooms, reading rooms, and cold baths, where different peculiar disorders of mentality could be studied at will. All gradations of mental deficiency were present. The children's and women's wards were visited. In this building were the rooms in which treatments in phisiotherapy and hydrotherapy were administered. There were also classrooms and a gymnasium for the children, many of whom were really mentally alert, but who were problems in the home. This completed the latest venture of the society in the practical field of observation. The group was accompanied by Dr. Shankweiler, and Professor Miller, of the Biology Department.

Its purpose is four-fold:

1. To recognize a high standard of accomplishment in college activities.
2. To bring the faculty and student body into closer understanding.
3. To bring together the most representative men in the various college activities.
4. To select a group of men best able to represent their college in other field of endeavor.

Date with Home

SET THE DAY and hour and . . . throughout the college year . . . pay Mother and Dad a regular weekly "voice visit" by telephone.

They'll be thrilled to hear the latest campus news . . . to share the fun . . . to know you're well. It's a safe bet you'll enjoy it, too! Make it a habit . . . as much as your weekly letter!

The cost is low . . . particularly at night. Just look at these figures! After 8.30 P. M., points a hundred miles away can be reached for 35c . . . nearly two hundred miles away for 60c! And, of course (Dad will O. K. this), you can always reverse the charge!

Now for the call . . .

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.) Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than the more expensive Person to Person call.

Student Body Dance Enjoyed By A Large Number Of Couples

Second Annual Affair Is Made Success By Work of O. D. K. and "Haps" Benfer

Nearly two hundred couples danced to the strains of Steve Fisher and his Muhlenberg Cardinals at the second Annual College Ball held last Friday evening.

Dancing lasted from 9 to 1. During this time the outstanding event of the evening took place—the premier playing of a new dance piece written by Ray K. Heist, Jr., '33, entitled "Nothing Can Keep Me From You."

The entire affair was sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa and "Haps" Benfer. Ray Munsch, Don Mancke, and "Haps" Benfer composed the committee in charge of the dance.

The dance floor was very beautifully decorated with cardinal and grey streamers and fraternity banners. The entire decoration programme was under the direction of Fritz Wavrek, popular 'Berg athlete.

During intermission sandwiches and punch were served.

Guests and chaperones for the Ball were, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Miles Wright, Dr. and Mrs. James Edgar Swain, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hesse Reichard, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer.

"MUHLENBERG NIGHT" AT BETHLEHEM CHURCH

"Muhlenberg Night" was the occasion for an informal vesper service held at the Salem Lutheran Church of Bethlehem on Sunday, April 17, in honor of Muhlenberg College.

The first feature of the program was an excellent chicken dinner served at half past five, at which were present all of the guests of honor. These included the Muhlenberg chapel choir, Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Marks, Professor C. B. Bowman, State Senator Warren R. Roberts with Mrs. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hensinger.

After the dinner Professor Bowman talked on "Muhlenberg" his address being in the nature of questions asked by a father about to send his son to college such as What Type of Man is President? What kind of Men are the Faculty? What sort of Scholastic Training is Supplied? and What Spiritual and Moral Emphasis are Given?

CLASSICAL CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEETING

All Members Present At Bethlehem Session

The monthly meeting of the Classical Club was held Thursday, April 21, at the home of one of the members, Franklin Gehr of Bethlehem. This was the first meeting of the year with every member present.

President Klick called the business meeting during which mention was made of the progress in affiliating with Eta Sigma Phi. Arrangements were completed for the trip to the museum of the University of Pennsylvania on May 25, under Dr. Horn's direction. Preparations for the annual banquet were also discussed.

The election of officers also took place. The following men were elected for the year 1932-33: President, Martin Ruoss; Vice President, Rudolph Novak; Secretary-Treasurer, Wilmer Wolf.

The discussion of the evening was under Prof. Fritsch of the Classical Department of Allentown High School. The talk centered about the classical activities at A. H. S. and also a very interesting program was furnished by Prof. Fritsch for all to participate in, along a classical line. Year books or snapbooks of Virgil were shown and were highly commended.

Chapel Choir Given Banquet By Dr. Haas

Rewarded for Splendid Work During the Year

Dr. John A. W. Haas, entertained twenty-eight members of the Muhlenberg College Chapel Choir, together with their director, Dr. Harold K. Marks, at a sumptuous informal dinner held in the private dining room at the Americus Hotel on Wednesday evening, April 20.

The dinner was given the choir in recognition of the splendid service it has rendered throughout the year at the regular Sunday Vesper services held in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial chapel. As a further mark of thanks Dr. Haas presented each member of the choir with a five dollar gold piece.

While the dinner was characterized by no formal program. Dr. Haas expressed his thanks to the organization for the part it played in making the regular vesper services the success they were and exhorted those members who will be in college next year to carry on the work. Dr. Marks also thanked the group for its splendid co-operation and pointed to the part they had played in each service. Charles Sell promised on behalf of the choir that they would endeavor to put forth the same efforts next year.

Guests present in addition to Dr. Haas and Dr. Marks, included Charles Sell, Harry Dunlap, Wilbur Hemstreet, Joseph Zamites, Milnor Kessler, Charles Schaeffer, John Hollenbach, Richard Klick, Alfred Mattes, Massa Himeno, Woodrow Savacool, John H. K. Miller, Charles Fritch, John Metzger, Mervin Schelly, Richard Kistler, Donald Mancke, Joseph Henry, Luther Schlenker, Frederick Fairclough, Robert King, J. Frederick Gehr, Carl Fisher, William MacMillan, Russell Beazly, David Kline, Joseph A. LaCoe and James Angstadt.

Rev. Otten Is Speaker At Sunday Services

"The Strength of the Hills" Is Topic for His Sermon

The sermon of the public vesper service of Muhlenberg College in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel was delivered by Rev. K. P. Otten, S. T. M., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Melrose Park, Pa. The subject of the afternoon was "The Strength of the Hills", the text Psalm 121:1, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."

"The spiritual mountains of Palestine have influenced the world and mankind in a tremendous way, mountains recorded both in the Old and the New Testament," said Rev. Otten. "We will consider four of them this afternoon, first of all, Mount Sinai. This one is found on a rocky peninsula which had not had any permanent inhabitants since Moses' day, because of the little vegetation and water. But God appeared to Moses here about thirteen or fourteen centuries before Christ, when Moses was leading a murmuring crowd of Israelites.

The Ten Commandments God gave to Moses and today they are basic to our spiritual and national life. The first table of three laws deals with our relations to God, the second table of seven with our relations to man. This mountain tells us that all men are guilty in the sight of God, and that not one is innocent, no, not one.

"The world's finest sermon was preached on the second mountain of our discourse. We omit a name for it because only tradition assigns it to be the two-peaked hill near the Sea of Genessaret. This scenery is different from that of the first mountain, not rugged but beautiful. Galilee was cultivated. On this mountain Jesus told His disciples the Beatitudes, here away from the city and

Quarter Century Of Service Will Be Completed By Dr. Fritsch This June

DR. ROBERT R. FRITSCH, D.D.

When this semester ends in June it will bring to a close the twenty-fifth year of Dr. Fritsch's connection with Muhlenberg as Professor. In 1907, after six years of teaching at Allentown High School, Dr. Fritsch came to Muhlenberg as substitute Greek teacher for Dr. Horn, who was then taking graduate work at Harvard. After a year of teaching Greek, Dr. Fritsch was appointed assistant to the head of the German department, Dr. Wackernagel, at whose death he became head, also giving one hour a week to a very elementary Bible study course. When the close of the World War brought a great influx of new students to Muhlenberg the German and Bible departments were separated, and Dr. Barba placed in charge of the former, Dr. Fritsch of the latter. Since then the Bible department has steadily grown in size and importance under his care.

Band Gives Concert In Assembly Period

Completes Successful Season In Fine Manner

A very successful season for the band was brought to a close with a stirring concert presented to the student body in the Science Auditorium, Thursday morning, April 21, during the regular assembly period. As usual, Steve Fisher was the conductor, and again gave a good account of himself.

The opening selection was a march, "The Military Escort". The type of music ranged from spine-tingling marches, to waltzes, musical comedy tunes, overtures, and familiar lyrics of the past decade.

The continued improvement of the band was to be noted, although it played its marches better, by far, than the other numbers, possibly because those members are not suited to the screaming of trumpets and the blaring of the rest of the brass.

The varied program was concluded with the rendition of the Alma Mater, and The Star Spangled Banner, as arranged by the late John Phillip Sousa. The program as presented, was as follows:—"Military Escort," "Youth Triumphant," "Honolulu Moon," "There's a Long Long Trail," "Queen City March," "New Dawn," an overture, "Follow Me," the Alma Mater, and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lutheran Students Club Is Sanctioned

Club Is Organized With A Large Membership

The official sanction of the faculty committee on student organization has been granted to the recently organized Lutheran Student Association of Muhlenberg College. This organization was effected on the local campus by the untiring efforts of approximately forty students as an outcome of a convention of the North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America held at the local college on last February 19, 20 and 21. At the first meeting of the local group on Wednesday evening, March 9, a constitution was formally adopted. However, the organization could not have been said to be in existence legally until it had been recognized by the faculty committee on student organization.

At the meeting of the new organization held on Monday evening, April 18, it was reported that the official sanction of the student organization committee had been secured. "The purpose of the organization," as the formal report reads, "is to afford a means whereby Lutheran students may become acquainted with each other, consider and act upon their common problems, and strengthen and encourage each other in Christian faith and in loyalty to the Church." The membership is not restricted to Lutheran students only, as the name of the organization would falsely lead one to believe, but all matriculated Muhlenberg students are eligible for membership.

Prior to the meeting on April 18, the organization had been directed by a steering committee composed of the following: Donald Steinhauer, chairman; J. Frederick Gehr, secretary; Charles T. Fritsch; Alfred Mattes, George M. Ruoss, Russell S. Beazley and William H. MacMillan. However, at the April meeting election of officers for the ensuing year was held. Herbert E. Frankfort, '33 was elected president; William H. MacMillan, '34, vice-president; Byron R. Stauffer, '34, secretary; and George B. Ammon, '33, treasurer. The open ballot system, by which nominations are made on the first ballot, was used. Plans for next year were discussed, particularly means of welcoming the new Freshman class.

Muhlenberg Wins No Places In Dramatic Contest This Year

St. Joseph's Wins First Honors, Lafayette Second and Temple Third

The Mask and Dagger Society's production, "The Old Man of Edenton," did not place in the annual Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic alliance contest held in the Drexel auditorium in Philadelphia last Thursday evening. The Cap and Bells Club of St. Joseph's College won first place with their play, "The Clod," the Marquis Players of Lafayette College placed second with "Rising of the Moon", and the Templayers of Temple University gained honorable mention with the play "Improper Guardianship."

The first prize for acting was given to Donald Berkowitz, of Lafayette, who played the part of the ballad singer in his production; the second acting prize went to John Fraunces of St. Joseph's who played the title role in "The Clod"; while honorable mention was given to Norman Strickland of Temple as "Fred" in "Improper Guardianship."

The play "The Old Man of Edenton" is a weird story of early America. There are five main characters in the play.

John Hemmerly, a sophomore, plays the lead role of Jules, the old feeble, broken down man who confesses that he has been keeping his leper wife in his home for ten years. Up to this time Hemmerly has been cast mainly in juvenile rôles but in this new rôle he has done some excellent acting.

The part of the bluff, braggart, sheriff is taken by John Hollenbach, another sophomore, in an admirable manner. Angelo Bianco takes the part of an Episcopal minister, depending upon constant praying, in a high pitched voice, to defend himself from the witches. Throughout the play this forms an undercurrent to the action. Bianco is also a sophomore.

Donald V. Hock, a senior, who so ably took the part of Blue-Gum-Ed in the prize winning play last season, is cast in the rôle of the high-strung notary of Edenton who insists upon repeating constantly, "I'm not a coward, but I think we should get out of here at once." The final rôle is played by Charles Eisenhard, a junior, who is cast in the rôle of Mumbo, the hideous, mutilated, split-lipped

BOOK BY DR. SWAIN IS BEING PUBLISHED

A book by Dr. J. E. Swain, entitled "The Struggle for the Control of the Mediterranean Sea Prior to 1848" is being published by the University of Pennsylvania press. This book is the result of ten years of research work gleaned largely from the French and English archives.

In this issue of the Political Science Quarterly, which is edited by the History Faculty of Columbia University, is published a review by Dr. Swain of Ming's "Compte de Vergennes".

Two articles by Dr. Swain have also been accepted for publication by the Political Science Quarterly and the Journal of Modern History, which is published by the University of Chicago. The article which will appear in the Political Science Quarterly is "French Occupation of Algiers in 1830". The title of the article to be published in the Journal of Modern History is "Tallyrand and Belgian Independence in 1830."

Dr. Swain has also just completed work on a new Freshman history syllabus entitled "Guide for the Study of Human Progress." This marks a complete revision of the present syllabus and will be more complete in its scope. It will be used next year for the first time.

EDITOR'S SCRAPBOOK

Well, we see where Student Council actually held a meeting. That news is encouraging. At least we now know we still have an organization commonly known as the Student Council.

And maybe the Chapel Choir members aren't lucky. Get a free meal and a five dollar gold piece for merely attending chapel and once in a while warbling.

Again the track team is made up of a few first class men but no one else to hold down some second and third position. Tough luck!

And now it's golf. A group of ambitious players have been organized to uphold the laurels of Muhlenberg. On the side it seems as if Holstrom is trying to sneak onto the team. Frankly we think the team will be better without his services as a player. Not that George isn't any good but the others are so much better.

Just another good dance gone. Too bad the "Annual Ball" only comes once a year. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves—especially at intermission.

"Haps" plus O. D. K. deserves much credit for the success of this dance.

Incidentally that piece of Ray K. Heist's surely deserves some mention. In its premier playing it was undoubtedly a success.

Possibly Ray will donate a complimentary copy to the school to remember him by when he is writing for Lopez, Olsen and Whiteman.

'BERG FAILS TO WIN IN THE DRAMATIC CONTEST

negro slave, who hovers omniously as the instrument of fate in the background.

As in last year's prize winning play the "Old Man of Edenton" depends on a lot of atmosphere. Terrific storms, off stage, crashing thunder, beating rain and the eerie wails and clanking of chains all combine to lead up to a thrilling spectacular climax when the leprous wife, ghastly with her partly decomposed face appears in the doorway just as the conflagration in the house breaks forth.

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY ENTERTAINS STUDENTS

Shows Picture "Deferred Payment" and Has Speaker from Hospital Clinic

Another step in the meteoric rise of the Pre-Medical Society to prominence on the Muhlenberg campus was taken with the presentation of the motion picture Deferred Payment before a large group of students in the Science Auditorium last Thursday evening, April 21.

The picture, with a semblance of a plot, showed in a graphic way the manner in which venereal diseases acquired in youth are transmitted in marriage and work their havoc on children.

Upon the conclusion of this film, Dr. Shankweiler introduced Dr. Ramer of the clinic at the Allentown Hospital. Dr. Ramer, with his background of experience at the clinic, gave a very informative talk on these diseases.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS CLUB IS SANCTIONED

Following the meeting the new president, Herbert Frankfort, appointed the following committees: Budget Committee, Christian J. Schenck, chairman; Harry P. Dunlap and Henry B. Grove; Membership Committee—Joseph K. Harper, chairman; Walter R. Harrison, Frederick J. Schlick and James A. Angstadt; Publicity Committee—Russel L. Krapf; Program Committee—John H. Bennetch, chairman; Merwin Shelly and Russell S. Beazley; Freshman Advisory Committee—Richard F. Garnet, chairman; John R. Albright, Marlin Herb and Samuel F. Stauffer. Dr. John A. W. Haas, Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman and Rev. Russell W. Stine are faculty advisors of the organization. John H. K. Miller, '32, a member of the local group, is president of the North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America.

Meetings of the Lutheran Students Association shall be held at least four times annually, during October, December, February and April. It is possible however, that a special meeting will be called by the president before the regular academic year is complete. The Lutheran Student Association is already sponsoring the weekly discussion hour every Thursday night at 6:30 P. M., at which time Dr. Robert R. Fritsch is leading a thorough and interesting study of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these discussions.

Looking The Campus O'er

Another tennis season opened Friday. Hal Miller was the only player to win his match. However the team has not had much chance to practice and should come through with flying colors.

Student Council has brought up another old question—abolition of frosh regulations. It seems that the failure of regulations on the 'Berg campus can be traced definitely to the absolute inertia and lack of cooperation on the part of Student Council and the Sophomore Vigilance Committee or the Freshman Tribunal. This has been true not only this year but other years as well.

Just the other day we noticed two of the Muhlenberg student body going swimming. No results have been announced but both seemed to think it was slightly cool.

Much interest was manifested at the dance Friday when the composition of Heist's was played. As near as we can remember the title was "Nothing Can Keep Me from You." That boy sure has a lot of faith or else (guess).

Speaking of faith isn't it strange that sometimes the people one would expect to have faith in you really do not. At any rate the fellows kept the faith with "Haps" in the conduct of the dance, Friday, much to the great pleasure of "Haps".

Just one more week and then Carnegie exams. The Seniors have a chance to help the standing of their Alma Mater by making good grades in the examinations to be given. Here's hoping they all co-operate to the best of their ability. If they do we are confident that Muhlenberg will stand high in these examinations.

FACULTY NOTES

Rev. Russell W. Stine gave an address on "The Place of Christian Culture in the Education of a College Man" at the district meeting of College Y. M. C. A.'s held at Lafayette on Saturday, April 23.

Spring Gently Lays A Covering Of Optimism Over The Practice Field

All in all we can say that spring, besides bringing the birds and bees and flowers, has also brought a generous portion of optimism to the practice field which so long has been covered with gloom. Any way that's the way things stand now, and in the meanwhile Coach Holstrom is feeling pleased with the prospects.

Coach Holstrom is feeling pretty good these days, in fact he says that he is well pleased. Well pleased with the results of the recently completed spring football training, and just as happy over the performance of the baseball team so far this season.

To begin with we'll take up baseball. The team came to life in a big way in handing out a 16 to 4 defeat to Haverford, Takacs allowing only four hits in the game, and Nixon, the shortstop, coming out of the hitting slump that bothered him at last year, to score two home runs.

Sterner has the third base position sewed up and is hitting and fielding in a fine manner. Carney is holding down first base and shows greatly improved hitting ability. Second base is still open and the tussle is between Matuska and May. Matuska's arm, injured in football, is slow in improving and handicaps his throwing.

Weiner, behind the home plate, reminds local fans of the time when Slemmer was prancing around in this position. His ability to sizzle the ball to second base has been responsible for many put-outs of would-be stealers.

Klotz is filling the bill at right field without an error, while he also has been hitting the ball hard. Saalfeld and Simensky are the utility outfielders. Simensky lacks experience, but is improving, while Saalfeld has an excellent chance for a regular berth if his hitting improves.

Takacs and Steckel have the call on the pitching. Steckel pitched a fine game of ball at Lafayette and deserved to win if any pitcher ever

Lafayette Defeats Muhlenberg In Opening Meet Of The Track Season

SCORE IS 83 TO 43

Majercik, Welsh, Geiger, and Weiner Excell for Muhlenberg

Making its debut before the home fans, 'Berg's track and field team lost a very interesting meet to Coach "Mike" Miller's Lafayette College team by the score 83 to 43. Although handicapped in manpower in many of the events, "Scotty" Renwick's boys put up a closely contested battle despite the apparent difference in the score.

Lafayette won nine first places while Muhlenberg copped six. The Easton collegians had the majority of the place winners for second and third positions.

George Majercik, speedy 'Berg sprinter, garnered ten points for his team on two firsts, the 100 and 220 yard dashes with but little trouble; while Wendell Welsh, former Allentown Prep School star, accounted for an equal number of the Muhlenberg points in winning the one and two mile runs, finishing in a walk in both instances, in the latter case walking for the last quarter mile. On the field "Bob" Geiger took the shotput and a second place in the discus throw. All of the three men mentioned above hold the school records for the events in which they placed. "Reds" Weiner, making his first appearance on the varsity track and field team, won first place in the javelin throw and placed third in the shotput for a total of six points. "Norm" Land, another newcomer, made four points with a second place in the 440-yard dash and a third place in the 220-yard low-hurdles. Godschall, Grollman, Mitchell, Requa and Novak each accounted for one point of their team's total with third places in the various events.

George Grollman, after placing third in the 120-yard high hurdles,

Intramurals Began Again This Monday

The second half of the intramural program began this week and from now until the end of the college term there will be plenty of action on the back-campus, with playground ball, volley ball, and tennis contests scheduled for every evening.

The Non-Fraternity team is now out in front by a small margin of five points and will be forced to the limit in attempting to maintain this lead gained through its excellent basketball season.

The schedule for the remainder of the intramural season follows:

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

LAFAYETTE DEFEATS MUHLENBERG IN MEET

got off to an excellent start in the 220-yard low hurdles and was leading when he tripped and fell, losing his advantage and failing to place. The high jump in which five Lafayette boys tied for first place, was forfeited to them before the start. Howard Hill was Lafayette's leading point scorer, taking first places in the broad jump and discus throw, and second place in the shotput for a total of thirteen points.

"Scotty" Renwick, in his first season as Muhlenberg coach of track is developing a team which, despite their first loss, should make a very creditable showing. He has some individual stars who can be counted upon for regular remarkable performances and is developing other men in order to overcome the weakness of the team in winning their share of first places but failing to place in the majority of the second and third positions.

The summaries:

100-yard dash—Majercik, Muhlenberg, first; Sheridan, Lafayette, second; Boehringer, Lafayette, third. Time—10.4.

220-yard dash—Majercik, Muhlenberg, first; Sheridan, Lafayette, second; Boehringer, Lafayette, third. Time—23 2-5.

440-yard dash—Nagel, Lafayette, first; Land, Muhlenberg, second; Godschall, Muhlenberg, third. Time—54.

880-yard run—Triple tie for first place between Altheimer, Coffman and Ward, all of Lafayette. Time—2:13.

One mile—Welsh, Muhlenberg, first; Libby, Lafayette, second; Altheimer, Lafayette, third. Time—4:54 2-5.

Two miles—Welsh, Muhlenberg, first; Head, Loff and Girard, all of Lafayette, in triple tie for second place. Time—11:42.

120-yard high hurdles—Harkins, Lafayette, first; Colpon; Lafayette, second; Grollman, Muhlenberg, third. Time—16:4.

220-yard low hurdles—Snyder, Lafayette, first; Harkins, Lafayette, second; Land, Muhlenberg, third. Time—28.

Shotput—Geiger, Muhlenberg, first; Hill, Lafayette, second; Weiner, Muhlenberg, third. Distance—40 feet, 3 inches.

High jump—Hill, Snyder, West, Rosenfeld and Williams, all of Lafayette, tie for first place. Height—5:8.

Pole vault—Stephens and Trout, Lafayette, tie for first place; Mitchell, Muhlenberg, third. Distance—9:9.

Broad jump—Hill, Lafayette, first; Wheeler, Lafayette, second; Requa, Muhlenberg, third. Distance—21 feet 1½ inches.

Discus throw—Hill, Lafayette, first; Geiger, Muhlenberg, second; Elraney, Lafayette, thrid. Distance—121 feet.

St. Joseph's College Hands 'Berg Second Set-Back In Track Season

SCORE IS 78 TO 48

Majercik and Welsh Again Star

Th Muhlenberg track team suffered the second defeat of the season at the hands of St. Joseph's College by the score of 78 to 48 at Philadelphia last Saturday afternoon. Majercik and Welsh again starred for the Mules but "Scotty" Renwick's proteges were only able to gather in four of the possible fifteen first places.

"Winnie" Welsh outran Augustine of St. Joseph's in the mile and the two mile runs. This is the first time Augustine lost the mile run in two years of competition. The 'Berg men again showed lamentable weakness in the high jumps and the high hurdles, while Wilkinson scored a surprise victory in the low hurdles. George Majercik won the 100 yard dash with a time of 10 1-5 seconds, and the 220 in 23 seconds.

Shotput—Won by Slezak, St. Joseph's; second, Geiger, Muhlenberg; Third, Durkin, St. Joseph's. Distance, 44 feet 6 inches. (New record).

100-yard dash—Won by Majercik, Muhlenberg; second, Smith, St. Joseph's; third, Requa, Muhlenberg. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Burgoyne, St. Josephs; second, Nash, St. Joseph's; third, Grollman, Muhlenberg. Time, 17 3-5 seconds.

One-mile run—Won by Welsh, of Muhlenberg; second, Augustine, St. Joseph's; third, Cornely, St. Joseph's. Time, 4 minutes, 40 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Gooley, St. Joseph's; second, Smith, St. Joseph's; third, Land, Muhlenberg. Time, 53 3-5 seconds.

Pole vault—Won by Nash, of St. Joseph's; second, Mitchell, Muhlenberg; third, McGarry, St. Joseph's. Height, 9 feet, 6 inches.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Wilkinson, Muhlenberg; second, Burgoyne of St. Joseph's; third, Grollman, of Muhlenberg. Time, 28 2-5 seconds.

Discus throw—Won by Slezak, St. Joseph's; second, Geiger, Muhlenberg; third, Durkin, St. Joseph's. Distance, 131 feet ¼ inch.

Two mile run—Won by Welsh, of Muhlenberg; second, Augustine, St. Joseph's; third, Marzolf, Muhlenberg. Time, 10 minutes, 38 2-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Majercik, Muhlenberg; second, Gooley, of St. Joseph's; third, Montague, of St. Joseph's. Time 23 seconds.

880-yard run—Tie for first between Mornely and Reed, St. Joseph's; third, Godshall, Muhlenberg. Time, 2 minutes 14 seconds.

High jumps—Won by Lalley, St. Joseph's; second, Burgoyne, of St. Joseph's; third, Nash, St. Joseph's. Height, 5 feet 10 inches.

Broad jump—Lalley, St. Joseph's, first; Grollman, Muhlenberg, second; Requa, Muhlenberg, third. Distance, 20 feet 3 3-5 inches.

Javelin throw—Slezak, St. Joseph's, first; Weiner, Muhlenberg, second; Novak, Muhlenberg, third. 151 feet 2¼ inches.

SPRING GENTLY LAYS A COVERING OF OPTIMISM OVER THE PRACTICE FIELD

deserved to win a ball game, errors were the only thing that robbed him of his opportunity. Takacs' performance at Haverford was already mentioned. Mitchell and Evanosky are the relief pitchers, but nothing definite can be said of them until they have had a chance to show their ability in a game.

Reilly of the Easton "Express" expressed his opinion of the 1932 Cardinal ball squad by stating that it was the best Muhlenberg baseball team to play against Lafayette in many a year. He also remarked that only those lamentable errors prevented the Holstromites from lacing the brilliant Easton collegians that have already overcome such teams as Yale and Princeton.

Shimer, who has been out with an infected leg, will probably be on call for the game with Temple, while Giltner, who injured his ankle at Haverford in making a spectacular catch, will be ready for the Moravian game. All is bright and sunny on the baseball front at the time of this writing.

Turning our attention now to football we discover that George Holstrom is gratified with the progress made in the Spring practice seasons. In fact George remarks that this was the most successful of any of the Spring practices held since the inception of this idea.

Although he does not believe that facts merit the prophecies made that this will be the best football season 'Berg has had for a long long time, the Coach says that he feels that marked improvement has been made and a solid foundation laid in the fundamentals such as tackling, blocking, and punting.

The squad turned out in almost full strength for the majority of the practices and carried out their work in a fine spirit. The fellows realize their weaknesses and it is expected that they will concentrate in overcoming them during the summer vacation. If they do, and if all come back who are expected, well then things don't look so bad.

Bloom, Miller, and Dietrich are showing some fine style in punting, a phrase of football technique which was noticeably lacking last season, and some of the new men are showing up well in their departments.

Levine at center, Rutly and Bloom at tackles, Yarshinski and Watkins at guards, and Foster and Padolin at ends are among the new men who rate a good chance for varsity positions if they continue to develop as they have shown promise of doing.

Luke Miller, last year's star tackle, has been playing in the backfield this spring and his position on the 1932 squad will depend upon what the conditions are when practice is resumed this fall.

GOLF TEAM IS LATEST IN MUHLENBERG SPORTS

Another sport has found its way into the Muhlenberg list when a varsity golf team was formed last week.

Matches have been arranged with St. Joseph's, Ursinus, Lehigh, Lafayette and negotiations are under way for a match with U. of P.

A team of six men has been formed consisting of Bill Boone, Paul Cook, Bob Dillinger, Bud Saylor, Larry Rupp, and Massa Hero Himeno.

All members of the team have been playing around 85 during the first week of practice.

If the season is successful golf will probably be added as a minor sport next year to the college athletic program.

BILL RITTER IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF OFFICIALS

William S. (Bill) Ritter was elected president of the Lehigh Valley Board of Approved Basketball officials at the annual meeting of the organization held last week at Cetronia, the Dorney Park Hotel. The board adopted a resolution going on record as opposed to the new "stalling" rule, recently adopted by the basketball rules committee.

ALUMNI NOTES

The Rev. Victor J. Bauer, '95 celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of his ordination on Sunday, April 16, 1932, in conjunction with the twenty-fifth anniversary of St. John's Lutheran Church, Tatamy, of which he has been the pastor since 1906. Special services were held, at which the popular spiritual head of the flock, a resident of Bethlehem, was kept busy acknowledging the congratulations and felicitations of his legion of friends and acquaintances. Prior to his pastorate at Tatamy, Rev. Bauer served congregations at Summit Hill, Dryland and Altonah, Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Ambrose Hering, D.D., '07, Executive Secretary of the Lutheran Welfare Society, Minneapolis, Minn., for the past six and one-half years, resigned, recently to accept a call to take charge of the Inner Mission Society of New York City and is expected to assume his new duties on May 23, 1932.

The Rev. Robert D. Roeder, '82, of Reading, Pa., assumed his duties as the stated supply pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Phillipsburg, N. J. at the beginning of this month. The Phillipsburg congregation became vacant through the resignation of the Rev. Charles K. Fegley, '00, who accepted a call to Wechawken, N. J. Prior to the acceptance of his new duties, Rev. Roeder served congregations at Norristown, Butler and DuBois, Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Howard A. Kunkle, '99, of St. Louis, Mo., has become the pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Muncie, Ind., and took up his residence in Muncie about April 1.

After fifty-four years of active service, the Rev. William H. Myers, '73, first and only pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Reading, Pa., tendered his resignation at the service on April 3. The resignation will become effective at the end of May.

Harold F. Schaeffer, '22, professor of organic chemistry in Waynesburg College, was united in marriage to Miss Katherine A. Fisher, head of the School of Expression, also of Waynesburg College, on April 4, at Washington, D. C. Upon his graduation from Muhlenberg, Mr. Schaeffer took special work at Columbia University and the University of New Hampshire and has held his position since 1926.

Who's Who on the Campus

George Grollman
Non-Fraternity

George Grollman, better known to his host of friends as "Zipper", hails from the neighboring town of Easton. For three years he has centered his athletic prowess on the cinder path in the capacity of a broad jumper or a hurdler. This year he has been a consistent point getter in these particular events. Besides his track activities George has devoted some of his time to cheer leading. The outstanding accomplishment of his college career was his success as business manager of the 1932 Ciarla, one of the best publications edited by any Junior class. George has also been elected to M. B. A. because of his excellence in business subjects.

For several years George has also been the "sax" appeal in the "Cardinal" orchestra.

He has always been a good student and we all feel sure that he will succeed in any line of business which he may choose.

Vincent Takacs
Theta Kappa Nu

Vince Takacs came to us four years ago from Martin's Creek, a small town in eastern Pennsylvania. Vince is one of the best known men on our campus, probably by virtue of the fact that he comes in contact with nearly all the 'Berg students in his duties as manager of the "Rec" hall. He is Haps' right hand man.

Vince has distinguished himself during the past two yars and is continuing to do so this year as the mainstay of the pitching staff of the Muhlenberg baseball team. Due to his success in baseball, Vince has been a member of the "M" club for three years.

Socially Vince is a member of Theta Kappa Nu, formerly Phi Epsilon fraternity for which group he has been largely instrumental in winning for that group, the intramural athletic cup. Vince has starred for four years in intramural basketball and also in volley and playground ball.

Vince is studying education and he expects to follow the teaching-coaching profession after he graduates.

Princeton Prom

Radio listeners of Muhlenberg will be interested to know that at the Princeton Junior Prom the Mills Brothers appeared in person as the added attraction of the evening. The Casa Loma Band and the Colonial Serenaders provided the dance rhythms for the evening.

Dean Gauss, in compliance with the request of the Undergraduate Committee, removed the ban on automobiles for the week-end.

Dr. Robert Legge described the males of the University of California as the "poorest" dressed men in the country," and condemns corduroys as "greasy bacteria carriers." A co-ed is also quoted; "I think the men's trousers are so masculine! I don't know what they would do without them."

Students at Columbia must now either keep their coats on while in the university library, or remove both coat and vest.

REV. OTTEN IS SPEAKER AT SUNDAY SERVICES

noise. So we can notice the vast difference between the guilt-revelation of Sinai and the human perfection exhorted by Jesus. It is not an eye for an eye any more, it is the turning of the other cheek; 'Love your enemies', Jesus said.

"The third mountain is not really called one", Rev. Otten explained, "we know it as Calvary or Golgotha, the place of the skull. It is just outside of Jerusalem, this most sacred spot of all history. Nearby were the graves of the rich but we remember it because the Lamb of God was slain here. God's message in the Light of the Cross is, 'For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not die but have everlasting life.' Therefore this mountain reminds us of the crucified One.

"Over the brook Cedron and near to Jerusalem is the last mountain which we will discuss, the Mount of Olives. Here Jesus ascended into Heaven, and bade His disciples to witness of Him to the ends of the world, and comforted them with the words, 'Lo, I am with you alway.' The spot must have been beautiful for Jesus loved to go here. It reminds us of the victory of the Christian faith, at this place Jesus shall return in the power of His Father!

"Harold Bell Wright in the introduction to his book, 'The Shepherd of the Hills', tells of the two kinds of trails in the hills, one leads along the high, sun-lit hills, where the sun lingers longest; but the other leads down into the valley and the backward look reveals shadows, the sun sets early for that trail.

The service was in charge of Dr. Haas, Rev. Stine and Chaplain Cressman. Dr. Marks played Grey's "Sonata in A Major", Brewer's "A Springtime Sketch", and Gounod's "Maestoso, Molto Moderato". The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Stainer's, "Ye shall dwell in the Land."

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

NOW MORE THAN EVER . . . with the college year ending . . . Mother and Dad are eager to hear from you. What of your exams . . . when do they start? There are countless details they're anxious to know.

Busy? Of course you are. There's little time for letter-writing! Then reach them by telephone . . . pay them a "voice visit." It's the quickest way home with the satisfaction of a face-to-face chat.

And here's a tip . . . file it for ready reference. There's nothing to equal a regular Telephone Date with Home each week. Start the habit this evening! The thrill will last all week!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Muhlenberg's Treasurer Completes 25 Years Of Constructive Activity

Bernheim and His Pipe Aid College Tremendously

On June 6, when Muhlenberg College terminates its sixty-fifth collegiate year Oscar F. Bernheim will have completed a quarter of a century's faithful service as treasurer of the college. His lengthy occupation of this position is distinctive in view of the fact that no other treasurer of this institution has ever held the position for so long a time. His immediate predecessor, Rev. C. J. Cooper served in this capacity for twenty-one years. Jonathan Reichard, the first treasurer occupied the position for sixteen years.

Mr. Bernheim in co-operation with Dr. John A. W. Haas has succeeded in increasing the college endowment from $211,000 to $890,000 and the total property value from $700,000 to $3,250,000. He was also instrumental in securing the finances necessary for the construction of Muhlenberg's beautiful library and the recently completed Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel. During his term as treasurer Mr. Bernheim has seen the student body increase in size from a group of 100 to the present number of 450.

In 1905, two years after Dr. John A. W. Haas became president of the institution, Mr. Bernheim was elected to the position of treasurer, registrar, and secretary to the president. He later received the position as secretary of the corporation. He was well groomed for his present position because of his ability and versatility in handling finances, having served as private secretary to congressman C. S. Erdman, Lehigh-Berks representative to the 53rd session of the National legislature body.

Born in Mt. Pleasant, Cabarrus County, N. C., the son of a Lutheran minister, Rev. Gotthardt Bernheim, D.D., the college treasurer received his early education in the southern state and as a young man came to Phillipsburg when his father was transferred to a new congregation. He had previously learned the printing trade and had practiced it prior to entering Muhlenberg College in the preparatory department in 1887.

In 1892 Mr. Bernheim graduated from Muhlenberg College with an A. B. degree and the distinction of having attained an average of 93 per cent for the four-year course.

Fraternally Mr. Bernheim is associated with the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and was instrumental in building the chapter's present home at Twenty-third and Chew Streets. Upon its completion more than ten years ago it was dedicated to Mr. Bernheim and its alumni members. Mr. Bernheim is also a member of Allentown Lodge 130, B. P. O. E.

Dr. Haas Continues Wednesday Series

Discusses Traditionalists And Progressives

A most interesting and inspiring talk was given by Doctor Haas in the chapel on Wednesday, April 27th, his subject being the "Difference between Traditionalists and Progressives."

"Both types of people have their good and bad ideas.

"The traditionalist is a dweller in the past. But he must be able to distinguish between those customs and habits worth keeping, and those which should be discarded. Naturally out of the culture and research of centuries there are certain things which should live forever, and become a foundation upon which posterity must base its existence. But there are a great many more things which must be discarded, and give way to the new idea of the present and future generations, otherwise our civilization would remain stationary.

"The progressive individual is a dweller in the present and future. But he too must be able to separate the wheat from the chaff. He must make the distinction between radicalism and real progressivism. A radical accepts only the new, and insists on putting away even the finer things of other generations, while a progressive person recognizes the wisdom of the ages and is sensible enough to realize that new ideas are always based upon those of the past.

"Having differentiated between the good and evil in both traditionalism and progressivism, it is now necessary to consider which is the best

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Social Science Club was held on Tuesday evening in the administration building. The meeting was called to order by the President, Russell Krapf and routine business transacted. The meeting was then turned over to Vice President, William Henshaw.

Mr. Henshaw presented a most interesting paper on Socialism. He defined various types and explained the strength and weakness of the several kinds. He continued by giving examples of each in practice.

In the discussion Mr. Henshaw centered his remark around the faults of Socialistic tendencies today—

1. Present means too revolutionary.
2. Underestimate of economic system.
3. Underestimate of individual responsibility.
4. Undervaluation of free enterprise.
5. Danger to liberty through government ownership.

Mr. Russell Krapf was selected speaker for next meeting. He will present current events of interest to the group.

GERMAN CLUB HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING

A very important business meeting of Der Deutsche Verein was held on Monday evening, April 25, in the Commons. Two important dates were set for two of the big events on the calendar of the Verein. The first of these in the Damenabend, to be held on May 11, a Wednesday. On this occasion, the Mitglieder invites young ladies to a specially arranged program of German entertainment, and other interest. In this vein, the International Club of Cedar Crest College is to be invited to attend. The other important date is for the Ausflug, a traditional event with the Verein. It is to be held on May 16, a Monday.

The most important matter discussed at the meeting was the constitution of the Verein. Several important changes were deemed necessary, and these is the Damenabend, to be held no program of entertainment, the meeting was adjourned at an early hour.

Important Changes Made In Student Body Constitution

Frosh Regulations Completely Revamped—Will Vote on Changes—May 12

ARTICLE X.

Amendments to the Constitution

Section 1. a. Amendments may be made to this constitution at any meeting of the student body by a two-thirds vote of the members present, providing such amendment or amendments have been proposed in writing at a previous meeting of the student body and have been approved by the Faculty Committee on student organization.

b. The President shall post such proposed amendment or amendments for at least two weeks prior to the time of voting thereon, and said proposed amendment or amendments shall be printed in at least two numbers of the Muhlenberg Weekly preceding the voting thereon.

ARTICLE XI.

Amendments to the By-Laws

Section 1. a. Amendments may be made to the By-Laws at any meeting of the Student Body by a two-thirds vote of the members present, providing such amendments have been proposed by the Student Council and approved by the Faculty Committee on Student Organization.

b. The President shall post such proposed amendments for at least one week prior to the time of voting thereon and said proposed amendments shall be printed in at least one number of the Muhlenberg Weekly preceding the voting thereon.

CHANGES IN THE BY-LAWS

ARTICLE VII.

Freshman Rules and Penalties

1. Within one week after the opening of college all freshmen are expected to know the Alma Mater and "Fair Muhlenberg." At any time thereafter they must be prepared to recite either of these songs for any upper classman or sophomore. Failure to learn these songs shows such an utter lack of Muhlenberg spirit and the Council will deal with such individual cases that may be reported in whatever manner it sees fit.

2. From the opening of the scholastic year until the Second Semester, each Freshman shall wear a uniform black skull cap with a green button, approved by the Council; from Thanksgiving Day a uniform black knitted cap with a green tuft, approved by the Council, may be substituted.

3. Freshmen shall wear plain black neckties for the periods specified in By-Law number two.

4. Green Tags, furnished by the Council, shall be worn on the campus until the Thanksgiving recess.

5. Freshmen shall not wear Preparatory or High School pins, insignia, or rings throughout the year.

6. Freshmen are required to carry matches throughout the year.

7. Freshmen must use the basement doors to the Administration Building.

8. Freshmen are not allowed to use the front road, nor the front entrance to the Administration, Science, and Library Buildings.

9. Freshman are not allowed to cut the campus or the quad during the periods specified in By-Law number two.

10. The President of the Freshman class shall be responsible for the ringing of the old Muhlenberg bell after all football victories.

11. Freshmen shall not be allowed to appear in public after eight P. M. until the beginning of the Second Semester, unless accompanied by an upper classman; Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Legal Holidays excepted.

12. The Freshman Class is required to attend all home football games, parades and celebrations in a body. At such times the class will be under

Middle Atlantic Meet Switched To Muhlenberg

May 13th and 14th Date For Annual Event

Muhlenberg College will play host to the annual Middle Atlantic States Conference Meet this spring when it will be held on the Muhlenberg field on May 13 and 14. The meet was originally scheduled for the Lafayette College field, but because of a conflict with the centennial celebration of Lafayette College it had to be changed to the Muhlenberg field.

The Middle Atlantic meet is regarded as second only to the Penn Relays in the east. More than thirty-five colleges belong to the conference and regularly send teams to compete in the track and field events. The teams come from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D. C.

At the meet held last year at Haverford College, Muhlenberg placed fourth which was a remarkable showin for the local college. The team which represented Muhlenberg last year was composed of "Hank" Ulrich, George Majercik, "Winnie" Welsh, "Don" Schlotter, George Balthaser, "Bob" Geiger and George Grollman.

The squad lost Ulrich and Balthaser through graduation and Schlotter is out for the season because of sickness. However because the meet will be held on the Muhlenberg field it is likely that a larger squad from Muhlenberg will compete.

Additional equipment necessary for this meet will be donated by Lehigh and Lafayette Colleges.

"Scotty" Renwick, genial trainer and newly appointed coach of the Muhlenberg track team, will be in charge of the renovation of the Muhlenberg track and field and will assist in the managing of the meet.

REV. FRITZ SPEAKER AT SUNDAY SERVICES

The Rev. Ira S. Fritz, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa., preached the sermon at the public Vesper service, Sunday, May 1. The subject of the discourse was "Christ's Commandment of Love", the text chosen, I John 4:21, "And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also."

"Before Jesus arose to the Father," said Rev. Fritz, "He gave a new commandment unto the disciples, new in extent, application and motive. Indeed this commandment has become the principle of conduct as outlined in the New Testament. It is meant for those under the new covenant, who have been made over by the regenerating power of Jesus' death.

"Therefore to us this commandment will mean three things at least. It will keep our theology where it belongs, for our thoughts of God will stay simple. We will see clearly the true relationship of man to God.

"More and more the scholarly world of today is testifying to the fact that without Jesus there is no hope whatsoever. If Jesus is not included in the daily life, there is 'Nihilism', nothing. Many of us have experienced the truth of the fact that without Jesus in the foreground of our theology, life is not successful.

"The Small Catechism of Luther has much that is fine for us, especially the beautiful explanation of what Jesus did and means for us. This is recorded in Luther's explanation of the second article of the Creed; here Jesus is really the center of all. But if we followed blindly the leading of some other bodies of believers, we would deny Jesus his rightful position as head.

"An agnostic of India who was a professor of Comparative Religions", continued Rev. Fritz, "asked a well known Christian what he had gained

Student Body Officers Nominated For 1932-'33 At Meeting Thursday

Shimer and Garnet In Opposition For Presidency

A very important meeting of the Student Body, dealing mainly with the nominations for offices in the student government, took place on Thursday morning, April 28, in the Science auditorium and was in charge of Kenneth Koch. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Robert Geiger, secretary, and approved as read. Morris Efron, treasurer of the school, informed those present that $283 were in the coffers of the government. Upon the conclusion of this report, a motion was made, seconded, and passed that another Student Body dance be held. The president responded by appointing a committee consisting of Palladino, Efron, Hoppes, Hoffman, Strenge and Smith.

Nominations for school officers were then thrown open. The men running for office in Student Council are:— President, Shimer, and Garnet; for Vice President, Cooper and Ritter; for Secretary, Savacool and W. Smith; and for Treasurer, Henry, and Bachman.

The next nominations wre for M. C. A. For President, Henry Lubsen and Herbert Frankfort were nominated; for Vice President, Richard Kistler; for Secretary, Nevin Singer; and for Treasurer; Warren Smith. The faculty nomination for the Editorship of the Weekly was given to Edward G. Diehl. Charles K. Peston was nominated from the floor. The nominees for Business Manager are Richard Kistler and Paul Gerhardt. The single candidate for I. O. U. was Joseph Henry. For the A. A. Board Jack Requa, Armon Williams, and Leon Rosenberg were named. Those running for the positions of cheerleaders are: Robert Horn, Ray Heist, Paul Webster, John Erie, John Hollenbach and Harry Underwood.

Mr. Paul Gerhard, of the Student Council, then presented several amendments to the By-laws of the constitution which appear in another column of this issue.

'Berg And Albright Frosh To Meet In Radio Debate

Post-season Encounter Will Take Place May 6

This Friday afternoon, May 6, the Muhlenberg Freshman Debate Squad will engage in a post-season debate with Albright College over station WEEU, Reading, from 3:30 to 4:00 D. S. T.

The subject to be debated is—"Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle." Muhlenberg will uphold the negative side and Albright the affirmative.

The Muhlenberg team will be composed of: Ray Brennen, Allentown; Russell Krapf, Pittston; John Brokhoff, Pottsville; and Bernard Frank, Allentown. Mr. Frank will act as alternate.

The Albright team is composed of: Leslie Stabler, Bernard Levin, Mildred Romeler, and Alfred Kuhn.

The decision will rest with the public.

A few weeks ago the Muhlenberg Frosh unanimously defeated the Albright Frosh in a platform debate on the same question. It is expected, therefore, that Albright will be out seeking revenge in no small way, profiting by their omission and commissions of the previous tilt, in which the Muhlenberg Frosh proved themselves quite superior in delivery and reputation.

Coach Donold V. Hock has been asked by the WEEU management to serve as Chairman of the Broadcast.

This season has proved quite successful, both from the standpoint of men trained and debates engaged in and won. The Squad won seven out of ten debates and earned twenty out of twenty-seven possible judges' decisions. A total of six unanimous decision debates stand to their credit.

Over 15 requests for debates had to be turned down due to lack of time.

The entire squad lineup follows: John Brokhoff, Ray Brennen, Russell Krapf, Alton Clauser, Bernard Frank, Ralph Keeport, Robert Kerstetter, John Yerger, William Henshaw, and Robert Laubach.

PENNANT RECEIVED FROM HUNTER COLLEGE

The walls of the Muhlenberg College Commons are graced by a new collegiate banner—a lavender and white pennant from Hunter College. It so happened that the delegates of the Lutheran Club of Hunter College of the City of New York who attended the annual convention of the North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America on the local campus last February 19, 20 and 21, noticed that their Alma Mater was not represented on the walls of the Commons by a pennant as most of the other leading colleges and universities of the East, so they decided that the gift of a Hunter pennant would be an appropriate way of thanking Muhlenberg for the kind hospitality shown them during the recent convention.

About two weeks ago John H. K. Miller, '32 newly elected president of the North Atlantic Region of the Lutheran Student Association of America, received a letter from Miss Gertrude Schramm, president of the Lutheran Club of Hunter College, notifying him of the gift. Subsequently Mr. Miller received the pennant and turned it over to "Haps" Benfer, who has charge of the Commons. "Haps" immediately gave it an exalted position, placing it next to the delicate yellow and white pennant of the nearby Cedar Crest College. Both these banners are inclosed and protected, as it were, by the masculine-looking banners of Lafayette and Lehigh.

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY PLANS BANQUET

The bi-weekly meeting of the Pre-Medical Club of Muhlenberg College was held on Thursday evening in the Science Building at which time plans were formulated for the first annual banquet. This banquet will be held in honor of the Seniors who will enter medical school next Fall. It is the plan of the club to hold its banquet in the Commons on Thursday, May 19th. They hope to have in attendance all the men who have spoken to them this year as well as Dr. Haas and Mr. Benfer.

At the conclusion of their business meeting they were addressed by Dr. Walkow, an instructor in the Temple Medical School and a heart specialist. He spoke on the "Human Heart".

Dr. Walkow emphasized the close check kept on the athletes of schools and colleges today and he warned against the participation of young men in the sports and work which cause over-activity of the heart, stressing the fact that moderation is the best means of bodily fitness.

He gave many facts concerning the action and diseases of the heart. In accordance with this trend he explained the modern methods for diagnosing heart diseases including the use of the new electrocardiograph.

After the address Dr. Walkow led the students in an interesting discussion and answered many questions of the embryo doctors, with regard to the abnormalities of heart action.

The meeting proved to be one of great interest and educational value to those men who intend to follow the medical profession.

STUDENTS PAVE SIDEWALKS WHEN LEGISLATURE DELAYS

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Students at tne University of South Carolina have their opinions about legislatures and politicians.

Disgusted because the lawmakers for various reasons failed to heed their pleas for many years to provide money for paving sidewalks between buildings on the campus, the students have undertaken the task themselves.

Instead of a legislative appropriation, the 2,000 boys and co-eds raised a fund amounting to nearly $800 with which to purchase materials. The boys are doing the actual work.

Penn State Loan Fund Starts

State College—A student loan fund has been established from the annual dues of the Penn State Parents' Association.

In The Mail Box

In the course of our every day life as students we may often be asked the question, "What is your purpose in going to college?" This indeed is a very logical question to ask, and I am sure that we would be greatly surprised at the variety of answers given.

Every student must, without doubt have a very definite purpose in mind to spend four years of his life at any institution; but the importance of the matter lies in the question, What is this purpose? and, Is it worth while?

The first type we meet, is the fellow who intends to spend four last grand and glorious years of loafing before attempting to "kid the old man along" that he is honestly working. We meet him every day and are usually greeted with the conventional "had a swell date last night," or "didja get your math,—took me ten months." Yes, this fellow usually gets through by the skin of his teeth, and after having graduated, poses as a typical college man, and tires people with his endless stories of "how he fooled the profs."

Next we meet the fellow with a little more of a purpose in coming to college. He considers it as a necessary evil in the preparation for a career. If he wishes to become a lawyer, a diploma is required, or if he is merely interested in getting a job, the fact that he went through college might give him a better chance than the poor fellow who was forced to do without a higher education and who most likely had more ability and better common sense than he has. This "student" usually prepares his work complainingly and most likely will accuse a professor of "riding him every time he receives a low mark."

After this comes the man who comes to college with one set idea, and that is to prepare himself for a particular vocation. He is without doubt, a student, and is not to be confused with the second type mentioned. But he is so interested in his particular line of work, that he has no time for anything else. If he intends to be a chemist, he spends all his time on chemistry and neglects other things. He most likely will argue, "Why should I study history? That has nothing to do with chemistry, and is a waste of time." This fellow, while being a student forgets about the cultural side of life, and were he permitted to do as he wished would be woefully deficient, and would not have a well rounded character.

Last of all, we meet our first real student. He is most likely a man who comes to college not only to prepare himself for a career, but to derive all the benefits of which a higher institution of learning offers. He studies to improve himself and to learn to think for himself in order to meet successfully the difficult situations in life. He is not a bookworm, and in all likelihood engages in some extra-curricular activities, and is most likely vitally interested in improving his college.

These are the four type men we meet at every college. Judge yourselves honestly fellows. Into which class do you belong?

Robert Haltzel, '34.

cause for our modern generation to pursue.

Most of us today, and especially college students are inclined to lean toward the past. We are afraid to be original in our ideas and really produce very little creative thought. Instead of really developing new lines of construction, we follow the easiest path of imitation the depending upon a precedent. This is a wrong attitude to take. If industry, commerce, education and religion would continue in the same way they had been for centuries, civilization would indeed become embedded in an inextricable condition of stagnation.

"This", said Dr. Haas, "we must realize that it is for the college man to recognize the new age in which he lives. We of the modern generation must make ourselves receptive to new ideas; and not only that, but must produce creative thought ourselves, so that future generations may accept without fear of corrupting themselves our contribution to world civilization and to posterity".

Temple Student Council Rejects Morality Code

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The student council of Temple university, in a stormy session, rejected a proposed morality code for the campus by a vote of 8 to 7.

The code provided for student regulation of drinking, gambling, immoral conduct, cheating in examinations, unsportsmanlike, ungentlemanly like conducts, and would empower the council to recommend penalties for offenders. Opponents of the measure argued it was unnecessary because the irregularities in question were rare at the school. The university administration opposed it for the same reason.

INTRAMURALS

Due to cold weather and rain there was only one day of intramurals in the past week. The opening of the playground ball, volley ball and tennis schedules began last Thursday, April 28, with the following results:

Playground Ball

The Theta Upsilon Omega Fraternity lost a wild game to the Alpha Tau Omega fratmen by the score 14 to 3. The battery for the victors was Majercik and Godschall while "Woody" Kistler and Goll made up the T. U. O. battery. "Bill" Wilkinson was the leading scorer for the A. T. O.'s with three runs to his credit. Goll, Dilcher and Kistler each scored one of the three T. U. O. runs.

The Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity beat the Phi Epsilon Pi fratmen in a close game by the score 6 to 3. The batteries were Repp and C. Saul for the P. K. T. with G. Saul and Efron for the P. E. P. "Charlie" Saul with three runs was the leading P. K. T. scorer while Angert, Rosenberg and Warshaw each scored one of the three P. E. P. runs.

Volley Ball

The Delta Theta fraternity easily defeated the Grays, the non-fraternity commuters, by winning both games 15 to 7 and 17 to 5.

The Philos Club was an easy victim to the Theta Kappa Nu fratmen losing both games 5 to 15 and 10 to 15.

Tennis

The Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity defeated the Philos Club in tennis 7 to 5 while the Grays, the Non-Frat commuters, forfeited their match to the Delta Theta fraternity.

Moravian Sluggers Surprise Everyone And Defeat 'Berg

Hits 13-15—Runs 8-6

The Muhlenberg baseball squad failed to live up to early season expectations and was defeated 8 to 6 by Moravian College last Thursday afternoon at Bethlehem.

The Moravians played an excellent brand of ball, surprising even their own followers, while the Holstromites had little punch, several times caught between bases and also suffering putouts by their failure to slide to the base. Muhlenberg had 15 hits to the victors' 13, but failed to put them across when needed to bring a runner in.

Klotz had three safeties, Nixon, Giltner, Weiner, Sterner, and Takacs two, while one of Weiner's hits was a homer.

Steckel started on the mound for Muhlenberg and held Moravian safe in the first inning, after a two run lead by his mates, when Giltner singled and scored on a home run clout by Weiner, but he was touched up for four hits in a row in the second by Surran, Geyer, Anderko and Bock. The offensive negotiated two runs.

In the third frame Moravian added four more on hits by Waldron, Anderko and Bock and a bad peg by Weiner to second which Nixon allowed to roll into center field, when he attempted to catch a runner at second.

Muhlenberg added another in the fifth. Saalfeld singled and Nixon hit safely and then Giltner crashed thru with a single which scored Saalfeld.

In their half of the fifth after Surran was retired the Moravians went places. Geyer annexed a three-base clout and then Anderko did the same thing and Bock crashed thru with a single. After Horne was retired Coach Holstrom sent Takacs into pitch and he started the assignment by striking out Gillespie. The rally netted two runs.

Takacs struck out the side in the sixth and held the Moravian batters in check for the balance of the game, Waldron and Geyer being the only ones to connect safely.

Muhlenberg started a bombardment in the eighth which netted them three runs. After Weiner sat down for the second time as a strikeout, "Lanky" Sterner crashed through with his second deuce counter for the afternoon. Matuska was safe on an error by Geyer. Klotz singled and then Carney flied out and Takacs added his second hit. Saalfeld was retired on a pretty catch in right field by Bock.

Giltner and Weiner hit safely in the final frame but Muhlenberg lacked the punch to even up the count.

ATHLETIC COACHES OPPOSE FEDERAL TAX

Holstrom Agrees With Opposition Movement

A combined action by all the athletic coaches throughout the entire country is being urged by Fielding H. Yost, Director of Athletics at the University of Michigan, against the proposed federal tax on admission to intercollegiate athletic contests.

A letter asking for the vote and co-operation on the part of Coach George R. Holstrom, Muhlenberg mentor, was received last Tuesday morning, April 26, by Coach Holstrom. Holstrom returned an affirmative ballot and immediately wrote to both Senator David A. Reed and Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania protesting this new tax.

Coach Holstrom, when interviewed by a "Weekly" reporter, said "The football receipts at most of the colleges must pay for the expenses of the football season and practically all the other athletic activities. Muhlenberg has been hard hit the past few seasons and because of the decrease in returns from football has had to curtail much of its other athletic program. Under the extra burden of a ten percent tax the returns from football games would not be sufficient to cover operating expenses for the athletic department and result in drastic curtailment of student participation in sports of all types. I am not against taxing gate receipts above a certain amount—say three thousand dollars, but I think it will be an injustice to place a tax on a lower gate receipt, because it will certainly necessitate the curtailment of the athletic program."

The bill known as House Resolution 10236 proposes a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof of the amount paid for admission to any place, including admission by season ticket or subscription. When the bill was before the Senate Finance Committee Fielding H. Yost appeared against this portion claiming that it was in reality a tax on educational income. Even during the war when

Paul John Strenge
Alpha Tau Omega

This is Paul Strenge, to those who don't know him, a mystery man; to those who know him a little better; a morose individual with a perpetual "gripe"; to those of us who know him well, a pessimist with a heart as big as a coal basket.

"P. J." came to us from the land of "Al" Smith. He can tell anyone all about the New Kenmore, the beautiful capital, and all other interesting points in Albany. He denies the existence of the colored race in Albany, is all for "Al" Smith, and very vehement in defense of his home state; he even has an explanation for the aburning of the marble pillars of the Albany capitol.

Paul has always had the reputation of being a bachelor, but this year a freshman came to 'Berg. This freshman has an interesting sister and it seems that now Paul avails himself of every possible opportunity to journey to West Philadelphia.

While at 'Berg Paul has been manager of basketball and a member of M. B. A. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega. After graduation he intends to enter the Mt. Airy Theological Seminary to follow in the footsteps of his father, and to hear him tell it, he will make "one good preacher."

John Greenwald
Theta Kappa Nu

John Greenwald is another local boy spending his fourth successful year at Muhlenberg. He enrolled as a freshman in September, 1928, as a member of the class of 1932 and in a few weeks he will receive that memento of four years spent at college.

Johnny is quite the social light. He may be seen at most any dance, high school, Cedar Crest, or Muhlenberg, and he is always distinctive by virtue of the fact that he is always one of the "smoothest" dancers on the floor. He practices at Mealey's dance hall and whenever there is a good band there, one may be sure to find him right in the middle of the floor.

Jack's ability as a woman charmer has served him well for he has been a member of the 'Berg dramatic society during his four years, his principle roles generally being the part of a vamp.

During his second and third years he worked hard as a scrub manager for the football team and he was rewarded in his fourth year with the managership. Almost every freshman knows John through football duty. He is a hard task master, but his results are excellent.

Socially John is connected with Theta Kappa Nu. His intended profession is a mystery to all of us but we feel sure he will succeed.

During the past few weeks Registrar Benfer has been making his annual speaking tour before many of the High Schools in this section.

Schools visited include, Lebanon, Myerstown, Womelsdorf, Nazareth, Quakertown and Northampton.

In addition both Dr. Haas and Mr. Benfer delivered speeches in Trinity Lutheran Church, Reading.

The enrollment for the 1932-33 team, at present, is in advance of that of last year.

admissions to theatres and amusements were taxed the athletic receipts of college were exempt. If taxed now, it will be the first time in history that education has been taxed.

For these reasons this organization of college athletic boards, coaches and the administration of many colleges is being effected, under the direction of Fielding H. Yost.

REV. FRITZ SPEAKER AT SUNDAY SERVICES

from Christianity. The reply was: 'Jesus Christ.' Surely until something better comes, a true allegiance to Him will simplify our religion and hence any study of comparative religions.

"Secondly this commandment shows us that Love of the brethren is the great corollary of Love of God. The New Testament is firm in saying that one can not love God and hate his brother, for he has seen his brother and not seen God. Religion is not simply ritual, or a mystical thing which eases life—something like a theosophy, impractical. Christianity is a Life of Love.

"As this second meaning of the commandment will also keep religion where it belongs, so the last will do the nobly too. These words of brotherly love will keep us Christians in the right relationship with God.

"One man confessed this in regard to the great chapter of Love, I Corinthians 13, 'It is an impossible ideal . . . just possible to love your family and friends and those who agree with you . . . not other races, creeds, and not our enemies.' That man was honest with himself and I feel that our own self-analysis would find a similar answer. But how is it going to be possible for Love to be dominant in the world if we of the Church do not start with it ourselves, controlling our small interests with it?

"We are good in some few, scattered moments", concluded Rev. Fritz, "and feel constrained by His will then just as Paul, Luther and Livingstone were. At such times we desire only high things. Surely if we settled this question as to loving our brethren, many another puzzling situation would dissolve. Peace and Joy wait upon Jesus, first comes Love however; then the joy and peace that passeth all understanding. Do we dare to venture along the way which Paul travelled?"

Dr. Haas, Dr. Fritsch, Rev. Stine and Chaplain Cressman had charged of the service. Dr. Marks played three organ selections, "Bouree" by Sabin, "Prayer" by Pache, and Allegro Moderato" by Handel. The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Roberts, "Peace I Leave With You."

The Preacher on May 8th will be the Rev. G. H. Bechtold, Superintendent of Lutheran Inner Missions, Philadelphia.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes?

EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade.

You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette. That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

MR. CARNEGIE!

Vol. L. Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., May 10, 1932 No. 27

Topics of National Scope To Be Voted

Social Science Club Sponsors Popular Poll

A few weeks ago our Editor in an editorial endeavored to disprove the theory of some editorial writers and columnists that the average American university man does not think, because he does not assert an influence in his country, as college students do in other nations throughout the world. The advocates of the theory that the college man does not think base their arguments on the statement that the collegian, when his quadrennium in the university is completed, is not prepared for life, because he has not interested himself in world affairs and has been too much concerned over the petty politics on the college campus.

Without reducing the importance of college elections but in an effort to instigate an interest in national affairs, and to prove that the average American collegian is not ignorant of these matters, the Social Science club, a new organization only having been formed on the local campus during the present academic year, is offering the student body of Muhlenberg an opportunity to voice their opinion on two extremely important and very opportune subjects, namely—the presidential election and the 18th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It is in line with the purpose of the Social Science Club to instigate an interest in national affairs on the campus and it is hoped that every loyal Muhlenberg student will avail himself of this opportunity of expressing his opinion on these two questions of national prominence. Only the sincere, unprejudiced opinion of each individual Muhlenberg man is desired.

The opportunity of voting for your choice for the next president of the United States and for expressing your opinion on the 18th (prohibition) Amendment will be offered at the Student Body Meeting next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Come out and avail yourself of two big opportunities, namely—voting for the best man in the student body elections and expressing your sincere opinion on these two national questions.

Fellow students get behind the Social Science Club in their first public enterprise—that of proving that the college man is acquainted with national affairs and is interested in national affairs. Certainly this poll will show that the student body of Muhlenberg is not willing to be designated as "non-thinkers."

PHI SIGMA IOTA HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Phi Sigma Iota's last monthly meeting for this school year was held on Thursday evening, May 5, at the home of Professor Walter L. Seaman. The early part of the evening was given over to a discussion of routine business and also the election of officers for next year. The results of the election were as follows: for President, Dr. Corbiere was re-elected to office; for Vice-president, Professor Seaman was re-elected; for Secretary, Mr. James Morrison; for Treasurer, Mr. Wilmer J. Wolf, and for Historian, Mr. Robert Eisenhardt. After the business meeting a social program was enjoyed by all, the main feature of which was the reading of a paper presented by Mr. Robert Geiger on "Marcel Proust" in which Mr. Geiger set forth the view that Proust was not so much an eminent novelist as an ardent psychologist. A long general discussion of Marcel Proust's character and writings followed Mr. Geiger's highly instructive and interesting talk. At the close of the evening Miss Seaman served delicious refreshments.

Intramurals Enter Second Half With T. K. N. In First Place

Theta Kappa Nu, last year's trophy winners, came to the front with a rush this week to stand eighteen points ahead of their nearest competitor, the Cardinals. The Grays went into a slump and skidded backward to a midway position, largely as a result of losing ten points through a forfeit in tennis.

Lehigh Swamps 'Berg Track Team 81-45

Muhlenberg Copped 8 of the 14 First Places

Although defeated by the score of 81 to 45, Muhlenberg College's track team succeeded in garnering eight of the fourteen first places in its dual meet with Lehigh University on the latter's track on Wednesday afternoon and four dual meet records were shattered by Cardinal and Gray athletes as well as two by wearers of the Brown and White, making the unusual high total of six for the afternoon, almost an unprecedented number on such an occasion.

Geiger, star weight man of Muhlenberg, was responsible for two new meet marks in the shot pot and the discus, breaking his own previous record in the former. In the discus he broke the mark of Monroe of Lehigh made in 1930.

George Majercik, Cardinal and Gray flash, lowered the mark in the furlong when he broke the tape in 22 2-5 seconds after being forced all the way by Captain Cannder of Lehigh. Welsh, Muhlenberg's diminutive distance star also lowered the mark in the mile.

The two Lehigh athletes to establish new records were Charlie Fuller in the high hurdles with a time of 16 1-5 seconds and Lester Gold, a Bethlehem athlete who hurled the javelin, 171 feet, 6 1-2 inches to shatter a mark made by the famous Corporal Reinartz back in 1922.

Lehigh's ability to pile up many points in the second and third places as well as scoring clean sweeps in the high jump, pole vault and javelin, was a big factor in the home team's win.

Land of Muhlenberg ran a beautiful race to win the 880 yard run. He has shown considerable improvement

Rev. G. H. Bechtold Speaker at Sunday Vesper Services

Topic of Discussion Was "Attainment Of A Great Ideal"

"Attainment of a Great Ideal" was the subject of the sermon delivered at the public Vesper service, Sunday, May 8, 1932. Rev. G. H. Bechtold, Superintendent of Lutheran Missions, Philadelphia, Pa., delivered the discourse; his text was "But Jerusalem which is above is free, which is the mother of us all." (Gal. 4:25).

"The apostle Paul, although he had never seen Jesus while He was on earth, knew him well", said Rev. Bechtold. "And his writings picture the vivid impressions which he had of Jesus' work.

"Paul vigorously turned from this world to the heavenly places for he was a citizen of no mean city, he assures us, but of Jerusalem where Christ is King. Today it is important to think of the holy Jerusalem as our mother since worship of the Virgin Mary is spreading even to the Protestant churches. So as we battle today against reversion to legality, thus Paul struggled with the law of Moses in the churches of Galatia. The apostle climaxed his contest with the Galations with the words of our text, Jerusalem is our Mother.

"It was Paul also who brought the holy Jerusalem to earth and thus attained his great ideal, the upholding of the city and its freedom against the old Jewish law. Therefore, we are children of the free, and the church of God is our mother.

"From the time Jesus ascended into heaven until now legality has influenced people, man has ever been afraid to take His promises literally. But the Law points the way only to

Mr. Paul Gebhardt Speaks At Phi Kappa Tau Discussion Hour

The final discussion hour for this term was sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity on Thursday evening.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Paul Gebhardt of the Boys' Club in Bethlehem. Mr. Gebhardt, a lineal descendant on his mother's side of the Duke de Fouche—prefecture of police under the great Napoleon, served in the German army during the world war.

At first he served under von Hindenburg in Russia and was then transferred to Turkey where he commanded a battalion composed of Turks, Arabs, Kurds and Germans.

After the war he was in the diplomatic corps for a few years.

Mr. Gebhardt described the friendly feeling of many of the European countries toward America. Germany, Austria, Russia and Syria were especially friendly to the U. S. Syria at a plebiscite voted—by an eighty-seven per cent vote—in favor of the U. S. having the mandate rather than France. Austria at one time after the war actually voted in favor of having the U. S. annex their country as a colony.

Mr. Gebhardt was secured through the efforts of Mr. Gastonyi, a member of the Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity.

This discussion hour closed the series of six lecture and discussion periods sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau during which time they presented—among others—Dr. John A. W. Haas and Attorney John Diefenderfer, present district attorney of Lehigh County.

Temple Defeated By Muhlenberg 4 - 3

Pitching of Takacs and Hitting of Shimer Feature

Behind the masterful pitching of "Vince" Takacs, 'Berg's star southpaw hurler, the Muhlenberg College baseball team defeated Temple University by the score of 4 to 3 in a close and at times exciting game played last Wednesday afternoon in Temple's new stadium in Philadelphia.

The "Muhls" solved the delivery of Thompson in the first two innings for six hits and four runs, a big enough lead to carry them on to their second victory of the present season.

Sam "Shimer," speedy guardian of the left pasture, opened the game with a hard triple to left and scored a moment later for the first run of the game. The next three Muhlenberg batters were retired in order, ending the inning.

In the second frame 'Berg was able to collect three runs. Sterner, first man to face Thompson in this inning, singled; Klotz sacrificed him to second on a beautiful bunt to the pitcher. Carney doubled, scoring Sterner, and after May was retired, Takacs singled, sending Carney across the plate; Shimer's double scored Takacs but after Nixon singled, Shimer was caught off third, ending the inning and also Thompson's stay in the box. Going to the mound in the third inning, Cramer, a Sophomore, silenced the Muhl's bats, permitting only three safeties, all singles in the remaining seven innings.

Takacs pitched effectively throughout the game bearing down remarkably well in the pinches. Only in two innings were the "Owls" able to push over a counter. It was not until the third inning that Temple was able to score. Cramer was given a free trip to first, but on an easy infield hit off the bat of Gavazzi, the Muhls erred on an attempted double play, both runners being safe. After Fitch was retired, Clouser was given a life by another Muhlenberg error, Cramer

Lions Pay Visit To Muhlenberg

Dr. J. A. W. Haas Talks on History and Value of College

The history of Muhlenberg College and some idea of the great value of the institution to Allentown was told by Dr. J. A. W. Haas, the college president, at a meeting of the Lions Club at noon last Wednesday, May 4, in the College Commons.

In charge of the session was Dr. Ralph F. Merkle, the college physician and a member of the club, who arranged for a tour of the college buildings. Prior to dinner the members visited the Egner-Hartzell Memorial chapel, heard a talk by Dr. Haas on the significance of the building and were given selections on the organ by Dr. Harold K. Marks. Following the post-prandial address by Dr. Haas visits were made to the science and library buildings, under guidance of members of the O. D. K. college honor fraternity.

Officers and faculty members of the college were introduced following the dinner, which was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer. There were, in addition to Dr. Haas; Dr. George T. Ettinger, Dr. John D. M. Brown, Professor Albert C. H. Fasig, Dr. John Y. Shankweiler, Oscar F. Bernheim, treasurer of the college, Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, Dr. James Edgar Swain, Dr. Harold K. Marks and Coach George R. Holstrom.

"Muhlenberg," said Dr. Haas in his talk, "believes in giving every student not only a broad education but a thorough one. It takes care of, every year, a large number of boys who do not have the necessary funds to meet college expenses and last year spent $14,000 for the cause.

"Without Muhlenberg, the city of Allentown would suffer a great loss. It brings many students here every year, as well as keeping those who might go elsewhere."

New Officers Elected By Phi Alpha Theta

At the last regular meeting of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, Richard F. Garnet was elected President and James Morrison, Secretary-Treasurer for the ensuing term.

The chapter was the guest of J. Frederick Gehr, at his home in Bethlehem. In the absence of President Howard Kaiser, the meeting was in charge of Vice-President Donald B. Hoffman. James Morrison led the discussion on the reparations question.

The final meeting of the year—which will be the social gathering—will be held at the home of Dr. Henry R. Mueller on May 23rd.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

A very important meeting of Alpha Chapter of A. K. A. was held on Wednesday evening, May 4, at Rev. Stine's home. It was announced that the national convention would be held on May 11, at Hershey Inn, Hershey, Pa. The convention will meet at 4:30 P. M. and a banquet will be enjoyed by the members of the chapters of Gettysburg, Moravian and Muhlenberg. The delegate from Alpha Chapter to the convention will be Mr. Richard Thiede.

Elections for the officers of the chapter were then held. The results were: President, Ray O. Bachman; Vice President, Martin Ruoss; Secretary, Herbert Frankfort; Treasurer, Richard Garnet.

With this the business meeting adjourned.

Mr. Hock then led the group in an interesting discussion on the mechanistic and theological theories of the universe. After delightful refreshments and further discussion, the meeting came to a close.

"Haps" Benfer Furthers Campaign For A "Better Muhlenberg"

A most enjoyable program was given by several Muhlenberg men in the Allentown Preparatory School auditorium, Thursday, May 5 at 11 A. M.

The first part of the program centered about Joe Zamites, a Freshman, who rendered two vocal selections: "Duna," and "Mighty Lak' a Rose." Mr. Zamites has a rich tenor voice, and his songs were greatly appreciated by the audience.

The next feature was the inimitable Steve Fisher, who enraptured the students and teachers with his superlative playing of the xylophone. Steve's instrument is a magnificent electric marimba, producing a tone so delicate, that the sound of the lower octaves is characteristic of a mighty cathedral organ. His first number was the hit of 1930, "The Wedding of the Painted Doll." Next he played the beautiful "Waltz Marie", and third, a lively number especially illustrative of his marvelous ability entitled "Saxaphobia". The audience was so enthralled by Mr. Fisher's ability, that it insisted on an encore, with which he graciously complied, playing "Deep Night". He was ably accompanied by no other than an old friend and maestro, Henry M. M. Richards.

It is no new experience for Steve to appear before large audiences, as he has traveled extensively with the Radio Keith Orpheum circuit, and has delighted audiences wherever he played.

The third portion of the program consisted of a most amusing skit entitled "Hired and Fired," the players being Donald Hock, and Sam Bortel. The audience was in galas of laughter from beginning to end, and highly complimented Mr. Hock and Mr. Bortel for their splendid work.

As a conclusion of a most enjoyable hour, Mr. Benfer gave a talk to the seniors on the benefits of a college education, and the superior advantage to be enjoyed in coming to Muhlenberg.

The same company of men will give a program at Palmerton, and later Allentown High Schools, for the purpose of bringing 'Berg to the attention of men graduating in June.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB HOLDS DISCUSSION MEETING OF INTEREST

Modern Problems Are Food For Thought

On Tuesday evening, May 3rd, the Social Science Club held their weekly business meeting and discussion hour. Routine business was transacted and May 10 assigned as the time for the election of officers for next year. They also formulated plans for a straw vote to be taken among the students of Muhlenberg on the Prohibition question and presidential nominations. Ballots will be distributed by the club. Mr. Donald K. Miller was appointed leader for the discussion on May 10. His topic will be "Insanity as a Defense in Crime."

May 17 will mark the first meeting which is open to the student body. At this time Dr. J. Edgar Swain, the faculty advisor, will present an illustrated lecture on "The Use of Propaganda in the World War."

At the conclusion of the business meeting, President Russel Krapf led the discussion of current events. Among the subjects discussed were:

1. New Tariff before the House of Representatives.
2. Massie Murder Trial.
3. Primary Presidential nominees and their Platforms.
4. Japanese-Chinese Peace Pact.

March On

As the last few weeks of our college career are drawing to a close we can find no more fitting a quotation to express our feelings than these words—spoken by Mr. Valiant-for-truth in "The Pilgrim's Progress":

"Though with great difficulty I am got hither, yet now I do not repent me of all the trouble I had been at to arrive where I am."

Now the question arises how are we going to make use of our college training in helping build the world of to-morrow? We have been fortunate in that we have been in college during the time when there have been mighty changes in the world. The world is being shaken and it needs to be shaken until we come to our senses and desire a better order.

Probably the most important change has been the emergence of the thought that government that is not founded on the bedrock of brotherhood will not stand the test of time, nor will the people long uphold it.

At no time in the history of the world has there been such a searching of hearts to discover what is at fault and many have been the discussions on "What is the remedy?"

What are we, as a class, going to do about it? Be passive spectators, passive victims? Shall we close our eyes to the fact that the world needs a new order? The old order is dying. It is time it should. Tramp, tramp, tramp; 10 in a row, two seconds apart; Watch them march. It takes 46 days to pass a given point. Who are the marchers? They are the soldiers who died in the World War. Can't we improve on a condition that causes much slaughter?

The time has come to strive for the ideal. Living only by the actual is not enough but we must garner the best and develop a new ideal and with stout heart—march on!

Donald B. Hoffman '32.

FACULTY NOTES

Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman was the preacher at St. John's Lutheran Church in Fullerton on Sunday morning, May 1.

despair and disaster, Jesus the way to freedom. The world is still in a turmoil with its legality, in the church images are raised above Jesus in the people's eyes. There is no redemption in the law, there is lawlessness today. We were promised a change to the ideal in politics when women would be enfranchised, but the result has been to debase women!

"We have many laws, but the legality is cruel in our legislating halls where arrangement is made for the rich and the poor suffer. The law brings death", said Rev. Bechtold, "and many an inferior race is wiped out under the mantle of the law, because of race prejudice. We Christians however must believe with saint Paul that Jerusalem, the holy city, is our Mother.

"Surely we are more earth-bound in this day than is necessary, in the machine-age, and our only freedom is Jesus. The attainment of our great ideal lies within the church; one great man has said that the only hope of the survival of civilization lies within the church. As a mother the Church sees the good in all her children, and is radical in revealing their faults; she tells us that our troubles are due to a lack of cooperation.

"The church helps the integrity of the family, thus continuing the world. And the hope of the nations is the perpetuation of the family and its ideals," concluded Rev. Bechtold. "We are children of Jerusalem. This is the only freedom that men can know."

The service was in charge of Dr. Haas and Rev. Cressman. Dr. Marks directed the Chapel Choir in the singing of DeKoven's "Recessional", and Dr. Marks played "Little Bells of our Lady of Loudres" by Gaul, "Allegretto" by Wolstenholme, and "Andante" by Smart.

The Preacher on May 15 will be the Rev. Paul Z. Strodach, D.D., Literary Secretary of the Board of Publication of the United Lutheran Church, Philadelphia. The Services on May 22 will be conducted in German by the German Conference of Philadelphia. The Public is invited to this special service.

Dr. Robert R. Fritsch continued his series of lessons on the Book of Gensis last Tuesday evening, May 3, in the Allentown Y. M. C. A. assembly hall, when he interpreted the interesting story of Esau. Dr. Fritsch's subject on May 10 will be Jacob, and on May 17th he will speak on Joseph. At the closing session to be held on May 24, Dr. Fritsch will give a summary of the lessons of the series.

In a powerful and eloquent address before several hundred people who filled Trinity Evangelical Church, Allentown, on Saturday evening, April 7 for the last session of the tenth annual meeting of the Evangelical Congregational Church, Dr. John A. W. Haas emphatically stated that the first evil of present day society is to be found in the individual home. Dr. Haas' address, which was on the subject "The Challenge of Society to the Church," was sponsored by the Sunday School and Christian Endeavor Federation.

Dr. James Edgar Swain was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Junior Forum last Wednseday evening, May 4, in the Keneseth Israel Temple on South Thirteenth Street, Allentown. Dr. Swain used as his subject "Imperialism." An open forum discussion followed the address.

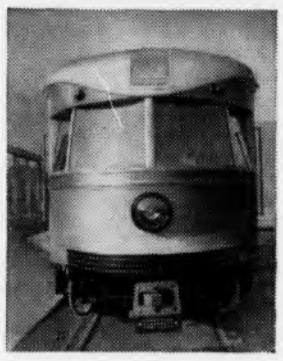
"ELECTRIC BULLETS"



THE result of exhaustive wind-tunnel tests of conventional trolley car models revealed that at speeds of 70 and 80 miles per hour, 70 per cent of the total power was consumed in overcoming air resistance. Streamlining saves approximately 20 per cent of the power.

When the Philadelphia and Western Railway Company decided to replace its cars with faster and more efficient equipment, it chose "electric bullets"—new streamlined cars—each powered by 4 G-E 100-hp. motors. The cars, constructed of aluminum alloy, with tapered noses and tails, are much lighter in weight and capable of greater operating efficiency.

In developing transportation apparatus, college-trained General Electric engineers have conducted extensive tests to improve operating conditions. On land, on sea, and in the air, to-day's equipment is safer, swifter, more dependable, and more comfortable.

The Philos Club won a close game from the Grays by a 5 to 4 score. After trailing throughout the game, the Philos team scored three runs in the final inning to win. Batteries for the Philos, Heiter and Meyers; for the Grays, Walters and Heimbach.

Tuesday, May 3—6:30

The Non-Frats emerged victorious from a good old fashioned slugfest with Phi Kappa Tau by the score of 25 to 22. Every man on each team scored one or more runs. Stan Smith of Phi Kappa Tau led his team with four runs, while Selden and Lepore of the Non-Frats each had four runs for their team. Selden pitched to Bortel for the winners, and Repp pitched while Saul caught for the losers.

Wednesday, May 4—4:30

Theta Kappa Nu fraternity easily defeated the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity in playground ball last Wednesday afternoon by the score 33 to 10. The batteries were Rohn and Neff for the victors, while Dilcher pitched and Bitting caught for the T. U. O. "Luke" Miller and Rohn each scored five of the T. K. N.'s 33 runs while Dilcher, Kunkel and Hock were tied for leading T. U. O. scorers with two runs each.

Wednesday, May 4—6:30

Phi Epsilon Pi defeated the Delta Theta fratmen in a close game of playground ball last Wednesday evening by the score of 9 to 4. scoring on the play. Gavazzi also scored when Johnson was safe on an error. Graham was given a life on the fourth 'Berg error of the inning but Clouser was thrown out at home, attempting to score, retiring the side.

In the seventh frame the final "Owl" tally was made. Dezube tripled and scored when Sibson was safe on an error. But after giving a walk Takacs retired the side on easy infield outs.

The game was not definitely decided until the final out in the ninth inning. Dezube, first man up in the ninth singled and advanced to third while Sibson was being thrown out at first. Takacs fanned Gudd, pinch hitting for Cramer, and Weiner recovering the ball which he had dropped momentarily, tagged Dezube who attempted to slide in home, ending the game.

The baseball game originally scheduled for last Saturday, May 7, with Lebanon Valley at Annville was cancelled because of a scarlet fever epidemic, resulting in the quarantine of the institution.

Who's Who on the Campus

Paul W. Doepper
Theta Upsilon Omega

It was exactly four years ago that another one of the sons of Long Island appeared on the campus of our college. To him, like to all the other freshmen, college was an entirely new life and one which required new and often difficult adjustments.

With his characteristic ease of adaptation Paul has made the most of his stay at Muhlenberg. In scholastic achievements he has come to be regarded as one of the best. The field of outside activities he also entered with beneficial results to the organizations with which he came in contact. With a thorough knowledge of German, Paul distinguished himself during his four years of membership in the German Club of which he became president during this last year. Besides he is the life-secretary of the class of '32, vice-president of Kappa Phi Kappa, and Senior Associate Editor of the Weekly.

There is no doubt that his success will continue in years to come, since he has chosen the teaching profession as his life-work. It would not be surprising to hear of him some day as a professor at some college or university in the country.

In parting it should be mentioned that his many friends and associates are proud of him and his accomplishments and are sincere in giving him their best wishes for a successful and prosperous career in the future.

MOTHERS GUESTS OF T. U. O. FRATERNITY

T. U. O. sons and their mothers fittingly celebrated Mother's Day, May 8th at the T. U. O. fraternity house by presenting a well-organized program. Over thirty members, and their mothers attended as well as some of the alumni members.

Speeches of welcome were made by Ray Bachman, president and by Robert Dilcher, marshall of the chapter. Carl Cassone, '23, stressed the qualities of motherhood which have won the admiration of the sons and he expressed appreciation of the invaluable service rendered by them.

Musical entertainment was furnished by fraternity members; Malcolm Parker presented several tenor solos and Wilmer J. Wolf, presented a violin solo and obligato parts to the vocal solos. Both members were accompanied on the piano by Denton Krieble, '31.

Following the musical program delicious refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. Daisy Moyer, the house "mother".

A short business meeting of the "Mother's Club" followed, after which the affairs of the afternoon came to a delightful close.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

DO you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So be careful. Safeguard your delicate membranes!

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

WHAT'S THE USE of making a team—winning the election—passing a test—if Mother and Dad don't hear of it? Half the fun of college success is sharing it with home.

Here's where the telephone plays its part linking campus and home together!

Make it a habit to call up home each week. Mother and Dad will be thrilled to hear your voice—to share your news—to know all's well! Each week they'll be waiting with family news, cheery greetings, sound advice.

They're a lasting pleasure—these Telephone Dates with Home—inexpensive and easy to make.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than the more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Largest Turnout In History of School When Students Hold Annual Elections

Garnet Elected To Serve As President of the Student Body

Preston Is Elected As Editor Of "Weekly"

The largest number of students ever to attend a Student Body election gathered to cast votes in the annual spring election held in the Science Building Auditorium last Thursday morning May 12. Competition was especially keen and the results were not known in some instances until the final ballot was examined.

Richard Garnet was elected president of the student body. Samuel Shimer was the opposing candidate. Garnet is a non-fraternity student with a high scholastic rating. He was chosen as alternate speaker in the recent Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest, and is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, as well as being treasurer of Alpha Kappa Alpha, national honorary philosophical fraternity. Shimer is well known for his performances for the past two years as a member of the Varsity baseball team, and for his activity as an associate editor of the "Weekly", as well as serving as associate advertising manager of the "1933" Ciarla, and being a member of the Pan-Hellenic council and the Versity "M" club.

Charles Preston was elected Editor-in-Chief of the Muhlenberg Weekly over the opposition of Edward Diehl. Preston is a member of the "Mask and Dagger" dramatic club, has served as Sports Editor of the "Weekly", and was the winner of the 1930 Freshman Oratorical contest. Diehl was Club Editor of the Weekly, is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, educational fraternity, and Der Deutsche Verein.

Alan Ritter was elected vice president of the Student Body. Charles Cooper was the contesting candidate for the office. Ritter is a member of the student council and the Muhlenberg Business Association, while Cooper is one of the mainstays of the varsity tennis squad as well as being active in other student affairs and committees.

Warren Smith gained the position of secretary of the student body. His opponent was Woodrow Savacool. Both men are well known and each was enthusiastically supported by his friends, thus making this the most closely contested of all offices. Smith was Editor-in-Chief of the "1933" Ciarla, and won first prize in the play writing contest. He is a member of Mask and Dagger and is interested in all phases of dramatics. Savacool has been a member of the college band for three years, secretary of his class in the Sophomore year, and is now president of the Pan-Hellenic council.

Ray Bachman received the responsible position of treasurer of the student body. He was opposed by Joseph Henry. Bachman is president of Alpha Kappa Alpha, a member of the M. C. A., and a representative of his house in the Pan-Hellenic Council. Henry is a member of the Chapel Choir, and is popular among 'Berg athletes.

Paul Gerhard, as Charles Preston, a non-fraternity man, was selected by the students to carry out the important work of business manager of the Muhlenberg Weekly. He was opposed by Richard Kistler. Both Gerhard and Kistler have been extremely active in student affairs.

Henry Lubsen was elected president of the Muhlenberg Christian Association and defeated Herbert Frank-

Alpha Kappa Alpha Attends Convention

Alpha Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha, honorary philosophical fraternity, attended a convention of the national body held at Hershey Inn, Hershey, Pa., last Wednesday evening, May 11.

There were twenty-six delegates present, and the colleges they represented were: Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, and Moravian. The time was devoted to important business of the fraternity, upon the completion of which a banquet was enjoyed by all delegates.

Professor Russel Stine, of Muhlenberg, was re-elected as president, Dr. Boughton, of Gettysburg, as vice president, Dr. Schwaze, president of Moravian, as treasurer. Carl, of Gettysburg, and Thiede, of Muhlenberg, were selected as delegates at large.

Officers of the local chapter are: President, Ray O. Bachman; Vice-President, Martin Ruoss; Secretary, Herbert Frankfort; Treasurer, Richard Garnet.

Extensive Program Being Planned For Commencement Week

Will Start on Thursday, June 2, At 10 A. M.

The 65th Commencement Week of Muhlenberg College will begin on Thursday, June 2, at 10:00 A. M., at which time the board of trustees of the college will meet to elect new officers.

On Friday June 3, at 12:30 P. M., a reception will be tendered the seniors by the president of the college, Dr. John A. W. Haas. This is an annual feature of commencement week. At 8:00 P. M. the same day Dr. Marks will render an organ recital in the new Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel.

At 11:00 A. M. Saturday June 4, the alumni will meet in order to elect and install the new members for the forthcoming year. At 12:00 A. M. the alumni luncheon will be held. A baseball game between Muhlenberg and Lafayette will be the feature attraction of the afternoon. This game is scheduled to start promptly at 1:00 P. M.

The Class Day program will be given at 3:30 P. M. Saturday afternoon in the grove bordering on Liberty street. This part of commencement week is always a gala occasion. The grove is an excellent outdoor amphitheatre in which to hold this impressive program. The class day program will be opened by an address of welcome by the president of the senior class, Franklin Giltner. The class prophecy will be given by Franklin Giltner and Richard Thiede. A comic skit "Hired and Fired" will be presented by Donald Hock and Samuel Bortel. The class history will be read by Donald Hock. This will be followed by the presentation of the senior gift to the college by Paul Doepper. The class gifts will be presented by Detweiler, Steinhauer, Scheidt and Moyer. The mantle oration will be given by the president of the Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes. The program will close with the singing of the Alma Mater.

On Sunday at 3:30 P. M. the Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by the president of Wilson College. The commencement week will be brought to a close on Monday at 10:00 A. M. when the commencement exercises will be held in the Allentown High School auditorium.

Student Body Dance Will Be The Climax Of Colorful Season

Steve Fisher's "Muhlenberg Ramblers" To Play At Dorney Park

The spring social season will be brought to a climax on Friday, May 27th, by the annual student body dance to be held at Dorney Park.

This dance has been an annual event at Muhlenberg for many years. The alumni as well as all the students anxiously look forward to it as the final social event of the year and one which everyone enjoys.

The dance will be held in Al Dorn's beautiful dance hall at Dorney Park. The dance floor is immense and there is a spacious portico adjoining it to accommodate the couples between dances. The floor is said to be one of the best in the state.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 and continue until midnight. The syncopation for the occasion will be provided by C. Steve Fisher and his "Muhlenberg Ramblers". Every one who attended the last dance in the library, sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, realizes that this band has made remarkable progress and that their music compares favorably with some of the best orchestras in Allentown.

As guests, the committee has invited Professor and Mrs. Fasig, Dr. and Mrs. Wright, and Dr. and Mrs. Keller.

The dance will owe its success to Ferdinand Palladino assisted by Morris Efron, Samuel Bortel, Stanley Smith, Donald B. Hoffman, and Paul Strenge.

Loan Fund Planned By Kappa Phi Kappa

Officers Are Elected At The Final Meeting

The final meeting for the school year of Kappa Phi Kappa, national professional education fraternity was held on Thursday evening, May 12, at which time the following officers were elected: President, William Horine, Vice-president, John May, Secretary, Robert Brong, Treasurer; William Nixon, and Faculty Sponsor, Dr. Carl W. Boyer.

The main feature of the meeting was the adoption of the Kappa Phi Kappa Loan Scholarship. By means of this plan it will be possible for a loan scholarship of fifty dollars to be given to a bona fide member of the chapter every year. An executive committee will decide on eligible men upon the basis of financial status, scholastic records while at college, and habits of living.

The person who receives the scholarship will be expected to repay the fifty dollars, plus 5% interest, one year after graduation from the college. In this manner, after the plan is in operation, a scholarship can be given every year to aid some member of the fraternity to complete his education at Muhlenberg. Paul Doepper, William Nixon and William Horine composed the committee which drew up this plan of aid for education.

After attending to these business details, the group brought its year to a close with a delightful luncheon hour followed by various games of cards.

Students Favor Hoover for President and Want Repeal of Prohibition

Herbert C. Hoover should be re-elected president of the United States, and prohibition is a failure are the two rather conflicting conclusions to be drawn as the result of an informal vote among members of the Muhlenberg student body in connection with the regular Student Body elections last Thursday morning, May 12.

President Hoover received 135 of the votes cast, while his nearest competitor, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, has the approval of 102 students. Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is favored by 221 of the voters, while 82 think conditions are good enough as they are.

The informal election was sponsored by the newly-organized Social Science Club.

The prohibition repeal ballot was tabulated according to the class ranking of the voters. The Seniors voted 36 to 16 in favor of a repeal, while the Juniors cast 45 votes for repeal and 22 votes for enforcement. The Sophomores voted 60 to 18 in favor of repeal, and the Freshmen showed what they thought of Mr. Volstead's Amendment by renouncing it 70 to 20. Ten votes for repeal and six for enforcement were not marked according to the class ranking of the voters.

Other men regarded as presidential possibilities are: Alfred E. Smith, who received 28 votes, Speaker of the House, Garner, who was given 7, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, approved by 6, Norman Thomas, perennial Socialist party Presidential nominee, who was the choice of 5, Owen D. Young, recipient of 4 votes, and Calvin Coolidge, and Governor Ritchie of Maryland, each with 2 votes of approval. J. Pierpont Morgan and Mahatma Gandhi each were given a vote.

That it is not necessary to leave the campus to find men qualified to guide the destinies of our country in these troubled times is proved by the fact that Dr. John A. W. Haas, president of the college, was selected as the ideal of six students. "Haps" Benfer, registrar, "Bill" Ritter, physical director, Herbert Frankfort, a Junior, and Arthur McTighe, a Sophomore each received one vote.

Just to show that they couldn't be serious all of the time, students voted for the following: Al Capone, three votes; Eddie Cantor and Barney Google, two votes, Elmer Zilch, Dorothy Jordan; Popeye, and Tillie the Toiler, each one vote. William Z. Foster, well known Communist, appealed to one man.

A similar vote was taken among members of the faculty, but the results are not as yet tabulated.

FACULTY NOTE

Dr. R. R. Fritsch will lead a week of Bible study classes at the Lutheran summer assembly to be held in Paradise Falls, Penna., from August 22 to 29.

At the Norwegian Lutheran Young People's conference which will be held at Stony Brook, Long Island, on June 26, Rev. Fritsch will conduct special services.

The staff of the "1933" Ciarla requests all organizations to pay their assessments before the end of the semester.

Manhattan College Wins Meet For Second Consecutive Year; Muhlenberg Takes Fifth Place

GEORGE MAJERCIK

Crowley, Former Allentown Prep Star, Sets New Record For the Mile Run

MAJERCIK WINS 220, RUNS SECOND IN 100

Welsh Breaks School Record in Half Mile Trial Heat

The green-clad track and field team from Manhattan College swept thru the annual Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Conference Meet with scarcely any real opposition last Friday and Saturday afternoons on the Muhlenberg field. The New Yorkers gathered up 59½ points, while their chief competitor, Lehigh, could only score 23½. Rutgers placed third with 22 points, and Swarthmore had fourth position with twenty.

Muhlenberg placed fifth in the meet with 17 points. Frank Crowley, former Allentown Prep School ace, turned in the most sensational performance of the contest in the mile run. He was off to a brilliant start, finished the first quarter in 59 and 1/10 seconds, and completed the race in four minutes, 22 seconds, breaking the previous association record established by Getz, of Alfred, in 1928, by one and one-fifth seconds. "Winnie" Welsh, of Muhlenberg, came up with a strong sprint at the finish to nose out McKenna, of Manhattan, who occupied second place until within a few feet from the tape. Welsh had broken the school record in the half mile in the trial heats on Friday with a time of 1:59 and 7/10.

George Majercik, previously conceded first place in the hundred yard dash, was off to a bad start and lost a close race to Walker, of Swarthmore. The time was 10 3/10 seconds. George was clocked at 10 seconds flat in the trial heat. The "major" came back, however, to win the 220 in 22 and 7/10.

Crowley was favored to win the half mile, but while rounding the first curve he was accidently spiked by a teammate and he failed to finish. Burns, of Manhattan placed first in this event, and Welsh of Muhlenberg, ran a close second. The time was 1:57 and 2/10.

Another favorite who met with misfortune was Strandwitz, University of Delaware. Strandwitz was the outstanding contender for the 120 high hurdles, but while racing at the head of the pack he tripped over the second last hurdle and could not continue.

The only double winner of the meet was Elias Fischer, of Rutgers, who took first honors in the shot put and discus.

Nagle, of Lafayette, won the 440 yard dash with a sensational sprint at the tape, heading off McGeough, of Manhattan, who had led all thru the race. The time was 50 and 2/10 seconds, two fifths over the association record made by Brown of Union, in 1930, at Haverford.

Ryan, of Manhattan, had easy going in the two-mile run. He got away from the pack at the start and lapped several men to finish in 9:45 and 5/10.

Smith, of Manhattan, was first in the 220-yard low hurdles, with Walker, the Swarthmore ace, second. Walker had run faster than Smith in the heats, but Smith left himself out when competition demanded it.

The colorful Freshman medley relay race was won by Manhattan by a wide margin. The Lehigh Frosh placed second. This event did not count towards meet points.

Donald Hock Again Appointed Coach ot Freshmen Debaters

Rewarded for Excellent Record Made by Team This Year

Donald V. Hock, of the Class of '32, has been reappointed Coach of Freshman Debating at Muhlenberg College. The reappointment followed upon the heels of a very successful season in which Mr. Hock was allowed, by Dr. Haas, to carry on his experiment.

The Frosh Squad this year won seven out of ten debates, winning six straight three to nothing decisions and capturing twenty out of a possible twenty-seven judges' decisions. They climaxed the season with a radio debate broadcast over Station WEEU, Reading, Pa., with Albright Frosh as opposition. The Squad used three questions: Co-education; Unemployment Insurance; and Capitalism.

The purpose of the Freshman Squad is three-fold: to advertise Muhlenberg College; to develop men for varsity berths; and to train men in the art of public speaking. With this in mind Coach Hock gave each squad member at least one chance to debate, following through with this policy at times even at the cost of victory.

So successful was his experiment that at the end of the season he was forced to decline over twelve debate invitations coming from high schools and colleges within a radius of a hundred miles.

Mr. Hock intends to enter law school next year.

The Frosh squad this year consisted of the following men: Russell Krapf, John Brokhoff, Ray Brennen, Bernard Frank, Alton Clauser, Robert Laubach, William Henshaw, Robert Kerstetter, Ralph Keeport and John Yerger.

FACULTY NOTES

Prof. Robert C. Horn, Dean of Muhlenberg College, presented an illustrated lecture on "St. Paul in Athens" to the Hope Luther League of Reading on Thursday, evening, April 28, 1932.

Dr. Isaac Miles Wright was the main speaker at the final supper-meeting for this season of the Y. W. C. A. Health Education department last Tuesday evening, May 17, in the Y. W. C. A. club-rooms, 929 Hamilton Street. "Essentials of Leadership" was the topic discussed by Dr. Wright.

Pass On The Torch

Long ago when Greece was at its height of her glory one of the most beautiful of the Isthmuian games was the Relay Race. The symbol or emblem to be passed from one runner to another was a lighted torch. If the runner stopped the torch went out. The only reward for winning the race was an olive wreath cut by a priest from the sacred grove.

In like manner each class at Muhlenberg as it moves up to the Senior year receives from the graduating class the torch of leadership. Sometimes it flickers and becomes dim, then it burns steadily and at other times it bursts into brilliant light. Ever the class moves onward. And so as the year closes ending our race, as the Greek winners received the laurel wreath we receive our diplomas, emblematic reward for a race faithfully run.

No one can run a relay alone. The final prize depends on not only the skill and endurance of one runner but on each one for if one falters and fails the race is lost.

It is more than an individual responbility, it is a college responsibility.

And so as we, the departing Senior Class of 1932, have run our race to you, the incoming Senior Class, we

Pass on the torch, pass on the flame
Remember whence the Glory came;
And eyes are on you as you run,
Beyond the shining of the sun.

O Muhlenberg our race for Thee
May it ever worthy be
We do for honor of thy name
Pass on the torch, pass on the flame.

—Adapted from poem by Allen Eastman Cross.

—Donald B. Hoffman, '32.

Better To Light The Torch

The new editorial staff is not going to dash about trying to keep a torch lit. We concede the fact that it might be very romantic and elegant for us to do this. The facts, however, seem to indicate that what is necessary is not to keep the torch lit, but to light the torch. Proceeding from this assumption, we shall devote all of our effort towards lighting the torch of life in the Weekly.

We shall attempt to prove that the Weekly is not dead, but has merely been slumbering. We shall try to develop a paper that carries live, colorful news. We want to see if we can make the Weekly a publication that not merely reflects student opinion, but one that can crystallize sentiment and stimulate action with the purpose of achieving a worthy end.

We have definite things we wish to accomplish. We have a platform, but we are not stating it here. It is our opinion that the best way to show a platform is to follow it without calling attention to it. We shall let you discover our policies as you read the successive issues of this paper. If you, the readers, do not like the things we stand for, tell us about it—we'll tell you when things don't please us.

It is our hope that the editorial columns of this paper can present live issues for your consideration. We want things to be dscussed, so that you will be eager to get your Weekly in order to keep informed as to what is happening. We shall not attempt to prove that college men think by stating that they do, we shall prove it by pointing to the evidence you send in to this, your paper.

The Weekly will publish all articles that you contribute. The only provisions are; that they must be signed, and may not obscene or inane. Remove your inhibitions, relieve your pent up gripes in the Weekly! A special section, appropriately headed, will be reserved for this purpose.

With the idea in mind that putting out a good Weekly is work enough for any one man, the Editor pledges to devote all of his energy in this field, and not wander away to lose himself in the maze of extra-curricular activities.

Phi Epsilon Pi has Banquet for Senior Members of Group

Fraternity Has Dance in Gayly Decorated House

The annual sendoff to the outgoing seniors was accorded Morris Efron and Al Greenberg, in the form of an informal weekend party held at the Phi Epsilon Pi house, on May 7, and 8. On Friday night a banquet was given in their honor, at the Chapter house. Alumni from various chapters were present, among whom were Morris Gotlieb, of Pennsylvania, Attorney Hyman Rockmaker, of Dickinson, Leon Cohen, of Penn State, and Meyer of Penn, also. Frater Superior Wilker opened the hospitalities with a few introductory remarks, and the attitude of the remaining fraters and guests was apparent when the more substantial food was served in the form of a delicious prepared meal. The rest of the evening was spent in playing entertaining games.

On Saturday evening, a beautifully decorated house met everyone entering. Transformed from the humdrum appearance to a ball-room with everyone's willing co-operation. The decorations consisted of different arrangements of crepe paper and balloons, which were profusely distributed. The feature of the decorations was the conception of a freshman, in devising a Phi Ep banner of crepe on the wall, in the fraternity colors of purple and gold. The orchestra, imported from Penn State, presented a varied program of dance music throughout the evening. Approximately twenty-five couples attended this affair.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. John A. W. Haas was named a clerical delegate by the Allentown Conference on Tuesday, April 26, to attend the annual convention of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and adjacent states to be held at Lancaster early in June.

Dr. John V. Shankweiler delivered a very interesting illustrated lecture on wild flowers at the April meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Muhlenberg College, held in the auditorium of the science building on the campus on Tuesday, April 26. Many of the colored slides, reproducing numerous kinds of flowers, were made from photographs which Dr. Shankweiler himself had taken. The speaker told many fascinating stories of the symbols, medicinal uses and legends of our American wild flowers.

Dr. Isaac M. Wright acted as representative of his Alma Mater, Alfred University, Alfred, New York, at the Lafayette founding anniversary.

Reader Contributions

I am wondering what this world would mean to any of us without the purposes that we set before us. Certainly an aimless life is of all lives the most discouraging and disheartening.

We may have resolves—but if no purposes control or guide, it's like erecting a structure without a semblance of foundation. Isolated resolves live but for the moment. It's different when they are backed by purposes.

Intelligent youth is always full of purpose. And this youth is extended, and made manifest in maturity where purpose has always held its own.

I like the idea of "one increasing purpose" running through all the veins and arteries of one's conscious life. A purpose firmly placed and conscientiously pursued. There may be many a thwarting of the great stream, many a devastating flood of lost desires and broken resolves—but if you are full of purpose, still there is light within—"To arouse thee from thy spell."

Often these little lives of ours become enveloped in clouds, or fog, and we are like an aviator, who is compelled to "fly blind." But even then there is something left—the will and the purpose to go on trusting to fate and a fortified bravery of heart!

In time everything clears. Only those faint in purpose fall by the way. The staunch rise again when fate or misfortune forces them down.

To be full of ideas, or good intentions is not enough. Through them both great purpose must flow—to give them substance and achievement. You always know when you are talking to one whose life is full of purpose. He leaves something behind after he has gone!

—Herbert Frankfort '33.

FACULTY NOTE

The presidents and principals of colleges and high schools in this vicinity were the guests of the Lehigh Valley chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French at a dinner-meeting on Wednesday, May 4, held at the Sun Inn, Bethlehem. Dr. Anthony S. Corbiere, who is president of the local chapter officiated as toastmaster at the gathering. Routine business was transacted before the dinner, which was held in honor of the guests. Dr. Corbiere then gave an address in which he spoke on the difficulties encountered by an exponent of French culture and civilization in certain sections of the country because of the lack of sympathy on the part of the local residents towards France. His speech evoked considerable discussion and thought from those present. As guests from Muhlenberg, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Horn attended the meeting.

DO YOU INHALE?

Certainly . . .
7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly . . . the other 3 inhale unknowingly

DO you inhale? Seven out of ten smokers know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities!

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this much-avoided subject . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

MANHATTAN COLLEGE IS WINNER OF MEET HELD AT MUHLENBERG

Meissner, of Lehigh, won the high jump with an altitude of five feet, eleven and seven-eighths inches, just short of the association record of six feet, one half inch, which he later failed to break.

There were sixteen teams entered in the meet. The institutions represented were: Bucknell, Delaware, Dickinson, Drexel, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Haverford, Johns Hopkins, Lafayette, Lehigh, Manhattan, Muhlenberg, Rutgers, St. Joseph's, Swarthmore, and Ursinus.

The remainder of the colleges scoring points in the meet follows: Lafayette, 16; Haverford, 11; Franklin and Marshall, 7½; Gettysburg, 7½; Dickinson, 7; Johns Hopkins, 7; Delaware, 4½; St. Joseph's 4; Bucknell, 3; and Drexel, ½. Ursinus did not score.

The track was in perfect shape, and the field marked off so that spectators could easly follow the progress of the events. A large crowd of fans crowded the grandstand for the event which has not been held at Muhlenberg since 1923.

The executive council of the association voted to hold the meet at Franklin and Marshall college, at Lancaster, next year.

At this year's convention of the association which was held at the time of the Penn Relays, the newly elected officers for the year are President H. T. Brown, Jr., Haverford college; Vice President Charles W. Mayser, F. & M.; Secretary-Treasurer Clarence E. Keyes, Lehigh; executive committee, Forest E. Craver, Dickinson, S. S. Palmer, Swarthmore, F. L. Walters, Manhattan, Guerney F. Afflerbach, Muhlenberg; advisory committee, elected for life, all past presidents, Paul F. Landis, Harold Anson Bruce, Forrest E. Craver, James E. Babbitt, E. LeRoy Mercer.

The honorary referees of the meet were John A. W. Haas, Dr. I. M. Wright, and Harold Bruce. The referee was A. L. Wanamaker, and the chief track judge was Herman Meyer. The directors of the meet were "Haps" Benfer and "Bill" Ritter. The custodian of prizes was Prof. A. C. Fasig.

The Association was organized on December 1, 1912, at a meeting called by Harold Anson Bruce, at Lafayette College. Dickinson, Haverford, Lafayette, Lehigh, Muhlenberg, New York University, Rutgers, Stevens, and Swarthmore were represented at this meeting. The first annual competition was held under Lafayette's auspices on May 17, 1913.

The Association's activities have increased gradually since 1913, until they now include a fall Cross Country Run, winter indoor events, and two special relay events at the Annual Penn Carnival, in addition to the outdoor championships each May. There are twenty-two colleges in the Association this year, New York University being included as an honorary member. St. Joseph's College, elected in April, 1930, is the newest member.

Improving

"My daughter is having her voice cultivated."

"Is it improving?"

"It's growing stronger. She used to be heard only two apartments away. Now we get complaints from away off in the next building."

Students at Syracuse University may not cut one class in order to attend another.

William, a poor man came along today and asked for a hat, and I gave him your Sunday one."

"What in time did you do that for?"

"Well, I knew you would need your old one for gardening."

Sixty-five students at Syracuse are industriously working their way through college mopping floors three hours each day.

SHOW MEN 'WINDOW SHOP' AS LONG AS WOMEN

COLOGNE. — Oblivious to the frowns of masculine Germany, students of the Cologne university commercial college shattered a time-honored idea that women tarried considerably longer before shop windows than men.

Figures gathered from observing 9,071 cases showed the man gazed but .3 seconds faster than a woman in his window shopping.

The students shadowed their cases and found the average time spent before display windows was 18.7 irrespective of the sex of the window shopper.

Clocked by themselves, men gazed 17.3 seconds on an average against the women's average of 17.6 seconds.

Jewelers' windows held the greatest fascination for the women, the report said, while book store displays generally captured the attention of the men.

From the investigation the following figures were discovered:

A single woman averaged 17.6 seconds peeking, a single man 17.3 seconds, two women 20.0 seconds, man and woman 20.9.

Men devoted an average of 8.4 seconds to frowning at the Empress Eugenie hats.

Muhlenberg Conquers Pratt Institute At Brooklyn, New York

Holstromites Stage Rally to Win 6 to 5 Over Strong Opposition

After trailing 5 to 2 in the fifth inning, the Muhlenberg baseball team rallied and defeated Pratt Institute by the score of 6 to 5 in a game played on the Pratt Field, Brooklyn, New York last Saturday afternoon.

Lou Sterner made a homer in the seventh inning that tied the score at five all. Shimer singled and scored Carney, thus giving the Holstromites a hard earned victory. Matuska scored a homer in the fourth inning with a man on base, bringing two runs across the plate for Muhlenberg.

Tackas went in during the fifth inning and was the winning pitcher.

Muhlenberg Tennis Squad Wins Three of The Eight Matches Played This Season

The Muhlenberg Varsity tennis squad has won three matches out of a total of eight played thus far in the season. The team defeated Elizabethtown college. Gettysburg, and Moravian, while Franklin and Marshall, Philadelphia School of Osteopathy, Temple, Lehigh, and Albright have scored wins over the locals.

The Cardinal and Grey team is handicapped with the lack of a coach, and lack of early season practise facilities. Many of last year's squad were absent from the line up, and this loss was keenly felt. "Clif" Roehrig, captain of the team, will be the only man lost thru graduation, and the 'Berg men expect to do bigger things on the court next season.

Two matches were cancelled last week because of rain. A summary of the matches played follows:

ALUMNI NOTES

The Rev. Franklin K. Fretz, D.D., '97, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Ferry Streets, Easton, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his pastorate last Sunday, May 1, with special services in commemoration of the event. Dr. Fretz has played a prominent part not only in the religious life of Easton but has been prominent in civic affairs of the city. He is a past president and honorary member of the Easton Kiwanis Club and is allied with numerous other organizations.

The Rev. David C. Kaufman, '98, completed twenty five years of faithful service as pastor of the Zion's Lutheran Charge last Sunday, May 8 with special anniversary services. The Zion's Lutheran charge is composed of the following congregataions: Zion's Lutheran Church of Old Zionville, St. Peter's Lutheran Church of St. Peter's, Chestnut Hill Lutheran Church of Chestnut Hill, and St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Trexlertown. Prior to assuming charge of his present pastorate Rev. Kaufman served as pastor of the Beavertown, Pa. parish.

On Saturday, April 30, the marriage of Ralph C. Brown, '27, head of the English Department of Catasauqua High School and Miss Nola E. Kline of Berwick, a teacher in the Rock Glen schools, was announced. The marriage was quietly performed on July 3, 1931 at the home of the groom's brother in Muir, Pa. Upon graduation from Muhlenberg, Mr. Brown was elected principal of the Rock Glen High School, Rock Glen, Pa. For the past four years he has been at the head of the English department in Catasauqua High School.

The Rev. Arthur S. Deibert, '14, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Northampton, was elected treasurer of the Northampton borough school board at a regular meeting of the body held last Wednesday evening, May 4.

fort by a small margin, since both men are equally popular in their own groups. Richard Kistler, was elected vice president of the M. C. A., Nevin Singer was chosen secretary and Warren Smith named treasurer of the organization. These three men had no candidates competing for their positions.

Minor officers chosen include Joseph Benny, Intercollegiate Oratorical Union representative; Jack Requea and Armon Williams, athletic association representatives; Robert C. Horn, Jr. head cheerleader and John Erie and John Hollenbach, associate cheerleaders.

While the votes were being tabulated "Haps" Benfer's Traveling Troupe entertained the students. The applause was terrific after each number presented. Joseph Zamites sang 'Sylvia." Steve Fisher played on the Xylophone the Overture from William Tell, Waltz, Marie, and The Wedding of the Painted Doll. Henry Richards accompanied on the piano.

Donald Hock and Samuel Bortel staged their humorous skit, "Hired and Fired". The farcial intelligence test given by Hock, as the personnel supervisor of a railroad company, to Bortel, acting the part of a dim-witted applicant for a position as engineer, served to keep the audience in a hilarious mood that relieved the tension while the votes were being counted.

The Rev. Paul W. Kapp, '27 was installed as pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Stewartsville, New Jersey, last Sunday morning, May 1, in the presence of a congregation that taxed the capacity of the church. Prior to going to Stewartsville, Rev. Kapp was pastor of the Tannersville, Monroe County, Lutheran parish.

EDITOR RESIGNS AFTER BEING REINSTATED

Reed Harris Immediately Resigns As Columbia University Student

NEW YORK.—Reed Harris, expelled editor of the Columbia University student daily, was reinstated to his classes on Wednesday, April 20, and then immediately resigned.

The action was announced by Associate Dean Nicholas McKnight, and followed a statement by Harris' attorney, Raymond L. Wise, that he was ready to serve papers in a $100,000 breach of contract suit against the university.

The youthful editor, who wrote caustic criticisms of intercollegiate football and charged the university dining-hall was run for personal profit, was expelled April 1.

Protesting students later declared a strike, stayed away from classes for a day, and congregated in mass meetings on the library steps, where eggs and fists vied with oratory of opposing factions.

Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, who expelled Harris, is now in Europe. The McKnight statement said "university authorities fully sustained Dean Hawkes in his action" and declared the Harris case "did not come within the principles of free speech and freedom of the press."

The statement declared Harris had voluntarily submitted to Dean Hawkes a satisfactory apology for his letter of April 6, replying to the dean's demand for explanation of the dining-hall charges.

Harris declined to comment, but his friends said he had apologized only for the "tone" of his letter. They said the resignation was not by agreement with university authorities, but that the editor has said repeatedly since his expulsion that he would resign if reinstated.

Theta Kappa Nu Is Leading Intramural Race by Slim Margin

Philos and Non-Fraternity Teams Are Creeping Up

The Philos Club advanced from seventh to second place in the intramural league standing, and is only separated from the first-place holder, Theta Kappa Nu, by a margin of four points. The Non-Fraternity group is trailing in third place, but has only four points less than the Philos Club.

The Cardinals dropped from second to sixth place largely through forfeiting a volley ball game and losing twenty-five credits.

Rain forced the postponement of all events scheduled for the latter part of the week. The new schedule will be posted this week.

FRIDAY, MAY 6

Playground Ball

The Philos Club lambasted Theta Upsilon Omega by the score of 25-0. Heiter pitched and Meyers caught for the winners; while Dilcher tossed to Goll for the losers. The Philos team collected 29 hits during the game and scored in every inning except the fourth.

The Cardinals defeated the Non-Fraternity team, 12 to 8. The batteries were: Yarr and Welsh for the Cardinals, and Riley and Selden for the Non-Frats. The winners had the edge on the hitting, 17 to 8.

Volley Ball

The Alpha Tau Omega volley ball team annexed a 2 - 1 game victory over the Delta Theta boys. The score: 15-9, 8-15, and 15-1.

Theta Kappa Nu scored an easy victory over the Grays volley ball squad; 15-1 and 15-11.

Tennis

The Theta Kappa Nu racquet wielders scored a 10-8 victory over the Grays.

MONDAY, MAY 9

Playground Ball

The Delta Theta pill tossers took the Cardinals in camp, 13-4. Palladino pitched and Singer caught for the winners. Schecterly tossed and Yarr performed behind the plate for the Cardinals.

The Alpha Tau Omega playground ball players defeated the Phi Epsilon Pi boys, 19-10. Majercik and Quick was the battery for the winners; for the losers Saul pitched and Efron caught.

Volley Ball

The Phi Kappa Tau volley ball team walloped the Grays, 15-8 and 15-9.

The Non-fraternity team defeated the Philos 15-5 and 15-13.

Tennis

The Philos court team administered a 6-1 victory over the Non-fraternity team.

The Alpha Tau Omega tennis team scored a 7-5 victory over Phi Kappa Tau.

TUESDAY, MAY 9

Playground Ball

The Non-fraternity ball players defeated the Alpha Tau Omega team by a 10-6 score. For the victors Selden pitched and Riley caught; for the losers, Majercik pitched and Quick caught.

The Philos club bowed before the Delta Theta playground ball team, 10-7. Singer pitched for the Delts and Rehfus caught. Hieter pitched for the Philos and Meyers caught.

Volley Ball

The Cardinal volleyball team forfeited to the Phi Epsilon Pi and lost 25 points.

The Phi Kappa Tau team scored 15-3 and 15-5 victories over the T. U. O. volley ball aggregation.

Tennis

The Phi Kappa Tau tennis players scored a 6-2 victory over the T. U. O. squad.

"Lutheran Students" Attend the Vesper Services in a Body

Draw Up Plans For Next Year

On Sunday afternoon, May 15, at 3:30 o'clock, the Lutheran Student Association of Muhlenberg College attended the Vesper service in the Egner-Hartzell Memorial Chapel in a body. This was the second time since its organization on March 9, that this newly-formed association has attended the Sunday vesper service in a body.

This action was decided upon at a meeting of the Lutheran Student Association held last Wednesday evening, May 4, in the Bible Seminar room of the library building, with President, Herbert E. Frankfort in the chair. The night part of the meeting was taken up by the submission of reports from the various committees.

After the report of the Budget committee by Christian J. Schenck, chairman, it was decided by the organization to set the dues for the present academic year at twenty cents per member, and for next year at either fifty cents per member for the year or ten cents a month per member for a period of seven months.

The program committee, through chairman John H. Bennetch, suggested the following: (1) that the Lutheran Student Association become the "mother organization" for the other strictly religious organizations on the campus; (2) that a committee be appointed to cooperate with the Muhlenberg Christian Association in their spiritual work; (3) that a Mission Study group be organized, as specified in the constitution; (4) that daily dormitory devotions be started; (5) that every six weeks a special "Muhlenberg Nite" be held in the science building in order to encourage local talent to carry on an open forum, etc.; (5) that the members help and advise the Freshman class next year; and (6) that the organization eliminate from their activities athletics, and other secular activities.

Reports were also given by the Membership, Publicity and Freshman Advisory Committees.

HOLSTROM GIVES HIS OPINION ON NEW RULE

The national football rules committee has revoked the rule allowing the punt as an alternate form of kick-off, it was announced by E. K. Hall of Dartmouth college, chairman of the committee. As a result only the place or drop kick will be allowed for kicking off in games next fall.

It was announced that experiences in spring practice throughout the country showed that the rule requiring five men on the defensive team to remain on their own 45-yard line until the ball is kicked coupled with the use of the place or drop kick was enough to allow the kicking team to get down the field before heavy interference could form.

George R. Holstrom, head coach of the Muhlenberg College grid squad, when interviewed by a "Weekly" reporter concerning the revoking of the rule allowing the punt as an alternate form of kick-off, stated "They're taking away a mighty good threat. It's a lot easier to place a punt than to place a drop-kick. It will be a big help to the receivers though," concluded Holstrom.

The original change in the code was made last winter in an effort to eliminate mass interference and the "flying wedge" in the kick-off. The change eliminating the punt was made in mail vote of the rules committee.

CLASSICAL CLUB IS NOW ETA SIGMA PHI

The Classical Club of Muhlenberg College has been honored with acceptance into the ranks of Eta Sigma Phi, a large, national classical fraternity with chapters in most colleges and universities that have an accredited classical department.

The decision of Eta Sigma Phi to admit the local club was made at the recent convention held at Nashville, Tennessee. A year of persistent petitioning by the local officers, preceded the announcement. These officers were: President, Richard Klick, Vice President, Frederick Gehr, Secretary-Treasurer, Charles Fritsch.

Members of the club are: Wilmer Wolf, Rudolf Novak, Alfred Mattes, Herbert Frankfort, Harry Dunlap, and Martin Ruoss.

CLASS OF 1927 WILL HOLD FIRST REUNION

Other Classes Are Scheduled To Meet During Commencement Week

The first meeting of the "baby reunion" class of 1927 will be held on June 4th during the regular commencement week exercises at Muhlenberg college.

Letters have been sent out to all the members of the class and it is hoped to have as near a one hundred per cent attendance as possible. The committee which has arranged the program is composed of Winnie Slemmer, Vaughn Sprenkel, William Harned, Sam Miller and Paul Clymer.

The program for the reunion is as follows:

June 4 at 10 a. m., the annual Alumni meeting; 12 noon, luncheon at the commons; 1:30 p. m., baseball game, Lafayette vs. Muhlenberg; 4:30 p. m., class meeting in Professor "T. D." Simpson's old room, in the administration building; 6 p. m., reunion banquet at Hotel Americus.

Other classes scheduled to gather for reunions are those of 1887, 1892, 1897, 1902, 1907, 1912, 1917 and 1922.

NEW CIARLAS ARRIVE TO SET TIME RECORD

The latest Ciarla established a record for early distribution when the business staff began issuing copies of the book to students Monday morning, May 16.

Doric Greek is the theme of the book which has a handsome dark blue leather cover decorated in gold. The cover design is a Spartan soldier with a shield standing in a Doric temple archway. The book was dedicated to Prof. Stephen G. Simpson of the English Department as a tribute to his success in cultivating an appreciation of literature among his students.

The editor-in-chief was Warren S. Smith. Donald Schlotter was business manager, and Donald Carpenter, advertising manager. The art work was performed by Harold A. Bowman, '31.

"DISCUSSION HOUR" GROUP HAS ITS LAST MEETING FOR YEAR

Very Interesting Program Was Presented

The Discussion Hour, an organization affiliated with the Lutheran Student Association, held its final meeting of the present academic year on Thursday evening, May 12, with an informal program and dinner in the college commons where a delightful dinner was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benfer.

The post-prandial program was in charge of Herbert E. Frankfort. John H. Bennetsch led the devotional part of the meeting with a scripture reading and prayer. The program consisted of the singing of several hymns; a vocal selection—"My Chosen King is Christ the Lord"—by a quartet composed of William H. MacMillan, Russel S. Beazley, Charles T. Fritsch and Robert R. King with Henry Richards providing the accompaniment. John H. K. Miller rendered a beautiful trumpet solo "The End of a Perfect Day" with Robert C. Fichter accompanying him on the piano. The quartet with James A. Angstadt substituting for Charles Fritsch, who accompanied at the piano, sang "Peace I Leave With Thee," and after the discussion and sentence prayers, they sang "The Lord's Prayer." Dr. Robert R. Fritsch and Henry M. M. Richards supplied the piano accompaniment for the singing of the hymns.

During the discussion led by Dr. Fritsch, the history of the organization was reviewed and plans for securing even greater results next year were advanced. A short but interesting study on "Prayer" occupied the major part of the hour, in which Dr. Fritsch portrayed prayer as "talking to Jesus." Herbert Frankfort, in behalf of the organization, thanked Dr. Fritsch for his untiring efforts in making the Discussion Hour such a success. The attendance at the discussions increased from six students at the beginning of the year to approximately twenty-five, who were in attendance last Thursday evening.

St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians was the subject of the majority of the discussions throughout the year and was very interestingly and thoroughly explained by the leader, Dr. Fritsch.

SOOTHING

"Let me kiss those tears away, sweetheart," he begged tenderly.

She fell into his arms and he was very busy for a few minutes. But the tears flowed on.

"Can nothing stop them?" he asked breathlessly.

"No," she murmured, "it's hay fever, but go on with the treatment."

Who's Who on the Campus

Robert W. Drach
Alpha Tau Omega

This is Robert Welden Drach, the man who has successfully handled the business managership of this paper during the past year. Bob came to 'Berg four years ago from Baltimore, Maryland, and although a southerner he has no southern inflection in his speech.

While at 'Berg, Bob has distinguished himself by his extensive extra-curricular activities. Among his various positions held while at 'Berg are: Secretary of M. B. A., Manager of the tennis team, varsity baseball manager, advertising manager of the Ciarla, business manager of the Muhlenberg Weekly, and member of the varsity "M" club. In recognition of his services he was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa at the end of his Junior year.

After graduation Bob expects to enter business and if he is as successful in his chosen line as he has been in his Ciarla and Weekly work, he will have no worries.

Socially Bob is a member of Alpha Tau Omega. His distinguishing feature is the car he drives. It is an ancient and dilapidated Ford roadster, painted Cardinal and Grey, which may be seen and heard about 'Berg at almost any time.

GERMAN CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL DAMENABEND

The annual Damenabend, sponsored by Der Deutsche Verein, was held on Wednesday evening, May 11, in the Commons at 8 o'clock. Always an outstanding event on the calendar of the Verein, this year's edition fully emulated the past.

A varied program preceded by a brief business meeting was presented before an audience of approximately fifty persons. Under the capable supervision of Doctor Barba, a play entitled "Dr. Krannich's Sprechstunde" was given. It presented a dilemna of hilarious proportions when Claude Wismer, a servant, taking the part of Dr. Krannich in the latter's absence is confronted with several amusing situations during his consultation hour.

Jerome Baer took the part of Dr. Krannich. Included in the cast were John Hollenbach, Ray Musselman, the Hartzell brothers, and John Keener.

Announcement was made that the annual Ausflug would be held on Monday, May 16. A delicious lunch was served, and the rest of the evening was given over to the singing of German songs. Among those present was Mrs. Barba, who entertained the Verein earlier in the year.

DR. BARBA ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR HIS TOURS

Dr. Preston A. Barba recently released announcements of two tours of Europe which he will conduct this summer. The one tour, covering northern and eastern Europe, will be in personal charge of Dr. Barba, and the second tour, a knapsack and Alpenstock European trip for college girls will be under the directorship and guidance of Mrs. Barba, who has shared many of her husband's tours and is intimately acquainted with the itinerary embracing visits to points and places of interest in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France.

The tour in personal charge of Dr. Barba will cover practically an entirely new itinerary. This summer's tour will embrace visitations to Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Germany. Eastbound and westbound ocean voyages will be made on the world's fastest ocean liners, the S. S. "Europa" and S. S. "Bremen"

The tour in charge of Mrs. Barba will occupy exactly the same period, 58 days, crossing the Atlantic, going and coming, on the same noted steamships on the same days of sailing. Both tours are all-expense trips.

Rev. Paul Strodack Is Vesper Speaker

"Pure Religion" Is Topic For His Sermon

The Rev. Paul Z. Strodach, D.D., of the Board of Publication of the United Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa., delivered the sermon at the public Vesper service, Sunday, May 15, 1932. His theme was "Pure Religion" and the text was the phrase, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this." (James 1:27).

"The Chief Justice of our Supreme Court said recently", began Dr. Strodach, "that it is worth while to be alive today in the stress and adversity. If such a thing were true, it is better yet to be a Chrisitian, for the Christian has something to tide him over all circumstances, what others have not,—religion.

"The great men of the ages have striven upward without God and created a system of philosophy, but that represents only rhetoric adorned with a good that we might become fruitful for Him.

"Our age cries out for proof. The world is challenging religion and religion answers—by doing the impossible, taking what the world does not want: corrupt natures and souls. Out of these 'made-over' lives the most practical things come! Indeed the chaos about us is surmounted by our new character and the Holy Spirit supplies the power, we are more than a spiritual gyroscope. The seal of this energy is in its own benediction as we read in the parables of the pounds, the talents, the giving of the cold water, and the 'faithful unto death' of John in 'Revelation'. Such Christians hear their Master's, 'Well done.'

"We possess this, friends, a religion", concluded Dr. Strodach, "shall it fail us today after nineteen centuries? We will forsake our best selves if we fail it. God keep us true!"

Dr. Haas, Dr. Fritsch and Rev. Stine took charge of the service, and Dr. Marks played three organ numbers, "Pastorale" by Falkes; "Evensong" by Faulkes; and "Grand Choeur" by Guilmant. The Chapel Choir sang an anthem of Zander's, "Jubilate". The Preacher on May 22 will be the Rev. Otto Kleine, D.D., President of the German Conference of Philadelphia. The service will be in German.

COLLEGE WORK—college play—even the best of it drags at times. Then's when a telephone chat with Mother and Dad counts most. What a thrill to hear their cheery voices—a thrill that lasts for days!

Make it a habit—telephone home each week. Give them a budget of campus doings—gather the tidbits of family news. You'll enjoy it and they will, too. A "voice visit" home is next best to being there!

Expensive? Not a bit of it, and there's nothing easier!

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8:30 P.M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.

Colleges Have Saved Millions For State In Teacher Training

Dr. Wright and Dr. Boyer Prepare Important Report

The liberal arts colleges of Pennsylvania have saved the taxpayers of the State $25,453,123 during the past ten years in training teachers for the public schools, according to a report prepared by Dr. Isaac Miles Wright and Dr. Carl Boyer of the Muhlenberg department of Education. This report was submitted by Dr. Wright to the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Pennsylvania at a meeting held in Harrisburg last Saturday, May 21.

In the past ten years, according to the report, the liberal arts colleges have had 21,628 graduates receive college provisional certificates for teaching, and in the five year period, from 1927 to 1931, the State Teachers' college graduates have received 2412 similar certificates.

Statistics furnished by the State Department of Education show that the average cost to the State for each student at a State Teachers' college is $294 per year, or $1176 for a four year course. The Liberal Arts colleges have assumed the economic burden of preparing teachers for the State schools at no expense to the taxpayers.

In the past eleven years Muhlenberg with 538 graduates receiving college provisional certificates saved the State $633,105. Lafayette with one hundred sixty-nine graduates saved $198,889. Moravian College for Women, 111 graduates, $130,631, Cedar Crest College, 93 graduates, $109,447, Lehigh University, 62 graduates, $72,965, and Moravian College, 56 graduates, $65,904.

In connection with the report Dr. Wright said: "The Public Schools of Pennsylvania have been indebted to the liberal arts colleges for training teachers since the organization of the first school, and this is the first time that any attempt has been made to set forth the value of their work in the teacher training program."

Muhlenberg Faculty Wants Hoover to be Re-elected President

Professors Do Not Favor Prohibition

The faculty of Muhlenberg College voted to re-elect Herbert C. Hoover as president of the United States for another term and to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States in a special poll, conducted in conjunction with the Student Body poll, by the newly-organized Social Science Club. The ultimate results of the faculty poll incidentally were just as conflicting as the results of the Student Body vote published in the last issue of the "Weekly."

Nineteen professors gave their opinions that the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed while fifteen faculty members voted for enforcement. The results of the Student Body poll were 227 to 82 in favor of repeal.

For president the faculty gave Herbert Hoover 15 votes. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was second in the number of votes received, being the choice of eight professors. Other men regarded as presidential possibilities by the Muhlenberg faculty were Speaker of House Garner with two votes, Newton D. Baker, also with two votes, and Owen D. Young, financier and author of the famous "Young Plan", Former Governor "Al" Smith of New York, and Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois with one vote apiece.

FACULTIES OF LEHIGH VALLEY HOLD MEETING

Dr. Cestre, professor of American Literature at the University of Paris, was the speaker and guest of honor at the annual dinner meeting of the combined faculties of the colleges of the Lehigh Valley held at Lafayette College last Thursday evening, May 19.

Dr. Cestre explained in a brilliant manner the differences between European and American educational procedure, devoting most of his speech to institutions of higher education.

The colleges represented at the meeting were: Lafayette, Lehigh, Moravian College, Moravian Seminary, Cedar Crest, and Muhlenberg. The delegates from Muhlenberg were: Dr. Robert C. Horn, Dr. George T. Ettinger, Dr. Harry R. Reicherd, Dr. Carl W. Boyer, Prof. Luther J. Deck, and Truman Koehler.

Ausflug Is Held By German Club To End Successful Season

New Officers Are Elected By The Club At This Unique Meeting

Der Deutsche Verein culminated a most successful season of its existence with its annual Ausflug held on Monday, May 17, at Sand Spring Park, during which officers for the ensuing year were duly elected. The Ausflug was truly German in every respect, with reference to atmosphere, food, songs and stories.

The officers who were elected for the next term are Jerome Baer, president; Edwin Faust, vice-president; and Richard F. Garnet, secretary. These officers were installed by a ritual conducted in high German at the terminus of a business meeting held under the direction of John Keener, retiring president of the Verein. Other officers whose places are being filled are Daniel Latshaw, vice president and Wilson Hartzell, secretary.

Under the capable supervision of Dr. Barba, head of the German Department, the Verein is taking rapid strides forward to emulate its past history. The annual Damenabend, to which affair, the ladies are invited, was presented the week previous, and was quite successful. The hilarious dilemna of Dr. Krannich's Sprechstunde was presented, and received enthusiastically by a large audience. The entire evening was permeated by an air familiar to Germans and appropriate to the occasion. Earlier in the year, another event made many reminiscent of the Rhineland. That was the Christmas party held at Dr. Barba's home, a veritable curio shop, which shows many evidences of the far-flung experiences of its occupant. This year, Dr. Barba has laid plans for another of his European tours. It is hoped that he can be prevailed upon to tell the student body of his travels, during the coming semesters.

The committee in charge of the Ausflug consisted of five men; Paul Gerhardt, Ralph Hartzell, Wilson Hartzell, Harold Koons, and Mervin Frantz.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA HOLDS SPRING FORMAL

Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity held its annual Spring Formal and Banquet at South Mountain Manor, Wernersville, last Saturday night, May 21. "Bud" Rader and his orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. Keller, Dr. and Mrs. Reichard, Prof. and Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Daisy Moyer.

Faculty Announces Honor Students of The Graduating Class

Richard C. Thiede
Valedictorian

Charles T. Fritsch
Salutatorian

Richard C. Thiede was named valedictorian of the graduating class, and Charles T. Fritsch was name salutatorian at a combined meeting of the faculty and members of the Senior Class last Friday afternoon, May 20.

Richard Thiede, who will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science at the commencement exercises in the Allentown High School auditorium on June 6th, at 10 o'clock, had the highest scholastic average of his class during his college career. He is a resident of Camden, N. J.

Charles T. Fritsch, a son of Dr. Robert R. Fritsch, who will celebrate the twenty-fifth year of his service on the Muhlenberg faculty this Spring, will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree. He is a resident of Allentown.

Richard C. Klick will have an honorary oration, and will be excused from speaking because of illness. He has made an outstanding achievement in taking second honors in the Senior Class averages in spite of being under quarantine for scarlet fever for the past month. Richard Klick commutes from Kutztown.

Richard Thiede will be given the Clayton F. Bernheim Medal as a reward for having attained the highest average grade during his Senior year. This Medal is presented by Oscar F. Bernheim, treasurer of the college.

Other seniors to achieve honors for two or four years include Paul Doepper, of Kew Gardens, New York; J. Frederick Gehr, of Bethlehem, Homer Knauss, of Allentown and Allan Hawman, Jr., of Reading.

Honors for excellent work during the senior year were awarded to Richard C. Klick of Kutztown; Richard C. Thiede of Camden; Charles T. Fritsch, of Allentown; Paul Doepper, of Kew Gardens; J. Frederick Gehr, of Bethlehem; Homer Knauss of Allentown; Donald B. Hoffman, of Allentown; Kenneth H. Koch, of Allentown; Ray M. Munsch, of New London, Conn.; Lawrence J. Reimert of Allentown; Rudolph Scheidt of Allentown; Paul H. Shover, of Allentown; and Donald Steinhauer, of Kingston.

War Propaganda Is Topic For Dr. Swain

Social Science Club and Guests Hear Interesting Discussion

The regular weekly meeting of the Social Science Club was held in the Administration Building, Tuesday evening, at which time the results of the Presidential and Prohibition Poll sponsored by the club were officially reported. The ratification of amendments to the club Constitution was postponed in order to give more time to the address of Dr. Swain.

It was the first meeting to be declared open to the public and a large number of students was present to hear the talk of Dr. J. Edgar Swain on "Propaganda in the World War." He discussed its effectiveness, and how nations made the slightest offense appear like a great atrocity.

"In a sense war propaganda is a war of ideas, in one phase breaking down the enemy's morale, in a second phase building up public opinion on one's own side." The effectiveness in war is based on the ability to sway public opinion. The World War was the first widespread use of it. Through propaganda Germany was considered by the Allies as first in guilt, but since that time Germany has been assigned fourth or fifth place. Russia, France and Serbia head the list today. The Potsdam Council was considered to be the meeting of five great German generals who decided that the time had arrived for the beginning of a great war. Since that time proof has been obtained showing that four of the five men were not in Germany at the time; also that France was spending more per capita for war preparations than any nation in the world. The assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand is now blamed on eight Serbian youths who were supplied with pistols and

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA TO TAKE IN NEW MEN

Two things, a banquet and an iniation, will make eight Juniors full-fledged members of Omicron Delta Kappa, on Wednesday evening, June the first. But the most interesting event for the student group will be the "tapping" of new men on Thursday morning, in the regular assembly period.

An interesting feature of the organization established by Dr. Haas, three years ago, will be brought into effect, when the incoming Junior group will serve as ushers at the Commencement Exercises.

Commencement Exercises and Freshmen Week are far apart, but Omicron Delta Kappa has laid plans for both, especially Freshmen Week, when the fraternity will show the newcomers their place.

Pre-Med Society Has Banquet In Commons To Honor Graduates

Dr. John Haas and Dr. Milstead Are Main Speakers Of The Evening

The Pre-Medical Club of Muhlenberg concluded its first year of activity most fittingly at a banquet held Thursday evening in the College Commons. It had present as the guests of honor, those men who will enter medical school in the Fall and the prominent doctors who lectured to them during the past year.

Richard Thiede, president of the club, toastmaster, introduced Dr. John A. W. Haas as the chief speaker of the occasion, "Opportunities for Social Service by Physicians," served as the topic for Dr. Haas' speech to them. Dr. Haas emphasized the service performed by the time-honored country physician. He explained how the country doctor gets in closer contact with the people and does more for the social development of the community than any other man.

Dr. Haas showed how such service is rendered now by physicians in all fields of medical profession. The men entering medical school were urged to guide their course in order to be of the greatest possible service to mankind.

Dr. Shankweiler, faculty advisor, was then called upon by the toastmaster for a few remarks. In response, Dr. Shankweiler outlined the objects he had in mind when he organized the group. He paid high tribute to the men leaving the organization for their willing co-operation to prepare themselves for their life work.

Dr. Milstead, pathogist of the Sacred Heart Hospital, spoke on behalf of the speakers the club had had throughout the year. He emphasized the fact that these men were willing to co-operate in every way possible to fit the students for their chosen profession and to acquaint them with the work of medicine.

At the conclusion of Dr. Milstead's remarks, President Thiede thanked the other officers and members for their loyal support throughout the year.

The men leaving Muhlenberg are: Helms, Smoyer,—Jefferson; Ziegenfus, Kline—U. of Pennsylvania; Sell, Tartarsky — Hahnnaman; Moyer, Sheidt—Temple. Mr. Robert L. Stauffer, an instructor of Biology at Muhlenberg last year has also been admitted to the Hahnnaman School.

PHI KAPPA TAU HOLDS FORMAL AND TEA DANCE

The annual Spring Formal of P. K. T. was held at Saucon Valley Country Club on Friday evening, May 20. The club was decorated with the colors of the fraternity, Harvard, Red and Old Gold. The syncopation was supplied to the shifting feet by Jean Gadston and His Band.

The Saturday afternoon following, a tea dance was enjoyed at the fraternity house on Liberty St.

Lehigh Succumbs To Powerful Attack of Muhlenberg Tossers

Vince Takacs Wins Fourth Game Of The Season With 11-2 Score

"Vince" Takacs, regular Muhlenberg moundsman, chalked up his fourth victory of the season when he turned in a 11 to 2 decision over the Brown and White tossers of Lehigh University on Muhlenberg's home diamond last Wednesday afternoon, May 18. A large throng of spectators was on hand as it was Muhlenberg's first home game in two seasons.

Takacs scattered nine hits nicely as his mates reached the offerings of three Lehigh pitchers for thirteen solid smacks. Only in two innings during the game was Lehigh able to push a man over home plate, however each time Takacs pulled through in good shape and held the enemy safe after the fourth inning.

Otto Saalfeld and "Albie" Klotz helped Takacs over some rough spots with some spectacular sprinting catches. In the last inning with one man on base Saalfeld leaped into the air to bring down Halsted's fly to left field, a blow that was labeled for extra bases.

The Muhls started the scoring in the very first inning when "Stan" Carney, first sacker, hit the first ball Layton pitched far out into right center field for three bases. After Nixon was retired on strikes, Sterner was safe on an error, Carney advancing to third. Wiener doubled through short scoring Carney. On a two bagger to right off "Albie" Klotz's bat, Sterner and Wiener crossed the plate. Matuska was then passed and stole second. In an attempt to catch Matuska, Grier dropped a throw from Halsted and Klotz counted. Giltner and Saalfeld were retired in order, ending the inning.

In the second inning Muhlenberg shoved another run across when Car-

Annual Oratorical Contest Scheduled For Friday, June 3

Six Men Will Compete In Traditional Contest

A large number of students, alumni, and faculty members is expected to attend the annual Junior Oratorical Contest on Friday afternoon, June 3, at 2:00 o'clock, in the Science Auditorium. This contest has been held every year since far back in the '80's, and always attracts great interest.

The students entered this year are: Richard S. Garnet, whose topic is "The Awakening East"; Donald B. Mancke, speaking on "John Marshall, Virginian"; Charles H. Cooper, "In Defense of the College Athlete"; Charles H. Preston, "Soviet Recognition"; Harry P. Dunlap, "The Futility of War"; and Robert C. Horn, Jr., "Men Against Death." The contestants are to speak in the order named.

The competition this year will be especially keen. Dr. Brown, who is conducting the contest, is working every day in order to assure speeches of high quality.

The judges selected are: Rev. A. O. Reiter, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, Allentown; Attorney Oscar J. Tallman, member of a very successful Lafayette College debating team some years ago; and George M. Sowers, who won first place for Muhlenberg in the State Contest of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Union in 1922.

It is generally accepted that this contest will bring out some of the best oratorical talent in the college and for this reason more interest is being shown on the campus than for many years.

Plans for Next Year

The Weekly staff is gradually becoming organized. Plans for the next year are gaining shape, and we feel that it will be interesting for our subscribers to know just what to expect during the coming year.

At this time we have made arrangements for two columns that are of known merit. These are, "Muhlenberg Mirrored", and "Sports Rambles," both by the same men that did such fine work during the time these columns were published this year. Plans have been made for a literary section, including book reviews, and contributed articles.

We will, if interest is sufficient, provide a "pro" and "con" section for the discussion of current national and international affairs. We have in mind several men who have ample talent along this line. Another worthy addition will be a short column giving information about moving pictures showing in the local theatres, not by a press agent, but by students who have seen them. We ask the co-operation of the alumni in sending in material about the activities of Muhlenberg graduates.

We shall adopt the customary policy in relation to the number of pages in each issue. When there is a large amount of news and advertising, we will have a six page issue, otherwise four pages. If some one donates a new gymnasium, we'll run eight pages.

LEHIGH SUCCUMBS TO POWERFUL ATTACK OF MUHLENBERG TOSSERS

ney walked after Takacs was out on a fly to Ware. After Nixon was retired on a short fly to second Sterner and Weiner singled in order, the latter sending Carney home. Klotz ended the inning with a fly to left field.

Lehigh opened their scoring in the third when Burke singled and Graham was walked, Burke advaneing to second. After Liggett singled and Henricks was fanned by Takacs, Grier walked filing the bases. While Takacs was striking out Ware, Weiner passed a ball and Burke scored. The inning ended when Takacs fanned Halsted, his third strike out victim of the inning.

Muhlenberg retaliated in their half of the third inning, scoring four runs. Matuska, first man up, was passed. Giltner singled and Saalfeld walked, filling the bases. Takacs was retired on strikes and Carney fled to center, Matuska scoring. Nixon got a life on an error, Giltner crossing home plate on the play. Sterner's timely two-bagger sent Saalfeld and Nixon scampering home. Weiner ended the inning with a pop-fly to short.

The last Brown and White run came in the fourth when after Cooper popped to Matuska and Layton was out, Matuska to Carney, Burke was safe on a miss-play by Nixon at short. Graham was hit by a pitched ball and Liggett singled sending Burke a snappy play on the part of 'Berg home with the final Lehigh tally, but caught Graham at second, Giltner to Takacs to Nixon.

The last scoring of the game came in Muhlenberg's half of the seventh. Matuska opened with another base on balls, but was forced by Giltner at second, the latter being safe at first. After Saalfeld was hit on the leg by a pitched ball, Takacs knocked out a beautiful single scoring Giltner.. Another single by Carney sent Saalfeld home with the eleventh 'Berg counter. After Nixon was passed and Sterner was safe on a fielder's choice, Weiner forced Sterner, ending the inning.

The victory of the Holstromites came as a surprise and completely upset the dope bucket since Lehigh was fresh from its victory over the Lafayette "Leopards" who have enjoyed a remarkable season thus far, numbering among their victims Yale University.

WAR PROPAGANDA IS TOPIC FOR DR. SWAIN

ammunitions from Serbian arsenals. They also received passports to Bosnia and information concerning the procession to the royal palace.

England and France had made a treaty with Belgium concerning neutrality in 1906. According to the treaty France and England were to have access to Belgium but when Germany started the march they were the first to get there. With regard to the German atrocities in Belgium nothing could be found that indicated worse treatment than that received at the hands of the Allies.

The Lusitania was the "cry" of United States throughout the whole war period, but posters were found about the docks in England stating the Lusitania was carrying ammunition. Of course that meant anyone desiring to travel on it did so at their own risk.

The United States had 75,000 "4-minute speakers" who received the information in outline form from the national headquarters. There were, published during the war 75 million pamphlets at a cost of 5 million dollars. The majority of the propaganda used in this country was obtained from the Inter-Allied Commission of which Whitcomb Steele was the head. Steele is quoted as saying, "I am surprised the way the United States has taken to propaganda."

Many of the pictures distributed to the newspapers were not of actual scenes, but the photos of wax figures horribly cut and painted. The idea of Germany using human beings as material for soap came from the fact that they sent their dead horses back for that purpose.

At the end of the war United States was decidedly anti-German, but today the feeling is fast becoming pro-German. That is, we are realizing much of the good in Germany and are forgetting some of the miserable lies.

Dr. Swain concluded by showing many cartoons and photographs used in the propaganda campaign in this country and Europe.

Prof. Jackson will act as host to the club at the meeting which will be the last for the year.

NON FRATERNITY MEN ARE NOW LEADING IN INTRAMURAL CONTEST

Theta Kappa Nu Drops To Second Place, and Alpha Tau Omega Is Third

The Non Fraternity team raced ahead of Theta Kappa Nu to lead the Intramural contest by a margin of eleven points. Alpha Tau Omega advanced from fourth to third position, while the Grays dropped back to seventh place.

The past week was crowded with many games due to the fine weather. A day-by-day report follows:

MONDAY, MAY 16

Playground Ball

The Grays baseball ten scored a 10-4 victory over a team representing Delta Theta fraternity. Cooperman and Watkins of the victors yielded the big stick effectively for three hits each. Walters tossed and Heimbach caught for the Grays; Palladino was on the mound for the fraternity boys and Rehfus, caught.

The Theta Kappa Nu, soft ball wonders eked out a close 17-6 victory over the Philos. Naratil started as pitcher for the T. K. N. team and was followed by Saalfeld, Nehf acted as backstop; for the Philos, Hieter and Meyers was the battery.

Volley Ball

The Alpha Tau Omega volley ball squad scored an easy 15-5 and 15-0 victory over the T. U. O. team.

The Phi Epsilon Pi team annexed a 15-9 and 15-10 conquest over the Phi Kappa Tau volley ball team.

Tennis

The Phi Kappa Tau racquet wielders defeatd the Phi Ep tennis team in a close match, 6-4.

The A. T. O. court team conquered the Theta Upsilon Omega squad, 6-3.

TUESDAY, MAY 17

Playground Ball

The T. U. O. playground ball team forfeited their scheduled game to the Delta Theta team and lost twenty-five points.

The Cardinals scored a 19-16 victory over the A. T. O. team. Majercik and Quick were the battery for the fraternity team; Welch pitched and Yarr caught for the victors.

Volley ball

The Phi Epsilon Pi volley ball aggregation easily subdued the Philos six, 15-4 and 15-6.

The Non-fraternity team defeated the T. K. N. volley ball squad in a close match, 11-15, 11-9, and 15-5.

Tennis

The Non-fraternity tennis team eked out a 9-7 victory over the Theta Kappa Nu court squad.

The Philos "future Tildens" scored an 8-6 victory over the Phi Epsilon Pi netmen.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18

Playground Ball

The Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity defeated the Cardinals in a wild game last Wednesday afternoon by the score of 19 to 12. George Saul and Efron were the battery for the victors while Welch and Johnny Yarshinski, coal region star formed the opening Cardinal battery, but at the end of the game Yarshinski was pitching and Lester Fetter catching for the Cardinals. Charlies Cooper was high scorer among the P. E. P. fratmen with four runs while Fred Blank, Earl Schaeffer, Merlin Stauffer and "Joe" Zamites each scored two runs for the "Cards".

The Phi Kappa Tau fraternity bowed to the Theta Kappa Nu fratmen last Wednesday evening by the score of 3 to 6. Repp and Stanley Smith formed the P. K. T. battery while "Lute" Miller received the offerings of Roger Rohn for the victors. Repp, Beemer and Mentzer each scored one of the P. K. T.'s three runs while Staples led the T. K. N. scorers with two counters to his credit.

THURSDAY, MAY 19

Playground Ball

The Philos Club easily defeated the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity last Thursday afternoon by the score 14-6. Miller and Meyer formed the battery for the victors while Stanley Smith received the offerings of Repp for the P. K. T. fratmen. "Ken" Moyer led the Philos run-getters with three tallies while Savacool Harner, Bremer, "Charlie" Saul, "Al" T. Smith and Beemer each scored one of the six P. K. T. counters.

The Non-fraternity ball tossers had an easy assignment last Thursday evening, defeating the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity by the score 12 to 2. Jules Seldon and Chris Riley made up the battery for the victors while George Saul pitched to Efron for the P. E. P. fratmen. Seldon, Steckel, Si Padolin and Riley were tied for leading Non-frat scorer with two runs apiece while "Charlie" Cooper and Weiner each crossed home plate once for the two P. E. P. runs.

Volley Ball

PENN A. C. WINS OVER CARDINAL BALL CLUB

Philadelphians Take Free Hitting Contest With 9 to 4 Score

The Muhlenberg baseball team was defeated 9 to 4 by Penn A. C. in a free hitting contest at Philadelphia last Saturday afternoon, May 21.

Noblitt, Penn hurler, kept the Holstromite's hits well scattered. Takacs pitched a fine brand of ball, but errors by his supporters kept him from making a better showing.

Nixon, Sterner, Matuska, and Giltner each scored one run for Muhlenberg. Weiner made two hits but was stranded on base each time.

SENIOR CLASS HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING

Approve Class Gift To Loan Fund and Plan Outing

The Senior Class held a class meeting at the call of the president, Franklin Giltner, on Friday, May 20, 1932, at 4:10 P. M. Old business concluding matters of long standing, and new business, especially concerning the Commencement activities, was taken up and brought to a conclusion.

The Senior Banquet Committee was advised by a motion to make arrangements for a class outing on the day after Commencement, June 7, and to use the fifty to seventy dollars in the treasury for funds; the time for departure for the party would be announced soon. The official invitation to the Senior Reception tendered by President Haas and his wife was accepted by a motion, and roll call was taken for the purpose of ascertaining those who would be present. On Friday, June 3, at the Hotel Traylor, the banquet is to be given.

All the Seniors available on Senior Class Day, Friday, June 3, were requested to aid the Committee in charge to arrange for all accommodations. The gift of two hundred dollars to the Student Aid Fund was put on the minutes by a motion. After a few motions of minor importance for the payment of bills, the meeting was adjourned by vote.

Who's Who on the Campus

Donald B. Hoffman
Non Fraternity

We introduce Donald B. Hoffman, the tall, blond gentleman who was Editor-in-chief of the "Weekly" during the past year. Don is another of the Allentown boys who has made good in a big way.

In his Freshman year he promptly landed a varsity berth on the debate squad. In addition he began to work for the "Weekly." Each year saw him adding new laurels. In his Sophomore year, membership in Tau Kappa Alpha was gained, because of his excellence in debating. The Junior year saw Don as the Assistant Editor of the Ciarla, an Associate-Editor of the "Weekly", and a member of the M. C. A. Cabinet, Phi Alpha Theta, and Kappa Phi Kappa.

As a Senior, Don, has distinguished himself in all his endeavors, as Editor of the "Weekly", and on the debate squad, and as secretary of the M. C. A. cabinet. In the fall of the year he was elected National Treasurer of Phi Alpha Theta. Incidentally, Hoffman will graduate with honors.

An examination of the keys on Don's watch chain is like reviewing the list of campus organizations. Because of the wide field of Hoffman's endeavors, Jouralism, Education, Debating, History and Politics, it is difficult to determine what he intends to do after graduation.

We feel certain, however, that with his brilliant mind and overwhelming ambition, he will bring new glories to his home town and to his Alma Mater.

REV. OTTO KLEINE IS SPEAKER AT SUNDAY VESPERS IN GERMAN

Large Philadelphia Choir Sings Selections in German

The German Conference of Philadelphia conducted the public Vesper service in the German language, Sunday, May 22, 1932, at 4 o'clock. The preacher was the President of the Conference, Rev. Otto Kleine, D.D., his text was "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." (John 3:14, 15).

"Jesus spoke the words of our text to a man of the Pharisees, a ruler of the Jews called Nicodemus", said Dr. Kleine, "when he came to Him by night. That this Jew of authority was convinced of His authenticity, Jesus was sure from the man's very first words. Therefore Jesus gladly and boldly spoke the beloved, well-known words of today's Gospel lesson on rebirth.

"And Jesus had not judged the Jew wrongly for he asked Him with interest, 'How can these things be?' So with a few more well-chosen words Jesus makes use of His powerful knowledge of the Old Testament and makes clear His transcendent lesson to this intellectual Pharisee, calling to mind a passage surely familiar to the religious, sincere man. Jesus, according to the evangelist John, concluded His discourse with an illustration from the great Moses' life.

"Moses had lifted up the serpent in the wilderness for the sake of the healing of the people (Numbers 21:4-9), as the Lord directed him, and so the Son of man had to be lifted up in order to give all who believed on Him eternal life—not just momentary relief. Dear friends", concluded Dr. Kleine, "I beseech you in like manner to exalt Jesus in your lives, and then the world will place a new value on Him who died for all and maybe some will turn and look on Him and be saved."

Dr. Kleine, Rev. W. F. Herman of Immanuel Church of Philadelphia, and Rev. Cressman were in charge of the service. A special German Choir under the direction of the organist of St. Paulus Church, Philadelphia, Mr. Kunze, sang two numbers, one a cappella selection of J. W. Franck (1600) "Komm, Gnadentau", and a number of J. S. Bach, "Schlagt an die Saitn in sussem Klang". The special organist was Zion's Church organist in Philadelphia, Professor Rowser. This is the last Sunday Chapel service until next Fall.

Rev. R. W. Stine attended the graduation exercises of Mt. Airy Seminary, Philadelphia, on Thursday, May 10.

DO YOU INHALE?

A frank discussion at last on a subject that has long been "taboo"

"LET sleeping dogs lie!" So said the cigarette trade when first we raised the subject of inhaling. But dodging an important issue is not Lucky Strike's policy!

Do you inhale? That question is vitally important... for every smoker inhales—knowingly or unknowingly. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette! And the delicate membranes of your throat demand that your smoke be pure, clean—free of certain impurities!

No wonder Lucky Strike dares to raise this vital question! For Luckies bring you the protection you want ...because Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities concealed in every tobacco leaf. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

So, whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly, safeguard those delicate membranes!

Loyalty Fund Grown To Fine Proportions With Alumni's Work

Committee Has High Hopes Of Going Over The Top In Campaign

At a meeting of the Alumni Loyalty Fund Committee of Muhlenberg College, held on Monday night, May 23, in the College Commons, the group decided that the money realized from the Loyalty Fund drive, conducted for the past several weeks, would be presented to the current fund of the college at the alumni day festivities on Saturday, June 4. A delightful dinner was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Benfer.

According to an announcement made at the meeting more than $700 has already been contributed by more than 100 alumni and it is confidently expected that with a continuance of the drive until June 4, upwards of $1000 will be turned over to the college.

The Alumni Loyalty Fund committee, organized at a meeting of the group held in the Commons on April 12, has met with almost phenomenal success considering the present financial condition of the country, and marked enthusiasm greeted the report presented by Richard Betz, treasurer of the fund.

The fund is controlled entirely by the Loyalty Fund committee and the purpose for which it is to be used is decided by the group. It was also decided at the meeting to continue the drive during the next college year, the money to be collected next year is to be devoted to the cause which the committee deems most urgent.

Officers of the fund committee include Attorney George Balmer, of Reading, President; Dr. William A. Hausman and Attorney Charles Bolich, of Allentown, and Andrew Kehrli, of Scranton, Vice Presidents; Donald Miller of Allentown, Secretary, and Richard Betz of Reading, Treasurer.

Members of the council include At-

STUDENT BODY DANCE IS A GREAT SUCCESS

The annual Student Body dance, held at Dorney Park last Friday night, May 27, brought to a conclusion one of the most successful social seasons in the history of the college.

Steve Fisher and his "Muhlenberg Ramblers" supplied the music for the occasion, and received many compliments on the quality of their work.

The large dance floor was crowded to capacity with students and alumni. Dancing was from 8:30 to 12:00.

The committee in charge was: Ferdinand Palladino, Chairman, Morris Efron, Samuel Bortel, Stanley Smith, Donald B. Hoffman, and Paul Strenge.

The chaperones invited were: Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Prof. and Mrs. Fasig, and Dr. and Mrs. Wright.

JUNIOR CLASS HOLDS A BUSINESS MEETING

The last meeting of the class of '33 was held in the Science Auditorium on Thursday, May 26, directly after Student Body meeting, for the purpose of selecting the leaders of the class for the first semester of next year. Those elected were: President, Charles Cooper; Vice-president, Norman Land; Secretary, Edward Judt; Monitors, Joseph Henry, and Daniel Boone. A Ciarla report was offered by Warren Smith, Editor-in-Chief of this year's edition. Don Schlotter reported the financial condition of the class as satisfactory. The meeting was then adjourned.

Dr. John A. W. Haas represented Muhlenberg College at the 100th anniversary of the founding of Gettysburg College, which was celebrated at the historical school last Friday, May 27.

Graduation Speaker Is Dr. E. D. Warfield

Dr. Ethelbert Dudley Warfield is to be the speaker at Muhlenberg's sixty-fifth annual Commencement. Dr. Warfield was president of Lafayette College for twenty-three years, and is now president of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa. In recognition of his ability as a historian and college executive, since 1888 Dr. Warfield has received honorary degrees from Princeton, Miami University, University of Pennsylvania, Lafayette, and Washington and Jefferson.

Before taking the professorship of history in Miami University, Dr. Warfield published his first historical work, "The Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, an Historical Study." Dr. Warfield has also served in the theological sphere. He was ordained into the Presbyterian ministry; officiated as Moderator of the Synod of Pennsylvania for the year 1906-1907, and was president of the Board of Directors of the Princeton Theological Seminary from 1904 to 1915. Dr. Warfield's presidency of Wilson College has been continuous since 1915.

CHEMICALS IGNITE IN POCKET OF A STUDENT

According to the latest report, one of the members of the sophomore class has given up hopes of sitting down for quite some time. It all happened in this manner. Carl Clayton desiring to impress upon the Science professors that he wished to continue his research work over the summer months, cleverly concealed some combustible chemicals in his rear trouser pocket. The friction of his clothing ignited the chemicals and consequently Mr. Clayton was, literally speaking, "burning up".

His classmates sensing his danger rushed to his assistance. Alfred Iles not to be outdone in bravery and perhaps visioning a beautiful, gold Carnegie hero's medal, separated Clayton from his trousers without waiting for the latter's consent.

Dr. Keller, rushing to the rescue, received a badly burned hand. Clayton is doing well, but is not sitting down.

EXAMINATION GIVEN BY PHI ALPHA THETA

Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, gave an examination to a large number of Freshmen who were contenders for the prize given each year by the club to the Freshman showing the most interest and background in history. The winner will be announced on Commencement day.

The examination, prepared by Dr. Swain, Dr. Mueller, and Prof. Jackson of the history department, was designed to prevent last minute cramming, and to test the competitor's interest in current national and international affairs. The "Weekly", thinking its readers might like to test their own knowledge along these lines, secured a copy of the examination for publication.

1. Who are the following: Herriot, Gigli, Nitti, Zamora, Northcliff, Samuel Seabury, Masaryk, Kruger, Kato, and Col. House?

2. Locate and tell what of importance occurred at: Locarno, Sevres, Corfu, Fashoda, Algeciras, Hastings, Tours, Harpers Ferry, and Portsmouth, N. H.

3. What are the following: Cortes, Basques, Pravda, Sanjak of Novibazar, Noradna Odbrana, Ausgleich, Dial, Little Entente, Mitteleuropa, R. S. F. S. R., and Domesday Book?

Dr. Carl W. Boyer delivered the main address at the commencement exercises of the Springfield High School, Pleasant Valley, Bucks County on Thursday, May 26, his subject being "Educating for Citizenship."

Dr. Boyer began his teaching career at this school in 1917. John Geissinger, '27 is the principal.

Student Loan Fund Treasurer Reports On The Year's Work

Faculty Has Donated Over $500, and Seniors Contribute

Dr. Mueller, treasurer of the Student Loan Fund, has presented his report of the receipts and expenditures of the fund committee during the year. The members of the faculty have contributed over five hundred dollars to the fund, and four hundred and fifty dollars was loaned to students.

A summary of the history of the Student Loan Fund, and the report of the treasurer follows:

In April, 1931, at a meeting of the local chapter of the American Association of Universiy Professors the establishment of a Student Loan Fund at Muhlenberg College was decided upon. Preliminary surveys of the operation of Funds at other institutions were made. Later the movement was referred to and approved by both the Faculty and the Alumni Association. A committee, consisting of Mr. George B. Balmer, chairman, Professor J. E. Swain, secretary, Professor Henry R. Mueller, treasurer, Reverend Harvey H. Snyder, and Dean Robert C. Horn, was created. This committee completed the work of organization and by March 3, 1932, was ready to approve of loans to students of Muhlenberg College.

No extensive campaign for funds was made. Contributions were, however, solicited from members of the Faculty. Over five hundred dollars was thus raised. It is interesting to note that every pledge has been redeemed. Loans of four hundred and fifty dollars have been approved since the completion of organization on March 3. Every dollar that was contributed to the Fund is available for loans. All the expenses of organization have been otherwise provided for. Legal services were gratuitously rendered. The printing bill was paid by a member of the committee;

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB HOLDS FINAL MEETING

The final meeting of a newly organized campus club, the Social Science Club, was called in the Administration Building by the president, R. Krapf. Dismissing the routine business promptly and expressing plans for a better year next fall, the club adjourned to Professor J. Jackson's residence, 129 N. St. George Street. A delightful evening was spent by the whole club in discussion of timely topics. Included were the gang rule of America as evidenced in the Lindbergh case, socialism today and its relation to the depression, co-operative farming, besides the old questions of the lost continent, Atlantis, and the creation of the world, matter and life. To add to the evening's delight, Mrs. Jackson served delicious refreshments as a most generous hostess.

Classical Club Is Now Eta Sigma Phi

New Chapter Holds Banquet After Initiation By Lehigh Chapter

On Wednesday evening, June 1, at Shankweiler's Hotel, the Classical Club of Muhlenberg College was initiated into Eta Sigma Phi. The ceremonies were conducted by the Lehigh University chapter, headed by Dr. Wright of the Latin Department. The men who form the newly initiated Alpha Rho Chapter are: Klick, Gehr, Fritsch, Wolf, Ruoss, Frankfort, Novak, Mattes, and Dunlap.

The five professors who were initiated are: Dr. Horn, Dr. Ettinger, Dr. Reichard, Dr. Fritsch and Prof. Stine.

After the ceremonies the members of Muhlenberg and Lehigh chapters were the guests of Dr. Ettinger at a chicken and waffle banquet. Dr. Allen and Mr. Kauffman of Lafayette also were guests at the banquet. This ceremony was the culmination of a year's hard work on the part of the retiring seniors to bring this to pass.

The Classical Club boasts of the fact that it is the oldest departmental organization on the campus. It was started back in 1909 when such men as Dr. Mueller, of the History department, Prof. W. Fritsch, head of the Latin Department of Allentown High School, and Rev. Wohlsen, pastor in Stroudsburg, were members. During the Great War there was a lack of intense interest and the club practically disbanded. However, in 1922 it was reorganized and has con-

The national honorary classical fraternity was founded in Chicago and has been mainly a mid-western fraternity. There are very few chapters here in the East. Those colleges and universities who have a chapter in the East are Lehigh, Columbia, University of Pennsylvania, Washington and Jefferson, and West Virginia University.

Muhlenberg can feel proud to be represented in a fraternity affiliated with these leading universities.

M. C. A. CABINET HAS IMPORTANT MEETING

A brief meeting of the Muhlenberg Christian Association was conducted by the new president, Henry Lubsen, at the Phi Kappa Tau house, the night of Monday, the 23rd. The purpose of the Cabinet was to arrange for the Freshman Reception in Freshman Week, and to fix the budget for the ensuing year. The president appointed Richard Kistler, chairman of the Reception committee, to be composed of J. Savacool, H. Frankfort, and W. MacMillan; the Recreation Hall supervisor, also appointed, is W. MacMillan. W. Smith, the new treasurer, reported a balance of forty dollars in the treasury. The man to receive the contract for printing the new Frosh handbook is Ray Bachman.

New Curriculum Adopted By College After Having Report Of Committee

Majors and Minors Give Way To A New System of Seven Large Groups

Curriculum changes of major importance were approved by the faculty of Muhlenberg College after having heard a report made by the Faculty Committee on Curriculum last Thursday afternoon, May 28. The Committee, of which Dean Robert C. Horn was chairman, and Dr. Henry R. Mueller, Dr. Carl W. Boyer, and Dr. George H. Brandes were other members, presented the report after several months of careful investigation and research. Several suggestions made by a student committee were included in the faculty report.

The old system of majors and minors has automatically been eliminated by the new plan that provides for concentration in seven major groups. The changes will go into effect in September of this year.

The in-coming Freshman class will be the first to benefit from the modernized curriculum. Other students will be relatively unaffected, those who find it more convenient to continue under the old system may do so, but if they desire and can adjust their schedules to meet the new requirements they may carry on under the new system. Individual difficulties will be given special attention during the transition period.

Students will start electing at the beginning of the Sophomore year. All Freshmen will be required to take a [illegible] semester hour course in Natural Sciences. Physics and Biology will receive [illegible] nation in this course, which will be more cultural and introductory than intensive.

The seven groups are: Languages, Natural Science, Social Science and History, Psychology and Education, English and General Literature, Religion and Philosophy, and Business (including Economics). All students must have had 30 semester hours credit in one of these groups before graduation. The advisors for the upperclassmen will be the faculty members at the head of the groups in which the students are doing their most work.

A. B. students will have the choice of two courses in Ancient Languages, or one course in Ancient Languages and one in Mathematics. The report of the committee follows:

Season's Last Track Meet Lost To Drexel

Muhlenberg Drops Contest By 65 - 61 Score

Muhlenberg College was nosed out in its final dual track meet of the season by Drexel Institute by the close count of 65 to 61. Drama, suspense and keen competition marked the meet throughout, as the college athletes rang down the curtain of their season's endeavors.

The affair came close to ending in a tie score. It would have too, had it not been for the kindly consideration of Coach "Scotty" Renwick who desired to see one of his laborers earn a varsity athletic award.

Renwick kept George Majercik, sensational 'Berg speed king, out of the 100-yard dash in order to give Requa the opportunity of winning a varsity "M," well merited by his season's efforts.

Accorded the chance, Requa heeded opportunity's beckon. Flying down the century stretch in 10 flat seconds, he had better than a yard to spare on his nearest competitor, Van Horn, of Drexel, at the tape. Wilkinson, another "Muhl" entrant, was third in this contest.

"Had Majercik been entered in the event," declared Sam Leonard, Drexel mentor, at the conclusion of the meet, "the scoring figures would have told a different story. Majercik would easily have [illegible] developments proved, Requa would have been second, with Van Horn, of Drexel, third.

"This means that Muhlenberg would have earned eight instead of only six points in this event, and Drexel would have been credited with only one instead of three, and so at the end the final score would have been tied at 63-all, and we would not have been returned the winner.

"I am sorry to see us win the meet in this way. If it were possible, I should like to see the final statistics changed to read Drexel 63 and Muhlenberg 63, though naturally I was anxious for our boys to win. But Muhlenberg provided gallant opposition, and it is hard lines to see them go down by such figures and as a result of such splendid sportsmanship as was displayed here on Drexel Field last Saturday afternoon."

COMMITTEES APPOINTED BY LUTHERAN STUDENTS

The executive committee of the Lutheran Student's Association was called into session by the president of the organization, Herbert Frankfort, Monday, May 23, 1932. The sole purpose of the meeting was to appoint committees in fulfillment of the plans suggested for the next year at the last meeting of the association. Six committees were arranged for:

John Albright, chairman of the Chapel Attendance committee, and his assistants, M. Herb, W. Harrison, R. Beazley, J. Bennetch, R. Siegel, C. Raker, G. Jacoby, C. Herman, J. Brockhoff, S. Stauffer, J. Kish, N. Miles, L. Schaeffer, F. Radcliffe, and P. Gerhard; W. Harrison, chairman of the Sick-Visitation Committee, together with G. Lupoli, and J. Smith; C. Schenck, chairman of the Ministerial Club Committee, together with F. Radcliffe, and R. Beazley; H. Dunlap, chairman of the Administrative Committee, together with A. Schechterly, R. Miller, and F. Schlick; H. Frankfort, chairman of the M. C. A. committee, together with W. MacMillan, J. Angstadt, J. Smith and G. Ammon; and the chairman of the Devotional Committee, J. Bennetch, together with L. Schaeffer, and B. Stauffer. These committees will serve in the ensuing college year, 1932-1933.

GERMAN CLUB EXPECTS ANOTHER ACTIVE YEAR

Der Deutsche Verein is planning to conduct the most successful season of its long existence next year under the leadership of the newly elected president, Jerome Baer. The club intends to co-operate with the Pennsylvania German Society, especially with the chapters in Allentown and Reading, by repeating the performance of the entertaining play, "Dr. Krannich's Sprechstunde". This same play is scheduled to be performed at Emaus.

Through the summer, members shall endeavor to collect the old, traditional songs and ballads of the Pennsylvania German folk, and these shall be preserved by the club after presentation. Some Pennsylvania German sketches shall be produced next year to add to the organization's repertoire in the local dialect.

The commemoration of Goethe's death extends through the first semester of next year and adequate preparation is now being made for the proper exercises and programs. Three Goethe-programs were presented during this semester, a public lecture by Dr. Barba with slides, and a club lecture by Dr. Barba with his own Goethe-relics, and a Goethe-journalistic program by the club members themselves.

A Message to the Seniors

The "Weekly" takes this opportunity to pay tribute to the Seniors who are graduating next week. We are fully aware of the splendid record that the class of 1932 has made while at Muhlenberg.

We, among all others, fully realize the conditions which these men will be compelled to face after leaving college. We could be brightly optimistic, and write in glowing terms of the opportunities which these graduates have of proving themselves in the stern task of finding a place in the disordered world. That is the customary thing to say, but we don't [illegible] that way about the [illegible] $2.00

We believe that these men have already proved their ability and stamina. They have sacrificed many things in a worthy effort to prepare themselves for places in society. Those places are not present. The graduates have had no control over this condition.

What we do say, however, is this, that while what now exists is not any fault of the graduating men, if they, and others graduating from colleges all over our nation, do not do anything to make conditions better, then they will be just as guilty as those who are now responsible for our chaotic state of affairs. We know that there is little possibility for newly graduated college men to make any deep impression in a callous, material world.

There is only one thing that they can do, and that is to think and wait for the chance that is coming for them to put into practice the ideas they have conceived. What we mean is real thinking, not merely going through the motions and arriving at weak-kneed conclusions. What we have in mind is starting at the beginning, examining the conditions around them, going ahead to reach a conclusion as to what must be done, and then not being afraid of what that conclusion means. It doesn't take much of a man to think along conventional lines and arrive at customary conclusions, it does, however, require more than the ordinary type of person to let himself reach his own conclusions without leaning on the traditional, and without being frightened by what he discovers.

The men who are graduating next week are not ordinary men, they are the survivors of a long and rigorous selection period. For this reason more is expected of them. They should give more. If they follow along the traditional pathways that have led us to our present deplorable condition, then their education has been a futile waste of time, money, and energy. If, however, they think deeply and honestly, and proceed to act on their convictions, then they will have achieved their purpose, and we shall have been benefitted by the new heights to which we shall arise as a result of their effort.

SEASON'S LAST TRACK MEET LOST TO DREXEL

The real star of the meet and the day's highest scoring ace was "Winnie" Welsh. The "Muhl" distance runner, walked off with the 880-yard run, the mile and the two mile events to romp off with the largest total in the point-making column and to duplicate the phenomenal feat that he accomplished at the Central Pennsylvania College meet at Bucknell the Saturday afternoon previous. His aggregate was 15 notchers. Harry Brevda was the Dragons best scorer with 13 points.

The Summary:

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Brevda, Drexel; second, Wright, Drexel; third, Teat, Drexel. Time, 16 2-5 seconds (new record).

100-yard dash—Won by Requa, Muhlenberg; second, Van Horn, Drexel; third, Wilkinson, Muhlenberg. Time, 10 3-5 seconds.

Discus throw—Won by Geiger, Muhlenberg; second, Brevda, Drexel; third, Bair, Drexel. Distance, 119 feet 7½ inches.

Mile run—Won by Welsh, Muhlenberg; second, Lockhart, Drexel; third, Eckhardt, Drexel. Time, 5 minutes, 30 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Fisher, Drexel; second, Godshall, Muhlenberg; third, Eckhardt, Drexel. Time, 54 4-5 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Wilkinson, Muhlenberg; second, Grollman, Muhlenberg; thrid, Schoenhut, Drexel. Time, 27 3-5 seconds.

Javelin throw—Won by Brevda, Drexel; second, Wiener, Muhlenberg; third, Bowers, Drexel. Distance, 146 feet, 11 inches.

Two-mile run—Won by Welsh, Muhlenberg; second, Werner, Drexel; third, Eckhardt, Drexel. Time, 1 minutes, 5 seconds.

Pole vault—Won by Fisher, Drexel; second, tie between Shafter, Drexel, and Bowers, Drexel. Height, 11 feet, 4 inches.

220-yard dash—Won by Majercik, Muhlenberg; second, Wilkinson, Muhlenberg; third, Van Horn, Drexel. Time, 23 4-5 seconds.

Half-mile run—Won by Welsh, Muhlenberg; second, Godshall, Muhlenberg; third, Land, Muhlenberg. Time, 2 minutes 10 2-5 seconds.

Shotput—Won by Gieger, Muhlenberg; second, Finnerty, Drexel; third, Bair, Drexel. Distance, 40 feet, 5¼ inches.

Broad jump—Won by Valentine, Drexel; second, Requa, Muhlenberg; third, Grollman, Muhlenberg. Distance, 20 feet, 10⅝ inches.

High jump—First place, triple tie among Hunt, Smith and Russell, all of Drexel. Height, 5 feet, 6 inches.

What Our Alumni Have Been Doing

The Rev. Arthur S. Deibert, '14, pastor of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, Northampton, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of his ordination in conjunction with the 90th anniversary of the Sunday School of his church on Sunday, May 15, and on Wednesday evening, May 18, with appropriate services. Last Thursday, May 19, Rev. Deibert received the degree of Master of Sacred Theology from the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia at the sixty-eighth annual commencement exercises in St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Philadelphia. The subject upon which he wrote his thesis is "The Place of Woman in the Church according to the New Testament." After receiving his A. B. degree from Muhlenberg, Rev. Deibert graduated from the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia in 1917 and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the same institution two years ago. Rev. Deibert is serving his third pastorate, previous ones having been in Berwick, Columbia County, and Washingtonville, Montour County, Pensylvania.

George T. Miller, '29 of Philadelphia, who graduated from Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, on Thursday, May 19, was ordained into the Lutheran ministry by the officers of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of East Pennsylvania last Wednesday, May 18, in Zion Lutheran Church, Harrisburg.

The following alumni of Muhlenberg College were graduated from the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, on Thursday, May 19, at the sixty-eighth annual commencement exercises held in St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Philadelphia: William C. Berkemeyer, '29 of Allentown; Joseph A. Billy '29, of Garfield, N. J.; Clarence A. Boyer '29, of Roselle, N. J.; Edward J. Boyle '29, of Allentown; Arthur R. Chatten '29, of Chester; George Churlick '29, of Mahanoy City; Paul W. Dieckman '29, of East Mauch Chunk; Paul C. Empie '29, of Baltimore, Md.; Carlton L. Heckman '29, of Reading; Gilbert J. Martin '29 ,of East Bangor; Stephe[illegible], of Mi[illegible]; George T. Miller, '29, of Philadelphia; Webster K. Reinert '29, of Oley; Ray Eldred K. Stauffer '29, of Ringtown and Walter L. Williams '29, of St. John's, Pa.

William C. Berkemeyer '29, of Allentown, who graduated from Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, on Thursday, May 19, having received the Junior fellowship at the Seminary will continue graduate studies in the field of the New Testament in preparation for a degree in theology. His work will include the teaching of classes in elementary New Testament Greek. He will be ordained into the ministry June 8 in Grace Lutheran Church, Lancaster.

Members of the class of 1917 will hold their fifteenth reunion at the Country Club, Friday evening, June 3. They will meet in the home of Dr. Joseph T. Hummel, College Heights, Allentown, Pa., and proceed in a body to the club. Guests for the evening will be: Oscar F. Bernheim, who is celebrating his twenty-fifth year as treasurer at the college, and Professor Albert C. H. Fasig, of the Geological Department and Alumni Field Secretary.

The committee on arrangements includes; Rev. Raymond J. Heckman, Rev. Corson C. Snyder, Samuel D. Frederick, Assistant District Attorney, Dr. Joseph T. Hummel and Thomas B. Keck.

The Rev. Floyd L. Eichner, '09, pastor of Advent Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his ordination on Sunday, May 22, and on Wednesday evening, May 25, with appropriate services. Prior to his present pastorate Rev. Eichner was the spiritual leader of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, Pa.

The Rev. Charles K. Fegley, '00 was installed as pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Weehawken, N. J., on April 17.

Donald M. C. Englert, '29 was awarded the New Testament Fellowship of $1000 and the Scribner prize in New Testament literature at the 120th annual commencement exercises at Princeton Theological Seminary held on Tuesday morning, May 17, in the First Presbyterian Church in Princeton. He also received his Th.B. degree from the seminary and in June will be given his M.A. degree in Semitic languages from Princeton University.

Last Wednesday, May 18, at noon Mr. Englert took in marriage the hand of Miss Sarah E. Buss of Bethlehem who has been a nurse in training at the Allentown Hospital Nurses school the past two years. The ceremony was performed in Emmanuel E. C. Church Bethlehem. On October 13, Mr. and Mrs. Englert will sail for Germany where Mr. Englert will continue his studies at the Universities of Berlin and Marburg for two years under the Fellowship grant.

Joseph Albert Billy, '29 and George Churlick, '29, who graduated from the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Thursday, May 19, will be ordained into the ministry on May 31st at the meeting of Synod Zion of the United Lutheran Church, Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Northampton. On June 1st Mr. Billy will be installed as the pastor of Holy Trinity Slovak congregations at Northampton and Palmerton which he has been supplying for the past two years while studying at the Seminary. It was announced last Wednesday, May 18, by Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of Lansford, that their daughter Mary Jonas had become the bride of Mr. Billy, the ceremony having taken place on August 17, 1931, in Atlantic City.

Mr. Billy has been engaged in secretarial work for the past several years. The couple intend to make their home in Northampton at Fourteenth Street and Washington Avenue.

The Rev. David B. Frederick, '13, pastor of St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Bethlehem, received the degree Master of Sacred Theology from Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, last Thursday, May 19, at the sixty-eighth annual commencement exercises. "The Meaning and Significance of Discipleship with Special Reference to the Christian Way of Life" was the subject of the thesis presented by Rev. Frederick.

The Rev. William L. Katz, '13, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Allentown, received the degree Master of Sacred Theology from Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, last Thursday, May 19, at the Sixty-eighth annual commencement exercises. "Teaching the Bible in the Vacation Church School" was the subject of the thesis presented by Rev. Katz. The popular Allentown clergyman is president of the Alumni Association of Mt. Airy Seminary and secretary of the Alumni Association of Muhlenberg College.

Norman B. Dinger, '29, has been elected Supervising Principal at Huntington Mills, Penna. There are eleven schools in the township.

LEHIGH, LAFAYETTE, AND MUHLENBERG IN UNION IS NEW IDEA

Lafayette Alumnus Thinks Of Plan Without Any Aid

One of the most beautiful opium creams released for publication has been the proposed merger of Lafayette College, Lehigh University and Muhlenberg.

This Austin league of Nations according to rumors would have an interlocking board of directors. We may presume that the august group of men would be forced to meet in a gymnasium for want of space.

The remark has been made that the annual football games between Lehigh, Lafayette and Muhlenberg would be turned into a mere intramural tussle, or speaking more frankly, a pink tea without the tea.

The author of this noble suggestion says, "Why not forget all their differences and formulate at once a working plan for this union." The differences seem to arise over the athletic feud between the various schools. This question of athletic differences is a wonderful basic argument for welding together several fundamentally different schools. The institutions involved have certain traditional customs that will be forever submerged by a union of this type. Merging in this case seems to be a fad and not a necessity.

Unfortunately or shall we say fortunately this plan was concocted, or better yet, hatched in the mind of a Lafayette Alumnus. It may be worthwhile knowing that this particular individual is a demonstrator of morbid anatomy at Pennsylvania.

David B. Kauffman, '28, instructor of Latin at Lafayette, has written articles that have appeared in outstanding classical periodicals. He is a student of Roman private life and among the articles published were: "Roman Tailors and Clothiers", "Roman Barbers", "Poison and Poisoning Among the Romans", and "Martial and St. Paul." Mr. Kauffman states that he owes a great deal to the inspiration received from the Greek and Latin departments while at Muhlenberg.

Muhlenberg Ball Team is Defeated By Drexel, 9 to 7, In Free Slugging Game

Holstromites Lose Out To The Strong Dragon Attack In Eighth Inning

Clubbing "Vince" Takacs, Muhlenberg pitcher, for fifteen lusty hits, Drexel Institute's Dragons victoriously concluded their season's campaigning with a 9 to 7 triumph over Muhlenberg in a free-swinging and hard hitting contest at 46th Street and Haverford Avenue, Philadelphia, last Saturday afternon.

Coach Holstrom's aggregation started the game in a fine manner when "Stan" Carney, husky first-sacker and Muhlenberg lead-off man, hit the first pitch of "Bob" Calhoun, Drexel moundsman, for a single. Nixon sacrificed Carney to second. Sterner singled, advancing Carney to third, where he was caught off the base, Knapp to Reynolds. "Reds" Wiener, however, followed with a two-bagger, scoring Sterner, but Klotz grounded out, Calhoun to Johnson, ending the inning.

Drexel tied the scre in their half of the second, when Pitcher Calhoun and Reynolds singled in order, the former taking third on Reynolds blow. Johnson was safe on a fielder's choice, Reynolds being forced out at second. Potter grounded out, Carney to Matuska, Calhoun scoring on the play. Sudell was fanned, by Takacs, ending the inning.

Muhlenberg took the lead again in the fourth frame. Sterner was safe on an error by Kershner and stole second. Wiener flied to Knapp. Klotz sent a pop fly to Ralston at second. Sterner taking third. Matuska was given a life on Kershner's second error of the inning, Sterner scoring on the play. Giltner singled, but was left stranded on first when Shimer flied to Johnson for the third out.

In the fifth inning Drexel shoved two runs across to take the lead, and added another tally in their half of the seventh when Ralston and Knapp singled in order.

The Mules kicked the Dragons hard in the hectic eighth inning when they reached Coach Walter Halas' southpaw for five runs. "Stan" Carney opened with a hard triple to left. Sterner's single scored Carney. Wiener singled in turn, and "Young Albie" Klotz followed with a beautiful double to the left field bleachers, sending Sterner across the plate. "Jumpin Joe" Matuska duplicated what Carney had previously done in that inning, knocking out a tremendous three-bagger, scoring Weiner and Klotz. "Dank Giltner" sent a high sacrifice fly to Sudell in center field, Matuska counting after the catch. Shimer grounded to short, terminating the inning. The "Muhls" were leading 7 to 4.

The eighth inning became even more hectic as the Dragons negatived the "Muhls" accomplishment during their time at bat. Johnson doubled scoring on a single by Potter, but Potter was caught off his guard at first and retired by a swift peg from Weiner to Carney. Sudell was then given a life on a Muhlenberg misplay. Schaler, batting for Fleming, singled and Ralston was walked. Knapp sent a high fly to Saalfeld, who had replaced Shimer, Sudell crossing home after the catch. Kershner's triple, which bounced off the left field bleachers, scored Shaler and Ralston. Calhoun was safe on first by another Muhlenberg error, Kershner scoring on the play. Reynolds was fanned by Takacs to end the inning. The Dragons had accumulated a sufficient number of runs in the inning to win the game.

OFFICERS INSTALLED AT STUDENT MEETING

The final Student Body meeting of the year was called to order on Thursday morning, May 26, in the Science Auditorium, at 11 o'clock by the retiring President Kenneth H. Koch, to institute the tapping ceremony of the Omicron Delta Kappa, and to install the officers of student government for the following year. Those holding the reins of office are President, Richard Garnet; Vice President, Alan Ritter; Secretary, Warren Smith; and Treasurer, Ray Bachman. Those tapped by O. D. K. are Ray K. Heist, Robert C. Horn, Samuel Shimer, H. Paul Gerhard, Donald Schlotter, Henry Lubsen.

Rev. Harry P. C. Cressman had charge of the evening service in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Bethlehem, on Trinity Sunday, May 22.

Theta Kappa Nu Is Again The Winner Of Intramural Trophy

Non Fraternity Team Is A Close Second, With A. T. O. Third

Theta Kappa Nu has again won the intramural trophy, this year with a small margin of four points over the Non-Fraternity team which placed second. Alpha Tau Omega came in third.

This is the fifth year that Theta Kappa Nu, formerly Phi Epsilon, has taken first place in the contest, and the third consecutive year. The race for honors was so evenly contested that the results were in doubt until late Wednesday evening, June 1, when the last games were finished.

Delta Theta and Phi Kappa Tau are tied for fourth place, while the Philos Club and Phi Epsilon Pi are tied for fifth.

The Cardinals are in sixth place, and the Grays with many points lost through forfeitures, trail far behind, with Theta Upsilon Omega five points behind the Grays.

"Bill" Ritter, in charge of intramural sports, was well pleased with the great amount of interest shown in the program this year, and complimented the athletes on their fine sportsmanship and co-operation.

The Grays, composed of non fraternity commuters, showed remarkable form in basketball, and appeared to be a real contender for first honors, but difficulty in gathering up players each evening forced them to forfeit many games and thus fall far behind.

The trophy winners since the inauguration of the intramural program are as follows: 1926, Phi Epsilon (now Theta Kappa Nu); 1927, Delta Theta; 1928, Phi Epsilon; 1929, Phi Kappa Tau; 1930, Phi Epsilon; 1931, Phi Epsilon; 1932, Theta Kappa Nu.

BUTTONS, NOT TAGS, FOR THE FRESHMEN

"No more green tags for Muhlenberg Frosh," was the statement issued by the Student Council after a meeting called to order by the newly elected president, Richard Garnet, last Tuesday evening, May 31.

A round, green bordered button carrying the name of the student will take the place of the large, unsightly cardboards traditionally worn on the campus. Freshmen will wear the buttons until Thanksgiving recess.

DO YOU INHALE?

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

Is this question too revealing for other cigarettes?

WE do not criticize others. We merely call your attention to the fact that the vital subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising.

Why? What's there to be afraid of? Everybody inhales! Seven out of ten smokers inhale knowingly—the other three do so without realizing it. From your side—you want to be sure that the smoke you breathe in is pure and clean—free from certain impurities.

But from the manufacturer's side—he should be sure of giving you this protection. And if he is sure—he need not worry about the question: "Do you inhale?"

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

NEW CURRICULUM ADOPTED BY COLLEGE AFTER HAVING REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The principles underlying the curriculum which we recommend are:

(1). A small core of required subjects most of which will be completed in the freshman year.
(2). A few definite requirements for degree, so that each degree will have some peculiar characteristics.
(3). Greater freedom for individual cases, beginning in the sophomore year, and continuing through the rest of the college course.
(4). Concentration in one department or group, most of which will be done in the last two years.

This is the curriculum which we recommend:

Freshman year, work required.

English Bible	2 hours
Hygiene	1 "
English	3 "
Modern Language	3 "
Math. or Ancient Language	3 "
Natural Science	3 "
History	3 "
Total	18 hours

Explanation: B. S. and Ph.B. students should take Mathematics; most A. B. students will probably take the Ancient Language, but we are willing to grant the A.B. student the choice between Mathematics and an Ancient Language.

The work in Natural Science for the B. S. student is the elementary course in Chemistry, which is now given to B.S. freshmen.

A.B. and Ph.B. students will take a general course in Physics for one semester, and Chemistry the other semester. As either course may be taken first, we have an opportunity of sectioning; and some leeway is allowed for students who enter in the second semester.

CURRICULUM REPORT:

Sophomore year.

Required:

Bible or Religion	2 hours
Modern Language	3 "
English	3 "
Elective (by groups	9 "
Total	17 hours

A. B. Students:

Greek	3 hours
Latin	3 "
History	3 "

B.S. Students:

Physics	3 "
Biology (Zool.)	3 hours
Math. or Chem.	3 "

Pre-medical students should take Chem.; most others should take Math.

Ph.B. Students:

Social Science (Econ.)	3 hours
History	3 "
Business or Logic-Psychology	3 "

NOTE: Following this scheme, A.B. students will have by the end of sophomore year 18 semester hours of Ancient Language or 12 semester hours of Ancient Language and 6 semester hours of Mathematics. B. S. students will have at least 18 semester hours of Natural Science. Ph.B. students will have 18 semester hours of Social Science and History.

JUNIOR YEAR:

Required: Religion 2 hours.

New Testament Greek or Ecclesiastical Latin may be substituted for Religion, as at present. We recommend also that Philosophy may be substituted for Religion.

Elective: 14 to 16 hours.

Total: 16 to 18 hours.

SENIOR YEAR:

Required: Ethics 2 hours.

Elective: 13 to 16 hours.

Total: 15 to 18 hours.

Concentration. Juniors and Seniors should elect courses in such a way that, including work done in sophomore year, they will have credit for 30 semester hours in one of these groups:

Languages.
Natural Science.
Social Science and History.
Psychology and Education.
English, and General Literature.
Religion and Philosophy.
Business (including Economics).

Otherwise Juniors and Seniors may elect freely.

SPECIAL RECOMMENDATIONS

These are recommendations necessary to put the plan in effect, together with some supplementary recommendations.

(1). That the first courses in Physics and Biology (Zoology), begun ordinarily in sophomore year, be made 3 unit courses (6 semester hours) to conform with the Chemistry of freshmen and sophomore years.
(2). That History for sophomores be made a 3 unit course (6 semester hours).
(3). That Logic-Psychology be made a 3 unit course (6 semester hours).
(4). That the work in Physical Education be broadened, somewhat in the way suggested by the Student Committee. That there be more games and sports, a more extensive intramural program, in which Mr. Holstrom might co-operate with Mr. Ritter. In the Junior and Senior years, courses in First Aid, Camp Counselling, and Scout Management, as well as the courses in Theory of Sports now listed in the catalog, might take the place of the gymnasium drill.
(5). That the scheme of honors courses for Juniors and Seniors be stressed and enlarged.
(6). That the changes go into effect in September, 1932.

other incidental expenses were paid by moneys raised through the sale of Christmas cards.

The graduating class of 1932 has decided without solicitation to contribute at least two hundred dollars to the Fund as its farewell gift to its Alma Mater. The "M" Club has placed the Fund on its yearly budget for the sum of fifty dollars. Under these circumstances there can be no doubt of the need and of the timeliness of the Fund.

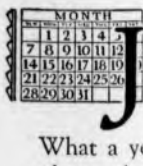
TELEPHONE
Date with Home



JUNE . . . Commencement . . . the college year's over! Congratulations, Seniors, and good luck! What a year it was! Remember those telephone chats with Mother and Dad? Those words of encouragement? That sound advice? You'll agree that of all the four years taught you, nothing means more to you than your appreciation of Home.

That's a worth-while lesson! Wherever you go . . . whatever you do . . . let the telephone keep you in touch with home. Share your news with Mother and Dad. They'll always be eager to hear your voice.

Now, and whenever you feel the urge, give the Operator your home telephone number. The thrill of "voice visits" never grows old.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P.M., and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date, the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, charges can be reversed.
